SPECIAL MEETING OF LOYAL DAUGHTERS

Netherwood Circle Hears From Other Circles of The King's Daughters

The Loyal Daughters' Circle of the King's Daughters held a meeting of unusual interest yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. E. P. Thomas, of Belvidere avenue, which meeting was arranged by the president, Mrs. John A. Peterkin.

Mrs. Frederick Goddard spoke on the National Special Aid Society, describing its work and scope, and slips were distributed among those present to be signed by any who were willing to unite with the society.

Mrs. William Hubbard, of the executive board and of Charity Circle, spoke on the work of the King's Daughters and its spiritual importance. She also told her audience something of the origin and development of the travelers' aid department.

Miss Helen Harman, president of the Observe Workers, emphasized the need of the orthopedic clinic, which is in charge of Dr. H. D. Corbusier. She has been raising a fund of $1,000 for the equipment of the clinic for the little victims of infantile paralysis, and the Loyal Daughters at the close of her address contributed the last $300 of this fund.

Mrs. A. M. Most, president of the Golden Rule Circle, gave some particulars of the financial side of the Union's activities. During the afternoon Mrs. Grace Robinson, of Watchung Circle, sang several solos, accompanied by Mrs. Schuyler. Mrs. Laurens Van Buren announced that a meeting to consider the needs of the Belgian waifs would be held in the Congregational church Wednesday afternoon next.

FRESHMEN GIRLS SECURE VERDICT

Boroughites Take Grammar School Into Camp by a Small Margin

In a battle that was in doubt up to the last minute the North Plainfield High School Freshmen girls barely gained the verdict over the girls of the Plainfield Grammar School yesterday afternoon on the Essengerbund Hall court. The final count was 11 to 9.

The first half was fast and exciting, with the Freshmen quintet in the lead 7 to 4 at the call of time. In the second period, after five minutes had been played, Miss Edith Shotwell took a place on the floor and put her team in the lead with two pretty shots, besides caging the last three throws from the foul line.

BIG GAME TO BE PUT ON SATURDAY

North Plainfield and Plainfield schools will play the third game of the interscholastic series next Saturday afternoon in the Plainfield High school gym, as scheduled, Although the city boys have won the championship and the Collier cup for the past year, an interesting tilt is expected.

Two years ago, after losing the first two games and the title, the Canadians came back and won the third game on the Plainfield H. S. court by the close score of 28 to 27, when Spencer Conover eluded his guard, Bill Crook, and found the ring after a long pass by "Hym" Abrams, who is now coaching the N...P. H. S. team. Will history repeat itself?

WILL LECTURE TONIGHT IN "THE SKY LINE"

Rev. James E. Norcross, of Philadelphia, will lecture this evening in the Temple Baptist church on "The Sky Line," under the auspices of the Junior Baraca Class.

MRS. J. C. MOORE HOSTESS AT TEA

Entertains Anti-Suffragists Prior to Annual Meeting Tomorrow

Preliminary to the annual meeting of the Plainfield branch of the New Jersey Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage to be held tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Edgar S. Hyatt, on East Ninth street, Mrs. John Constable Moore gave a delightful tea for members at her home, 1025 Watchung avenue, yesterday afternoon. Miss Maud Van Boskerck poured and she was assisted by several other women in serving.

There was a discussion of plans for the coming year and business to come before the annual meeting when officers will be elected. Mrs. Sherman B. Joost was obliged to resign the presidency owing to many other duties, but she still retains her interest in the work.

Those present at yesterday's affair expressed their interest in national events and declared their loyalty to President Wilson and the Congress, agreeing to do all that is possible to conserve and preserve those things dear to the heart of every true American.

Mrs. S. Yarde Breese, president of the State association, gave a brief review of the progress of the work throughout New Jersey, showing that much is being accomplished along educational lines. This will be continued the coming year with even greater earnestness, Mrs. Breese declared.

BORO' GIRLS WANTED FOR A SHORE CONTEST

The Long Branch High School girls' team has challenged the North Plainfield High School maidens for a game within the next two weeks, on a Saturday afternoon if possible. March 3 is the tentative date requested by the down-Staters.

The Long Branch team will play without lines, which is, in fact, playing with boys' rules, and recently defeated the "ticklish" New Brunswick High School girls 54 to 8.

CASE AGAINST BOARDER DISMISSED IN COURT

Ralph Winrow, colored, was discharged in the borough court, this afternoon on the charge of entering and breaking into the home of Warren Reeder, Harmony street, last night.

Young Winrow had been a boarder in the Reeder home, and it was claimed that he entered the place last night and took out his own dress suit case, which had been held for back board bill.

As the young man had previously liquidated his board bill before the case was called, Recorder Hand saw no reason for holding him and dismissed the case.

The case against Amedeo Church for disorderly conduct in the borough streets was dismissed at last night's session of the court.

ENDEAVORERS TO ENTERTAIN

ANNOUNCE DATES FOR ELKS' SHOW

"The Land of Mystery" to be Given at Plainfield Theatre, April 10-11-12

Announcement was made at the meeting of Plainfield Lodge of Elks last night that April 10, 11 and 12 have been settled upon as the dates for the lodge's annual show, "The Land of Mystery." This new comic opera will be given here by local talent under the direction of the authors, Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Skilling, whose other opera, "The Mystic Rose," it will be recalled, was presented here last year with so much success.

The first rehearsal will be held at the lodge rooms Monday night at 8 o'clock, and any person who is able to take a part in the chorus or as a soloist is cordially invited to be present at that time and meet Mr. and Mrs. Skilling. While last year's production, "The Mystic Rose," was considered such a success, it is predicted that "The Land of Mystery" surpasses it in many respects. The local committee from the lodge in charge of this year's entertainment comprises William C. Mulvey, chairman; W. R. Causbrook, secretary-treasurer; L. E. Starker, LeRoy B. Woodhull and Albert F. La Rock.

JUNIOR CLUB IS DOING GOOD WORK

Westfield Boys' Organization Accomplishing Much for Lads in Rifle Practice

The boys of the Westfield Junior Rifle Club are rapidly becoming familiar with the regulations, so that there is little time lost between squads and therefore all squads (30 boys) were able to go through the course. Mr. Chase was in charge, while Walter Clark was in command of the firing line. Range officers on duty were Walter Clark, William Saitta, Winfield Thorne, Stewart Cravens and Bradford Simpson.

Seven boys made the sharpshooter score, only four of whom bettered their previous scores. They were Albert Garcia, 165; Richard Lucas, 157; Winfield Thorne, 155, and Benjamin Fox, 153.

Fifteen boys made the marksman score, eight of whom bettered their previous scores. They were William Saitta, 149; Benjamin Cravens, 146; Russell Morgan, 146; Frank Pfeiffer, 146; Craig Simpson, 139; William Harper, 134; Harmon Huyler, 133, and Albert Mandeville, 128.

Four new members were enrolled, making a total of seventy-one, forty-seven of whom are in good standing.

Two lost articles were found at the range. If the owners apply to Mr. Frambach they can have them.

GREATER MEASURE OF HOME RULE

Special to Courier-News:

Trenton, March 1.—The municipalities of the State are given the home rule power to initiate ordinance on any question, including liquor regulation, in a bill just passed by the Senate. It is by Senator Kates, of Camden, who is a local optionist. The measure gives to all other municipalities in the State the authority for the initiative already conferred upon all the commission government cities by the Walsh act.

JOHN KIELY DOING WELL

John Kiely, of Summer avenue, who was badly burned yesterday morning while working in a trench for the Plainfield-Union Water Company in West Front street, near the International Motor Company's plant, and who was taken to Muhlenberg Hospital for treatment, is reported to be getting along nicely today. Bernard Brady, of West Front street, who was working with Kiely, was also slightly burned.

Mrs. Josephine Dodge, of Berckman street, was entertained last evening at a party given in honor of her birthday by her family and other relatives.

WAR UPSETS PLANS FOR TROLLEY LINE

Spicer Company Defers Building Extension to South Plainfield

The fact that the European war, with all its inconvenience, is responsible for the lack of trolley connection between this city and South Plainfield has just become known. When the Public Service Corporation finally refused to build the much-desired extension of its system after repeated urging on the part of citizens and especially the Spicer Manufacturing Company, whose large plant is located at South Plainfield, the latter concern through President Dana at once took steps which it was believed would bring the rapid transit facilities.

The Spicer Company planned to invest enough capital in a trolley line between the two points, feeling sure that it would be a paying venture and beside afford quick means for hundreds of their employes to get back and forth to work. The company employs about one thousand men, and a large number of them live in Plainfield. At present they are taken back and forth in the company's automobile trucks, which is generally crowded to the limit on each trip.

The company seriously contemplated building a trolley line, but the war has affected general conditions to such an extent that it was thought best to abandon the project indefinitely. President Thomas N. McCarter of the Public Service Corporation at one time stated that the extension to South Plainfield would cost approximately $100,000, but the Spicer Company is sure it can be done for less and hopes possibly at some future time to establish the line. The scarcity of labor as well as the difficulty of getting materials at anything like a reasonable price were chief factors in giving up the plans for the present. It is possible, however, that the company may in the near future establish an up-to-date auto suburban service which will provide quick and cheap travel between this city and South Plainfield.

It is understood that Mr. Dana has been investigating this proposition not only for the reason that he wants to provide a service for the company's employes, but believes it will be a great benefit to many other people who have occasion to travel between the points named, but find it troublesome because of the present inadequate accommodations.

NEWARK'S AUTO SHOW BREAKS ALL RECORDS

Newark, March 1.—Newark's auto show is breaking all records for attendance and sales. The proximity of the Palace hall room, in which it is held, to the centre of the city, has resulted in crowds packing the place nightly, as well as attracting good-sized audiences in the afternoon.

The paid attendance Saturday, Monday and Tuesday nights surpassed all previous show figures. Saturday night at the opening it was 100 per cent. more than for any previous opening.

The same thing applies to sales. There was more business done in the first three days than for the entire week of any previous show. Newark and vicinity are buying motor cars with their surplus money just the same as every other community.

Three big days remain—Tonight, "Business Men's Night"; tomorrow the "good roads" advocates will be present, and Saturday will be the big wind-up.

WOMEN ATTACK WAGON OF LOCAL PRODUCE DEALER

Three women who are presumed to have come from New York in an automobile, climbed upon a wagon belonging to L. C. Whitall, a produce dealer of this city, in Broad street, Westfield, this morning and attempted to destroy a lot of onions. The driver, William Voorheese, had covered the vegetables with burlap and canvas and the women were obliged to alight from the vehicle before they could do any harm.

Voorheese telephoned to his employer about the incident, and the latter notified the local police who have been on the lookout for the women, who are supposed to have headed this way.

It was reported that women poured kerosene oil on vegetables in several stores in Westfield, but this report, however, has been denied.

PLANS FOR ROAD WORK AND BRIDGES

Two New Structures to be Built in East End of City

Freeholder S. P. T. Wilbur, of this city, who is chairman of the county road committee, has put in a request for two new bridges, one to be located on Netherwood avenue over Cedar brook and the other on Norwood avenue, both to take the places of structures now about worn out and entirely too light for traffic. The new bridges will be of the type known as plate girders. Mr. Wilbur will call his committee together in two weeks to take these matters up. It is proposed to erect a new bridge on Eastburn street, Cranford, to cost about $16,000.

The State road department having accepted the east end of Mountain avenue, the road committee now plans to improve that thoroughfare from Mountainside to Springfield, a distance of three miles. The new road will be twenty-two feet wide of concrete with a tar top and cost about $50,000. Details are also being completed for the improvement of Springfield avenue, from North avenue to the borough line of Cranford, at a cost of about $45,000.

Former Local Resident Charged With Theft of Car From Fred Endress

Fred Weaver, a machinist, formerly of this city, is held at Jamaica, L. I., having been arrested on a warrant sworn out by Fred Endress, of this city, charging him with the theft of an automobile. Weaver was taken into custody Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock, and at 10 o'clock that night the car was placed in the yard at Mr. Endress' home in West Sixth street.

It is understood that Weaver bought the car, and was to have paid for it in installments. He was not to take the car outside the State without Mr. Endress' consent.

He is alleged to have made only one payment, and then left town with the car. He will be extradited to the jurisdiction of the Union county court.

FRUSTRATED GERMAN PLOT WITH MEXICO

By United Press:
(By Robert J. Bender, U. P. Cor.)

Washington, March 1.—Germany's attempt to align Mexico and Japan in a hostile conspiracy against the United States has been frustrated.

At the State Department today it was intimated that so far as known the letters of Germany's foreign Secretary Zimmerman, the authenticity of which was vouched for by President Wilson personally, to the Senate today, never reached Carranza, and as a result was not passed on to Japan. Attention is called to the fact that in his instruction Zimmerman stipulated that Eckhardt should "only broach the matter to Carranza as soon as it is certain that there will be an outbreak of war with the United States." It is shown that this certainty had not developed when Bernstorff left the United States. Doubt as to the authenticity of the Zimmerman letter, voiced in the Senate today, because of its text having first become public through the press, was quickly dispelled through Senator Swanson, who made a formal statement announcing that the President had authorized him to say the published text was substantially correct.

That the Japanese government would not consider any proposition like that advocated by Secretary of Foreign Affairs Zimmerman in his "Mexican-Japanese plot" note, was the belief expressed by Secretary Lansing today. Lansing authorized the following statement:

"The Department does not believe that Japan has had any knowledge of this, or that she would consider any proposition made by an enemy."

Lansing also expressed belief that the Mexican government, too, would ignore any such proposition. He said: "We have confidence that Mexico would not become a party to it in view of the friendly relations between the United States and the de facto government."

While withholding discussion of the sources of the Government's information of the German plot last "some one's life be endangered," the State Department admitted that it had full evidence of the plot; that the Zimmerman note had reached Bernstorff here, and also had reached the German ministers in Mexico. Doubt was expressed that Carranza had ever seen the communication or been informed of its contents.

Owing to the fact that the plot was not actually to take form except in the event of actual hostilities between the United States and Germany, Japanese Ambassador Sato was called to the Department yesterday, and was told of the information which had been received as to the threatened plot. While Lansing would not discuss what Sato said about it, the fact that he used the statement quoted indicates that the Japanese Ambassador must have denied any knowledge of it, and scorned any possibility of his government being in any way interested. This theory is also borne out by Sato's statement through the United Press this morning.

Lansing intimated that the United States has been working four months on the case, but unable until now to secure conclusive evidence of the plot.

RUNYON OPPOSES FRANCHISE TAX BILL

Special to Courier-News:

Trenton, March 1.—Following their passage in the House of Assembly Tuesday afternoon, the State Highway Tax Bill and the bill increasing the taxes upon the franchises of public utilities, two of the important Republican administration measures, were rushed to the Senate and last evening in that body were reported by the Judiciary Committee and were immediately given second reading. This puts them in position for final action in the Senate and the Republican majority will pass them there next week.

The House passed the road tax bill by a vote of 39 to 12, the negative votes coming from the Democrats present and Assemblyman Robinson, Republican, of Bergen, who stated his county would not derive sufficient benefit under the bill. The vote on the franchise tax bill was 40 to 1 for it. Mr. Runyon, Republican, of Union, being the only member in opposition. He thought the bill unscientific in its provisions.

SOMERSET COUNTY RESIDENT DIES SUDDENLY

William Van Doren Layton, aged 79 years, well known throughout Somerset county, is dead at his home in Bedminster. He had been ill several months. CAPT JACK CRAWFORD DIED IN WOODHAVEN

Noted Indian Fighter and Scout, Who Will Be Remembered in This City

Captain Jack Crawford, whose real name was John Wallace Crawford, and who is remembered by many Plainfielders, died at his home at Woodhaven, L. I., Tuesday night, of pneumonia, after a month's illness.

He is remembered here for having lectured in the Y. M. C. A. about fifteen years ago on "Pioneers of the West." He showed how he escaped from two bandits on the frontier once, when with one in front of him and one behind him with revolvers aimed at him, he drew his own gun quickly enough to lay out both of them before they could shoot.

Leaving here he spent some time in Alaska, and wrote from there to a representative of the Courier-News some interesting experiences there. He was a noted Indian fighter of early frontier days.

Captain Crawford wrote a number of plays, stories and poems and was known as the "poet scout." He was chief of scouts under General Custer at the time of the Custer massacre, in June 1876, but it is said that he was on his way to Custer's headquarters with dispatches when this event took place. Later he played an active part in the pursuit of Sitting Bull.

Crawford was born in Ireland in 1847. He served in the Civil War and the story is that he learned to read and write while in the hospital recovering from a wound.

Captain Crawford was interested in reclaiming boy offenders, and his "boy heroes of the world" numbered 25,000 men and boys whose signed pledges he held that they would not touch liquor. It was his boast that nearly all of them kept the faith.

Captain Crawford is survived by his widow, who is on her way from New Mexico; two daughters, Miss May Crawford, who lives on a New Mexico ranch, and Mrs. Eva Reckhardt, of El Paso, Tex., and a son, Harry Crawford, a former mayor of Clois N. M.

DR. BROEK CONCLUDES CHURCH HISTORY

"The Church in the Field" the Subject of Address at Trinity Church

The Rev. J. Y. Broek of Trinity Reformed Church gave his fourth and final talk of the series on the history of the Reformed Church, at the mid-week service last night. Dr. Broek's topic was "The Church in the Field" which we give in part as follows:

"The Reformed Church carries on an extensive and continually expanding missionary and educational work through her various boards. The Board of Education was organized in the Collegiate Church, New York city, in 1828. Colonel Henry Rutgers, after whom Rutgers College was named, was its first president. This board assists young men in studying for the gospel ministry, and supports in part their denominational colleges. Last year the Reformed Church took under its care a Baptist college, located at Pella, Iowa.

"The Board of Domestic Missions was formally organized in 1832, but as early as 1786 plans were made for sending the gospel to destitute places of our land. In 1798, eight churches were established along the St. Lawrence, in Canada. At the present time the Reformed Church is carrying out an extensive home missionary work among the immigrants and especially through church extension. Every classis of New York and New Jersey has recently organized a new church. Two-thirds of the churches of the Synod of Chicago were formerly mission churches. They have developed into strong churches and contribute as much money to missions as does the Synod of New York. The women of the church, through the Women's Board of Domestic Mission, carry on an ever enlarging work among the mountaineers, the Indians and the Japanese in New York city. The church is growing at a splendid rate and every year there is an increase in every department of work.

"The Reformed Church has always been known for her missionary activity. For years the church has given the largest per capita gifts to foreign missions of any church in America. She took a leading part in the organization of the New York Missionary Society in November 1796. This society sent out Rev. Joseph Bullen as the first missionary to the Chickasaw Indians in Georgia. The directors agreed to employ him at the annual salary of three hundred and seventy-five dollars and to defray his traveling expenses.' He left on March 26, 1799, and a month later he had progressed on his journey as far as Lancaster, Pa., and at the end of another month he finally arrived at his destination.

Four fields are represented in the foreign missionary work of the Reformed Church. The Amoy mission in China was founded by Rev. David Abel in 1842. He was followed by Rev. Dr. John Van Nest Talmadge in 1847. Dr. Talmadge received his early religious training in the Reformed Church at Bound Brook. Another missionary to Amoy was the Rev. Daniel Rapalje, living at present in this city, who did service in the field for over 40 years, from 1858-1899, and had an unusual acquaintance with the Chinese language.

The Circot Mission in Southern Indiana was founded in 1853. The names of the Scudder and Chamberlain family are most prominent in their mission. The Scudder family has given over 600 years of service for Christ in India.

The North and South Japan missions with Tokio, Kokohama and Nagaski as centers were founded by Revs. Dr. Samuel R. Brown and Dr. Guido F. Verbeck in 1859. The first Christian Church in Japan was organized by Rev. James H. Ballagh, a missionary of the Reformed Church in Yokohama on March 10, 1872. Many of the Royal House were educated at Rutgers College.

The Reformed Church is practically the only church that has missions in Arabia. The Arabian Mission was conceived in Hertzog Hall, New Brunswick Seminary, in 1889 through the efforts of Rev. Samuel M. Zwemer, James Cantine, Peter J. Zwemer and Prof. Lansing. The Arabian mission was organized in the North Reformed church, Newark. Arabia is one of the hardest of missionary fields, but already five stations have been established in this neglected country."

SENATORIAL CAMPAIGN WILL BE LIVELY

There promises to be a lively campaign in Somerset county next fall for the Republican nomination for Senator. Besides Mayor William L. Smalley, of North Plainfield, Charles Wheeler, of Watchung, and former Judge Clarence Case, of Somerville, are mentioned as possible candidates for the nomination.

It is also stated that William Delarocie Anderson, once an Assemblyman from Somerset, may also decide to enter the race. Mr. Anderson lives in North Plainfield township. He is a local optionist.

Mayor Smalley is the only one of those thus far mentioned who has actually been appealed to take the nomination, and up to this time he has not said whether or not he will be a candidate.

The Mayor has attracted attention because of his fine administration of the affairs of North Plainfield borough and particularly his outspoken attitude on the liquor question.

The Mayor is an out-and-out local optionist. He believes that the wish of the majority should control the question of licenses, and he would like to see every community empowered to grant or refuse them.

MUST REPORT ON INCOMES TODAY

All single persons having an income of $3,000 and all married persons having an income in excess of $4,000 must make a report to the income tax collector at Newark today. A penalty is provided for failure to do so. Proper blanks can be obtained from Postmaster Hoagland upon application.

"Best Investment I ever made"

Said Mr. Newhome:—"We are snugly warm no matter how the wind blows or how stinging the cold outside! This IDEAL-AMERICAN heating makes life out here in the suburbs, or the country, comfortable for everybody. The coal-money I spent this year is the most satisfactory—and the least, despite the new high prices. The outfit will outlast our lifetime—an investment, not an expense."

AMERICAN RADIATORS & IDEAL BOILERS

These outfits guarantee highest quantity and quality of heat per dollar of cost

No other feature of a building repays so much its cost—or so many times its cost—as an IDEAL-AMERICAN outfit—which easily outwears the building. The heavy fuel savings, the absence of repairs, the little care-taking, and the cleanliness that saves housework and house furnishings make these outfits the ideal bargain in heating

No other feature of a building shrinks so little in value—there are no second-hand IDEAL Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators, because they are just as good as new even after many years of use. This is unlike abandoned old-fashioned heating devices which clutter up junk yards, alleys and vacant lots.

IDEAL Boilers have large fuel pots in which the air and coal gases thoroughly mix as in a modern gas or oil mantle or burner, thus extracting every bit of the heat from the fuel. Easier to run than a stove.

If you are weary of everlasting blackening, repairing and coaxing, discard at once the old way and put in an IDEAL-AMERICAN outfit at this season, when you get best attention and most favorable prices. Send for free booklet—"Ideal Heating" which explains how to get full returns from every heating coal bill.

A No. 4-19-W IDEAL Boiler and 240 ft. of 38-in. AMERICAN Radiators, costing the owner $1,180, were used to heat this cottage. At this price the goods can be bought of any reputable, competent Fitter. This did not include cost of labor, pipe, valves, freight, etc., which vary according to climatic and other conditions.

The regular teams of both schools will positively play the whole game, notwithstanding false rumors to the contrary that have been circulated.

PLAINFIELD BILL NOW IN SENATE

The bill which Assemblyman Runyon introduced in the Assembly two weeks ago, at the request of Mayor Calkins, and which if enacted into law will give the Common Council the right to submit to the voters at a general election any question upon which public opinion is desired, is now in the Senate awaiting consideration, and will probably be passed at the next session.

A motion was made to reconsider the vote which passed it in the house last week, when its local option possibilities were discovered, but Mr. Runyon assured his colleagues that the measure was not intended as a local option bill, and that other matters upon which public opinion was desired had prompted its introduction, the opposition faded away.

NAME UNIVERSITY FOR FRELINGHUYSEN

In Remembrance of Late U. S. Senator's Service for Colored People

In remembrance of the public service rendered the cause of the colored people of the country by the late Frederick T. Frelinghuysen while a member of the United States Senate and other New Jersey statesmen, the board of directors of the Interdenominational University of Washington, of which Jesse Lawson, formerly of Plainfield, is president, has voted to rename the institution Frelinghuysen University. This action was taken at a special meeting on Washington's Birthday at New Bethel Baptist church, Washington.

The university is also intended as a memorial to other deceased statesmen of New Jersey who have rendered conspicuous public service to the cause of colored Americans while serving in various capacities at Washington. The plan is to have a group of a dozen or more schools and colleges named in honor of the memory and public service of the late Senators William J. Sewell, John R. McPherson, John Kean, John F. Dryden, Vice-President Garret A. Hobart, Congressmen Marcus L. Ward, Augustus W. Cutler, Amos Clark, James Buchanan, John Hill, Henry C. Loudenslager and Grover Cleveland, former President of the United States. Proper steps are being taken to raise the necessary endowment and a thirty days' campaign will soon be inaugurated.

LATE EDITOR A FRIEND OF L. V. F. RANDOLPH

Hon. Robert P. Porter, one of the editors of the London Times, who died in London on Tuesday as the result of an accident on Monday, was a close friend of former Mayor L. V. F. Randolph, of this city. Mr. Randolph lunched with him on several occasions on recent visits to London, and with Mrs. Randolph visited at Mr. Porter's home in the University town of Oxford. Mr. Randolph owns a fine portrait of Mr. Porter, and within a few weeks past has received several interesting letters from him.

Mr. Porter was born in England sixty-five years ago, but was a naturalized citizen of the United States. Like Mr. Randolph, he traveled widely. He visited Norway, Spain, Japan, Russia and South America, and wrote ably and voluminously about them.

Of his friendships the New York Sun says:

"He had such genius for friendship as had Porter. The range and variety of his friends and acquaintances, particularly in the United States and Japan and in England was extraordinary, and besides all this traveling for the Times he had in other years undertaken many extensive journeys in the United States and Mexico, France, Belgium, Italy, the Balkans, Rumania and Turkey for the purpose of industrial investigations.

"He was completing a short history of Japan for the Oxford University Press at the time of his death."

On one occasion Mr. and Mrs. Randolph had an interesting meeting with Hon. Wm. J. Bryan and Mrs. Bryan at Mr. Porter's Oxford home.

MARTINE SAYS FAREWELL TO SENATE

The legislative and international problems were laid aside yesterday in the Senate at Washington for a time to listen to a valedictory address by Senator James E. Martine of New Jersey, who retires on March 4 after six years' service. The Senator paid his respects to political opponents and answered criticisms that he did not always vote with his party by asserting that he had always voted according to his convictions.

"It has been said in published statements that I was a sheer accident, a joke, a mountebank, a buffoon, and a disgrace to this body," he shouted, striding up and down the centre aisle. "But no man ever said I was a moral coward, a pretender. That is my answer to those villainous and cowardly attacks."

Senator Martine said that he believed in direct elections of Senators, had sought to establish such procedure, and now bowed to the people's fiat at such an election. He added that he had found the Senate wonderfully human and knew of "no place so well calculated to take out a man's egotism."

Senators Lodge and Kenyon replied, assuring the New Jersey Senator that he would leave with the well wishes and affectionate regard of all members.

ANOTHER APPEAL FOR BELGIAN CHILDREN

The Commission has only four weeks' supply of food ahead.

RAE TANZER TRIAL BEGINS MONDAY NEXT

Judge Van Fleet, of the Federal Court, New York, has set Monday next for the beginning of the second trial of Rae Tanzer, indicted for perjury in having sworn that it was James W. Osborne, the lawyer, who was her companion at the Kensington Hotel, this city. The jury in the first trial disagreed.

In the recent trial of Franklin D. Stafford, former clerk of the Hotel, who was found guilty of perjury, Miss Tanzer testified that she was not mistaken, and that it was Mr. Osborne, and not Charles H. Wass, who called himself "Oliver Osborne," who was her companion.

SPIRIT OF PATRIOTISM

Tuesday's vigorous assertion of the purpose of the people of Plainfield and North Plainfield to support the President and Congress to whatever extent may be needful in upholding American rights and dignity has not been excelled, perhaps, by any community in the country. They are to be congratulated on having manifested a spirit of patriotism and leadership that may serve as a worthy example for every city and town of the Union. So earnest is this spirit, and so generally shared by our citizens, that there can be no doubt that many among us will welcome an opportunity to do more than merely assert their devotion to the cause of national security and honor. At this time of the imminent possibility that we shall be drawn into the great war in spite of every decent effort to remain at peace, the desire to render substantial aid to the Government is nearly universal. And realizing, as we must, that even if we are to be spared actual hostilities, the international situation for many years to come will call for our utmost vigilance and preparedness to meet possible aggression, practically all of us feel strongly the duty of assisting in so far as we may at the task of strengthening the nation's defense. Perhaps the very best course open to the ordinary citizen to this end is to become a member of the oldest and probably the best of all our preparedness organizations, the Navy League of the United States. Its purpose strikes at the very root of the problem of national security, the upbuilding of our first line of defense and its maintenance at a strength so fully assured that no attack can break through it to imperil our homes. By every practicable means the Navy League seeks to encourage the development of a sea power so efficient that American lives and rights and legitimate undertakings may be adequately protected in every accessible part of the world. By the stimulation of public interest and coordination of public influence it strives to foster the growth of the only form of military establishment that can afford the United States not only safety when attacked, but, what is even better, the highest possible degree of assurance that no attack will be made. The support of this organization offers an opportunity of real patriotic service to every man and woman of our city and borough, a service that our devoted officers and men of the navy will be quick to appreciate and for which every Congressman who is struggling against the insidious propaganda of military speculation will be grateful. The publications of the Navy League are profoundly interesting and instructive, and the value of its influence in the expression of competent opinion and the encouragement of wise legislation can hardly be overestimated. We urge all those who aided so generously in the patriotic demonstration of last evening, as well as those who were unable to be present but are equally sincere in their devotion to true American principles, to avail themselves of the membership.

TIME FOR CONCENTRATION

It is about time for men of the stripe of Bryan and LaFollette to be repressed in some way. It is people of their kind who make necessary such meetings as the one held Tuesday night, to determine whether there is or is not a united patriotic sentiment in the land whose privileges they enjoy, and who are unwilling to take their part in defense of the rights which belong to a free people, and which others have given their lives to preserve. In the dark days of the Civil War, it will be remembered, there were pacifists who had to be threatened with exile to Dry Tortugas for their utterances which tended to discourage willing patriots from presenting themselves on the altars of their country for service in upholding her honor. Some today are even more dangerous, because their sophistry and unpatriotic utterances find more ready ears among a people whose land has been free of war for more than half a century, and who are so softened by the long period of peace, as not to realize with due promptness their duty to the land of their birth and adoption. People of this class happen to be influential enough in some quarters to do much in tying the hands of the President, who is expected to uphold the honor, dignity and welfare of the nation which furnishes them the opportunity for the enjoyment of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.

HOW BUSINESS GROWS

Many merchants complain about poor business, and then they never set aside a dollar in the effort to get more business. In this they act against every recognized principle of success. All the big enterprises set aside a large sum for their sales and advertising departments. It is the work of these departments to make new friends. It is recognized that a firm's regular customers are constantly dropping out, due to death, removal, competition of rivals, etc. Unless a constant effort is made to attract new friends, one's business is likely to fall off instead of increase. No retail business can grow unless it acts on this principle. New friends and patrons must constantly be secured. They are not likely to come haphazard. They go to the people who solicit them. If distant mail order houses and outside cities solicit them by advertising, while the home merchant does not, they will go to the place that seeks their trade, as that place seems to them the most wide-awake and enterprising.

EDITORIAL NOTES

At the present outlook John D. Rockefeller will wish he had gone into the potato-raising business.

England is suffering almost as much from the German submarines as our country is from the food speculators.

The most pitiable suffering is expected from Kentucky, where in case of war the distilling plants would be used by the United States for the munition business.

PEOPLE'S FORUM

Call the New Congress

To the Editor of the Courier-News:

Dear Sir—The President in his last message to the Congress stated that it would take "an unusual length of time to assemble and organize" the new Congress. Matters of the most vital import will at some time be presented to this new Congress for intelligent consideration and for quick decision.

Let us for once exercise just a little foresight by urging the calling of the new Congress at the earliest possible moment so that the lengthy procedure of assemblage and organization will not be left to that time when grave decision will be required for the safety of our very lives from a calm deliberative body, and not from a chaotic mob in the turmoil of organization, and of getting into the harness. Let the citizens of our vicinity lead the way, as they showed themselves capable of doing in their wonderful patriotic meeting of Tuesday night, and memorialize the President upon this most important question.

WM. DELAROCHE ANDERSON.
Plainfield, N. J., March 1, 1917.

COMPARES PLAINFIELD PRICES

A local reader sends a list cut from a New York paper, showing prices of staple articles of food and asking how it is that Plainfield prices are higher, in order to answer the question the Plainfield merchants were canvassed and they declared that the prices on the list could be and were duplicated here.

CONSOLIDATION OF JOURNALS

Announcement is made of the consolidation of the McGraw Publishing Company with the Hill Publishing Company. The new company, which is known as the McGraw-Hill Publishing Company, has acquired all the properties of the two constituents, which include the Electrical World, Electrical Merchandising, the Electric Railway Journal, the Engineering Record, the Contractor, Metallurgical and Chemical Engineering, the American Machinist, Power and Engineering News, the Engineering and Mining Journal and the Coal Age.

Two of these trade journals, the Engineering News and the Engineering Record, will be consolidated as the Engineering News-Record, with Charles Baker as editor.

The officers of the new company, which will be the largest engineering publishing house in the world, are James H. McGraw, president; Arthur J. Baldwin, vice-president and treasurer, and E. J. Mehren, vice-president and general manager. The Engineering News was formerly owned by George H. Frost, of this city.

NOT A PARTICLE OF DANDRUFF OR A FALLING HAIR

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first, —yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance.

Get a 25-cent bottle Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.—Adv.

NEWARK SHUT DOWN ON LIQUOR SALES

Liquor is forbidden to be sold in any saloon, restaurant or dance hall in Newark between the hours of 1 and 5 o'clock in the morning after March 19. The excise board of that city has adopted a resolution making it unlawful for license holders to conduct their business during these hours. Prior to this the board rescinded its former action to grant all-night licenses.

JERSEY REPUBLICANS AGAINST MANN

Special to the Courier-News:

Trenton, Mar. 1.—State Comptroller Newton A. K. Bugbee, as chairman of the Republican State Committee, has received a letter from Hamilton F. Kean, of Elizabeth, the Union County member of the State Committee, protesting against the Republicans in the House of Representatives voting for representative James R. Mann, of the Second District of Illinois, for Speaker. Mr. Kean declares that he does not believe Congressman Mann will be satisfactory to the Republican voters of New Jersey.

"I understand," writes Mr. Kean, who is a brother of the late United States Senator John Kean, "that the Republicans are going to vote for Mr. Mann for Speaker of the House. In my opinion, Mr. Mann would not be satisfactory to the Republican voters of New Jersey.

"As a member of the State Committee, I wish to file with you my protest against the Congressmen of New Jersey voting for Mr. Mann. If the other members of the State Committee feel as I do, I would like to forward such protest to the members from New Jersey."

State Chairman Bugbee said today he would communicate at once with the other members of the committee, and if they agree with Mr. Kean, he will send the protest to the New Jersey Republican Congressmen.

The fight against Representative Mann as a candidate for Speaker is being led by Congressman Gardner, of Massachusetts. Mann represents a strong pro-German district, and it is charged that his sympathies are too much with Germany in the present grave international situation. Another charge made against him is that he is an obstructionist, whereas just now the party needs men of constructive ability.

PUT CREAM IN NOSE AND STOP CATARRH

Tells How To Open Clogged Nostrils and End Head-Colds.

You feel fine in a few moments. Your cold in head or catarrh will be gone. Your clogged nostrils will open. The air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more dullness, headache; no hawking, snuffing, mucous discharges or dryness; no struggling for breath at night.

Tell your druggist you want a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream into your nostrils, let it penetrate through every air passage of the head; soothe and heal the swollen, inflamed mucous membrane, and relief comes instantly.

It is just what every cold and catarrh sufferer needs. Don't stay stuffed-up and miserable.—Adv.

A TALK to COAL BUYERS

This company, in its advertising, has endeavored to impress upon the coal buying public, that by virtue of its organization and wholesale connections, it is in a position to render service of a particularly efficient kind, a service not possible to every dealer in coal.

This winter, during the coal shortage, this service has been put to the test, and how well our organization has met it can best be vouched for by our customers. We have not only taken care of all our orders, but we have furnished coal to other dealers as well, and we point to our ability to care for our trade under the exceptional conditions that have presented themselves, with considerable pride, for we feel that our claim to be able to serve the public satisfactorily at all times and under all conditions, has been amply demonstrated.

If we are not already serving you, would it not be wise to become one of our regular customers, and thus place your coal burden on responsible shoulders?

Give us the opportunity; we will serve you well.

WATCHUNG

TWELVE FEET OF ROADWAY CAVES IN

Yesterday afternoon the roadway below the Wilson Stone Crusher Plant suddenly caved in, to a space of about twelve feet. Mrs. George T. Hughes had just driven over the spot, and her horse suddenly stumbled and fell, but quickly regained its feet, Mrs. Hughes thinking that the animal had slipped on the snow. Another vehicle, coming along behind Mrs. Hughes, discovered the hole and immediately notified Major Harry B. McDonald, who hurried to the scene.

Several men with teams were put to work at once hauling stone to fill up the hole. One of the men stepped into the hole, which was about six feet deep, and sunk his crowbar the full length beneath him without touching bottom. It is supposed that the cave-in occurred over one of the old mine shafts, which underlie that part of the road.

It is fortunate that this happened just after the school bus had passed and before the heavy commuters' bus came up to Watchung, on its evening trip. Some years ago a cave-in occurred near the same place. Several pedestrians were walking along at the time when suddenly one of them disappeared to the great consternation of the others. Upon investigating he was discovered, where he had fallen, down in an old mine shaft. Many years ago that section of the "Notch" was honeycombed with old mines of the Somerset Copper Mine Company.

The many friends of John O'Connor, son-in-law of Hippolyte Texier, who has been very ill with pneumonia and complications at his home in New York City, will be pleased to hear that he has shown slight improvement.

A very interesting Christian Endeavor meeting was held last evening in the chapel. The topic was "Home Missions and what they are doing," and was led by Miss Theresa Schmidt.

WESTFIELD

TO ENLARGE FORCE OF CITIZEN POLICE

Mayor Evans, Police Commissioner Affleck, Chief of Police Rosecrans and the members of the special reserve citizen police, composed of W. A. Stryker, C. V., Steinhart, P. D. Collins, L. M. Pearsall, Charles W. Sortor, Russell Huff, Otto Seabodde, Captain J. J. Thomas and Charles Lance, held a meeting in the town hall last night for the purpose of discussing the work of the citizen police and to formulate plans for an organization.

Mayor Evans presided and he stated that he thought it would be a good thing to increase the number of the special citizen police from eight to twenty-five. He thought that it would be a good thing for the Chief to have charge of the details of the organization and to tell the special police what to do.

It was decided to make the number of special citizen police twenty-five and with this in view L. M. Pearsall suggested the names of certain men in the town and he was directed by the Mayor to write each one a letter asking them if they would become special police officers and to define their duties to them. Another meeting will be held later in the week at which time all the details will have been arranged and an organization will be effected.

The names suggested by Mr. Pearsall were as follows: William Gould, H. Grieve, C. R. Magill, S. H. Whitney, Edward Wiley, David Coulter, Walter Baird, Guy Jackson, H. Seubach, C. B. Kellogg, G. C. Lucas, J. L. Miller, Robert Mills, Harry Hale, Louis Knittin, H. C. Newell, W. H. Orr, G. H. Parker, W. E. Reeves, W. Rickard, S. H. Slater, Robert Snevily, W. J. Taylor, Ernest Alpers, K. R. Hart, William Stsserson, Harold Wiley, Walter Post, A. P. Chase, Jr., George W. Cravens, Fred Doerrer, J. S. Howe, John Fisher, Henry B. Foster, J. B. Foster, S. D. French, J. O. Gage and Spencer Gales.

Out of this list of names it is proposed to select enough men to make up the twenty-five who will constitute the citizen police reserve. These special officers will have the same authority as the regular police officers. They can make arrests when necessary and be ready in case they are needed by Chief Rosecrans on an emergency call. They will be equipped with a nightstick, blackjack and a revolver which they will purchase themselves. The main object of the citizen police is to have citizens who are interested in the work and who are willing to help in keeping the town clean and rid of all objectionable characters. The men who are already members of the citizen police have already done some good work, especially in keeping tabs on automobiles and seeing that there is no speeding, and that all autos have lights, and in various other ways the police have been a great help to the police department.

Resigns From School Board

Owing to press of business Walter A. Dempsey, who has been a member of the Board of Education for the past seven years, the time which time he has been the president of the board, has decided to resign, the resignation to become effective so that a successor can be elected at the annual meeting of the school district on March 20.

The decision of Mr. Dempsey to resign has come as a great surprise to not only the other members of the Board but to the citizens of the town as well. Since Mr. Dempsey has been a member of the Board he has given faithfully of his time and energy in furthering the advancement of education in this town. Mr. Dempsey was instrumental in introducing the free lecture course in the schools. He has visited many schools in the country, examined closely their workings and has from his observations been able to make substantial suggestions for the advancement of the local schools. He will be greatly missed on the board, but a change in his position demands so much of his time that he will be unable to devote the proper time to the work.

Westfield Band Begins Campaign

A plan to secure 1,000 associate members of the Westfield Band has been perfected and a campaign with that end in view has been started. The idea is to get the associate members at $1 each which will insure having band concerts next summer. The membership campaign will be in charge of teams captained by the following men; Dr. T. R. Harvey, W. E. Reeve, A. J. Plaia, F. Tenbyke, W. Smith, F. W. Ellsworth, F. Bardwell, J. R. Connoly, W. J. Lee, Harold Welch, O. W. Hall, C. E. Pearsall, Edward Wittke, Thomas Murray, J. E. Grape, Dr. F. A. Kiker, Donald Pearsall, Walter Day and H. C. Cline.

When she came out of the store the boy was nowhere in sight. She made inquiries but no one had seen him. The visited every store on Broad street and even the Playhouse but no son did she find. She then went to the police station and reported it to Chief Rosecrans and he started out in the police automobile with Mrs. Brown to try and locate the little fellow. Mr. Tao is a member of one of the leading families of education and culture in China. His present sojourn in this country is for the purpose of fully acquainting himself with commercial, educational, social, religious and governmental institutions, so that he may be better fitted when he returns home to aid his countrymen in their struggle upward toward national modernism. As the village lawyer, he becomes the foster father of Mona Vairn, a handsome, fair-haired girl many years his junior and falls in love with her.

BRIGHT SPOT IN LEGISLATIVE SESSION

Special to the Courier-News:

Trenton, March 1.—This is the one bright spot in this session of the Legislature," facetiously remarked Democratic Leader Geran Tuesday afternoon when the House took up for passage the Senate bill to provide money to send the troops to the inauguration of President Wilson.

Assemblyman Randall, of Passaic, explained that two troops of cavalry, one battery of field artillery, the Governor and his staff would make up New Jersey's quota of representatives at the ceremonies, and the adjutant-general had stated the troops selected would make a fine showing. This bill now goes to the Governor for his signature.

GERMAN NAVY WANTS U. S. WAR

Would Give U-Boats Real Unrestricted Zone.

PEOPLE PREPARED FOR IT.

All Parties in Empire Now United in Demand That All Conquered Territory, Including Belgium, Rich Coal and Iron Fields of France and Russian Provinces Be Held as Compensation.

Berlin, March 1.—Declaration of war on Germany by the United States would be no surprise for the German people. It is no exaggeration to say that they look for it and would be rather surprised if it did not come sooner or later. They are convinced that President Wilson is determined to throw the full weight of the United States into the scales on the side of the allies.

This nation wide sentiment was manifest as the German people "digested" the speech of the chancellor in the reichstag. It was the first time in Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg's career that he voiced criticism of America's attitude in this war. For two and a half years he had been constantly under the fire of his opponents, the "Tirpitzites," for "catering to America."

His change of front, caused by President Wilson's action in breaking off diplomatic relations with Germany, is one of the most important occurrences of the war. From his speech the people deduced that he is prepared to hear at any moment that the United States has declared war and that he wished to prepare the nation for that eventuality.

Study of the public mind in Berlin discloses that the chancellor even overrated the importance attached to such an outcome by the nation at large. The feeling in Berlin appears to be that America has done "her worst" and could damage Germany no more fully were she allyned actively against her.

Navy Wants War.

Meanwhile the radical anti-American party, with Tirpitz as the invisible leader, and Count Reventlow as open spokesman, is eagerly looking for just that eventuality. This expectation is shared by the personnel of the navy. War with America would mean the removal of the last barriers to the U-boat campaign, these men feel, and the submarine could sweep every part of all oceans, causing havoc unconfined.

Every man, woman and child in Germany swears by the U-boat weapon as by a religion. Political leaders, who only six months ago were unequivocally opposed to any steps that might lead to trouble with America, now speak enthusiastically in favor of unbridled U-boat warfare.

But, hand in hand with this significant turn of mind, there is another significant change that has come over wide circles of the German people and their leaders. This is the change from willingness to consent to moderate peace terms, terms which would virtually call for the status pre ante, to a unanimous insistence upon sweeping enlargement of German territory and a substantial indemnity.

For this change the entente's refusal of Germany's peace proposal of Jan. 12 is held responsible.

In his address the chancellor started the discussion on this point by his reference to the necessity of "reparation." For him to discuss at this time the details of the peace imperative for the future safety of the empire would be folly, he said. But he pointed out very subtly that it was quite natural for the reichstag members and for the public press to discuss the German war aims.

Will Demand Compensation.

What this diplomatic invitation on the part of the chancellor means can be fully understood only by those who have watched developments in Germany since the outbreak of the war.

It means the lifting of a ban that has held heavily upon the German press and public for more than two years. The taboo on editorial discussion of the "Kriegsziele," be it ever so conservative, was enforced by the government with merciless sternness.

Now the lid if off, and already the pan-Germans are taking full advantage of the regained liberty to tell the Germans what they must demand as compensation for the sacrifices of this war and for the future safeguarding of a "greater Germany."

"The peace conditions of Dec. 12," said Dr. Wiemer, member of the Progressive People's party in the reichstag, "are for the present abandoned. New fighting and new sacrifices come and, as a consequence, new conditions."

Dr. Peter Spahn, leader of the Center party, went even further than that. "All damage and loss of property," said he, "must be borne by the originators of the war."

Keep All Conquered Territory.

This gave the Conservatives the long desired opening to come down to brass tacks. Count Friedrich von Westarp, their spokesman, promptly arose and demanded the retention by Germany of virtually every foot of ground conquered in the war, Courland and Lithuania, in northwestern Russia; Briey and Longwy, where northern France has her biggest iron and coal mines, and the Flemish coast, so rich in "offensive and defensive value," with Antwerp, "which we cannot do without," must remain in German hands, said he.

Corns Peel Right Off With "Gets-It"

2 Drops, and the Corn is a "Goner!"

When you've got to walk on the sides of your shoe to get away from those awful corn-pains, there's only one common-sense thing to do.

Use "Gets-It" Your Corns Won't Swell in Water, Besides, They'll Shrivel, Loosen and Peel Off.

Put 2 or 3 drops of "Gets-It" on the corn right away. Pain and inflammation will disappear, the corn will begin to shrivel from that instant—then it loosens and falls right off.

There's no other corn-remover in the world that acts like "Gets-It." No new discovery has been made in corn-removers since "Gets-It" was born. Don't forget that fact. "Gets-It" does away forever with the use of salves that irritate, bandages that make a bundle of your toe, plasters that half do the work, knives and scissors that draw blood. Use "Gets-It"—no more digging or cutting.

Sale of Limbert's Arts and Crafts Furniture

All the quaintness and charm associated born in song and story with the Holland-Dutch days is duplicated in Limbert furniture.

Its simplicity is beautiful.

Its service-giving qualities have rarely been equaled in any furniture.

For bungalow homes, in fact, for residences of any type, Limbert furniture fits in admirably with the scheme of things in general.

Rarely, if ever, can Limbert furniture be purchased below the regular prices. Even in our semi-annual furniture sales we never reduce the prices of Limbert furniture.

This sale, however, is made possible by the manufacturer, who, deciding to change some of his patterns, offered us the choice of several lots which he was about to discontinue.

He made the price exceptionally low.

We are therefore able to offer Limbert furniture at a reduction of 33 1-3% below regular prevailing prices.

Wisconsin Senator Who Fights Wilson War Power.

WILSON TO INSIST ON FULL AUTHORITY

Objects to House Committee Report on Crisis.

Washington, March 1.—Tension in the German crisis is tightening to the breaking point today as President Wilson waits for congress to make clear its attitude on his demand for authority to place the United States on a basis of armed neutrality.

The statement is authorized by the White House that President Wilson will insist on the passage of the senate bill giving him full power to use "other instrumentalities," which was stricken out by the house foreign affairs committee.

It was stated that before many days American ships, bearing American guns and American gunners to defend their rights at sea, will be defying the perils of the German submarine zone.

The administration cites a long line of actions by Germans which one by one have been added to the mass of disputes that has stretched the patience of the country to the breaking point.

These incidents, they declared, considered cumulatively, would form the basis of President Wilson's determination to protect American commerce and American citizens on the high seas. They were:

The violation of American rights by German submarines, culminating in the sinking of the Laconia and the death of two American women. This was accepted in administration circles as the "overt act" that would make the fateful "next step" imperative.

The detention of five American consular officials in Germany as hostages for official assurance that German consuls have been allowed to leave the United States. This detention was communicated to the state department by Germany through the Swiss minister, and it aroused grave concern.

Unofficial advices that the seventy-two American citizens taken to Germany on the steamer Yarrowdale are again detained "because of infectious diseases," despite German assurances that they would be released. The state department, through Spanish channels, has made another inquiry as to the fate of the Yarrowdale prisoners.

The apparent challenge to the United States in the address of Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg before the reichstag, in which he vigorously criticised the course of the United States since the beginning of the European war and reiterated Germany's determination to war on all neutral shipping.

Millville "Drys" Fight "Wets."

Millville, March 1.—A canvass of those who signed the referendum petition which checked the immediate operation of the city commission's anti-liquor ordinance has been started by temperance advocates. Though the "wets" claim this is illegal, the temperance men state they are obtaining withdrawals of names from the petition and will so reduce the list as to make it ineffective.

PRINCETON MEN QUIT THEIR CLUBS

Resign Calling Organizations Undemocratic.

GEORGE W. PERKINS, JR., LEADS

Others Who Quit Are Prominent In University Undergraduate Life—Follow Movement Started by Son of Grover Cleveland—Object to Snobbishness and Expensive Inefficiency in Dining Halls.

Princeton, March 1.—Seven Princeton students have tendered their resignations as members of clubs at the university, following the protest two months ago by prominent sophomores that the upper class clubs are undemocratic and opposed to the best interests of the university. Four of the students were members of the Charter club, two of the Cap and Gown club and one of the Quadrangle club.

George W. Perkins, Jr., chairman of the senior council; Charles C. Highley, Louis M. Lukens, business manager of the Princetonian; Alexander L. McKaid, editor and chairman of the Princetonian; John S. Nicholas, Arthur V. Savage, member of the crew, and Robert C. Schmertz, are the students who resigned.

A letter from the students appeared in the Princetonian, the official Princeton organ, strongly protesting against the methods of the upper classmen and voicing their dissatisfaction with the social system. The students are opposed to the insistency of the clubs as elective self-perpetuating entities, and they also claim that the eating facilities are conducted in an extravagant and inefficient manner and protest against the limited range of friendship and natural intercourse among the undergraduates.

The revolt against the club system was led by Richard F. Cleveland, son of former President Grover Cleveland, and four classmates. They attributed to the clubs' discontent with the social conditions and disturbances to student life.

These protesters and several others, all members of the sophomore class, though eligible for election to the clubs, decided to refuse any invitations to join and started the movement to make the university dining halls the social center of the university.

APPLES UP IN PRICE.

South Jersey Growers Reaping Profits From Stored Fruit.

Glassboro, March 1.—Apples have followed potatoes and other food articles in the skyrocketing of prices, and growers in this district who still have several thousand baskets stored are beginning to reap profits that have been grabbed up by the food speculators on most other high priced farm products.

Shipments from the Repp cold storage plant have averaged two carloads a day. There have also been scattering shipments by small growers who have limited storage facilities.

High prices for apples are expected to give further stimulus to the fruit industry here. Several hundred acres of orchards have come through the winter in fine condition, and the prospects for next season appear promising.

FOR TEACHERS' PENSIONS.

New Bill Represents Views of the Mayor's Commission.

Albany, N. Y., March 1.—A new teachers' pension bill was introduced by Senator Charles C. Lockwood of Kings and Assemblyman Abraham Ellenbogen of New York. It affects only New York city and was presented to the legislature at the request of the mayor's pension commission, which has spent two years in studying the problem.

One notable departure in the new bill is the provision binding the city to appropriate $1,000,000 toward a reserve fund in the first year after the plan becomes operative. In addition the city, as was provided in the earlier bill, assumes full liability for pensions of teachers already retired.

SAYS THAW IS A WRECK.

Dr. Wanamaker Insists He Cannot Be Removed From Hospital.

Philadelphia, March 1.—Harry K. Thaw is a physical and mental wreck, according to a report made to Captain of Detectives Tate by Dr. John Wanamaker, 3d, a police surgeon, who was present when New York alienists examined Thaw at a hospital here.

Dr. Wanamaker said it would be impossible to remove him from the institution at present.

The Thaw family is completing its plans for the lunacy proceedings instituted by Mrs. Thaw last Monday. The first hearing before the sheriff's jury of six men will be held March 12.

WICKS BILL FOUGHT HARD AT HEARING

Grangers Join Dillon In Opposition to Measure.

Albany, N. Y., March 1.—George W. Perkins, who is slated to head the proposed department of markets, testified before the agricultural committee of the senate and assembly that the people in New York will be starving soon if steps are not taken immediately to change the haphazard system of food supply.

"People are not starving yet, but that does not signify that they will not be starving in a short time," Mr. Perkins said. "At the end of the year we are going to see things worse. It behooves us to pass the bill recommended by the Wicks committee as the first step in remedying the situation."

About fifty representatives of produce organizations of the state appeared before the committee. Their vigorous criticisms of the bill in the face of Mr. Perkins' remarks were amplified by John F. Farrell, state superintendent of weights and measures, and John J. Dillon, state commissioner of foods.

Judge George W. Ward, counsel for the committee, drew fire from the produce men when he charged that honest dealers would not oppose the Wicks bill.

William Truman, representing the state grange, charged that the entire bill was absurd and was a true object for humor instead of serious consideration. He said that grangers refused to consider it in a serious vein.

$6,500,000 FOR PENSIONERS.

Every Episcopalian Clergyman in United States to Be Provided For.

New York, March 1.—Beginning today every active clergyman of the Episcopal church on reaching the age of sixty-eight will be eligible for retirement on a minimum pension of $900 a year. Bishop William Lawrence of Massachusetts, president of the church pension fund, announced that not only has the $5,000,000 sought been subscribed, but the amount has exceeded that the total will be at least $6,500,000.

The plan, which is the first of its kind based on scientific actuarial calculations and whose solvency is assured, calls for contribution by each parish of 7½ per cent of the annual salary paid to its clergy. The maximum pension will be based on his average salary for the total period of active service, applying to it an annual percentage equal to one and a quarter times the number of years' assessments paid by the parishes he served from March 1. Widows will receive one-half the sum to which their husbands would have been entitled.

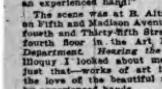
When Art Inspires the Needle

"I have had many and varied experiences," said the Embroidery Needle to the Knitting Needle, "It really is ridiculous for some women to try to do fancy work. They hold me so clumsily, and when they have finished I am actually ashamed of the results. But Oh!" and the Embroidery Needle sighed, "how beautiful is fancy needlework, if it is inspired by love of the beautiful and artistic, and guided by an experienced hand!"

The scene was at R. Altman & Co., on Fifth and Madison Avenues, Thirty-fourth and Thirty-fifth Streets, on the fourth floor in the Art Needlework Department. Hearing the above soliloquy I looked about me and saw just that—works of art inspired by the love of the beautiful and guided by experienced hands.

I absolutely gasped in admiration at the Japanese handkerchief hand-painted on silk. Can one imagine a more artistic picture, when framed, to hang upon the wall of a living room as that the lights and shadows will fall in exactly the right place on Mt. Fujiama of the picturesque Japanese bamboo hut?



Of course Altman's have many beautiful specimens of pillows, one prettier than the other. There are innumerable soft cushions in every conceivable size, shape and color. Altman's take orders to make up pillows in any color or combination, embroidered to suit the taste. All one thing is a combination of cretonne and broadcloth trimmed with gold.

From among the mass of wonderful novelties I picked out a few to tell you about. To replace the old shirt-waist box Altman's now have a shirt-waist cabinet to match the hangings of her room, with four or five drawers. Baby also must have a cabinet with the right hand side an open cupboard in which to hang his clothes on daring enamelled baby hangers and the cabinet with five drawers to contain his little outfit. This also can be ordered from Altman's in the tint of the bedroom or nursery. Something new is a sewing stand for the porch, lined in any color, fitted with four or five drawers.

Baby also must have a cabinet with the right hand side an open cupboard in which to hang his clothes on daring enamelled baby hangers and the cabinet with five drawers to contain his little outfit. This also can be ordered from Altman's in the tint of the bedroom or nursery. Something new is a sewing stand for the porch, lined in any color, fitted with four or five drawers. Most beautiful are Altman's Chinese and Japanese panels. You can select your own strips and have them made up, too. Many people use them for dress trimming and bags.

For those who like sewing, there are many novelties at Altman's. You can get a sewing stand covered with cretonne, or a Chinese bag which can also be used for dressing wear. Another type is in the shape of a Japanese lantern and can be covered in silk of any color. Very pretty are the colored wicker baskets for wool. Large work-bags for the darning or mending are made either of cretonne or velvet.

The writer will have no trouble in being suited at Altman's. One unusual offering is a Japanese desk set of seven pieces with a waste-paper basket to match. Or one might prefer the combination writing desk and table, completely fitted out, which can be made up in any shade to match the color scheme of the room, in either cretonne or figured moire. A unique thing is Altman's folding desk, also in any color, which can be carried from room to room at the owner's will.

To delight the heart of the housekeeper, Altman's are showing a pretty line of colored wicker fruit baskets with futurist designs painted on them. Something entirely new is the black-eyed tin candy or cake box hand-painted and graced by a futurist lady modelled out of tin and also painted. Many might prefer the popular candy boxes covered with cretonne or moire trimmed with gold braid and French flowers. For the kiddies there is Altman's sweetmeat boxes," made of hand-painted wood, for crackers and cake. Wicker sandwich trays with real butterflies and Japanese moss between the glasses of glass, or a similar autumn leaf design, are all almost necessity at a party.

Milady's boudoir is no longer the prosy sort of place it used to be. Her desk and bureau must be filled with all sorts of French novelties. Her boudoir box must be one of Altman's dear dolls with wired skirts. Her wastepaper basket must be a work of art. The telephone must be dressed up in a telephone doll. There must be pretty fancy boxes and cushions. Altman's take orders to fit up a whole room in black and gold, blue and gold or mulberry and gold. These are boxes, desk sets, baskets, picture frames, any article for the dresser, trays, telephone books, writing desks and shirt-waist cabinets, all made of the one material.

Hand-embroidered linen always has been and probably always will be a favorite among the daughters of Eve, and Altman's have all kinds of linen handkerchiefs, embroidered in white and in colors. For anyone who desires to work, the stamped articles can be bought. Laundry and packages are made up ready to embroider, also towels, dresses, gowns, boudoir caps and baby clothes. The baby is lingerie stamped for embroidery, or already embroidered and made up with the lace. Something new is the "needlepoint work." Altman's have every color wool with which to make the different articles—sweaters, afghans and the like.

Not to slight the household pets, Altman's have a pretty array of hand-painted dog or cat sleeping-baskets of wicker.

Spend 10 cents! Don't stay bilious, sick, headachy, constipated.

Enjoy life! Your system is filled with an accumulation of bile and bowel poison which keeps you bilious, headache, dizzy, tongue coated, breath bad and stomach sour. Why don't you get a 10-cent box of Cascarets at the drug store and feel fine by morning? Take Cascarets tonight and enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced. You'll wake up with a clear head, clean tongue, lively step, rosy skin and looking and feeling fine. Mothers can give a whole Cascaret to a sick, cross, bilious, feverish child any time—they are harmless—never gripe or sicken.—Adv.

YUKIO OZAKI.

Japanese Progressive Starts New Campaign.

Undismayed by the recent attempt upon his life, Yukio Ozaki, Japan's foremost progressive, has taken the course of constitutionalism in the pending struggle for a more representative form of government. His wife was stabbed recently by the Conservatives. He says the elder statesmen have too much voice in the government.

WASHINGTON MADE "DRY" BY HOUSE

Prohibition Bill For District Now Up to Wilson.

Washington, March 1.—The doom of the demon rum in the national capital was assured when the house by a vote of 273 to 137 passed the Sheppard bill establishing prohibition in the District of Columbia. The measure is not a "bone dry" affair, but it eliminates the saloon completely without making any prohibition against the "personal use" of intoxicants.

Dry forces in the house voted down all amendments to the measure and passed it in the exact form in which it passed the senate. Only the signature of the president is necessary to make it law, and the "wets" pinned their slender hopes on former "local option" declarations by the president.

The dry forces feared that any amendment if adopted would give opportunity for delay that might defeat the measure, and they voted down all efforts to change the bill, even defeating proposals to strengthen the prohibitory provisions.

GERMANS WIN HEIGHTS.

Resume Fighting In Roumania—British Continue Advance.

London, March 1.—On the northern Roumanian front the Teutonic forces have taken the offensive, the Berlin war office announces, and captured several hill positions from the Russians, taking more than 1,300 prisoners, eleven machine guns and nine mine throwers. Subsequently one of the captured positions was evacuated.

The British are continuing to advance rapidly on the Tigris front. Official announcement is made that the Turks were being engaged on the left bank of the river, more than thirty miles west and northwest of Kut-el-Amara.

On the Ancre British troops have occupied the important village of Gommecourt, the vortex of the German salient south of Arras, and captured the villages of Thilloy and Puisieux-au-Mont as well, advancing their line more than half a mile to the north-east of Gommecourt.

Orders Judson Election Inquiry.

Jersey City, March 1.—Supreme Court Justice Swayze has advised the grand jury to investigate the alleged election fraud cases growing out of the election last fall as a sequel to the Ackerman-Segrlo boulevard commissioner's account, during which a number of ballot boxes from Jersey City, West Hoboken and Hoboken and other municipalities were impounded.

MEXICO-JAPAN TO FIGHT U. S.

German Plot For Alliance Revealed at Capital.

BORDER STATES THE PRIZES.

Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico Were to Be Invaded if Carranza Agreed to Combination, While Proposition Called For Germany to Furnish Money and Japan Men and Ships For Attack.

Washington, March 1.—Startling details of a proposition by Germany for a Japanese-Mexican alliance to war on the United States in the event of the latter declaring war on Germany today are absorbing public interest here almost to the exclusion of the German crisis.

Additional interest is lent to the news by the recent announcement that Japan was sending to Mexico machinery and expert workmen for the manufacture on a large scale of ammunition and other munitions for General Carranza.

Details of the proposed alliance as revealed in an intercepted dispatch to Count von Bernstorff were:

Japan, through Mexican mediation, was to be urged to abandon her allies and join in the attack on the United States.

Mexico, for her reward, was to receive general financial support from Germany, and Texas, New Mexico and Arizona—lost provinces—and share in the victorious peace terms Germany contemplated.

Painted German Victory.

Details were left to German Minister von Eckhardt in Mexico City, who by instructions signed by German Foreign Minister Zimmermann at Berlin, Jan. 19, 1917, was directed to propose the alliance with Mexico to General Carranza and suggest that Mexico seek to bring Japan into the plot.

Germany pictured to Mexico, by broad intimation, England and the entente allies defeated, Germany and her allies triumphant and in world domination by the instrument of unrestricted submarine warfare.

A copy of Foreign Secretary Zimmermann's instructions to Von Eckhardt, sent through Von Bernstorff, is in possession of the United States government. It follows:

Berlin, Jan. 19, 1917.

On the 1st of February we intend to begin submarine warfare unrestricted. In spite of this, it is our intention to endeavor to keep neutral the United States of America.

Take American States.

If this attempt is not successful we propose an alliance on the following basis with Mexico: That we shall make war together and together make peace. We shall give general financial support, and it is understood that Mexico is to reconquer the lost territory in New Mexico, Texas and Arizona. The details are left to you for settlement.

You are instructed to inform the president of Mexico of the above in the greatest confidence as soon as we are certain that there will be an outbreak of war with the United States and suggest that the president of Mexico, on his own initiative, should communicate with Japan suggesting adherence at once to this plan. At the same time point out the desirability of Germany and Japan.

Please call the attention of the president of Mexico that the employment of ruthless submarine warfare now promises to compel England to make peace in a few months.

ZIMMERMANN.

This document has been in the hands of the government since President Wilson broke off diplomatic relations with Germany. It has been kept secret while the president has been asking congress for full authority to deal with Germany and while congress has been hesitating.

It was in the president's hands while Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg was declaring that the United States had placed an interpretation on the submarine declaration "never intended by Germany."

Supplies Missing Link.

Of itself, if there were no other, it is considered a sufficient answer to the German chancellor's plaint that the United States "brusquely" broke off relations without giving "authentic" reasons for its action.

The document supplies the missing link to many separate chains of circumstances which until now have seemed to lead to no definite point. It sheds new light upon the frequently reported but indefinable movements of the Mexican government to couple its situation with the friction between the United States and Japan.

It takes cognizance of a fact long recognized by American army chiefs, that if Japan undertook to invade the United States it probably would be through Mexico, over the border and into the Mississippi valley to split the country in two.

It seems to show a connection with

THIS STOPS HAIR FROM FALLING OUT

Ever count the dead hairs in your comb and brush? They are nature's warning of future baldness and proof that the dangerous dandruff germ is busy on your scalp.

Dr. Sangerbund, the famous Paris specialist, first discovered that dandruff and falling hair are caused by a microbe. Then came the discovery of the value of the real Parisian Sage (liquid form) in destroying the dandruff germ and promptly preventing the further loss of hair. The effect of only three days' use of Parisian Sage is simply marvelous, and the American people have now awakened to the fact that they can be quickly rid of dandruff and save their hair by using Parisian Sage.

Parisian Sage is sold by L. W. Randolph and good druggists everywhere. It's inexpensive, daintily perfumed, free from stickiness, and will surely cause hair to grow soft, lustrous and really seem twice as abundant.—Adv.

DRINK HABIT

Thousands of wives, mothers and sisters are enthusiastic in their praise of Orrine, because it has relieved their loved ones of the "Drink Habit" and thereby brought happiness to their homes. Can be given secretly.

Orrine is prepared in two forms: No. 1, secret treatment; Orrine No. 2, the voluntary treatment. Costs only $1.00 a box. Ask for booklet. L. W. Randolph, 143 West Front St.—Adv.

General Carranza's recent proposal to neutrals that exports of food and munitions to the entente allies be cut off and an intimation that he might stop the supply of oil, so vital to the British navy, which is exported from the Tampico fields.

What congress will do and how members of congress who openly have sympathized with Germany in their opposition to clothing the president with full authority to protect American rights will regard the revelation of Germany's machinations to attack the United States is the subject today of keenest interest.

MARINES NOW 12,661.

Record Showing Due to a Spurt in Recruiting Since September.

Washington, March 1.— Recruiting for the marine corps has taken the same sort of spurt as enlistment for the navy. Last September the enlistment of 5,000 more marines was authorized by congress. Of these 2,714 have been obtained already through recruiting, and the total strength of the marine corps is 12,661, the largest number of men ever enrolled in the corps.

Tuesday was a banner day for enlistment, ninety-one men having been enrolled.

WANTED TO ADVISE THE PRESIDENT

Special to Courier-News:

Trenton, March 1.—The State Federation of District School Boards in quarterly meeting here on Saturday turned down a resolution offered by George S. Hulbert, of East Orange, which would have asked the President of the United States to appoint experts to fill his next cabinet to handle the positions of Secretary of War and Secretary of the Navy.

NEW YORK CITY HATCHES BROOD OF NINE CHICKENS.

New York, March 1.—The city of New York has hatched a clutch of eggs. Nine promising chickens came to life in property room of the coroner's office in the municipal building. Jacob Ankenstein, night clerk, almost threw a fit when he heard their hustled peeping.

Their birthplace was a paper bag of eggs carried by a man who died in the street a few days ago. Somebody pushed the bag over a radiation and Mother Nature did the rest. Ankenstein is feeding the chicks and seeks a home for them. Corporation counsel says he says what shall be done with them.

N. P. H. S. Go Down to Defeat in Something of a Weird Basketball Contest

Inability to cover up its opponents effectively was the main cause for the defeat of the North Plainfield High School basketball team before the fast Rutgers Prep combination on the Saengerbund Hall court yesterday afternoon. The score was 54 to 43.

The borough team used two new players in the places of Andy McDonough and LaPorte.

From the call of time in the first half the game resembled an exhibition of football, which accounted for the high scores, neither five showing any ability to cover up or the guards to follow their forwards. The score of the first half was 29 to 25 in favor of the Prep boys.

North Plainfield started off slowly in the second period and Rutgers rapidly increased its lead. In the middle of the period the Canadians took a brace and drew up to within four points of their opponents' score. At this stage of the fracas Willett was injured and Barry took his place. Shots by Brofft and Kane in the last few minutes of play made victory for Rutgers a certainty.

EAGLE SECONDS ARE HEARD FROM

Win All Three From Ramblers and Worry First Team

The Eagle second bowling team made its debut last night on the East Second street alleys, and the "coming out" was rather auspicious, as its triple victory over the Ramblers clearly substantiates. Every member of the first team was on hand, from Bill Smith down to Jim Mahoney, to witness the work of their younger brothers, and when the seconds piled up a total of 912 in their second game the seniors appeared rather perturbed lest the third tally of the Ramblers' opponents would eclipse that of the big leaguers. Nearly one hundred rooters and interested spectators witnessed the match, and the noise was so deafening that no one in the building heard the fire department apparatus pass the place in responding to an alarm.

As to the bowling little credit for good work can be given to the Ramblers, as only three had one score each worthy of mention. Team work played an important part in the Eagles' victory, and while several "poodles" were recorded, some other Eagle would make up the loss. Anchor Jaeger, who would "father bowl with the Ramblers than against them," hit 213 and had the best average. Hook had the next best average, and when Hook's hooking hook hooked the pocket there was nothing for Hook to do but be seated.

After the series conquered and conquerors gathered in the Eagles' clubrooms for a little get-together.

The Foxes incidentally took three straight from the bulls. It is not often that the tail-enders of a league can make a clean sweep in throwing the Bulls at the head of the circuit, but it all happened, boys; it all happened.

COMRADE'S CLUB OPENS ITS SEASON

East Enders Make Excellent Showing Against Borough Class Aggregation

The Comrade Club of Netherwood opened its season against girl teams yesterday by defeating the N. P. H. S. seniors in an interesting game. The Comrades' two previous games were played with the Inner-Triangles. Yesterday score was 27 to 15.

The game was marked by clean and fast playing. The first half was a puzzler, each team taking turns at leading, but at the whistle the Comrades were in the lead by two points, 10 to 8. In the second half the Comrades ran away from the borroughites, holding a ten-point lead until the finish.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL LOST HARD GAME

The Plainfield Grammar School quintet opposed the Westfield High School Freshmen on the Washington School court at Westfield yesterday afternoon and went down to defeat by a score of 25 to 23.

The Westfield team played one Bauman, a first team substitute and the Grammar School boys used two Freshmen in the second period. Captain Randolph of the local team nearly won the decision for his team in the last three minutes of play when the visitors threatened to forge ahead by some good team work and three baskets by Randolph.

Tomorrow afternoon in the Plainfield High School the Grammar School quintet will line up against the Garwood Grammar School.

TRINITY TAKES THREE POSTPONED MATCHES

Westfield, March 1.—Trinity and Congregational teams of the Sunday School and Church League rolled a postponed match on the Playhouse alleys last night, and the Trinitytes had no trouble in defeating the celebrites in the league. It was a cinch for the Trinity five to dispose of the Congregationals. Keppler of the Trinity five was hitting the wood for all it was worth and posted 234 in the sandwich. His was the only double century score registered by either team.

MORE RED SOX SIGN

Boston, March 1.—Harold Janvrin, an infielder, who has been holding out for an increase in salary, signed his contract yesterday at the offices of the Boston American League Baseball Club. He received a slight increase. The signed contract of Forrest Cady, catcher, was received at the offices of the club Tuesday night. A telegram from Sam Jones, pitcher, said that he had signed and mailed his contract.

CATHOLIC CLUB PLANS A HOUSE TOURNAMENT

Special Correspondence.

Westfield, March 1.—The Catholic Club has organized a tournament on the alleys in the parish house building among members of the club. There will be six teams composed of three players each, and they will bowl Tuesday and Friday nights. Each team will have a name and will be pitted against the other during the six weeks that the tournament is to run.

Woodrow Wilson—Edward Marenghi, captain; George Manning, Rev. J. J. Kenney, George Washington—August Laurent, captain; Harry Willoughby, Charles Brady, Theodore Roosevelt—A. D. Marenghi, captain; Philip Brady and Albert Hann, Sr. Fourth Ward—J. J. O'Connell, captain; Harry Rowland, Frank Tally, Colonial—Harry Wahl, captain; J. E. Callahan Wins

New Orleans, March 1.—Frankie Callahan, of New York, was awarded the decision over Jimmie Haulon, of Denver, last night by the referee, Al Wambsgans, who stopped their scheduled 20-round fight at the opening of the nineteenth round, saying the bout was too one-sided.

Games Wanted

The Recreation Five basketball tossers, this far undefeated, wishes to challenge such teams as the Y. M. C. A. and like calibre. The Recreation Five is made up of local players. For dates write S. Davidson, 657 West Third street.

ELKS AND PARKS TO CLASH AGAIN

Next Tuesday evening is the date set for the second in a series of home-and-home bowling matches between the Elks and the Park Club teams, the tilts to be staged at the borough alleys. As in the case of previous affairs of this type, the wives, daughters, mothers, sweethearts and other lady friends of the members of the organization are invited to attend and witness the frays. A social time will follow the bowling events.

Considerable interest and rivalry have always existed between the two teams in the annual home-and-home series, and there appears to be reason to expect anything else but a continuation of that same spirit next Tuesday evening. Both managers will have their strongest lineups on the alleys.

TRIANGLE TEAMS TO MEET SECOND TIME

The Inner-Triangle basketball team has another special attraction for Saturday night at the Netherwood court. The New Brunswick Triangles, runners-up for the Middlesex county championship, will play their second game this season with the I.-T. C. team. The game will start at 8 o'clock.

The I.-T. C. team is not out of the running for the junior championship by a long shot, and any team claiming the championship must first beat the Triangles on their own court.

REWARD for HONESTY

Purity and Delightfulness Make CAMEL Cigarettes The Most Popular and Best Selling Cigarette Ever Sold at any Price

THIS enviable position has caused false and defamatory statements to be circulated about CAMELS, in order to injure their sale. As our investigation of these reports progresses, it becomes more and more apparent that "men higher up" originated the scheme and have superintended its execution. They were able to slander CAMELS in two ways: By hiring the irresponsible to lie about them, and by, perhaps, fraudulently inducing honest men to circulate the lie. But an honest man is always honest. Once he learns that he has been duped into misrepresentation, he not only stops it, but quits the employment of and exposes those who have misled him into being an innocent party to the fraud.

Slander will not take the PURITY and DELIGHTFULNESS out of CAMELS. It may, for a little while, hurt their sale among those who are easily deceived. But PURE TOBACCOS, scientifically blended, will continue to make CAMELS the most popular and desirable cigarette on the market, regardless of price. The man who smokes them knows. To him there is no substitute, and no other brand can be long substituted for CAMELS by slander and misrepresentation.

An honest man will not work for a company that uses dishonest methods to sell its product, but he need not look for a job. Jobs, and good jobs, are looking for honest men. We have no desire to deal with the cheap crook. But we want more evidence on the "men higher up." If any honest man, who has been induced by those higher up to circulate a lie about CAMEL Cigarettes, will, to our satisfaction, establish that fact, we will make it well worth his while, and he will be fully protected.

To you, Mr. Smoker, we say, CAMELS ARE PURE, and you know they are DELIGHTFUL.

PLAN FOR DEBATE AT SCHOOL AUDITORIUM

Tomorrow evening, in the High School auditorium, the P. H. S. debating team will meet a team from the Freshman class at Rutgers. This is the first of the Rutgers interscholastic debates for the Plainfield team. Those who have made the high school team are Horace Bunker, leader; Caryl Dunavan, Charles Todd, and Fanny Mann, alternate.

Much preparation has been made for the contest and it will be very interesting for all those concerned about the questions of the day. The public is invited and it is hoped that there will be a large attendance.

LIGHT-HEARTED WOMEN

A cheerful, light-hearted woman is the joy of a man's life. Beauty will fade, a good figure will change, but the charm of health and cheerfulness will endure to the end. But how can a woman be cheerful and happy when dragged down by some female derangement, with a backache, headache, and often on the verge of a nervous breakdown.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the standard remedy for such ailments. During the last 40 years thousands of homes have been made happy by this woman's great remedy for woman's ills. Adv.

HELPS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

VIRGINIA CARTER LEE

Readers with this department Miss Lee will gladly answer any timely questions relative to domestic science. A stamped envelope being necessary for a personal reply. Address care of Courier-News.

In planning the Lenten menus, naturally fish and eggs furnish the basis of the majority of dishes, but even these useful commodities are apt to pall on one after a time, and then it is that the housewife should take into consideration the highly nutritive qualities of cheese.

Almost any variety of good cheese, used in connection with home-made, whole wheat bread and a fresh, green salad, furnishes a meal that possesses the right food values for nourishing the human system. In fact, a meal of this character is especially good at this season of the year, when the need of lighter food is being felt.

Cottage cheese is probably the only variety that can be made entirely at home, and this home-made product is so far superior to the best commercial variety, that once the housewife has made it for herself, she will never be satisfied with anything else.

Care, however, must be exercised in its preparation, especially while it is heating. To successfully make cottage cheese at home, turn the clabbered milk into an earthenware receptacle and place it on the back of the range, where it will gradually and slowly heat. Heat it only until the curds separate from the whey. Then remove and cool. Pour into a bag, kept for that purpose (a small, clean, flour sack is excellent), and allow it to drain until dry. When ready to blend the cheese, it should be in a dry, compact mass. Turn into a mixing bow and work with a fork until fine and smooth. Season to taste with salt and white pepper (a very little of the latter) and moisten to the desired consistency with a little thick cream. If the housewife has no cream on hand, a little milk, to which a teaspoonful of softened butter has been added, may be used instead. This gives what is known as plain cottage cheese.

It may be utilized in a great variety of ways, as follows: Cottage cheese forms a most delectable dish when combined with chopped cucumbers, that have been previously soaked in iced vinegar and salt. Spread as a sandwich filling between brown bread and before putting the buttered slices together add one or two heart lettuce leaves.

Another very attractive way to serve it, is to roll the cheese in small balls. Then roll in chopped parsley, lay two or three on crisp lettuce leaves and serve with a mayonnaise dressing, to which has been added a chopped pickle.

Sweet, red peppers (canned), chopped nut meats, bits of drained, pickled beets, chopped olives, dates and minced dill pickles are all toothsome additions to this same cheese and give variety when a quantity is made at one time.

Cottage American cheese also lends itself to a variety of tasty dishes and, as it is inexpensive and moreover nutritious, it should be used frequently in planning the family menus.

Cheese and Celery au Gratin

In a buttered baking dish arrange layers of boiled and drained celery, crushed dried bread crumbs and grated American cheese. Season with a light sprinkling of salt and paprika, pour over a cupful of rich cream sauce and cover the top with crumbs. Dot over with bits of butter and brown in a quick oven. Whole wheat bread and butter, cut in the form of dainty sandwiches, and a few ripe olives, may be served with this dish.

Roquefort Cheese Canapes

These appetizers, although made from imported cheese, need not be an item to burn holes on the menu, as very little of the cheese is used. Select white stalks of crisp celery, having a good hollow in the center. Mash two tablespoonfuls of the cheese to a paste and add sufficient French dressing, so that it will spread easily. Fill into the carefully dried celery and lay each stalk on a buttered toast strip. Serve immediately.

Cheese Savory

Occasionally when a fancy cheese is desired for a late supper party, or as a filling for afternoon tea sandwiches, the following is easily prepared: Put a cake of choice cream cheese into a bowl, that has been rubbed over inside with a cut clove of garlic. To the cheese, add one tablespoonful of softened butter, one teaspoonful of finely chopped chives, and have a teaspoonful of finely minced parsley and one-third of a teaspoonful each of anchovy paste and Worcestershire sauce. Add salt and pepper to taste and mix the whole thoroughly together and then press it firmly into a tall jelly glass. When very cold, turn out on a plate and garnish with parsley. This is delicious with browned or toasted crackers.

MR. FOX'S FEAST

Mr. Fox had been very busy and very lucky, too, for his pantry was filled with good things to eat. He had chickens and ducks and turkeys and all sorts of cookies and cakes and pies and puddings and jars and jars of preserves and he even had a whole box of tobacco.

You might think he was going to give a party, but he wasn't: he had cooked and stocked up his pantry for a good long feast without working for a week, but what was bothering him was the fact that his neighbors might call if they did not see him going out every day, and if they did he knew they would see all the good things and expect him to share his feast with them.

So one morning he went around calling on his friends and neighbors, saying he was far from well and was going away for a little vacation.

"Why, dear me, Mr. Fox," said old Granny Squirrel, looking over her glasses at him, "it seems to me I never saw you looking better; you are fat as you can be. What seems to be the matter with you?"

"Oh, I am very poorly, Granny Squirrel; very poorly; my back is all cramped with pain and I don't eat a thing. I must have a change of air."

Old Granny Squirrel knew all about Mr. Fox. She had been a neighbor of his for a long time. She did not know what he was up to but that he was up to some trick she felt sure, so she took her knitting and sat down by the window to watch.

Mr. Fox said goodbye to Mrs. Rabbit and her husband and to Mr. and Mrs. Squirrel, who lived farther up the path, and he even went to call on Mr. Bear, who lived some distance away.

"I want them all to think I am away then they won't call," he said. "You never can tell when someone might happen in and I want a good time all by myself without a thought of anyone calling."

Old Granny Squirrel watched Mr. Fox come back and go into his house. "He walks very spry for a sick fellow," she said, peeping out from behind the curtain.

"I don't know what, but I will be bound he is up to something and I mean to find out what it is if I have to sit here all day and all night, too."

All day long she watched, but Mr. Fox did not come out of his house, and when the moon came out Granny Squirrel still sat by her window. "He hasn't come out so he can't be going away. Now, what can he be up to?" she said.

The next morning Granny Squirrel went around to all her neighbors.

"Mr. Fox hasn't gone away yet," she said, "and he told me he was starting at once. I think somebody ought to find out where he is or what has happened; he might be sick."

"That is so," said Mrs. Rabbit. "I'll take a cup of my lettuce tea around to him; it will do him good no matter what has happened."

So Mr. and Mrs. Squirrel, old Granny Squirrel and Mr. and Mrs. Rabbit set out for Mr. Fox's house.

"I think we should get Mr. Bear to come along, too," said old Granny Squirrel, "because if anything has happened to him we could not lift him and he may have had a fit."

So they called for Mr. Bear and asked him to go with them. "I'll take a bottle of my liniment along; he may need it."

"I have a jar of nut broth," said Granny Squirrel, "and there is plenty of pepper in it, too, I always put in a lot when it is for sick folks."

When they arrived at the door of Mr. Fox's house they knocked very loudly, and Mr. Fox, who had just settled himself in a big, easy chair beside a table filled with good things, jumped up so quickly that he upset a pot of hot coffee which went over his foot.

He then put out the window and saw who it was, and then he knew he must play sick, for old Granny Squirrel was just saying: "If he does not come to the door the next time we knock we must break in the door, for I know he did not go away."

So Mr. Fox grabbed a blanket and wrapped it about him and limped to the door, groaning as he opened it. His foot really did pain him, so the groaning was real.

"There, I knew you were sick," said old Granny Squirrel, bustling in and looking over her glasses in every direction. "Now you go right to bed and we will doctor you."

So poor Mr. Fox was bundled into his bed and had to drink lettuce tea and nut tea, which made him groan louder than ever, it was so peppery.

"You must let me rub you with Mr. Liniment," said Mr. Bear. "It will be sure to cure your lameness."

Oh! how Mr. Bear did rub. Mr. Fox said he was sure his bones would come through if he did not stop, but Mr. Bear said the hard rubbing was what Mr. Fox needed, so he had to let him rub.

After they had him dosed and rubbed Granny Squirrel looked at the table. Mercy!" she said, "all these things will spoil before he is well enough to eat them. We might just as well take them home. He is too sick to think to tell us to do so, but I know he would want us to have them."

When they were all gone Mr. Fox peeped out from under the bedclothes. "I might have known old Granny Squirrel would find me out; she never misses one thing, the old busybody. It is a good thing I did not put everything I had on the table. She would have grabbed everything."

Mr. Fox emptied the cup of lettuce tea and the jar of nut broth and the bottle of liniment and then he set some more food on the table, but he only tasted one meal, for he knew if he was not out where his neighbors could see him they would come in and doctor him again, so he ate all he had and went out and sat on the steps.

"I don't see why a fellow can't do as he wants to," he sighed, "without the whole neighborhood turning out to find him. The next time I want a feast I'll take my good things with me and go out where they can't find me; but even then I bet old Granny Squirrel would get up a hunting party to find me."

These are authentic quotations from the pamphlet on babies by Dr. L. Emmett Holt, of Columbia University and Dr. Henry L. K. Shaw, of Union University.

At nine months the average child requires 30 ounces of milk daily, which should be diluted with 10 ounces of water. To this should be added two even tablespoonfuls of sugar and 3 ounces of limewater. This should be given in five feedings. The sugar added may be milk sugar, or if this cannot be obtained cane (granulated), sugar or maltose, (malt sugar).

HOT WATER THE BEST LIVER AND BOWEL MEDICINE

Says glass of hot water before breakfast washes poisons from system

Physicians the world over recommend the inside bath, claiming this is of vastly more importance than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing ill health, while the pores in the ten yards of bowels do.

Men and women are urged to drink each morning, before breakfast, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of helping to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible material, poisons, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Just as soap and hot water cleanse and freshen the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the eliminative organs.

Those who wake up with bad breath, coated tongue, nasty taste or have a dull, aching head, sallow complexion, acid stomach; others who are subject to bilious attacks or constipation, should obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to demonstrate the value of inside bathing. Those who continue it each morning are assured of pronounced results, both in regard to health and appearance.— Adv.

FROM 1684 TO 1784

This Article, Written by O. B. Leonard of This City, Is of the Children of John Laing, Jr.

This is the twenty-second chapter on the early settlers in Plainfield, written by Oliver B. Leonard, of this city. The earlier chapters were published on the twenty-one preceding Fridays.

1675-8—John Laing, Jr.—1728

The following brief outline of the four or five sons of John Laing, Jr., is submitted for perusal and approval and information to many—John, 1709; David, 1714; Isaac, 1720; Jacob, 1722; Abram, 1719.

JOHN LAING (the oldest son of John, Jr., and Elizabeth) was born June 28, 1709. He married 1741 Sarah Smith (of Benjamin and Sarah Shotwell Smith).

Very little data and greater uncertainty have troubled the writer of this Smith family. Records state that Sarah Smith, who married 1741 John Laing, was the daughter of Benjamin Smith and Sarah Shotwell.

'Smith, gentlemen, is an illustrious name
And stands ever high on the annals of fame.
Let White, Brown and Jones increase as they will,
Believe me, that Smith will outnumber them still."

DAVID LAING, born 1714 (of John, Jr., and Elizabeth); married 1741 Mary Thorn, born 1724, of Jacob. His descendants have been familiarly known in Plainfield. Their

UNTIMELY DEATH OF A. B. TITSWORTH

Promising Young Man Succumbs to Pneumonia in Wilmington Hospital

Arthur Bentley Titsworth, aged twenty-seven years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis E. Titsworth, of this city, died yesterday in the Delaware Hospital, Wilmington, Delaware, where he had been seriously ill since last Friday with pneumonia. The news of his death which reached here this morning was a shock to the large circle of friends of the young man. His mother died sister, Mrs. A. W. Vars, were with him when he died. The body will be brought here today when arrangements for the funeral will be made.

Mr. Titsworth was born at Dunellen, removing here with his parents when he was a boy. He was graduated from the Plainfield high school in 1908 and was a member of the first class in mechanical engineering to be graduated from Rutgers College in 1912. For a time after leaving college he worked at the local plant of the International Motor Company, later going with American Roller Mills Company, of Middletown, Ohio. Two years ago he left there to take a position in the "open hearth department" of the Bethlehem Steel Company at Bethlehem, Pa., where he had been employed for two years, and three weeks ago went with the Midvale Steel Company, at Wilmington, as a rubeidiary company.

Beside his parents he leaves two brothers, Ralph Titsworth, superintendent of construction work on the Queens Borough bridge, and Ferdinand Titsworth, circulation manager for Charles Scribners' Sons, and one sister, Mrs. A. W. Vars.

Organization Plans to Carry on Educational and Physical Work—Committee Announces Contributions

The Young Men's Hebrew Association of this city has just announced through the chairman of the Building Campaign Committee the purchase of what was formerly the Leal school building on West Front street and the large lot on which it is situated, measuring about eighty-seven feet frontage and about one hundred and seventy-five feet in depth. This building, named after its former owner, John Leal, was for a number of years utilized by him as a private school, and is known as having been the home of the first and leading private academy in this vicinity for the education of young men. It is interesting to many to note that the educational and uplifting work carried on there so well in the past is to be continued along more varied lines of development and uplift of the Jewish young men of Plainfield.

Harvey Rothberg, the chairman of the Building Committee, speaking of the association's plans, said "that for several years there has been a desire among the leading Jewish men in this city to build a home for the Jewish youth, where he might strengthen himself, physically, morally and intellectually, particularly with a view to up-building his character and making himself of real value to the community and an honor to his parents. There is no single building there where the Jewish young men may congregate and study Jewish history, listen to lectures on Jewish subjects and familiarize themselves with the wholesome Jewish traditions handed down to them from their ancestors. ANTI-SUFFRAGISTS ELECT NEW OFFICERS

Mrs. John Constable Moore Chosen President at Annual Meeting Today

Interesting reports of the past year's work together with a discussion of plans for the future, and the election of officers, comprised the principal business at the annual meeting of the local branch of the New Jersey Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage held this morning at the home of Mrs. Edgar S. Hyatt on East Ninth street. All of the members were present and they were greatly enthused over the activities of the organization.

The discussion brought out the fact that the anti-suffragist is identified with some form of relief work being carried on by the different local organizations in behalf of the Belgians, the Allies and this country as well. It was decided that the branch shall meet the last Monday in each month at the home of Mrs. Hyatt. These officers were chosen for the year:

President, Mrs. John Constable Moore; treasurer, Mrs. Edgar S. Hyatt; secretary, Mrs. E. E. Iremonger; vice-presidents, Mrs. E. Yards Breese, Mrs. Rutger Bedafield, Mrs. W. W. Coriell, Mrs. Sherman B. Joost, Miss Florence Tweedy, Miss Laura Osgood, Mrs. Pierre Mali, Mrs. Thomas M. Day, Mrs. Charles W. McCutchen, Mrs. N. Persdelle Brown, Mrs. Edgar Schwed, Mrs. Matthew H. Ewart, Mrs. Henry D. Hibbard, Mrs. George H. Goddard, Mrs. Katharine, Dix Lawrence and Mrs. Edgar S. Hyatt.

ANOTHER APPEAL FOR BELGIAN CHILDREN

The National Campaign that Mr. Hoover's Commission is starting through the United States will be represented here at a lecture by Mrs. Kellogg and Miss Florence Wardwell, both of New York, in the Congregational Parish house Wednesday, March 7, at 3.30 o'clock. Mrs. Kellogg has worked with the Commission in Belgium many months and comes here to tell us that one million Belgian children inside the German lines are dependent upon American funds to keep them alive. The Commission has only four weeks' supply of food ahead.

MOSQUITOES AS GERM CARRIERS

Health Officials at Meeting in High School Show How Disease Spreads

The mosquito and fly, as a menace to health and life itself were shown in all the various phases of their troublesome habits in both pictures and words at the Plainfield high school last night, when one of the series of meetings was held under the auspices of the Union County Mosquito Extermination Commission and the local Board of Health. The audience, while not large was an appreciative one.

Dr. Harold B. Corbusier, president of the Board of Health, presided, and made a few introductory remarks, explaining the objects of the meeting and telling briefly of the progress made in the fight for better health conditions. Other speakers of the evening were Arthur Colby, of the State Board of Health; Russell W. Gies, chief inspector for the county extermination commission, and Health Officer N. J. H. Chandler, of this city.

Interspersing the talks there were both lantern slides and motion pictures, showing the progress of milk production over the old and somewhat careless methods of handling this commodity, and how necessary it should be properly safeguarded. The pictures also showed how mosquitoes and flies breed and thrive in filth and unsanitary places, and how they carry disease germs, causing sickness and very often death.

The work accomplished by the mosquito commission as well as that planned for the future was described by Mr. Gies, and his remarks were illustrated with motion pictures showing how swamp lands and marshy places throughout the county have been "ditched" and drained, thus getting rid of the breeding places for mosquitoes. This work, the speaker explained, costs the people of the county about 11 cents per capita, which he did not think was an extravagant expenditure.

Mr. Colby spoke more especially of the production of milk and at the same time exhibited a motion picture showing advancement along that line. He also showed pictures of the fly in its various stages. A brief history of the Board of Health was given by Mr. Chandler, covering its existence of thirty years. He explained that Oliver B. Leonard is the only surviving member of the original board, of which the late Stephen A. Ginna was president.

Dr. Corbusier emphasized the importance of co-operation on the part of the public with health departments in getting rid of these nuisances, adding that the fly is an enemy of the public and almost as dangerous as a bullet. He said that during the Spanish-American war thousands of soldiers lost their lives through disease in which the fly had a large part in producing.

PROCEEDS OF LECTURE TO GO TO BELGIUM

Plainfield is fortunate in that James W. Erwin is to lecture here next Tuesday evening on the picturesque side of California. Mr. Erwin's pictures are famous and are said to surpass in beauty those of Elmerdorff.

The lectures of Mr. Erwin are noted for their wealth of illustration, the still pictures having the charm of natural colors, while the motion pictures afford a touch of realism. Mr. Erwin has devoted much time of late to securing new material for his lectures in order that they may be perfect from an artistic standpoint.

The lecture will be given at the Y. M. C. A. building and is due to the generosity of a Plainfield man who wants his fellow citizens to see the beautiful photographs of our own land and who also is interested in the Belgian milk fund, towards which the proceeds will be given.

His gift will come at a most opportune time, as Queen Elizabeth has just called Mrs. Wallace to beg that the people of Plainfield will send her some milk for the little children in La Panne and the still unconquered strip of Belgium.

NAMES TO BE PRINTED LATER

On account of lack of space today the list of names sent in as signers to the letter to President Wilson offering support in the present crisis is not printed today but will be printed soon.

MAYOR GIVES THANKS FOR ASSISTANCE

As Chairman of Patriotic Meeting He Expresses His Sincere Appreciation

"I should like," said Mayor Calkins this morning, "to make announcement, as chairman of the patriotic meeting last Tuesday, and as chairman of the Citizens' Committee, which arranged for it, of my appreciation of the work of all who contributed to its success.

"I have participated in organizing many meetings and events, never have I encountered such eagerness to help and such efficiency on the part of committees and individuals. The meeting was first suggested and actually held within five days' time and indicates what can be done in the name, and under the spur, of patriotism.

"I wish I could make separate acknowledgement to everyone who helped. As that is impossible, I should like in this way to thank the General Executive Committee, Finance Committee, Publicity Committee, Speakers' Committee; Committee on music, Ushers' Committee, the Police Department having supervision of traffic; Fire Chief having jurisdiction to prevent overcrowding; the usher, the Board of Education and Janitors of the high school, Laggren & Green, making contribution to the cost of decorations, Woolworth's 5&10 cent store, for loaning banners for the collection of name slips; Sohr's Military Band, for special concert for music; the Y. M. C. A. and Drum Corps, for contributing music in the park at the out-of-doors overflow meeting; Miss Elizabeth Phillips for cardindexing the names of signers to the letter to the President; Miss Arnold for offering the auditorium of the Plainfield Seminary for an overflow meeting, the Courier-News for generous and very efficient work in advertising the meeting, Senator Ackerman, for his interest and help in securing Mr. Taft as a speaker; William G. Besler, of the Jersey Central Railroad, in providing special transportation for Mr. Taft; the Reception Committee named to meet Mr. Taft in New York, and others whose services were greatly appreciated.

PRINCETON CLUB RE-UNION TONIGHT

Good Program of Speeches and Songs Will Feature Affair at Y. M. C. A.

Under the auspices of the Princeton Club, of this city, there will be a re-union and jollification of members at the Y. M. C. A., tonight, to which the boys of the Plainfield and North Plainfield high schools have been invited. The boys must, however, secure tickets of admission at their respective schools owing to the limited accommodations.

The committee in charge of the arrangements has arranged for an attractive program, one that will appeal to the boys with college aspirations. "Billy" Moore, the president of the senior class at Princeton University, will discuss athletics at the university; Samuel Shoemaker, executive secretary of the Y. M. C. A., will talk on social service; Dwight Harris, of this city, a student at Princeton, who recently returned from England, where he was engaged in Y. M. C. A. work, will tell of the detention camps there and Richard Cleveland, son of former President Grover Cleveland, will speak on the general activities at Princeton.

Mr. Cleveland, it will be recalled, has taken the initiative in the movement to abolish class clubs at Princeton, in which he has met with great success and a large support on the part of the student body. He favors a more democratic form of college life which he believes is only possible through his plan.

Other features of tonight's meeting will be the singing of college songs, including the familiar "Old Nassau," which will be led by members of the university glee club. Afterward refreshments will be served by the wives of the members of the Princeton Club here.

$1.00 A MONTH—$12.00 A YEAR WILL KEEP ONE BELGIAN CHILD ALIVE

The Hoover Commission for Relief in Belgium has recently made this appeal to the United States. Unless America takes over the task of raising $1,000,000 a month to feed Belgian children inside the German lines, these children (1,300,000 of them) will be subject to slow starvation.

In behalf of this movement, Mrs. Kellogg, recently from the work in Belgium, and Miss Florence Wardwell, of the Campaign Committee in New York, will speak at the Parish House of the Congregational church on Wednesday, March 7th, at 3.30 o'clock. You are all cordially urged to attend.

GRAND JURY PRESENTMENT

Commissioner H. K. Gaston Reports on Investigation of Union County Affairs

Special to Courier-News:

Elizabeth, March 2.—The Grand Jury returned a presentment yesterday afternoon in the Court of Over and Terminer on county affairs, as revealed by the probe of Hugh K. Gaston. The presentment condemns the "very loose" methods of the Board of Freeholders for the financial arrangements with County Engineer Jacob L. Bauer. It also finds that several county officials were stockholders in the Portland Lawrence Cement Company, and that the practice of taking prisoners out of the county jails for outside work, while meeting modern ideas, was not legal. County Collector Nathan R. Leavitt is praised for keeping an unexpended balance fund, a practice condemned in the Gaston report. The road work at Elizabeth, Elias Applegate the Grand Jury finds to have been approved by the State authorities.

The jurors were discharged with the thanks of the court.

The presentment follows:

UNION COUNTY COURT OF OYER AND TERMINER

January Term, A. D. Nineteen hundred and seventeen.

Union County, To Wit:

The Grand Inquest for the State of New Jersey, in and for the body of the County of Union, upon their oath say,

That pursuing our duty as laid down by the Court in its charge on matters embraced in the report of Honorable Hugh K. Gaston, Special Commissioner appointed to examine into the affairs of this county and certain officers thereof, we consider:

1—The buying of stock by certain county officials in the Lawrence Portland Cement Company, and, whether certain freeholders were interested in the furnishing of material for the county, and whether there is any influence used by county officials to have contractors buy cement from the Lawrence Portland Cement Company in doing the county work.

2—Whether more money is raised by the county taxation than necessary because of the maintenance of an unexpended balance fund last year.

3—Whether the Warden or the Sheriff permitted prisoners to leave the Union County Jail for the purpose of working out jobs.

4—Whether the County Engineer was paid money not lawfully due to him.

And we present:

1—That as to the matter herein finally referred to and that one Freeholder, the County Engineer, County Attorney and the Register of Deeds hold stock in the Lawrence Portland Cement Company of Pennsylvania, which is the company that manufactures the so-called Dragon Cement, the selling agent of which corporation is the Lawrence Cement Company, a corporation of the State of New York, in which latter company none of the above named persons are stockholders, but the County Register of Deeds is a salesmanager of the Lawrence Cement Company, and, we find, after examining many persons who have built roads and bridges for the county and Union, that some of them have used Dragon Cement while others have used no Dragon Cement whatever; that some of them have used Dragon Cement exclusively. Pertinent to our inquiry is the fact that we found that Portland Cement is sold at a uniform price and is of a uniform standard.

We have been unable to find from the testimony that any freeholder or freeholders were interested, directly or indirectly, in furnishing material for the county roads. We considered successful as well as unsuccessful bidders, and found nowhere that any influence was used on the part of any county official to have contractors purchase the cement manufactured by the Lawrence Portland Cement Company. We also find the fact to be that the State and County specifications are open and provide for the use of Portland cement of a uniform standard, of which there are many makes.

While we were not specifically charged on the matter of the pavement of Westfield avenue from Bayway in the City of Elizabeth to Walnut street, Roselle Park; South avenue from Martine avenue to Summit avenue, in the Borough of Fanwood and St. George avenue from Elizabeth City line to Grand street, Rahway, we considered it a matter of public concern because of the recent investigation into the construction of the same.

Our inquiry showed that St. George avenue was built from funds arising

Union County, To Wit:

The Grand Inquest for the State of New Jersey, in and for the body of the County of Union, upon their oath say,

That pursuing our duty as laid down by the Court in its charge on matters embraced in the report of Honorable Hugh K. Gaston, Special Commissioner appointed to examine into the affairs of this county and certain officers thereof, we consider:

1—The buying of stock by certain county officials in the Lawrence Portland Cement Company, and, whether certain freeholders were interested in the furnishing of material for the county, and whether there is any influence used by county officials to have contractors buy cement from the Lawrence Portland Cement Company in doing the county work.

2—Whether more money is raised by the county taxation than necessary because of the maintenance of an unexpended balance fund last year.

3—Whether the Warden or the Sheriff permitted prisoners to leave the Union County Jail for the purpose of working out jobs.

4—Whether the County Engineer was paid money not lawfully due to him.

And we present:

1—That as to the matter herein finally referred to and that one Freeholder, the County Engineer, County Attorney and the Register of Deeds hold stock in the Lawrence Portland Cement Company of Pennsylvania, which is the company that manufactures the so-called Dragon Cement, the selling agent of which corporation is the Lawrence Cement Company, a corporation of the State of New York, in which latter company none of the above named persons are stockholders, but the County Register of Deeds is a salesmanager of the Lawrence Cement Company, and, we find, after examining many persons who have built roads and bridges for the county and Union, that some of them have used Dragon Cement while others have used no Dragon Cement whatever; that some of them have used Dragon Cement exclusively. Pertinent to our inquiry is the fact that we found that Portland Cement is sold at a uniform price and is of a uniform standard.

We have been unable to find from the testimony that any freeholder or freeholders were interested, directly or indirectly, in furnishing material for the county roads. We considered successful as well as unsuccessful bidders, and found nowhere that any influence was used on the part of any county official to have contractors purchase the cement manufactured by the Lawrence Portland Cement Company. We also find the fact to be that the State and County specifications are open and provide for the use of Portland cement of a uniform standard, of which there are many makes.

While we were not specifically charged on the matter of the pavement of Westfield avenue from Bayway in the City of Elizabeth to Walnut street, Roselle Park; South avenue from Martine avenue to Summit avenue, in the Borough of Fanwood and St. George avenue from Elizabeth City line to Grand street, Rahway, we considered it a matter of public concern because of the recent investigation into the construction of the same.

Our inquiry showed that St. George avenue was built from funds arising

ENGLAND BELIEVES MEXICAN PLOT IS THE LAST STRAW

By United Press:

London, March 2.—England believes the conspiracy seeking to align Japan and Mexico against the United States is "the last straw." America's entrance into the war is now regarded as certain.

"A direct act of war" was the judgment of the newspapers.

SENATE FAVORS ARMING MERCHANT SHIPS

By United Press:

Washington, March 2.—At the opening of Senate today Senator Stone moved immediate consideration of the Senate bill authorizing the President to arm merchant ships to protect American lives on the high seas. The bill empowers the President also to employ "other instrumentalities" and bears his approval.

Senator La Follette, who was about to leave the Senate, hurriedly returned to his seat and demanded the "Ayes" of the vote in the House, on another page.)

Senate proceeded to consideration of the bill. The vote preceded passage of the resolution by a big margin.

By United Press:

Washington, March 2.—All the power President Wilson asks in dealing with the present crisis will be granted by Congress within 36 hours, leaders said today.

The President is ready to sign the armed neutrality bill as soon as it is passed and to act at once in arming American ships. The bill is distasteful to the administration in its present form, but when it reaches the Senate that body will substitute changes.

If both houses agree and they doubtless will; under the spur of the German-Mexican-Japan plot the President will be authorized to use "other instrumentalities" than guns, gunners and money to cope with the crisis, and the House provision against Federal war-risk insurance for munition ships will be stripped off.

W. J. LIDGATE WEDS IN NEW GERMANTOWN

Miss Alice W. Hall Becomes Bride of Well-Known Resident of Fanwood

A pretty wedding was solemnized at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Peter R. Hall at New Germantown yesterday at high noon, when their only daughter, Miss Alice W. Hall, was united in marriage with William J. Lidgate, of Fanwood. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Chas. G. Empie, pastor of the Lutheran church, in the presence of only the immediate relatives of the couple. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

The wedding march from "Lohengrin" was played by Miss Everetta Specht as the bridal party entered the room. The bride was attired in pale blue crepe de chine and georgette crepe, with beaded trimming, and carried roses. The bridegroom wore the conventional black. Miss Edith M. Lidgate, of Fanwood, sister of the bridegroom, was the bridesmaid. She was dressed in blue taffeta with beaver trimming. Sidney Lidgate, also of Fanwood, was his brother's best man. The guests were from Philadelphia, New Canaan, Conn., Fanwood and New Germantown.

After congratulations a wedding dinner was served. The couple then left for an extended trip through the South, including Palm Beach, Florida. The bride's traveling dress was navy blue with hat to match.

BIRTHDAY PARTY FOR MRS. GROENDYKE

A delightful birthday surprise was rendered Mrs. J. B. Groendyke last evening when thirty-two of the Volunteer Bible Class of the Park Avenue Baptist church, of which she is president, gathered at the home of Mrs. L. A. Lagreve, of Putnam avenue, where she had been lured under pretense of attending a preparedness meeting.

The rooms were artistically decorated with the class colors (which are red and white) and flags arousing at once a spirit of patriotism.

A gift was presented to Mrs. Groendyke, carrying with it the appreciation of the class for her untiring devotion during the five years of her presidency.

Recitations and readings interspersed with patriotic songs were a feature of the evening, and a class song composed by one of the members was sung.

Talent hitherto unsuspected was displayed by many of the "Volunteers," and after a series of old-fashioned games and charades, refreshments were served, including the conventional birthday cake, decorated with candles, which was presented to the guest of honor.

GAVE LECTURE ON FLYING MACHINES

How man has always longed to fly, how, even before the daybreak of science, he made futile but determined attempts, to fly, and how it remained for an American, the late Prof. Samuel Langley, to invent the first successful aeroplane, were among the points emphasized last night by Douglas Wartrop in his illustrated address on aeroplanes at the Washington school on Darrow avenue. The lecture was given under the auspices of the Standard Aero Club of this city.

The speaker, who is a member of the editorial staff of Aero Age, has just returned from Europe. He had many interesting pictures to show and spoke of the use of the air machines in the war. About seventy-five slides were shown by the lecturer.

"The Germans owe a great deal to the dirigibles which gave the signals and otherwise assisted in locating the Allies' fleet in the North Sea battle," said Mr. Wardrop, who continued by displaying pictures of the damages done by the big bombs dropped by the dirigibles in English towns.

A battle between aeroplanes in the air; dirigibles on fire, and what would happen to New York City should there be an attack by aeroplanes were among the subjects discussed. He also by a sketch showed how it was possible for an aeroplane to detect a submarine thirty feet under water. The lecture referred to the Wright Bros. and their successful flights and inventions.

Prof. Langley, the first American who successfully flew through the air, was repeatedly ridiculed for his efforts, and died of a broken heart at Washington, D. C.

"The safety of aviation is now assured," said the speaker, who further predicted that man would yet have as much control of the air as he now has of the sea. "The flying boat is also becoming a popular form of diversion, and is developing the possibilities of transportation."

The Standard Aero Club is planning for more lectures similar to last night's affair to be held this spring.

CHEVROLET PLANT IS VERY BUSY

Half Million Dollars' Worth of Cars Sold Since Automobile Show

Freight congestion in the West is putting a severe tax upon Eastern automobile dealers. On account of the lack of freight cars and embargoes upon shipments Western manufacturers are finding it increasingly difficult to make deliveries to points in the East.

In many instances cars are being forwarded by express at heavy expense and manufacturers are actually being driven to the expedient of driving cars over the road to distant junction points in order to secure deliveries to Eastern agents.

As the selling season approaches dealers in this territory are showing much concern over the outlook, but the situation is working out to the advantage of manufacturers who are in position to make deliveries in the East, according to Louis Chevrolet, designer of the American Six. As evidence of this fact Mr. Chevrolet states that the company whose plant is located on West Front street, has closed contracts with dealers for more than half a million dollars' worth of cars since the automobile shows. On account of the accessibility of the plant it appears that this company's entire output for the year will be absorbed in the territory east of the Mississippi.

Production of the American Six is now up to a schedule of 100 cars per month, and this month it is expected this output will be more than doubled.

It is not easy to save you one-third. We can do it only through constant, careful supervision of every tiniest detail, from purchase of fabric to completion of garment. There must be no waste here—there must be none of the leaks which in so many other businesses are finally paid for by the customer—by you.

The result of this painstaking system of ours is—a line of feminine outer apparel such as a New York specialty shop could be proud of, priced at unbelievably low figures, and everything guaranteed without reserve!

Time to be thinking of Easter—but even if you do not propose purchasing your Spring finery until a little later on, you certainly owe it to yourself to inspect the KRAUTHAMER showing now. Style tendencies have been definitely decided, and are faithfully reproduced in our models.

NEW HOME FOR THE Y. M. H. A.

brew Association aims with the acquisition of this new home to make it a center, where not only the youth may be developed along these lines, but also physically, so that by the use of the bowling alley, the swimming pool, exercise and the general work in calisthenics, all of which are planned for in the addition to be erected to the new quarters just acquired, young men may be able to meet any call which may be made to them for service to their country, and in a measure show their patriotic duty to that country, which has given them what they have today.

It is also planned that all the Jewish organizations of this city will meet there, including the Independent Order B'nai Brith, the Zionist Camp, the Young Women's Hebrew Association, the Ladies' Hebrew Benevolent Society, and the various other clubs and societies. There will be no intrusion on the work of either of the places of worship, neither of the New street Synagogue nor of the Temple Sholem, both of which perform missions of their own, but it is contemplated, and plans are already being made by the committee, to house the school for the instruction of Hebrew language and Hebrew history, now being conducted in the New street Synagogue in crowded quarters.

Another important feature of the plan of the committee is to fit up the newly acquired building with a comfortable large room, where the men may gather any evening of the week and spend a pleasant hour or two, either by engaging in one of the reading rooms in the perusing of the current magazines and other literature, both Jewish and English, which will be accessible, or in pool, checkers or chess. Cards will be absolutely eliminated from the attractions of the club house, and with the aid of a house committee it is planned to preserve the strictest decorum and order at all times.

As constructed at present, the building consists of a large auditorium, four smaller rooms, and a large basement, which will house the bowling alley and pool table. The smaller rooms will be used for the school and the large room for meetings and other pastimes.

The committee that had charge of the building is as follows: Harvey Rothberg, chairman; Samuel Schwartz, Samuel H. Schwartz, Benjamin J. Kline and William Augenblick. This committee now plans to start its campaign for clearing the building of its present mortgage, so that the young men may take it over without any encumbrance. A list of the contributors will be published from time to time, regardless of how large they may be, and the chairman announced today a contribution of $500 from Tepper Brothers, $100 from Jacob A. Fass and $25 from Irving Kunzman. Further contributions may be sent to any member of the committee, made out to the order of the Y. M. H. A. Building Fund.

WASHINGTON GOSSIP

Washington, March 2.—A quiet, sturdy, firm-featured man, just past forty, walked quietly into the office of Secretary Daniels this week and offered him enough rolled brass at the Government's own terms to supply shell discs for the entire navy. Daniels had never seen the man before. When he was introduced by a Congressman the Secretary expected him to ask a favor. Instead he offered to the Secretary a veritable bonanza since now to get shells for the big guns has been a question in the navy department.

The man was William A. Morgan, of Buffalo, who controls and directs the largest copper and brass rolling mill in America. He furnishes to Canada ninety per cent. of the rolled brass the Dominion buys outside her own domain and to France seventy-five per cent. of all she buys outside her borders.

As a result of his dealings with foreign governments Morgan has had a chance to make comparison, and he says America will surprise the world when it comes to prompt action.

JERSEY NAVY RECRUITS

A navy recruiting party will be stationed at the post office building in this city from March 1 to 7. Any young American between the ages of 17 and 36 will be accepted if found to be physically fit.

Recruiting officers are urged to increase enlistments of blacksmiths, boiler-makers, coppersmiths and musicians competent in all band instruments are desired. A limited number of moulders are also desired, to be enlisted as blacksmiths for moulding.

HON. JAMES E. MARTINE

Plainfield Senator Who Concludes His Six Years' Service in Washington March 4

In his valedictory to the United States senate Senator James W. Martine of New Jersey said that while he had been accused of being "a sheer accident, a buffoon, a mountebank, a buffoon and a disgrace to this body, no man ever said I was a moral coward, a pretender. That is my answer to villainous and cowardly attacks."

ASSIGNMENT OF MILITIA

Special to the Courier-News:

Trenton, March 2.—Orders were issued yesterday by Adjutant General Charles W. Barber for the movement of the two troops of cavalry and the battery of field artillery which will be New Jersey's military contingent at the inaugural ceremonies for President Wilson next week at Washington. GRAND JURY PRESENTMENT from the motor vehicle law and the other two roads under an act to provide for the permanent improvement of public roads in the State, and the amendments thereof, in such cases the work is done under a State specification and under the supervision of state engineers and inspectors, and the State and not the county finally accepts the work as having been done according to the specifications.

The testimony of State highway engineers before us showed that these roads were built under the State specifications and accepted by the State in accordance with the law.

3—As to the matter secondly set out relative to the maintenance of an unexpended balance fund for 1916 of $56,-631.36, of which $23,410.54 is to be transferred to the budget for the present year we find that this is lawful in view of the provisions of P. L. 1902, which seems to be the authority under which the County Collector was acting.

Unexpended balances in counties where maintained save the people large sums of money for interest on temporary loans. Money must necessarily be borrowed on temporary loans in anticipation of the collection of taxes.

We have made a comparison of counties and find that Somerset, Monmouth, Ocean and this county are maintaining unexpended balance accounts. We approve the practice of the County Collector in the maintenance of such an account and we feel that he has earned public commendation.

4—The Third Inquiry—The reasonable working of prisoners is in line with modern thought on prison reform and although this may be done in a legal way, we find instances where the Sheriff permitted prisoners to work outside county property, which we are advised is not legal, but since the practice has been discontinued we feel sure it will not be again indulged in with the Sheriff's permission. We are of the opinion that the matter may be disposed with a warning to the Sheriff and Warden not to repeat such action again until there is legal warrant for such practice.

5—The County Engineer was elected 1912 for five years. At that time, there was an understanding between him and some seven members constituting a majority of the Board of Freeholders as to what he should charge for field parties of two and three men in doing county work. Thereafter for the past four years his bills were rendered in accordance with that understanding and paid by each successive Board of Freeholders until lately, and in Nov., 1916, a lengthy report was made by a special committee of the Board of Freeholders showing the arrangement under which the County Engineer was working and a comparison was made therein with other counties evidently for the purpose of showing the advantage of the present arrangement over that in existence elsewhere, which report was received.

Lately a civil suit has been instituted by the County Engineer against the county to recover similar charges made by him against which suit the county has instructed the County Attorney to file a set-off for some $28,000.7 being approximately the amount paid by the county to the engineer since the arrangement was entered into. In this action it will therefore be determined definitely whether or not the County Engineer has received any money to which he was not lawfully and justly entitled.

This whole transaction, however, is most severely condemned as be*ing thoroughly unbusinesslike. The* arrangement covering engineering work ought to have been reduced to writing and specific as to allowances, if any, to be made for help, office and equipment necessary for the proper conduct of such work.

It appears to the Grand Jury that the methods of the Board of Freeholders have been very loose and the *situation demands a prompt installa*tion of a business system, which will effectually and immediately stop the continuance of any inefficiency that may now exist in handling the affairs of the county.

It is strongly recommended that each committee be compelled to keep a minute-book of its proceedings so that the records of the work of the committee shall be open to the inspection of the full membership of the board at any time.

It is also recommended that the County Attorney attend the meetings of the board in order to intelligently and immediately direct its membership in all legal propositions that may arise in order to prevent any repetition of the condition lately revealed.

CHARLES F. BROWN,
Foreman of the Grand Jury.
ALFRED A. STEIN,
Prosecutor of the Pleas.

P. H. S. TEAM DEBATES WITH RUTGERS BOYS

The Plainfield High School Debating Team will have its first contest in logic this evening, when it will compete with the Rutgers College Freshmen Debating Team in the Plainfield High auditorium this evening. This debate will be conducted under the auspices of the Rutgers College Interscholastic Debating League and will be the first debate of this season for the local team which is being coached by Harold F. Biddle.

The question will be: "Resolved, That a compulsory arbitration law should be enacted to settle all labor disputes of railroads and other common carriers constitutionality conceded." The local team will take the affirmative side of this question, upon which they have been carefully drilling for the past week or so and have organized such a long arguments for their issues that their conclusions will be irresistible. The Red and Blue team will be led by Horace Bunker and ably supported by Caryl Dunavan and Charles Todd, while Miss Fannie Mann will act as alternate. The Rutgers College team will consist of William H. Hendrickson as leader and Arthur R. Dayton, Kenneth C. Hand and Herbert O. Tilton, who will be their alternate.

A program of entertainment has been made out by a committee from each of the two high school literary societies. The Omega committee consists of S. Wright McAneny, chairman, assisted by Miss Olrene Moy and Harold Leinenweber. The committee representing the Alphas is as follows: Miss Mildred Clark, chairman, and Miss Florence Hall and Miss Ruth Fuller. Several pleasing vocal and piano solos will be rendered during intermissions for the rebuttals and decision.

No admission will be charged and an invitation is cordially extended to the public. The debate will begin at 8:15 o'clock.

THE FUNERAL OF MRS. LAURA SOUTHARD

The funeral of Mrs. Laura Southard, who died on Monday at her home on Elm place, was held there yesterday afternoon, the Rev. Dr. D. W. Skellenger, pastor of Hope chapel, officiating. There was a large gathering of relatives and friends and there were many beautiful flowers.

The bearers were: George Staats, Clinton Noe, Charles Kiederling, Edward Simpson, Edward Schield and Elias Southard. The interment was made in Evergreen cemetery.

MANY JOIN THE "FIRST AID" CLASS

Sixty-four members joined the class in "First Aid" at the First M. E. church last night and began the initial lesson under the direction of Dr. C. B. Darborrow. He proved a very interesting season for the members of the class, a number of men also enrolling. The "Anatomy and Shock" were the first studies taken up.

There is still plenty of time for those who failed to enroll to join the class at its session on Friday evening of next week. The class will be held on this evening owing to the concert at the High school on Thursday night.

Those who desire to take the Red Cross examinations at the close of the class must take the whole ten lessons to assure success. Single lessons will also be given on the class meeting nights for a small fee. The men are especially invited to join the class.

DANCING CLASS MEETING WITH MUCH SUCCESS

The dancing class held under the auspices of the Y. M. H. A., is proving a success. Another session was held last night under the direction of A. Goodwin. Excellent music was furnished by Prof. Macks and Paul Pope, followed by the serving of refreshments. This class bids fair to be one of the most popular features in the social life of the younger set of the Y. M. H. A.

All members and their friends are cordially invited to attend the sessions every Thursday night at the Y. M. H. A. rooms. Special features will be presented at each class.

UNIVERSAL TRAINING

In the United States there is no way of maintaining, by voluntary enlistment, a regular army commensurate with our population of the area which it may be our duty to defend against foreign invasion, unless we are to turn the industrial market and bid against manufacturers: a program which would bankrupt any government on earth. That is why some sort of compulsory training of the nation at large, or rather of the youth of it, is our only salvation if we are to go on with the business of being a nation. Ought private interest to rule here, or the general good?—From "Comment on Congress" in March 3rd Collier's.

The World War a Year Ago Today—March 2.

British recaptured 800 yards of German trenches along the Ypres canal, Belgium, which were lost Feb. 14.

British government instructions given armed merchantmen stated that armament is solely for resisting attack by an armed enemy vessel; also stated that fire may be opened in self defense in order to prevent hostile submarines and aircraft from closing in.

Two Years Ago Today.

Germany offered to modify submarine warfare if the allies would allow foodstuff to reach Germany's civil population.

FRIDAY, MARCH 2, 1917.

ARMING MERCHANT VESSELS

It is apparent, by the vote of 402 to 13, in the House of Representatives last night, which passed the bill authorizing the President to arm merchant vessels, that there is a preponderance of sentiment in this country, in favor of protecting our national claim to the peaceful use of the seas for commerce, even if we have to fight for it. The patriotic demonstration on the floor of the House, when the vote was announced left little doubt of the determination of the American people, through their representatives, to stand by their rights, in a condition that is not of our own making, but which has been forced upon us by the quarrels of others. Analyzing the condition by a concrete example more vividly illustrated by a local condition, suppose a fight takes place between two or three scrappers on the sidewalk of a public street, which is often an occurrence in any city. Along comes a citizen who has no interest or part in the scrap, and finds the sidewalk blocked by the belligerents, and his progress to business impeded, just because some others with personal grievances have taken occasion to use the highway to settle their differences. The peaceful citizen is willing to step out in the street, although abating his inalienable right by so doing, but just then he finds that the belligerents have not only blocked the whole street, but warn him not to try to pass. He would still further abate his rights, by going a long way around, a distance of several blocks, but they warn him that he will be annihilated if he does not turn back, and go home and stay there. Then the citizen begins to wonder if he has no rights on the highway, and gets very mad about it, when he realizes that brigands have taken possession of the highway, refusing him the privilege of its use, and leaving him the impression that in their armed condition and he unarmed, he is not safe, even in his home, if the brawl continues. Then it is that he has to take measures for the safety of himself and family, and with every right of a freeman, puts himself in a position to defend himself, and to be one with others, in the efforts to force his way through the armed mob in the actual peaceful pursuits of business, the rights of which are assured him by the Constitution of his country. This is about a parallel picture, drawn from nearer home, the application of which can be easily seen by anyone. It is assumed that the peaceful citizen has pursued every course to avoid quitting in the fray, and has been patient, even when his personal rights and duties to himself have been interfered, but there are limitations to one's patience, and a time when he must put him in a attitude to defend himself.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE AND LIVING COSTS

The intimate relation between Domestic Science teaching and living costs lies along two lines. First, many familiar points are insisted upon by domestic science schools. Such are the saving made by personal visits to markets, economy of buying in large quantities, utilization of waste portions of meat and other foods, reducing meat costs through selection and cookery of cheaper cuts, preserving fruits and vegetables, etc. Another line of economics brought out by domestic science trainers is less familiar. This deals with losses that ordinary housekeepers sustain through false motions, wrongly placed tools, failure to arrange and classify utensils. The workman's bench in a modern factory is a study in reduction of motions. Every tool is so placed that the reach for it is as short as possible. All are so classified that the worker does not spend any time thinking where any particular one is placed. The ordinary kitchen is different. Utensils for getting a meal are mixed with those for clearing away a meal, or for other purposes. Time is spent in hunting for tools. There is much lost motion. Furthermore a great many women fatigue themselves at sinks or tables placed at a wrong height. Women's inability to do housework is commonly merely weariness doing it in an untrained way. The wrong placing of stoves, sinks, store rooms, kitchen and dining room table supplies, kitchen and china closets, multiplies the number of steps, and the worker is tired before the day's work is half done. Experts in these lines have produced elaborate time studies showing the possibilities of reduction of motion.

BACK YARD VEGETABLES

The back yard vegetable garden next summer will be no joke. When potatoes, onions, cabbage, etc., are selling at prices two to five times above the ordinary figures it is time for the consumer to do something other than read the papers and curse the middleman. Conditions like these seem bound to continue while the war lasts. Many of our food products are being deposited at the bottom of the ocean by the German submarines. It is time for the man who has money enough to buy a hoe and energy enough to wield it to get busy in the back yard. It is commonly complained that after you pay the expenses of a back yard garden there is no profit. That may be true where the householder hires all the heavy work done. Also, he would better ask a little advice of experienced gardeners at the various stages of the game. But the earth is fruitful. If properly encouraged with good seed and patient care quite a dent can be made in the grocery bill.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The neutral powers propose to back up the United States by solemnly resolving that we shall be the goat.

It was finally decided before the literacy law was passed not to require immigrants to pass an examination in algebraic equations and Latin grammar.

There is a considerable number of the present residents of this country who might learn to read and write without any terrible suffering.

Uncle Sam will stand it quite a while with some one's foot on his neck, but when he is called on also to kiss the foot the ou gentleman says it is carrying things a "leetle mite" too far.

Formerly they used to observe Washington's Birthday by reading his farewell address, but now they do it by sticking up red paper hatchets around the room.

At another season of the year Lincoln's Birthday would be celebrated by attending the ball game, but in February the only way of doing reverence to his memory is to go to the movies.

In every Congressional district a number of self-sacrificing patriots have appeared who are willing to help their country in case of war by handling the war supply business.

If the war does not leave any other lesson upon Europe it will have taught by the scarcity of food supplies the value of whole wheat or whole wheat flour in the making of bread, and will make the value of stale bread apparent as a health food. It is a strenuous lesson, and war was not needed for anybody's health, but it may leave some little good in its wake if it makes healthier stomachs.

Still great indignation will be felt if the business of handling war supplies should go to engineers, experts, scientists and soldiers instead of to faithful political friends.

It is decided at Washington not to ask permission of any European king before constructing further the Government of the United States.

When the farmers announce a meeting to discuss community uplift it usually means that they are going to talk higher prices for milk and vegetables.

Uncle Sam will know all about plumbers' bills when the leak investigators hand in their expense accounts.

Anyway, if the country can only raise a good hay crop this summer we shall have our favorite breakfast foods.

Intense indignation is felt by the people against the distribution of pork and intense enthusiasm in behalf of the politicians who spend all their time distributing it.

PEOPLE'S FORUM

Suggests Electric Flag for School

To the Editor of the Courier-News:

I read in your issue of the Courier-News, dated February 26 last, an article regarding an electric American flag fought and maintained by the school children of Joliet, Ill., and think that there is not a more substantial way of impressing patriotism on their minds. There have also been several articles in your People's Forum saying that there is not enough patriotism taught in our schools and would say that the flag would create as much patriotism and draw their attention to this fact about as much as anything that could be done.

Everything at the present time seems to be urging preparedness and patriotism, and I think that if the people of Plainfield want their children to be interested in such thoughts we could have buttons made, which would sell for ten cents, and with the co-operation of the principals, teachers and business men of the city it would be an easy matter to raise the required amount of money to erect an electric American flag here.

What would be more patriotic or of greater credit to the city than the erection of such a symbol on one of the public school buildings in Plainfield? Why not "America first" in Plainfield?

Care of Animals

To the Editor of the Courier-News:

Sir—Having read the letter from Mrs. Van Hoesen in your valuable paper I was greatly interested in it and certainly do agree with her. Her remarks were very true and realistic. I do not wish to accentuate the present labor conditions existing, which probably not any of us can help, but any true lover of animals cannot but note the difference between experienced and inexperienced drivers.

I heard a prominent merchant of this city say that the more ignorant a man is the more brutality he shows to animals.

It is often the fault of the owners, who sometimes expect their men to cover two routes in one morning and get dinner about three o'clock. One cannot expect hungry men to be kind to anything. I used to be careless about ordering goods until too late, but when I forgot now I punish myself by going without.

There must be quite a number of animal lovers in this beautiful city. Why not get together and help Mrs. Van Hoesen by boycotting such firms who allow their drivers to use whips over a few minutes at any long? I should think it would help a business to pay a premium to his employes handling horses on the condition that they keep them in. It would save veterinary expense and facilitate his deliveries; also enlarge his trade.

S. SYKES.

Replies to J. K. Arnold's Letter

Editor Courier-News:

Dear Sir:—Will you kindly give space to the following statement in answer to J. K. Arnold's letter in your issue of the 27th?

As Mr. Arnold puts his case in his communication he is a very much abused and underpaid official, but as a matter of fact, no one would expect the custodian to keep the accounts and render the reports he does for $50. Mr. Arnold, however, presents only a part of the story. By law the collector of taxes is custodian of school funds, and by law the remuneration (not salary) of the custodian of school funds is fixed by the Board of Education.

To the position of tax collector there is attached a salary of $1,500 a year, and an allowance of $480 for clerk hire, making a total of $1,980. While this amount of itself seems to be an ample compensation for his whole time, the Board of Education voted Mr. Arnold $50 a year as compensation. They could have made it $1, which I believe is the honorarium paid the mayor and they have been within their rights, or they could have given him a vote of thanks is done by many school boards in the State.

At one time the Board was asked to fix the remuneration of the custodian at $200 a year, but it very wisely refused to do so; it also refused wisely or otherwise to fix the remuneration at $10, which being in the nature of a tip or expression of good-will would, in my judgment, have been generous to a man who is already receiving the salary that attaches to his other office of collector. A more friendly board might make the remuneration to Mr. Arnold $100 or $200 or $500 and be within the law. Do the taxpayers wish still further burdens laid on them?

A TALK to COAL BUYERS

This company, in its advertising, has endeavored to impress upon the coal buying public, that by virtue of its organization and wholesale connections, it is in a position to render service of a particularly efficient kind, a service not possible to every dealer in coal.

This winter, during the coal shortage, this service has been put to the test, and how well our organization has met it can best be vouched for by our customers. We have not only taken care of all our orders, but we have furnished coal to other dealers as well, and we point to our ability to care for our trade under the exceptional conditions that have presented themselves, with considerable pride, for we feel that our claim to be able to serve the public satisfactorily at all times and under all conditions, has been amply demonstrated.

If we are not already serving you, would it not be wise to become one of our regular customers, and thus place your coal burden on responsible shoulders?

Give us the opportunity; we will serve you well.

LOOK AT CHILD'S TONGUE IF SICK CROSS, FEVERISH

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless "fruit laxative;" they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.—Adv.

BOROUGH BOARD SENDS RESOLUTIONS

Every School Organization in State to be Notified of Recent Action

Every Board of Education in the State is being furnished this week a copy of the resolution passed on Monday evening by the North Plainfield Borough Board of Education regarding the selection of a custodian of school monies.

The resolution which was authorized to be sent out by the Borough Board reads as follows:

"Whereas, the law of the State provides that the Collector of Taxes shall be the Custodian of School Funds, and

Whereas, the Office of Collector of Taxes is an elective office and salary for which is paid by the Taxpayers, and

Whereas, the law provides that the Collector may refuse to act as Custodian of School Funds at the compensation fixed by the law is to be fixed by the School Board.

Resolved, that the President and Clerk of this Board be instructed to address a letter to the Representatives of this district, in the State Legislature and Senate requesting them to introduce and if possible have an enactment passed by the legislature authorizing and empowering Trust Companies or Banks to perform the work of and be Custodian of School Funds, and

Resolved, that it is the sense of this Board that where an elective officer receives a fair compensation for his services it is unjust and unfair to the taxpayers to be burdened with any additional expense in the way of salary for performing the services as provided by law, even when such services are not directly connected with the office to which he has been elected, and

Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be enclosed to our representatives in the legislature and Senate and to all other boards of Education in the State."

Since the resignation of Judd Stewart and R. C. Campbell as members of the borough Board of Education, names of several well-known citizens across the brook have been mentioned as candidates to be placed in nomination at the annual school meeting Tuesday evening, March 13. Both Messrs. Stewart and Campbell, with T. J. Currin, Jr., were three-year members on the board, and their terms of office expire April 1. It is believed that Mr. Currin will be a candidate for re-election at the meeting.

WOULD HAVE GOOD SPELLING

Dr. H. M. Maxson, of the Public Schools, Tells of New Plan

IT REQUIRES DRILLING

Children Begin With Words of the Child's World and Are Obliged to Concentrate Upon Those They Mis-spell

"Spelling," says Dr. H. M. Maxson, superintendent of schools, "is one of the most criticised of the school subjects. Society has determined that ability to spell shall be one of the "hall marks" of an educated man. Since this is so, the school must give its pupils power to spell correctly, but the carrying out of this purpose involves many questions which are debatable.

"How many words shall we require them to learn? Must all children learn the words that the mason or carpenter or plumber or the business man expects his clerks to spell correctly? Shall we require children to learn scores of words they will never use in their own writing?

"In the past, schools as a whole, have failed to produce good spelling, because they have tried to cover too much ground. Spelling books contain 8,000 or 10,000 or more words. Another cause of failure is the inclusion of so many words that are outside of the child's world.

"In my efforts to increase the efficiency of our work in spelling, I have reached the conclusion that we should cut down the list of words to a minimum and strive to make sure that our pupils actually do fix the spelling of those words.

"Following out this plan, I have selected a minimum list of about 250 words for each of the grades. In the first five grades these words are chosen from the vocabulary that the children themselves use.

"In the higher grades I have introduced a number of other words not in the child's vocabulary but which he might need to use in meeting the demands of other people.

"These words have been printed in the form of a check list for each grade. The child is given the list for his own grade and the grade preceding. The teacher, at the beginning of the year, proceeds to test the child on the list of the previous grade, the pupil checking on his list each word that he fails to spell correctly. These checked words form the list which he especially needs to drill upon. After some weeks of drill, the list is again given, and each pupil checks up his error for still further study on the weak spots.

"When the words of the previous year have been perfected, the list of the grade is given in the same way, the aim being to detect the particular words that are difficult for the individual child and then to drill him on these special words until he attains practical perfection in spelling the list of his grade.

"Some years ago, Prof. W. Franklin Jones, of the University of South Dakota, devoted much time to the study of the words often mis-spelled by children in their compositions and letters, and from these he selected a list of 100 words most frequently mis-spelled.

"This list, which he calles the 'One Hundred Demons,' I have also printed in the form of a check list, and each grade is drilled especially on this three times a year. It is my belief that if we can fix the spelling of this one hundred words, we shall remove much of the criticism of poor spelling.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache is sign you have been eating too much meat

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and lazy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

GAVE LECTURE AT LOCAL RESIDENCE

W. N. Weston, of Inner Life Society, Speaks at H. V. Colby's Home

Walter Newell Weston, of the Society of the Inner Life of New York, gave a most interesting lecture yesterday afternoon at the residence of Howard A. Colby, 1405 Evergreen avenue, this city. Mr. Weston said in part

"As the chicken breaks the shell and steps out into a new consciousness and expression, so men often break the shell of their old consciousness and find new realms of expression. The spiritually awakened of all ages have found that much experience is like the reality of play to the child. Most men are so deeply saturated with habit, or belief in the power of heredity, tradition, or conventionality, that, so far as doing original thinking is concerned, they are to all intents and purposes hypnotised. Jesus Christ was the only wholly unhypnotised man that ever walked the earth. He knew the nothingness of sin, sickness and even death, and the allness of truth, health and life. The balance of humanity is in the process of awakening from its illusions. Voluntarily or involuntarily, consciously or unconsciously each man draws to himself through his own thought just the experiences that conduce to his individual awakening, some men slowly and gently, others swiftly and even violently. It is only the knowledge of truth that will ever emancipate us from the bondage in which we find ourselves. The courageous man says, truth at any price, and thus stimulates the awakening process within. There is truth and a solution for every problem, but it is useless to seek the truth of the real self unless willing to awaken dormant faculties.

"Men would arouse themselves from their state of mental lethargy except for the fear of failure of opinions, of losing individuality or possessions. Thus they become negative at the very point where they should be dominant. Fear is the one great paralyzer of the will. As poverty is the conclusion of prosperity, sickness the conclusion of health, and failure the conclusion of success, so fear is the conclusion of faith. From a pin to a universe nothing is created except through faith. Is it any wonder that sin is defined as "whatsoever is not of faith?"

SAYS LACK OF THRIFT CAUSED PRESENT CONDITIONS

Kansas City, Mo., March 2.—That the United States is facing a serious economic condition as a result of the heavy burdens placed upon it by the war abroad and, by the proverbial unfitness of the rank and file of our population, was voiced recently by B. W. Strauss, president of the American Society for Thrift, in communication presented by him to the committee on thrift education of the National Education Association, of which Strauss is a member in session here, he declared that the present abnormal prices for commodities is an indication of serious conditions.

"I believe every member of this committee is willing to admit the seriousness of the economic situation of America," Strauss declared.

"While it is true that we as a nation are prosperous, it is equally incontrovertible that as individuals we are prodigal. In this country the records of the surrogate courts, for example, show that 82 per cent. out of every 100 men who die leave no income producing estates. Only 20 leave estates amounting to $50,000 or more. Out of every 100 women who are left widows only 18 are in good or comfortable circumstances. The others are obliged to go to work, and 82 are left either in absolute want or, to a great extent, objects of charity."

PREACHER PENSION FUND RAISED

By United Press

New York, March 2.—Bishop Lawrence, of Massachusetts, who sat himself right down in the midst of Wall street one year ago, and started to collect a $5,000,000 pension fund from all over the country for superannuated Episcopal preachers, completed his task today. He has the five million.

The pension list will provide not less than $600 annually for old age or disability; and from that up to half of the yearly salary. It will give widows of ministers not less than $300 annually, and orphans $100 annually up to 7 years; $200 from 7 to 14, and $300 from 14 to 21.

JUMPS FROM BRIDGE AND ESCAPES DEATH

IN MEMORY

One of the most conspicuous and venerable figures in baseball passed when Tim Murnane died recently. The snow-white mustache and hair of the veteran baseball editor of the Boston Globe, his booming voice and his inspiring personality were points at baseball gatherings never to be forgotten. Murnane's death will be mourned generally by baseball players—not only in the majors, but in the smaller circuits. From the days when he left his position on the field to take up the task of writing his views on the national game and heading a baseball league, Murnane valiantly fought for the players' cause. No cause was too deeply involved, nothing too strong for the veteran to undertake. Murnane started as a famous ball player. He was a member of the Athletics who toured Europe in 1874. Later he was a member of the Hartford team and at one time managed and played first base for the Boston Union team. Murnane had the reputation of having discovered more players who made good as stars than any other man in baseball. Among his finds were Chick Stahl, Billy Nash, Ed Crane, Hugh Duffy, Tommy McCarty, Charlie Farrell, Mike Slattery and Martin Sullivan. Murnane left the diamond in 1886 to become baseball editor of the Boston Globe, and he never left his position there until death overtook him in a Boston theatre. He became famous as a writer through many notable "beats" he was able to land for his paper. His stories were conspicuous during the troublesome days of the Brotherhood for their clarity and truthfulness. Murnane organized and became president of the New England League, and through his energetic work in that office became vice president of the National Association of Minor Leagues and was a member of the National Board of Arbitration.

LOCAL GIRLS WIN AT BOWLING GAMES

Take Best Two Out of Three From Bound Brook Social Organization

The Columbian girls' bowling five visited Bound Brook last night and opposed the Bound Brook Social Club on the Presbyterian alleys. The Plainfield girls proved the better team and took two of three games. All three games were exciting and the victors could not be determined until the final frame. The Bound Brook girls won the second game by the narrow margin of three pins.

Mrs. H. B. Arnold captured first honors all around, registering high score and high average.

The Plainfielders were entertained after the match, and it is understood two or three more contests will be arranged.

PINOCHLE CLUB RESULTS

Larry Scheelein, right bower of the Domino Club, proved the Moses last night in the borough pinochle contest, the Domino players stopping the barber shop team by taking two out of three. It was Scheelein's playing that won the series. The firemen also won the contest with the Independents two out of three.

PARISH GIRLS IN A GRAND FINISH

Defeat Hope Chapel Team by Rally in Last Few Moments of Contest

In a game just jammed with thrills of one sort and another the Hope Chapel girls' basketball team went down to defeat before the Scotch Plains Parish House aggregation last evening on the latter's court by a score of 13 to 7. The contest was one of the best to be staged on the Parish House court this season by feminine teams.

At the conclusion of the first half the Hope girls had the advantage in a 5 to 4 score, holding this slight lead until a moment or two prior to the close of the last period. Then Miss Head started a rally of the Plains forces and secured sufficient baskets to overcome the Plainfield lead and sew up the final result.

Monday evening the Hope girls will entertain the St. Mary's Social Club team at the chapel court, beginning at 8 o'clock.

The Elks maintained their hold on the lead in the City Bowling League last evening when they took the entire set of games from the Tabs. The Abstainers had what is to be considered an off night, O'Keefe being the only man of that team to hold up under the heavy strain.

O'Keefe topped the high score of the evening at 226 in the first tilt and secured an average of 190.2. Waldorf of the Elks went him one better in the average line, making a mark of 191.1.

Voorhees came in for the honors, securing the high average of 198. He divided high score honors with Gates at the 213 chalk mark. Both teams did some good bowling, the opening and nightcap tilts being fairly tight.

TRAP SHOOTING

Trapshooting has become very popular with the women who spend the winter season at Lakewood. So popular has the sport become that the Laurel House Gun Club has secured the services of Mrs. B. G. Earle, of New York, to give instruction to the fair Dianas who desire to know the whys and wherefore of the "sport alluring."

The Bound Brook Bees, representatives of that burg in the Central New Jersey Bowling League, are today being heralded as the first champions of that circuit. The Bees clinched and nailed the title to the mast last evening when they did all sorts of things to Lou Roller's Somerville aggregation.

Some 400 or more bowling fans and fellowers, anticipating something out of the ordinary, gathered at Eisler's Bound Brook alleys, and they were certainly repaid for their visit. Not only did the Bees make a clean sweep of the entire set of games, but they set up a new high team score of 970, just two pins above the previous high mark of 968 set up in mid-season by the North Plainfield aggregation.

The Bound Brookers were just naturally in trim for such an event as last evening's affair, for they maintained a team average of 945.1, which is going some!

Six scores of the double century type were set up during the course of the evening, five of which went to the Bees. Wall secured a pair of these with 224 as high score and averaged 208.2. "Pete" Koechlin also secured a brace of the double century scores and one each went to Carl, Snyder and Roller.

HERE'S SOMETHING NEW IN TACTICS

N. P. H. S. Girls Break Into Print With Something Novel and Original

New Brunswick, Feb. 27.—"Won by a tickle" is a new basketball phrase. New Brunswick High School girls, who were defeated by the North Plainfield High School girls' quintet here today by a score of 18 to 9, attribute their defeat to the fact that whenever they were about to shoot a basket the Plainfield girls tickled them, and made them drop the ball. Nothing could be found in the rules about tickling, hence their repeated protests were disregarded by the referee.

Now, then, North Plainfield, will you be good! The dispatch as printed above appeared in yesterday morning's New York Sun, and as we have said in many like cases, the truth will out. One never can tell about these boroughites when they get away from home and from the ever watchful eyes of Aungst, Earley & Co.

But, then, we hardly can believe that the borough maidens would stoop to this level in conquering. It really must have been just a joke, this tale of unheard-of doings. Something somewhere, believe us. We can hardly bring ourselves to see just why the Canadians could get into the humor to use any such tactics as this. Impossible!

And then again, you never can tell, for it's a great life if you don't weaken.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL IN ONE-SIDED CONTEST

The local Grammar School recovered from its defeat at Westfield Wednesday by coming back and trouncing the Garwood Grammar School yesterday by the score of 24 to 8.

FIGHTING PRIEST GETS PARISH HE CAN'T LOSE

By United Press:

New York, March 2.—Father James B. Curry, for sixteen years militant pastor of St. James' Catholic church in downtown New York, today assumed his duties as irremovable pastor of the church of the Holy Name, conferred on him by Cardinal Farley. Father Curry first came to the public notice in his fight to keep children from "rushing the growler" in saloons for their parents. Later he personally conducted many sensational raids on disorderly houses in his neighborhood and organized downtown boys' clubs to keep the lads out of mischief.

SPORT BRIEFS

Chicago—After eight years in the "big show" Jack Lapp, former catcher of the Athletics and more recently with the White Sox, will drop to the minors. President Comiskey announced yesterday that Lapp had been released to the Columbus Club of the American Association. Lapp was "found" by Connie Mack in the Atlantic League and shared in three world's series matches with the Athletics.

New York—The annual indoor track and field championships of the A. A. U. will be held at the Twenty-second Regiment Armory on the evening of Saturday, March 17. All the stars of the Middle West and the East will be on hand, and a few are expected from the South. Chicago will send on an extra large number and they are confident that one of their clubs, the Chicago A. C. or the Illinois A. C., will be crowned champion.

New York—Madison Square Garden officials were confident yesterday that the bout scheduled Monday night between Jack Dillon and Les Darcy will be staged without a hitch. A decision handed down by Deputy Attorney General Obermier upholds the substitution of Dillon for Al McCoy, who has been trying to hold Promoter George Hugh Browne to his contract. Fred Wenck, the chairman of the boxing commission, said, today that he had received word from Albany regarding the bout, and in the absence of instructions from the Governor will not interfere.

New York—President Ebbetts of the Brooklyn National League Baseball Club announced yesterday that the liberal contracts sent to Infielder O'Mara and Pitcher Smith, the big southpaw, who has been holding out, has signed a contract and will report at Hot Springs.

THE ATHLETICS, THE ENIGMA OF BASEBALL

The enigma of the baseball world is Connie Mack's team of Athletics. Whether it will begin to show something of the form predicted for it by 1917 by Mack when he began his historic dismemberment of the famous old Athletics is a puzzle that many baseball followers are trying to fathom today.

Mack has the basis for a good baseball club. Unless he deliberately wrecks what he has accomplished since Eddie Collins and his colleagues departed from Philadelphia he undoubtedly will have a better chance to finish out of eighth place this year than was the case in 1916.

Mack has pieced together a very fair team of college baseball players. He has tinkered here and there, adding some minor leaguers and retaining some cogs in the old machine until he has a club that cannot be counted the easy victim of every other club by any means.

The feat of the Athletics in twice humbling the Yankees in a single day last summer was considered a huge joke by a great many, but there is more than one critic of the game who saw in that a foreboding of things to come, a return to power that once rested in the silent brain of Mack.

Mack has an infield that lacks a great deal of being a mirror. Almost any manager in the American League would be willing to part with many dollars to have Stuffy McInnis holding down first base. At second base a youngster, Grover, is destined to perform, and he has built up something of a reputation. In young Lawton Witt, the 20-year-old youth picked up more than a year ago by Mack, the elongated leader has one of the most promising infielders who has broken into the American League in years. He is aggressive, can hit and field like a fiend, and use his head. On third Mack promises to place a minor league recruit named Bates. Advance notices speak very highly of him.

The outfield will be composed of Bodie, Thrasher, and Strunk, who have been hold outs, and while Mack has promised the veteran Strunk a raise he has promised Bodie a long vacation unless he signs. Thrasher is a recruit, but is said to be a powerful hitter and a clean, fast fielder. It is a hard-hitting trio with experience in two of the gardens.

The pitching staff undoubtedly will see no new faces. Joe Bush and Elmer Myers undoubtedly will bear the brunt of the burden, with several promising colts to fall back upon. Two more pitchers who could perform consistently would make the Athletics a greatly-feared club. Johnson and Nabors are the most promising other members of the staff.

Wally Schang, Meyers, Picinich and Haley will fight for catching berths.

The Athletics present one of the strongest hitting combinations in baseball. They'll score plenty of runs against almost any kind of a baseball club if they can get reasonable pitching it is fair to assume they will not finish in last place.

Clinches Championship in Westfield League by Taking Three Straight

Special Correspondence:

Westfield, March 2.—Last night the Trinity team of the Sunday School and Church League clinched the championship for this season when it took three games from the Congregational team. The Trinity-ites, as on Wednesday night, had no trouble in defeating the Congregationals, as this team has been bowling in hard luck all season and has won only seven games. The Trinity bowlers did not exert themselves in the winning of this match, for it was not necessary, and as a result the bowling was not sensational.

ANSON NAMED 'EM

Did you ever wonder how the Pittsburg club came by the name of Pirates? Well, here is the information as imparted by a Smoky City baseball writer:

"Ol' Cap" Anson gave to the Pittsburg club the nickname of Pirates. And he was a furious and peeved person the day he did it. Until 1890 the Pittsburg club was known as the "Alleghenies." That was the year that it had one of the worst teams in its history—and Chicago, captained and managed by Anson, one of the best. The season was nearly at its close when the Colts swung into the stretch with Brooklyn. The Colts had a five-game series scheduled with the Alleghenies, who were playing .150 baseball at that time.

"Here's where we clinch the hunting," exclaimed "Cap," jubilantly. The series began, whereupon the Pirates, to the astonishment of the baseball world, won every one of those five games and beat the Colts out of the pennant, causing Anson to roar:

The newspapers printed the yowl of "Cap," and from that day on the Alleghenies became known as the Pirates.

TIGERS STILL TRYING

In the last five years Hugh Jennings of the Detroit Tigers has tried out more pitchers than any other major league manager, and he is still hunting high and low for suitable box material. Here are the pitchers who have been found wanting by the Tiger leader: topped leader: Acten, Bailey, Bach, Betsill, Beehler, Burns, Clauss, Comstock, Covington, Crawford, Cavet, Erickson, Elder, Fagan, Grover, Hall, Harding, House, Hamilton, Haines, Jansen, Karr, Klawitter, Lafitte, Ledbetter, Landel, Loreen, Laudermilk, Main, McCorry, Moran, McGeehan, Marshall, McTigue, North, Oldham, Peasley, Pernoll, Renfer, Remneas, Reynolds, Smithson, Schultz, Shepard, Steen, Smith, Skeels, Swarts, Travers, Troy, John Williams, Claude Williams, Wheatley, Works and Zamlick.

ONE ON TOD

Tod Sloan, the great American jockey, was very fond of flashy clothes during the heyday of his turf career. Consequently many stories have been told about this passion. There is one an old racing enthusiast tells about the little fellow:

"Tod, seeking a bit of seclusion, went to a small English inn ten years or so ago, with three or four trunks. He got a hurry call to London, answered it—and didn't go back to the little hotel for a month or so.

"Meanwhile the inn-keeper got anxious over Tod's failure to show up and pay his bill.

"'Oh, you shouldn't worry,' consoled a friend. 'You've got two or three trunkfuls of his clothes as a security.'

"'But, my dear man,' wailed the proprietor, 'they're no good to me, because I haven't got a monkey to put 'em on.'"

DR. NORCROSS LECTURES IN TEMPLE BAPTIST

The Rev. James E. Norcross, of New York, delivered a lecture last evening in the Temple Baptist church, under the auspices of the Junior Baraca Class, for the benefit of the church, on "The Sky Line." The lecture was full of interest and described in a graphic manner the scenery of spring flowers, the arrangement in the dining room being especially pleasing. Mrs. David Scott and Mrs. Marsom Buttfield poured, and they were assisted by several other guests in serving. Mrs. Eoff, prior to her marriage two years ago, was Miss Gertrude Bowlby, of Park avenue. She was the recipient of a large collection of useful articles at yesterday's affair.

COLLECTOR LEAVETT REPORTS ON ARMORY

Freeholders Informed as to Approval of Site by Military Board

Elizabeth, March 2.—County Collector Nathan R. Leavitt informed the Board of Freeholders yesterday afternoon of the communication he received from the State Military Board on the matter of acquiring an armory site in East Front street, Plainfield, for $20,000. The matter was referred to the armory committee, of which Charles A. Smith is chairman.

The Board adopted Freeholder Meisels's resolution asking the Legislature to enable the county to appropriate $65,000 for county hospitals. The sum now appropriated is $40,000, and the hospitals have asked for more.

County Engineer Jacob L. Bauer informed the Board that if the Egan road act was held to be constitutional the county would receive more than $70,000, a sum it had used in repairing State aid roads.

Improvements at Bonnie Burn Sanatorium were authorized. These will include an additional refrigerator plant, a pasturization plant and a coal storage house.

Charles M. Affleck, of Westfield, and John G. Hatfield, of Fanwood, new freeholders, attended and were appointed to committees.

The Republican members raucussed after the meeting on the matter of a successor to William R. Codington, whose illness, it is understood, made his continuance of the duties of his office impossible. No names were mentioned for the place and no decision was reached.

The decorations consisted chiefly of spring flowers, the arrangement in the dining room being especially pleasing. ROOSEVELT SAYS STRIKE HARD, IF WE STRIKE

By United Press:

Hartford, Conn., March 2.—"If we go into war with Germany we must strike hard with the largest expeditionary force that can be raised," said Col. Roosevelt in an interview here today, endorsing the Connecticut plan of taking a military census.

"No fight was ever won by parrying alone," he continued. "A fight must be won by hitting. It would be ruinous to go to war a little, and not much. It would be ruinous to prepare only a little."

Commenting on the disclosures of an attempt to stir Mexico and Japan against the United States Roosevelt said: "What Germany attempts to do now, even should it fail, she will try to do some time in the future."

Yours very truly,
LEIGHTON CALKINS.
March 2, 1917. Mayor.

PURIM

Purim, which this year will be celebrated Thursday, March 8th, beginning, however, on Wednesday evening the 7th, is one of the minor holidays of the Jewish calendar. It commemorates the deliverance of the Jews of Persia from the power of Haman, the vizier of King Ahasuerus, who cast lots, or cast lots, the name "Purim" which means "lots"), to determine which month was to be set for the massacre of all the Jews in Persia. Mordecai and his niece Esther becoming aware of the plot succeeded in deposing Haman and in obtaining royal permission for the Jews to attack and master their enemies on the 13th and 14th of Adar. The deliverance of the Jews from the threat of annihilation and their victory over their enemies have ever after been celebrated as the Feast of Purim.

The Feast of Purim never attained as high a degree of spiritual influence as did some of the other festivals. The usual Psalms of praise read on other holidays are omitted on Purim. The one characteristic of the Purim ritual is the reading of the Book of Esther on the evening of the thirteenth day of Adar.

As a folk celebration Purim made up for whatever influence it may have lacked as a religious festival. It was celebrated as a carnivals masks were worn by old and young. Purim plays were given re-enacting the drama of Esther and Haman. In addition to this merry celebration of Purim there arose the custom of giving gifts to the poor. Every Jew, no matter how poor, would give something to someone more needy than himself. And so the day of popular rejoicing was touched with the elevating spirit of benevolence.

Life Is Thus

By WALT MASON, The Poet-Philosopher

The parents rear a winsome maid, whose name, perhaps, is Rose, and feed her pies and marmalade, and buy her furbelows. They educate her year by year, with knowledge store her mind, although the learning graft is dear, and money hard to find. They hope that when they're old and gray, the damsel will be near, to shoo their dotard griefs away, and dry the misty tear. "She'll surely be our rod and staff," they say, "when we old wights are ready for the epitaph, and other last sad rites." But when the maid is seventeen, there comes along a guy, whose car burns up more gasoline than any man should buy. Oh, parents, cut but little grass, when that young man arrives, whose wagon, burning up the gas, puts joy in maidens' lives. Fair Rose is scorching up the road, and hitting hills on high, and in their silent, sad abode, the old folks sit and sigh. All broken are the hopes and plans which in the years have grown; they know that they are also-rans, for youth must have its own. It is the saddest thing I know—the saddest man can find—when children from the homestead go, and never look behind.

They Say

They say that Smithman spends his life in dodging bills he ought to pay. They say that Biffkin beats his wife, and feeds his children bran and hay. They say that Jinx, the dry goods prince, burned down his store, with fell intent. They say that Jasper Julius Quince held up an orphan for a cent. Thus Rumor, with its evil tongue, goes drifting through the busy mart, and baseless, vicious tales are sprung, which wreck your fame and break your heart. The busy scandal-monger cries, "Of course, the yarn may not be true, but still they say that Reuben Wise steals chickens every night or two." Then Reuben, in his native town, becomes a shunned and lonely man; "They Say" has ruined his renown, and made him outcast from his clan. The scandal-monger drifts along, and makes his old acquainted noise: "They say Jane Juice is going wrong—she's much too friendly with the boys." Then Jane from social scenes is missed, in every glance she finds a freeze; "They Say" has barred her from bridge whist, and banned her from the Purple Teas. Old Booze has scattered woe and sin, and broken hearts, along his way; but he plays second violin, I often think, beside "They Say."

Are You Working Yourself Sick?

"You must stop working so hard!" his doctor told him. But he could not stop. The company he worked for was beginning its busy season and he was forced to work overtime, often until late at night. Under the strain he began to lose strength, his energy was sapping away. His digestion became disordered, too, and he was soon in a nervous, rundown condition.

Thousands of men and women at this time of year find themselves in the same condition. To these people malto-ferrin, the tonic, offers wonderful new health and strength. Just a tablespoonful before meals and at bedtime tones up your whole digestion in fine order. Your energy returns and from the beginning you enjoy fine, sound health. Get a bottle of malto-ferrin from your druggist today and build yourself up for the long grind of work before you. Comes in two sizes, fifty cents and one dollar. For sale at the Drug Dept. of the United Cigar Stores Co.

DATES SET FOR VISITING SCHOOLS

Trenton, March 2.—Urging closer co-operation between parents and the schools, Commissioner Calvin N. Kendall has recommended that the period from Monday, March 12, to Friday, March 16, be observed throughout the State as "Visit-the-Schools Week."

"Co-operation between homes and schools is necessary," said Mr. Kendall. "It is well for parents to know the teachers of their children and for the teachers to know the parents of their pupils, so far as the latter may be practicable. If parents visit schools and become acquainted even casually with teachers more cordial relations are likely to exist.

N. P. H. S. NOTES

The building committee of the Board of Education has appointed Charles Wilson, an assistant janitor, to have charge of the large heating plant in the Somerset School.

The Civic League of the Harrison Avenue School is arranging to hold an entertainment some time during this month. A special program of dances will be the feature of the affair.

Supervising Principal D. F. Angust of the schools is nursing a sore finger caused by coming in contact with a circular saw while busy in the manual training department. The injury caused a deep wound that was very painful.

The pioneer of janitors, Richard McDonald, of the borough schools, has just passed his thirty-fifth anniversary on the job. Mr. McDonald became janitor when the first school, a frame structure, was located on Harmony street.

JERSEY RESERVES AT FLYING SCHOOL

An officer and four men of the First Battalion, New Jersey Naval Reserves (home station, U. S. S. Adams, Passaic River, Newark), arrived at the navy aviation school, Pensacola, Fla., this week, where they will be qualified as aviators and returned with a flying machine of the latest type. These men will form the nucleus of the First Battalion Naval Militia Flying Corps, which has a hangar and flying field near Keyport.

OUSTING PRESBYTERIAN PASTOR IS ILLEGAL

Collingswood, March 2.—It has just been discovered that the special commission of the West Jersey Presbytery which recommended the resignation of the Rev. J. N. McDowell, pastor of the Presbyterian church here, several weeks ago, exceeded its authority. As a result the resignation presented by Mr. McDowell at the time was illegal under church laws and cannot be acted upon.

FREEHOLDER APPLEGATE CANDIATE FOR SHERIFF

Freeholder Elias Applegate, of Elizabeth, has announced that he is a candidate next fall for the Republican nomination for sheriff. Mr. Applegate's intentions had been known previously, but this was the first formal statement by him. He was largely instrumental in putting through the county investigation, which was recently concluded, and this, his friends believe, will win him support from independent Republicans, although admittedly he has alienated the support of the organization.

HAS PRIEST RETAINED

Jamesburg, March 2.—Unknown to Rev. Edward Cahill, rector of St. James' Catholic church, who preached last Sunday what he believed would be his farewell sermon here, a committee of his parishioners succeeded in having Bishop McFaul of the Trenton diocese rescind an order for his transfer to Florence, near Bordentown. The committee informed Father Cahill Wednesday night of the success of its effort.

UNFORTUNATE PLIGHT OF MAN AND FAMILY

One of the unfortunate incidents of the war in Europe is the separation of families of men who have come to this country to better their conditions, leaving wife and children behind until a place could be made for them here.

A Russian in one of the Plainfield shops has been here three years, leaving his wife in Odessa. A daughter was born after he came here, whom he has never seen. He has sent money to his wife at frequent intervals, but for some months it has not reached her. He has been surprised to get letters from her asking why he discontinued sending money, when he has been sending it with the usual regularity.

The wife and family are in straitened circumstances, with no one to look to for aid but the husband, and his remittances seem to have been lost.

SUNDAY THE 25TH IS "BOY DAY"

Special to the Courier-News:

Trenton, March 2.—Governor Walter E. Edge has issued his first proclamation since assuming the executive chair, calling upon the people of New Jersey to observe Sunday, March 25, as "Boy Day" in the churches of the State.

The proclamation is pursuant to the agitation for the encouragement of the "Big Brother" movement, which urges, particularly fathers, to take more interest in the affairs of their sons.

RED MEN PLEDGE 500,000 MEMBERS

The Great Council of Red Men of the State has been notified that its national leader, T. H. Jeffries, great incohonee, has pledged the 500,000 members to the service of the country in the event of war. In a letter to President Wilson the leader of the Red Men recalled that the order originated with the Boston tea party in Revolutionary days. Its members, he said, are with the President to a finish.

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Sage Tea and Sulphur Turns Gray, Faded Hair Dark and Glossy

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, for about 50 cents. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Adv.

ENOUGH FOOD HERE FOR WARTIME NEED

Washington, D. C., March 2.—While it is undeniable that the prices of food stuffs to the consumer are at this time high, it has been determined that there is an ample food supply in this country. The Department of Agriculture in Washington, through Assistant Secretary Carl Vrooman, has conducted an independent investigation, the results of which show that there is enough food stuffs produced within the United States to meet wartime need. Mr. Vrooman finds that with the exception of tea, coffee and possibly rice, all the food needed by the people of the United States is produced in more than sufficient quantities in this country. This is true of all necessaries and tea and coffee are classed as luxuries.

The experts of the Agricultural Department have compiled figures showing that more than 11,000,000 tons of meat are produced here annually and about 20,000 tons imported. The imports come chiefly from Argentina, Canada and Australia. The production of corn, wheat and rice averages annually about 4,000,000,000 bushels; the imports being about 5,000,000 bushels of corn, 6,000,000 bushels of wheat and 2,500,000,000 pounds of rice. Wheat and white potatoes total 450,000,000 bushels, while only 200,000 bushels are imported. Mr. Vrooman says that this country produces slightly over two billion pounds of sugar and imports five and a half billion pounds—cost entirely from Cuba; seven and a half billion gallons of milk and imports only a small quantity in condensed form, most of it from Canada. American fish are put on the market to an aggregate of one billion pounds annually; butter, two billion pounds; eggs, two billion dozen. It would take a very successful invasion on the part of any foreign power, or to give the Government cause for worry so far as the food supply of the United States is concerned.

Commercial Problems Growing Out of War Conditions

A Non-Technical Explanation of the Big Questions Confronting Business Men at This Time

By SAMUEL WANT

How A Condition Of War May Be Begun.

What constitutes an "Overt Act" within the expressed determination of our Government to take the necessary and appropriate measures called for by the exigencies of the situation is strictly a matter of interpretation on the part of the President.

The essential point is that the country is not committed absolutely to a final declaration of war in such event.

There are acts of hostility generally termed "measures short of war," and technically designated as "reprisal" and "retaliation," which are sometimes resorted to preliminarily as a last attempt to avert war. Among such measures might be mentioned the following:

1. Meeting the detention of American citizens, or American sailors not engaged in the military service of the Allies, by imprisoning German sailors within our borders and interning German citizens residing here.

2. Cancelling all treaties between the two countries, with the consequent disastrous effects upon German interests which depend upon our patent, copyright and other statutes for protection.

3. Meeting the illegal destruction of American vessels by destroying German owned vessels located in this country.

Should this government construe some act of the Germans as warranting the entrance of this country into the war, it is not certain that a formal declaration of war will be made. The responsibility for this might be thrown upon Germany by adopting certain measures which in themselves amount to acts of war, or which will constitute such if resisted and enforced against the Germans. Among these may be mentioned:

1. The arming of merchant vessels under governmental authority.

2. Convoying merchant vessels through the "barred area."

3. Condemning as prize German merchant vessels, raiders, or war vessels which touch at our ports for proper purposes under the rules of International Law.

WILSON GIVEN PARTIAL POWER

House, Stirred by Plot Expose, Votes Armed Ships.

SENATE WILL ACT TODAY.

Measure Not Fully Satisfactory to President and Stronger Move Likely. Mexico and Japan Exonerated by Lansing in German Alliance Plot After President Assures Senate Zimmermann Note Is Authentic—More Intrigues Likely to Be Bared.

Washington, March 2.—Gradually the full scope of the German effort to involve the United States with Japan, Mexico and all Central America is becoming apparent, and an amazing tangle of international intrigue is stirring Washington to its official depths.

Authority to arm American ships and protect American rights at sea is vested in President Wilson in a bill passed by the house by a vote of 403 to 13. It was passed after an all day debate, in which the house aired its patriotism.

The measure is far from satisfactory to the president, and administration leaders will endeavor to have it amended before it is finally enacted into law to confer upon the president all the powers to meet the international situation which he requested. The house voted down all efforts to alter the bill, defeating proposals to prevent the injection of ships carrying munitions to European belligerents.

Formal affirmation by Secretary of State Lansing and President Wilson of the authenticity of the German communication proposing a German-Mexican-Japanese alliance to make war on the United States was followed by developments which demonstrated that the German efforts extended to practically all of the Central American nations. While the president and his advisers said the revelation of the plot had defeated it, it was clear that vigorous steps to meet the situation in Mexico and other American nations had been taken.

A resolution calling on President Wilson for all information as to the German-Japanese-Mexican alliance proposed in a note from German Foreign Minister Zimmerman to German Ambassador von Eckhardt at Mexico City was passed by the senate.

The resolution, a compromise measure introduced after an all day bitter debate, would ask the president for all information as to the intrigue "not incompatible with the public interest."

U. S. Has Full Evidence.

That evidence is in the possession of the United States establishing the identities of the Germans who are proposing a German-Japanese-Mexican alliance against the United States was the statement forwarded to the senate by President Wilson. The president, in response to the senate resolution, transmitted to the senate a report by Secretary of State Lansing verifying the published text of the note and saying that the note itself was in the possession of the government.

The secretary of state said that to furnish any further information as to the matter "at the present time" would be incompatible with the public interest.

The president and his advisers took the position that the unearthing of the German intrigue had resulted in concentrating the support of the entire country behind the president in the present international crisis. They like-wise believed that it would result in drawing closer together the United States and Mexico and the United States and Japan following the repudiation of the plot by both of these countries.

It has become known that the administration has taken steps to meet possible effect of German intrigue in Cuba. Despite refusal of the state department to discuss the Cuban situation, it was known that the present revolt against the Cuban government has been the source of grave anxiety. The navy department has at the instance of the state department landed American sailors in several Cuban ports, largely at Santiago, the center of the revolutionary activities. While it was stated that the disturbance in Cuba was quieting it was known that plans are working out that will place a large force of American marines and sailors at the points of a possible renewal of the outbreak.

Carranza Exonerated.

As to Mexico, the state department promptly forwarded to the Carranza government a full account of the plot revelations. The account of the intrigue went to the Japanese government. The department exonerated both of these governments of any complicity in the plot, and it was made clear that the alliance proposal was never presented to Carranza as the head of the Mexican government.

On the contrary, the steps taken by German Minister von Eckhardt at Mexico City, it became known, were directed toward enlisting the support of influential men inimical to the Carranza regime. It was stated that the plot contemplated the overthrow of the present de facto government in Mexico in the event of war between the United States and Germany.

Japanese Ambassador Sato, declaring he spoke "authoritatively" for his government, indignantly repudiated the plot and said "Germany was much mistaken" if she thought she could enroll Japan and the United States Mexican Charge d'Affaires De Negri also issued a denial, declaring he would have an official repudiation from the Carranza government later.

Administration officials at both White House and state department said the revelation of the German intrigue had in no way changed the plans of the president for dealing with the international situation. It was stated the president will await the action of congress on his request for full and complete authority to protect American ships and that when the action has been taken he will proceed to arm American vessels. The navy department has made all arrangements for putting the guns aboard vessels starting for the war zone.

Kept Sources Secret.

How far the administration would go in making clear further details of the German intrigues officials would not say. Secretary Lansing said that, to divulge the source of the information or to make it public in all details could not be done "for fear of endangering the lives of our informants."

It was understood that the secretary also took up with the president the question of what action should be taken as to the Mexican situation. The secretary expressed confidence that Mexico would not "be a party to such a plot." It was understood that clear and definite action had been taken and that a communication was on its way to Mexico City, outlining the plot charges and requesting information as to the attitude of the Carranza government.

The president also conferred with Secretary of War Baker, and, while the subject of the talk was kept secret, it was believed that they went over Mexican border conditions and that they discussed the disposition of the regular army and the arrangements for coast defense.

The statement that the plot note from Berlin to Minister von Eckhardt was transmitted through former Ambassador von Bernstorff in Washington led to the belief that the administration has available a mass of information as to German activities not only in neighboring countries, but in the United States itself.

Through a fervid torrent of patriotic oratory Democratic house leaders drove the bill designed to authorize President Wilson to protect American lives at sea through its first stage toward the statute books. Scores of members in declamatory speeches announced their support of the president with fervent hope that he would be able to preserve peace.

With the armed neutrality bill sidetracked in the senate by debate over the German Japanese-Mexican plot revelations the house leaders took the initiative. They brought forward the bill prepared by the foreign affairs committee, and the house unanimously adopted a special ruling limiting debate on the measure to three hours.

URGES MOSQUITO WAR.

Pests Can Be Exterminated in Six Years, Entomologist Says.

Ocean City, March 2.—State Entomologist Headlee at a meeting of the Cape May county Chamber of Commerce urged the members to get behind the movement to exterminate mosquitoes. It will require $600,000 to dig ditches in the remaining marsh land of the state. The work could be done within five or six years by making convicts do the labor, and the seashore resorts could advertise a mosquitoless pleasure ground.

WILDWOOD YOUTH MISSING.

Wildwood, March 2.—Fears are entertained for the safety of George Noble Pickering, nineteen years old, son of David B. Pickering, a resident of this resort.

Young Pickering has been missing since Jan. 8. He was working for the Quaker Lace company at Twenty-second street and Lehigh avenue, Philadelphia, and left his home at 2039 Silver street for work as usual on that day. This was the last seen of him.

At the time he wore a dark suit, light slouch hat and russet shoes. He is six feet one inch in height and has dark hair. His mother has been ill since he failed to return.

Easy Way to Get Rid of Itching

Don't worry any more about that itching skin-trouble. Just get a jar of resinol ointment and a cake of resinol soap at any drug store.

With the resinol soap and warm water bathe the affected parts thoroughly, until they are free from crusts and the skin is softened. Dry very gently, spread on a thin layer of the resinol ointment, and cover with a light bandage. If necessary to protect the clothing. This should be done twice a day. Usually the distressing itching and burning stop with the first treatment, and the skin soon becomes clear and healthy again.

Choosing Your Shampoo Soap

If you select a soap that contains soothing, healing properties like the resinol balsams in resinol soap, you are not likely to have trouble with dandruff, loss of hair or itching scalp. Ideal for the youngsters' heads.

EDGE SOUNDS 'AFTER WAR' CALL

Jersey Governor Urges Co-operation With New York.

ADVOCATES A TRAFFIC TUBE.

Tells Chamber of Commerce Both States Should Work Together to Develop Harbor For Huge Export Trade That Will Follow Re-establishment of Peace—Calls Port National Institution.

New York, March 2.—Governor Walter E. Edge of New Jersey, at a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York, sounded a call for closer co-operation between New York and New Jersey in developing the port of New York.

The appointment of a commission like that in charge of the Interstate park would co-ordinate efforts to prepare the port for its "export age" coming after the war, he said, and would do away with "inefficient rivalry."

With closer relations established, Governor Edge foresaw the speedy completion of a traffic tunnel under the Hudson and the obliteration of state and county lines when the welfare of the port of New York was in question. New York harbor, he said, was a national institution.

Quit Swaddling Clothes.

"We cannot grow," he said, "while tightly bandaged in the swaddling clothes of provincialism."

"I believe that a joint commission should be appointed by the two states to prepare a plan for lightening the burdens in New York harbor, outlining the benefits to as well as the duties of the two states.

"The railroads are under tremendous expense largely by reason of their individual terminal operations at New York. I believe that such a joint commission, composed of representatives of the carriers, both land and water, and of the states, would serve a most valuable national purpose."

Comptroller Prendergast, responding for New York, said there was no doubt of the cooperation of the present administration in any plan that would benefit the port.

"Great public improvements are always hampered by the inertia of the public," he declared, "and it is necessary to overcome this lack of interest before definite steps can be undertaken. Such co-operation as that advocated by Governor Edge is necessary, if for no other reason to bring about a proper distribution of industries and labor and to help in solving the immigration problem."

Resolutions calling for a federal investigation to discover what steps should be taken to conserve raw materials in preparation for the after war trade brought a vigorous protest from J. Howard Cowperthwait. What was more necessary, he said, was to facilitate the manufacture of war materials.

Embargo Is Feared.

"If a congressional committee should reach a conclusion," he said, "it is most likely it would be one recommending an embargo on the shipment of war materials. Such a step would be to the interest of Germany and against the interest of England and France.

"If you are a German sympathizer vote for the resolution, and if you want the interests of America protected and the interests of our allies safeguarded vote against the resolution," he said.

Notwithstanding Mr. Cowperthwait's argument the resolutions were adopted. Another set, however, calling for "a flexible bargaining tariff" to protect the United States against foreign discrimination was tabled. It was thought that the interjection of tariff discussions into congress at such a critical juncture in national affairs would not be wise.

Another resolution adopted favored the establishment of a state constabulary force. Resolutions also were adopted opposing the mandatory features of the bill providing for public forums in schoolhouses and advocating the removal of the exemption from jury service that now attaches to members of the sheriff's panel.

CIVIL SERVICE GUARDED.

Bill Says No Single Commissioner May Discharge Employes.

Atlantic City, March 2.—Reports telling of the passage in the house of a bill by Assemblyman Parsons at Atlantic taking from any one commissioner in a commission governed city the power to discharge an employee protected by civil service, surprised city commissioners.

Officials expressed the belief that the Police Benefit association is back of the bill, which nullifies an act passed last year giving the director of public safety dismissal authority.

SIX MORE SHIPS PREY OF GERMAN SEA WARFARE.

New York, March 2.—Six vessels, three of them British, one French, one Norwegian and the sixth Belgian, were reported to have fallen prey to unrestricted U-boat warfare. Their aggregate tonnage was 8,863.

This brings the grand total for twenty-nine days of unlimited submarine warfare up to 195 ships, with 466,863 tons.

According to the police, the young men have confessed, and with the greater part of the metal recovered, the authorities feel that the affair is closed except as to the criminal proceedings against the three men now held for the grand jury. The stolen property was a part of the Unionist-Gazette Association and was taken, it is alleged, from an iron-bound box which had been deposited in the upper hallway of the Somerset Hall building.

Officer Robert Holmes was commended by Chief Bellis for his good work in the case. Policeman Holmes took into custody both Rooney and Winsor. The former, it is said, had expected to leave for Baltimore Wednesday afternoon about five minutes after the marshal arrived at his home.

FOOD RIOT FAILED TO MATERIALIZE

Quite a little excitement was caused in this town shortly after one o'clock yesterday afternoon by the report that a number of the women who are said to be responsible for the food stuff riots in New York had come to this town and were planning to enter all the stores on Broad street and pour oil on onions and other articles of food and burn them. The report emanated from some of the New York papers who called up newspaper representatives and Chief of Police Rosecrans to make inquiries about it.

The officers at the police station as well as the Chief were kept busy answering inquiries that were asked by the citizens. The Chief had no inkling that such a thing was to happen, but in order to be on the safe side he broke an engagement which he had made in Newark, it being his wish to be easily reached. There was no such thing happened and the only thing that gets the best of the citizens of the town is where the report started that the women were coming here.

VIRGINIA CARTER LEE

In connection with this department Miss Lee will gladly answer any inquiry relative to domestic affairs, a stamped envelope being necessary for a personal reply. Address care of Courier-News.

In these days, when domestic science is being recognized as a real art, it is well for the thoughtful housekeeper to stop and consider how, other things being equal, the scientific cook possesses an advantage over the unskilled one.

The scientific cook understands, at the outset, that all foods, of whatever origin, are made up of definite constituents, known as food principles. Of these, the most important are the nitrogenous foods (known as proteins), the fats and the carbohydrates or starches. Each article of food has a predominance of one of these food principles, which must be considered in the cooking.

Starches are rendered more soluble, hence more digestible (for in such case solubility means digestibility), by cooking at a moderate temperature. A high temperature is employed when it is desired to change the starch to dextrine, as in the crust of bread or making toast.

Fats are decomposed at very high temperature and their products, the fatty acids, are quite indigestible. Fat in its natural condition is easily digested. Of the nitrogenous foods, the albumin present in all animal and vegetable organisms are more digestible in their normal state. However, it is often necessary to cook them to render them palatable. Examples of these albuminous foods are white of egg, casein of milk and gluten of wheat.

It is the cook's duty to ascertain which of the food principles predominates in the article to be cooked. This is a simple matter for the girl or woman who is conversant with the natural sciences. For example, take the cereals that are so generally used for breakfast. Any one who has studied plants has learned that the grains from which these foods are prepared are composed largely of starch and cellulose, the latter being a woody fiber, with which you are all familiar in the covering of the grain kernel.

Cellulose is never digestible in any form, but it is rendered more palatable by long, slow cooking. Knowing these facts, the scientific cook decides that the proper steps to take are to dilate the starch, thus rendering it more soluble and at the same time softening the cellulose.

It, therefore, takes but a small amount of reasoning on the part of the scientific cook to decide that this shall be accomplished by long, slow cooking. She next gives attention to the form of the cereal preparation, for if the cellulose is removed, it is necessary to provide a medium in which the starch grains are separated, in order that they may be properly cooked on all sides, otherwise there is lumping caused by massing together of the grains of starch and only cooking the outside of the mass. If the cellulose covering protects the starch grains from the solvent, it also separates them, but a longer time is required for the cooking.

How does the scientific cook know these things? She has learned the principles of solvents in her study of chemistry. The same science has taught her the law of definite proportions. Knowing these few simple principles, she is ready to cook any cereal preparation which may be given her so as to present the best food values.

We often hear the remark made by some woman that she "cannot boil potatoes." The truth is, that few cooks prepare this dish properly. The woman who understands science knows that the potatoes do not really boil. The water boils and the heat conveyed by this medium cooks the starch and softens the cellulose of the vegetable.

Physics has taught her, that under ordinary pressure, water never becomes any warmer after the boiling point is reached (212 degrees Fahrenheit, 100 degrees Centigrade). Therefore, she allows the water to remain at boiling temperature until the heat has penetrated and cooked the potatoes. By draining at once, she has a mealy, flaky vegetable.

True, without her knowledge of science, she might obtain the same results accidentally. But she is quite as likely to continue the cooking until the starch is partly dextrinized and a gumy, sticky potato results.

The unscientific cook is also quite likely to endeavor to hasten the cooking process by adding fuel to the fire, thus causing violent boiling, believing that she is thus obtaining her object. She may cause the vegetable to break by the mechanical action of the water, or the liquid may splash over on the stove, or pass off in steam, but in no case is the cooking accomplished in less time.

Thus a knowledge of the simple laws of physics prevents a waste of fuel, which is a point in economy well worth considering.

BENNY'S MAGIC BAG—Part I

Once upon a time there lived a poor cobbler with three sons. It was hard to get along when the father was well, for the two older boys were very lazy; but when the father fell sick and died, the family almost starved, for not a soul would do any work except the youngest son, Ben.

After the father was buried the three lads sat together in the bare rooms gazing hopelessly at the dull walls and the shabby, broken furniture.

"I am not going to remain in this place; there is nothing here to live on," muttered the oldest one. "But I see father left a good suit of clothing. I will take that as my share."

"I guess I had better go away, too," grumbled the second son. "This old cottage and the patch of ground are worth nothing. I see that father left his old watch. I guess I will take that for my share." And with that the second son seized the timepiece, which hung on the head of the bed, and set out down the road.

"If you can find anything around the house you are welcome to it," said the oldest as he arose to follow the brother down the road. "But I see nothing here except this old bag. You can have this, Benny." And as he spoke he tossed into the youngest son's face a tattered brown bag which had always hung on a nail in the attic.

Benny sat still for a long time. He was fond of his father, and as he gazed about the lonely house his eyes filled with tears. He cared nothing for what had been left. His heart ached only for the poor, hard-working man who had had little kindness from his two eldest sons. It began to grow dark. The fire went out and the moonlight was the only means by which the weary lad could see.

Tired out, Benny placed the bag on a cot and lay down, but he was too hungry to sleep. He searched the cupboard, yet there was not a crumb of bread on the shelves. The greedy brothers had eaten every slice and left Benny nothing.

"My, but I wish I had some supper," said Benny aloud as he lay down again as hungry as ever.

Hardly had he gotten the words out of his mouth before there was a noise in the room and he saw the outline of a genii form out of a gray mist right before his eyes. In the hands of the figure was a large tray of gold, and on it were smoking dishes of meat, vegetables and pies of different kinds. The genii set the tray on the table and bowed. Benny was too frightened to speak.

"Has my master any other wish?" asked the spirit.

"No," stammered the boy, "only I would like to know who you are and why you have brought me this feast."

"I am the genii of that bag which your family has ever regarded as worthless," explained the spirit. "It is a magic bag bought 100 years ago in Bagdad by your great-great-grandfather, but as he died before he reached home no one of those who received his goods ever knew the secret of the bag. It has the power of granting to its owner three wishes. You have had one, and two remain. After your third wish it will vanish to its old home in the mountains of India."

As Benny was not greedy, he did not wish to use the rest of the gifts till he could decide on something very useful, but he sold the golden dishes and bought himself a comfortable home. Here he lived alone till one day he saw a terrible sight. Down the road came a troop of soldiers firing at a great griffin that floated along before them, breathing fire from its great nostrils and shutting out the country in clouds of smoke.

"It is our Princess, it is Princess Adele," shouted the soldiers as they caught sight of Benny's puzzled and frightened face. "The horrible Jabbiejote has seized her and is bearing her away to his deep, dark den in the rocks. Join us and try to save your King's daughter."

Benny could see that in his claws the griffin held the beautiful but unconscious form of the Princess. While he stood gazing the terrible creature rose with a roar, circled high above the trees, then sped like lightning away till he vanished in the dim blue at the edge of the sea.

Benny awakened as if from a trance. Running into the house, he seized the brown bag and exclaimed: "I wish I were now outside the griffin's cave and that you were still with me."

In another moment Benny was racing through the air astride of the bag; then he fell with a gentle thud just outside of the yawning black hole which was the griffin's den. Coming toward him was the creature himself, snorting flames and bellowing with rage. Benny took the bag under his arm and hid behind a rock.

WEEKLY NOTES FROM W. C. T. U.

In the Senate amendments to the postal appropriation bill were agreed to, which would make every prohibition State "bone-dry."

Indiana's prohibition law—one of the strictest ever enacted in any State—was quickly followed by action in both Houses of Congress.

Almost every week the long fight for a "dry" United States moves forward. The past few days have shown more than usual progress toward prohibition.

One amendment excludes from the mails all newspapers or other publications if they contain advertisements of liquors and are addressed to "dry" territory. Publishers of such papers are made subject to heavy fines.

More than that, it is made unlawful to send by mail any letter, postcard, circular or other matter advertising liquors or soliciting orders for them if such mail is addressed to any State or to any portion of any State or territory where the liquor business is unlawful.

In the House the judiciary committee reported the prohibition amendment to the Federal Constitution and recommended its passage. This gave great encouragement to the "drys" although they realized that the matter could hardly come to action in the Senate at this session.

ONE JERSEYMAN VOTED FOR DRY DISTRICT

Of the twelve Jerseymen in Congress only one, Hon. E. J. Hutchinson, of Trenton, voted for the Sheppard bill for limited prohibition in the District of Columbia. Mr. Hutchinson is not only a pacificist, but also a prohibitionist.

The nays were Bacharach, Browning, Scully, Capstick, Hart, Hamill, Drukker, Gray, Parker, Lehlbach and Eagle.

None of the Jerseymen engaged in the rough and tumble debate, but they were none too less stoutly against depriving the national capital of its opportunities to get its liquor when and where it desired. The bill would never have passed if the Jerseymen had their way.

Jersey City, March 2.—Miss Anna Murphy, of 208 Ninth street, was awarded $500 Wednesday night by a jury which heard her suit against the Public Service Railway Company in the Circuit Court. The young woman, it was testified, was alighting from a trolley car at Washington and Ferry streets, Hoboken, December 17, 1915, when her dress caught in the vestibule door, which had been quickly closed. She was thrown to the ground and injured. The company alleged negligence on the part of Miss Murphy, who sued for $10,000.

EMBARGO IS LIFTED

Special to Courier-News:

Boston, March 2.—The embargo on the New Haven road was lifted somewhat yesterday to allow foodstuffs and perishable freight to be accepted from the Central, Vermont and Albany. The conditions all over the system has improved greatly during the past week, and, it is believed that it will not be long before the necessity of any embargo will have disappeared.

MRS. FRANK E. HARRIS

The wife of an American soldier is expected to be a heroine when colonial artists and Mrs. Harris rose to the occasion when the Lazonia sank. She was cool and of great assistance in helping others and was the last woman to leave the ship. Her husband is Lieutenant Colonel Frank E. Harris, coast artillery corps, commandant at Fort Du Pont, Delaware. Mrs. Harris was on her way to be a Red Cross nurse in England.

QUEEN WILHELMINA.

She Is Criticised For Skating During Crisis.

It is difficult for even a young and patriotic queen to please some people. Two days after the U-boat unlimited decree became effective Queen Wilhelmina attended a skating carnival. Thereupon some members of parliament criticised her—unofficially—saying in these perilous times a queen should not be thinking of amusement. It's hard being a queen these days.

SUFFRAGE RAINBOW TO ENCIRCLE WHITE HOUSE MARCH 4

(By United Press)

Washington, March 2.—A suffrage rainbow will encircle the White House on next Sunday. Flying the purple, white and gold colors of the Congressional Union, a thousand banners will flash this message to President Wilson—"Help women secure political liberty." Borne by a silent but determined army of women whose lines will completely surround the White House grounds, they will make woman suffrage the first subject of importance to be called to the President's attention at the beginning of his new administration.

Every state in the union will be represented in the huge human cordon that the progressive suffrage leaders have planned as the climax of their campaign to visualize to the President the nation-wide demand for woman's enfranchisement. Doctors, lawyers, nurses, business women, factory employes, wage earners from every rank of life—will be on duty that day at the White House gates. Pacifists and militarists alike, they will join forces to urge the passage of the federal suffrage amendment.

DUSTIN FARNUM AND ETHEL CLAYTON AT PROCTOR'S

At Proctor's today

"The Bondage of Fear," one of the big productions, appears at Proctor's today with Miss Ethel Clayton in the leading role assisted by a very able cast including Rockliffe Fellowes, Arthur Ashley and John Bowers. The other attraction at Proctor's today is "The Parson of Panamint" in which Dustin Farnum is cast in the leading role. With a fighting, big-hearted Dustin Farnum in the title role the setting, a real desert mining town, and the types and characters chosen after a lengthy elimination—all these attributes are welded together into the finished product of a great picture.

Tomorrow's program includes two big five-part productions and a special comedy for the kiddies. A love story that lingers in the heart is "The Sunbeam," one of the pictures in which Mabel Taliaferro is the leading character, and "The Big Sister" in which Mae Murray stars. The comedy is a cartoon creation entitled "Jerry on the Job."

On Monday Marie Dressler appears in a new five-part comedy entitled "Tillie Wakes Up," and "Heart Strings," starring Allen Holubar and Maude George. Mrs. Vernon Castle is also seen in "Patria," this serial appearing at Proctor's every Monday and Tuesday.

On Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday Thomas H. Ince's Civilization will have a farewell engagement at Proctor's.

GOLDEN CROOK COMPANY COMES HERE MONDAY

Keeping up the pace of presenting only the best that the field of burlesque affords, Manager Shannon, of the Plainfield Theatre, announces as his attraction for Monday, matinee and night, March 5th, the internationally famous "Golden Crook Company." The production represents an outlay of a snug fortune and is filled with entrancing musical numbers with a selected cast of principals and a chorus of twenty-eight girls, who have won distinction in their respective realms.

The chorus is an adjunct of grace and beauty, the twenty-eight or more comely girls having been selected because of their attractiveness and ability to wear effective costumes.

A novelty will be the introduction of a French Ballet, interpreted by a score of talented young dancing girls who are said to give an exhibition of terpsichorean skill quite as remarkable and equal to the ballets of Grand Opera.

VAUDEVILLE BILL AT THE PLAINFIELD THEATRE

"Dixie," the educated mule, is only one of the attractions at the Plainfield Theatre for today and tomorrow, the others that are also successful entertainers are Hazel Hanlon & Co. in a comedy sketch; Martell and Bonhill in a singing and talking number; Conrad and Connolly in a musical offering, and Margaret McBride, late star with Richard Carle Company, with a number of her latest song successes.

One of the three remaining episodes of "Pearl of the Army" is also included in the program for today's performances and the latest release of Hearst-Pathe News, showing current events all over the world, and Mutual comedies will round out the bill.

NEW YORK AMUSEMENTS

At the Strand

A triple feature program will be presented at the Strand Theatre. Mary Pickford will be seen in a photo-dramatic adaptation of Elaihor Gate's charming play "A Poor Little Rich Girl." Captivating "Little Mary" plays the title role, of course, and she has been given more opportunities to display her charming personality and artistic abilities than in any other production in which she has ever appeared. It is said, in fact that "A Poor Little Rich Girl" is the very best Mary Pickford picture ever shown on the screen. The second installment of the wonderful Prizma pictures in natural colors will also be shown. The subject this week is "Uncle Sam's Troops On The Mexican Border." It is said that the colors in these scenes are so realistic that they do not seem like pictures at all. Victor Moore, the popular American comedian, will be seen in a new farce-comedy entitled "Flivering." Another picture of special interest is an educational study showing intimate views of a Sea Lion Rookery in the Northern Pacific. The Strand Topical Review contains the latest American and European news pictures.

At the Columbia

"Stolen Sweets," a burlesque in two acts will be presented by the Midnight Maidens company at the Columbia Theatre the week beginning Monday afternoon, March 5. It is announced that incorporated in the story there is the short skit called "A Night in an English Music Hall" in which Charlie Chaplin made his first American success before motion pictures were known. This little playlet is presented in a scene that represents the stage of a theatre showing the boxes with their occupants and the improvised footlights behind which the performance is given. The character of the inebriated swell, formerly played by Mr. Chaplin, will be performed by Harry Hearn, an English comedian, who was chosen for the fidelity of his appearance and mannerisms to the famous film star. In addition to this striking feature, the performance includes specialties by Grace King who sings and accompanies herself on the cello; a dancing specialty by Bobby Williams and Irene Blaney; an act called High Balls and Chaplain Bumps, by Fern, Bigelow and Meehan; a singing and dancing turn by Hanscom and Vernon and an elaborately arranged feature called Surprise a la Minute in which the members of the chorus led by Laura May appear. Pani, a Japanese midget, thirty-eight inches high, is announced among the show's attractions.

CHAUNCEY OLCOTT HERE TUESDAY NIGHT NEXT

The best play that Chauncey Olcott has ever been given is "The Heart of Paddy Whack," which that noted player will present at Plainfield Theatre next Tuesday night, March 6. The play was written for Mr. Olcott introducing a number of quaint characters, some of more than ordinary dramatic strength and all contributing a large quota to the fund of entertainment. The middle-aged guardian of the lonely Mona is resolved to renounce her because he feels he is too old to claim her. She asks what his thoughts of her are and he replies: "I feel that I want you to know all joy and happiness. I want you to love much and be loved by a good man. I want you to live so that Ireland will be the better for your living and I want to be such a friend to you that you know my love is satisfied in your happiness."

COL. W. BARBOUR DIES IN HIS AUTO

Head of Great Thread Company Stricken After Work.

New York, March 2.—At the close of his day's work at the head of one of the largest linen thread manufacturing concerns in the world Colonel William Barbour slipped to the floor of his limousine in New York and died.

He was a multimillionaire, an eminent high tariff Republican and a power in many great financial institutions, once president of the American Protective league. His home was at 51 West Fifty-third street, and his office as president of the linen thread company was at 96 Franklin street.

Colonel Barbour was fifty-nine years old, a man of powerful physique and a prodigious worker. His large and varied business interests made it necessary for him to keep in close touch with the fluctuations of finance. Recent spasmodic developments arising from the international crisis had engaged his close attention.

His death, almost in harness, came as a highly dramatic end to a conspicuously successful career. When he emerged from his office, shortly after 4 o'clock, his chauffeur noticed that he was not looking well. Now and again as the luxurious limousine bowled uptown he glanced back through the window to see that his employer was all right. He saw that the colonel sat very still and relaxed, as though wearied.

A traffic blockade at Nineteenth street and Broadway permitted the chauffeur to take one more look into the car. This time he was startled to see that Colonel Barbour had slipped to the floor dead.

Among his many business interests Colonel Barbour was president of the Barbour Bros. company, the Paterson (N. J.) Electric company and the Trust Company of America. He was a director in the American Cotton Oil company, Citizens' Insurance company, Hanover National bank, Manhattan Typewriter company, National Bank of the Republic, Safety Car Heating and Lighting company, Standard Coupler company, Standard Rope and Twine company and United States Shoe Machinery company.

While a native and resident of New York, many of his business and political interests were centered in New Jersey.

BRITISH WILL SOON OCCUPY BAPAUME

Germans Ready to Retire to New Positions.

London, March 2.—The occupation of Bapaume by the British is imminent. Unofficial reports from Paris state that the Germans have already withdrawn from the town to new positions running parallel with the road from Bapaume to Peronne. Only heavy guns mounted on rails remain, ready to move to the rear when the British advance, dealing death as they go. Every piece of fortified work has been systematically destroyed, according to the reports.

This report bears out the assertion in the official report issued by Berlin that advance positions on both sides of the Ancre has been voluntarily and systematically evacuated. The report adds that after a strong artillery fire the British attacked near Le Transloy and Sailly, but failed to gain success at either place.

Paris reported encounters between French and German patrols in the Argonne and east of Metzeral, Alsace, in which several German prisoners were taken.

The Turks in Mesopotamia, according to information given out in the house of commons, are fleeing in disorder toward Bagdad. More than 2,000 prisoners had been taken by the British since Feb. 24. On the other fronts there was only minor activity.

DIES SAVING BROTHER.

Girl Run Down as She Pushes Him From Path of Train.

Paterson, N. J., March 2.—Anna Martin, fourteen years old, a schoolgirl, gave up her life to save that of her ten-year-old brother, William, who had walked almost directly in front of an Erie railroad train at the Madison avenue crossing.

The children were returning from school and had to cross the tracks to get to their home. As they reached the crossing over, not knowing that a train was approaching. The girl called to him to "look out" and then darted after him to push him out of the way. She got directly in the path of the train and was thrown high in the air and killed.

A Simple Remedy.

Whatever the cause, we want to say to every person who needs strength, you need Vinol, as it is the most efficient strength creator we have in our store. Here is proof from Dorchester, Mass.:—

"I don't know what we would do without Vinol in our family. I was weak, nervous and run-down as the result of an operation, and Vinol restored my strength. Then Grandmother had a nervous breakdown, and Vinol built her up and restored her health and strength after everything else had failed. We have used Vinol for 13 years in our family, and would not be without it in the house." Myrtle L. Healy, Dorchester, Mass.

We believe in Vinol because we know it is a great strength creator,—due to the beef and cod liver peptones, iron and manganese peptonates and glycerophosphates, all dissolved in a pure medicinal wine, so we always return the purchase money if Vinol fails to benefit those who buy it.

ADOPT PAPER PRICE SOON.

Publishers Look For About $2.50 For International Product.

Washington, March 2.—News print paper manufacturers who want the Federal Trade Commission to fix prices for their products presented further cost figures to the commission. Jobbers will be heard today. It is believed the commission will name a price by Saturday.

Publishers are of the opinion that the commission will fix a maximum rate of $2.50 or $2.60 a hundred pounds for the International Paper company's product. There has been no announcement whether the same price will be set for all mills or whether prices will be based on cost of production.

Baldwin Workers Laid Off.

Philadelphia, March 2.—Eighteen hundred men employed by the Baldwin Locomotive works in making thirteen inch shells for the entente allies have been laid off because of completed contracts, according to an announcement by the company. Within the next six months other foreign contracts for war munitions will have been completed.

THE HEAVENS IN MARCH

Saturn still visible in the Constellation of the Twins—His very slight movement relative to the neighboring stars illustrative of the phenomenon of the retrograde motion of the planets. Constellation of Crater, the Cup, far down on the southeastern horizon.

By C. S. Brainin of the Columbia University Observatory staff.

The March map can show us but one of the brighter planets, Saturn, which still occupies a place in the constellation of the Twins very nearly on the continuation of a straight line joining the brighter luminaries of this group, Castor and Pollux. Castor is the star nearest the north pole, Pollux is next and Saturn is furthest south. To the casual observer it may seem that Saturn has kept absolutely the same position among the stars for the past few months, but a more careful person will have noticed a very slight movement relative to the neighboring stars, and this month a particularly interesting phenomenon in this connection can be observed. It is the changing of the apparent motion of the plant among the stars from "retrograde" or backward motion to "direct" or forward motion; but these technical astronomical terms require explanation, and they admit of one in simple language.

The Retrograde Motion of the Planets

The motions of the planets in the heavens may be divided into two classes. First, the apparent motion due to the daily rotation of the earth on its axis, and, second, the motions seen by us which are due to the true movement of the planet itself in its orbit around the sun. The first of these produces the rising and setting of the planets, as well as of all the other heavenly bodies, giving them an apparent motion from east to west. This apparent motion has no tendency whatsoever to change the planet's position with reference to the neighboring stars, as they all partake of this movement in the same degree. It is the other source of motion that we are interested in now.

Every planet passes around the sun in its orbit in the same direction of rotation, which is from west to east. The earth has this motion in common with all the other members of the sun's family. This would naturally tend to make us see in the planet's motion through the celestial sphere a continuous west-to-east progress. If the planet in question is seen near a certain star, Regulus, for example, at nine o'clock on any night, the next night or after an interval large enough to make its motion visible to the eye we should find it to the east of the star Regulus. This would be invariably true if the earth itself were stationary, but as a matter of fact the thing that determines the position of the planet in the heavens is not only its true position in its own orbit but also the position of the earth. The positions of both or the "sight line" from the earth to the planet makes us see the latter projected on the black background of the sky at a particular point, just as the house or part of a house that you see a lamp-post projected against depends upon not only the exact location of the post itself but also upon that of the pedestrian, and changes as the latter moves.

This sight line, then, has both its *ends in motion, and the exact direc*tion it will point depends upon the relative motions and speeds of the earth and the planet under observation. The speeds with which the planets move in their orbits depend upon their distance from the sun; the further out they are the slower they move. Saturn, therefore, moves slower than Earth and, though the usual motion of the planet through the sky is, as it ought to be, from west to east, sometimes the earth seems to get ahead of the outer planet in such a way as to make Saturn move among the stars in the opposite or retrograde direction. Later the motion becomes direct again, and between the two the planet seems to stop and remain stationary. Saturn will be thus stationary on March 25.

The Fixed Stars

Far down on the southeastern horizon has risen the constelation of Crater, the Cup, the Goblet of the god Apollo. In the east the Virgin stretches her great length across the horizon; this constellation is the home of the Sun during the time of harvest, though the group itself is, because of the proximity of the Sun, naturally invisible. The figure of the Virgin is usually identified with Ceres, the Greek goddess of plenty. The Greeks in turn had borrowed the symbol from older astronomies and religions. One guess at the riddle of the ever-silent Sphinx is that it was meant to represent the head of this female goddess on the body of the neighboring constellation, Leo, the Lion.

The group Virgo is itself of great interest, as the region of the heavens between it and Leo is full of nebulae; over five hundred have so far been found there. The constellation contains also a beautiful white first magnitude star, which rises just after nine o'clock on the first date of the map and therefore could not be shown. This is Spica, the ear of grain the goddess holds. It is known to have played a great part in the ancient symbolic religions. Spica is a double star; what we see as one are really two stars close together, so close that neither the naked eye nor the most powerful telescope yet constructed can show the two separate components. But we know without a slightest doubt that there are two components, and this information is provided by the spectroscope, which in many ways affords a more keen instrument for analysis and observation than the unaided telescope.

The spectroscopic analysis of the light from Spica shows us not only that the star is a double, but furthermore that the Spica system is approaching the Sun at a rate of 9.2 miles per second. We do not yet know the actual distances from us, for no angle measuring device so far produced by modern science can measure the extremely small change in direction of the star produced by the orbital motion of the Earth.

GOERKE CO. BROAD & CEDAR STS NEWARK

NEARBY CROP REPORTS ARE NORMAL

Labor Exceedingly High, Farmers Report, in These Parts

The State reports from counties in this part of New Jersey give the crop indications about normal despite high first expenses and the prospect of expensive labor. Labor has been found to be exceedingly high, as is also the cost of low per cent. potash fertilizer. Non-potash fertilizer is normally priced.

In some sections both the potato and onion acreage will be considerably increased.

In Union county there is not much change from recent years, when farm labor has been scarce. The potato crop is dwindling of late years. The onion acreage probably will be doubled, and potato acreage considerably increased. Seed potatoes are coming from Maine and New York State. Fertilizer price increase is not an important element, as green crops are plowed in. Area devoted to trucking will be twenty per cent. higher.

Somerset—The potato crop promises to be smaller than usual this year because of the high cost of seed potatoes and fertilizers and the scarcity of labor. The price of seed potatoes is so high that no dealer at Somerville is handling them. One farmer who bought seed potatoes last fall states that by selling them at the present market price he would make $2,000 on his purchase, and he is uncertain whether to sell or plant. Somerset farmers, owing to the rise in price of milk, are turning their attention to dairy farming. One farmer is paying his farm hands $50 a month and a quart of milk a day. Other farmers are paying from $20 to $25 a month and board.

Hunterdon—Conditions for potatoes and other vegetables are expected to be about normal, with farmers planting a little higher acreage of potatoes by reason of higher prices. Few onions are being raised. Some seed potatoes are being purchased from Maine. Farmers pay help $1.75 to $2 a day, or $25 to $40 a month, with house and produce, eggs and milk.

Morris—Shortage of labor will interfere with planting, and labor prices are so high farmers can't see profit. Farmers have to pay $1.50 and $2 a day for labor, which munition plants have drawn off. Fertilizer remains about the same. Prospects for spring are bad.

Mercer—Farm labor is very scarce, $1.75 to $2 being offered, as against $1.75 last year. Seed potato shortage will not affect planting seriously. Mostly Maine, with some New York State seed, is being used. Potash fertilizer is $37 to $40. Planting of vegetables and cereals will probably be normal.

MACADAM FOR CHATHAM PLACE

Property Owners Urge North Plainfield Council to Improve This Street

MUST INSTALL CURBING

If This is Done One-half the Expense Will be Assessed at Large—The Balance on Properties Benefitted

Andrew Wilson and Allan Coddington, owners of considerable property in Chatham place, appeared before the North Plainfield Common Council last night, and urged that body to macadamize Chatham place from curb to curb. The street is nineteen feet wide.

Councilman Milne wanted to know from the petitioners whether curbing has been installed on this street, and they replied that it had not. Mr. Milne said that he would not favor laying macadam in any street where a curb line had not been established and curbing put in. Councilman Stahl and Mobus were of the same opinion.

Then the question of apportioning the cost of the improvement was discussed. Mayor Smalley said that he believed all public improvements should be paid for by the tax payers as a whole, and that he did not approve the custom of assessing benefits and damages upon those in the vicinity of improvements.

Councilman Stahl said that all other street improvements had been made that way, and that it would be unfair to those who have paid upon the basis of benefits accruing to their properties, from improvements, if the council now proposed to levy assessments at large, rather than in the way they have been levied heretofore.

Mr. Wilson was asked to interview the property owners and find out if they they would be willing to install curbing. He said that he would be glad to do that, but would like to be in a position to state the attitude of the council with regard to improving the street.

Councilman Stahl then offered a resolution to the effect that the borough assume one-half the cost of macadamizing Chatham place, provided the property owners on that street will install curbing at their own expense, and pay the balance of the cost of laying macadam. The resolution was adopted. The council will take definite action in the matter as soon as Mr. Wilson reports what the property owners are willing to do.

The council approved bills amounting to $3,486.49 which were ordered paid. The Treasurer was ordered to pay $8,729.87 to the custodian of school funds, that sum being the balance of the special school tax.

Recorder Hand reported twenty-nine arrests and the collection of $35 in fines during January and February. The inspector of Sewers reported twenty-four connections installed dur-

Through a happy combination of word paintings, lovely views in color, and unique motion pictures, Mr. Erwin gives a comprehensive idea of the features of this country, and arouses every patriotic impulse. He will show, among other things, the groves and gardens of Redlands, the Spanish missions, a floral carnival at Pasadena, an ostrich farm, the seals, the coast resorts, the Yosemite trails, the winter sports, the big trees, the Yosemite with its grand water-falls, and Mt. Whitney.

There will be no admission fee, but baskets will be placed at the door of the Y. M. C. A. hall, and all contributions will go to the milk fund that is being raised by the Plainfield Belgian Relief Society.

FIRST REHEARSAL OF COMIC OPERA

Participants Requested to Meet at Elks' Clubhouse Monday Night

The first rehearsal of the comic opera, "The Land of Mystery," the production which is to be given under the auspices of the Plainfield Lodge of Elks in the Plainfield Theatre on April 10th, 11th and 12th, will be held in the lodge room of the Elks' home next Monday night, beginning at eight o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Skilling, under whose direction the opera is to be given, arrived in Plainfield yesterday morning and will reside here until after the show has been presented. They will be remembered by thousands of local people who witnessed "The Mystic Rose," which they produced with such great success for the Elks last year.

Invitations have been sent to all those who took part in "The Mystic Rose" to attend the first rehearsal for "The Land of Mystery" Monday night, as Mrs. Skilling's production requires sixteen principals and a chorus of at least two hundred, it is desired that additional singers become interested in the affair. The committee in charge extend a cordial invitation to the members of the Community Chorus and to members of all church choirs or other singing organizations in this vicinity to attend the first rehearsal.

All rehearsals will be under the supervision of the following committee, who will look after the welfare of all those who attend: Mrs. C. L. Crist, Mrs. E. J. Harding, Jr., Mrs. W. R. Cruikbrook, Mrs. A. E. Force, Mrs. W. C. Mulvey, Mrs. Edward Ferguson, Mrs. Fred Sandford, Mrs. Walter L. Apgar, Mrs. G. R. Wescott, Mrs. Robert Gow, Mrs. C. F. Stout, Mrs. A. F. La Rock, Mrs. W. H. Pope, Mrs. Charles W. Runyon, Mrs. P. Edward Winch.

About three hundred children will be used again in a ballet similar to the one which made such an impression last year. It is called the "Ballet of the Patriots," and is used between the third act and the last act, instead of after the last act, which permits the children to reach their homes at an earlier hour than was the case last year. While the date of the first rehearsal for the children has not yet been set, it is desired that all the children who took part last year again participate. Quite a few new children will be required and all girls between the ages of seven and fifteen who are students of the Plainfield or North Plainfield schools watch for the announcement of the first rehearsal and be prepared to attend the same.

LOCAL LABOR TO ERECT A TEMPLE

A movement looking forward to the erection of a labor temple in this city at some future date was inaugurated last evening at the weekly session of the local Building Trades Council, when the matter was informally discussed at some length. The consideration of the subject was the outcome of a committee, composed of John Williams and P. S. Flatley of the Moulders' Union, appearing before the Council to take up the matter.

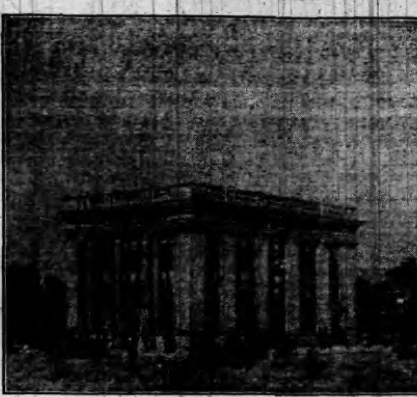
The purpose of the Moulders' Union, for the time being, is to secure all local organized labor bodies of the city under one roof, and as opportunity affords, raise a sufficient sum of money for the erection of a building with the object in view of having a structure which would meet the many and varied needs of the local bodies.

At the conclusion of the discussion, the Trades Council appointed a committee composed of E. Victor Norton and Harry Derflinger to take the question up in conjunction with the moulder's committee with the various crafts in the city. It will probably take a month or two for these committees to make a proper canvass of the various organizations. Should a number of the organizations favor such a movement, a mass meeting of all crafts will be called for a date to be announced later.

During the course of the meeting, resolutions were adopted opposing several bills now pending before the New Jersey State Legislature, among which is the Pierce bill which calls for the establishment of a State constabulary. This bill was introduced before the Senate by Senator Carlton B. Pierce, of Union county. Two other bills, one repealing the "full crew" law, and another calling for the establishment of a State insurance fund, were also opposed in the open meeting, and were covered by the resolutions. The officers of the body will communicate to the representatives of this county in the State Legislature.

Delegates representing the Electrical Workers' Union reported that the men of that craft had notified their bosses that they would seek an increase of wages on June 1, asking for a raise to sixty-two and a half cents an hour after that date.

STATE TRUST COMPANY'S NEW BUILDING



The State Trust Company moved into its new building today, the entire official and clerical staff participating in the ceremony, and on Monday the bank will open for business in its new quarters, which are undoubtedly the handsomest banking quarters in this part of the State. Every need of the company and its patrons has been carefully provided for, and the city has profited measurably by having this artistic bank building erected on one of its most prominent corners.

Upon entering the building on Park avenue, the public space is in the centre of the banking room. At the right are the rooms of the officers, readily accessible to the bank's patrons; beyond, on the same side, are the tellers and back of them the individual and general bookkeepers, the check clerks and stenographer. On the left as you enter, is the women's reception room, equipped with every possible convenience for their use. The furnishing and decoration of this room has been done under the supervision of Miss Edith Van Boskerck, who has left nothing undone to make it attractive as well as comfortable for the women patrons of the bank; while opening from this is the women's check desk room, and adjoining, the women's teller. In fact, the officers have planned the bank layout with an especial view to the comfort and convenience of its rapidly growing woman clientele.

At the rear of the public space, separated only by plate glass partition, is found the round door Manganese steel vault, of which the company is so justly proud, and the new building gives this modern vault the setting that it lacked in its former quarters.

In the basement are located large fire and burglar-proof silver vaults, clerks' lockers and lunch room, as well as an examination room for the convenience of the patrons of its storage department.

Entrance to the offices is gained from North avenue, where an automatic electric elevator is installed for the convenience of tenants. The office floor is divided into ten good-sized offices; these are light and attractive, and tenants will be supplied with electric light and heat, as well as janitor service.

The State Trust Company organized in 1910, has enjoyed unprecedented success, increasing its deposits at the rate of $200,000 per year until they now total approximately a million and a quarter of dollars. The facilities provided by this new building will undoubtedly be the means of increasing the company's business at even a greater rate.

On Saturday next, from 3 to 6 and from 7.30 to 10, a formal opening of the building will be held, at which time an appropriate souvenir of the occasion will be distributed. The public is cordially invited to be present.

The officers and directors are entitled to the hearty congratulations of the community, first, in their splendid success in building up this business to its present generous proportions, and second, for providing the community with such an attractive addition to the city's architecture.

EDUCATORS HONOR DR. H. M. MAXSON

They Tendered Him Dinner in Kansas City Monday Night at National Convention

At the annual convention of the National Public School Superintendents' Association, held in Kansas City, the delegates from New Jersey gave a dinner Monday night in honor of Superintendent Henry M. Maxson of the Plainfield public schools.

Superintendent Henry Snyder, of Jersey City, presided, and there were present about a hundred men prominent in the educational affairs of New Jersey and New York.

The speakers were: Dr. C. N. Kendall, Commissioner of Education of New Jersey; Dr. A. B. Poland, Superintendent of Schools of Newark; Associate Superintendent A. W. Edson, of New York City; Dr. George Strayer, of Teachers' College, and Dr. Nathan C. Schaeffer, State Superintendent of Pennsylvania.

Commissioner Kendall spoke in very high terms of Dr. Maxson's work in Plainfield and in State affairs outside of the city, calling him the best known and most loved man among the State educators.

Dr. Maxson was formerly president of the State Teachers' Association and was influential in securing some valuable legislation for the benefit of the State school system. He is now president of the School Masters' Club of New York, which includes the most prominent school men of that city and New Jersey.

The dinner was, in a way, a "silver jubilee" for Dr. Maxson, as this is his twenty-fifth year as superintendent of the Plainfield schools. He came here from Pawtucket, R. I.

WILL LIVE IN GOWANDA

Mrs. Raymond Bailey and her son, Lawrence, who had been visiting the former's mother, Mrs. Sarah L. Wardner, of Park avenue, left today for Gowanda, N. Y., to make her home. Her husband preceded her there recently to locate in business.

THE FUNERAL OF ALBERT C. STEBBINS

Held This Afternoon at His Late Residence on West Seventh Street

The funeral of Albert Clark Stebbins, who died on Wednesday at his home on West Seventh street, was held there this afternoon, the Rev. J. O. McKelvey, pastor of the Watchung Avenue Presbyterian church, officiating. There was a large gathering of friends, including representatives of the Niles-Bement-Pond Tool Company, of which he was head, and of the Plainfield Savings Bank, of which he was vice-president for fifteen years. Among the many beautiful flowers were set pieces from friends in New York and from Pond Tool Company, and the bank.

During the service the selection "Lead, Kindly Light" and "Crossing the Bar" and "Nearer My God to Thee" were sung by the Lotus Glee Club from New York.

Among the relatives from out-of-town were an uncle of Mr. Stebbins, George H. Clark, of Springfield, Mass., and cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vinard, of Brookfield, Mass.

The bearers were: George Griffen, Howard A. Pope, George H. Batchelor, Walter Manning, Lucius B. Morgan, of this city, and Joseph King, of Philadelphia. The interment was made in Hillside cemetery.

Mr. Stebbins was born in Massachusetts September 19, 1845. He came to Plainfield May 29, 1887, and located the site for the Pond Machine Tool Co., where it now stands, and remained with this concern until his death, except that he retired from active service with it in November last. He was vice president of the Niles-Bement-Pond Company, with which the Pond Company is associated. He was vice-president of the Plainfield Savings Bank for fifteen years, up to the time of his death. He served two years in the Common Council, and was chairman of the fire and buildings committee part of that time.

DOLLAR SHRINKS SAY TEACHERS

Borough Instructors in Petition for Increased Salaries Recite Many Facts

In their petition to the North Plainfield Board of Education for increase in wages the other evening the teachers related interesting facts which they contained have made necessary an advance in wages, especially the high cost of living.

The petition states that in the past nine years the cost of living has increased 30 per cent., 45 per cent. of the increase having occurred during the last year. It is noticeable that stenographers, clerks, mechanics and others engaged in gainful occupations have had substantial increases in salaries the past year and large bonuses, in many cases unsolicited. Many of the boys and men and women recently graduated from the high school are today receiving higher salaries than the teachers who prepared them.

Teachers are now compelled to pay from $7 to $10.50 per week for board and room, and this very frequently makes the problem of living an increasingly difficult one.

It was further stated that the net increase in the pay roll last year by the borough board was only 3 per cent. In closing, the petition says: "We ask that you take the foregoing facts into consideration and make the increase larger than it has been heretofore. We ask most respectfully that the teachers who have not reached their maximum be advanced in salary as quickly as possible, and that where possible the maximum be raised. We believe that the taxpayers who have never voted down an appropriation asked for will endorse this stand."

The petition was signed by the forty-seven instructors in the borough schools.

A meeting of the teachers' committee of the board will be held tonight to take action on the proposed increase of salaries, and the results will be made known Monday night when the budget is prepared to be presented at the annual meeting of the district March 20.

The average salary of the borough high school teachers is $784 annually; elementary, including grammar school teachers, exclusive of principal, average about $710. There are forty-three teachers and four principals engaged in the teaching corps in the borough schools.

From what could be learned today, the increase to be given the teachers will not average over 6 per cent. of the present salaries.

FOUR MILLIONS IN DESTITUTION

Inside the German lines today, 1,250,000 Belgian children and 2,750,000 adults are fed once a day, through the efforts of the Hoover Commission. These people are totally destitute. The Hoover Commission is the only Commission authorized by official Germany, and the only recognized channel, therefore, through which relief is permitted to reach 4,000,000 Belgian people.

The meal which the Commission has been able to provide consists of a bowl of soup and a quarter of a loaf of bread. It has served to keep grown-ups in fairly good condition—weakened muscularly, but comparatively safe.

But the children cannot hold out on this diet. Everyone knows something of the effects of under-nourishment of children at ages when bone, muscle, blood and brain should be expanding. There is disaster of the most permanent character. Dullness, weakness and fainting are ever present symptoms, followed by rickets, nervous diseases and tuberculosis.

Medical investigation has demonstrated that supplementary meal for these children is essential. It will, in the large majority of cases, keep the normal child normal; it will restore generally, the sub-normal child if provided in time.

The supplementary meal itself consists of one biscuit made with flour, lard and sweetening, and one cup of cocoa with sugar and phosphatine and milk when it can be had.

The cost of these meals a day is 3 cents per child. $1.00 will give a child one meal for one month. $12.00 will give the child permanent relief for one year. Every cent contributed is expended for relief. All administrative and other expenses are otherwise provided. The Commission carries insurance on all relief ships and the few losses it has had have been entirely covered thereby.

Franklin, Pa., with 10,000 people has undertaken to supply 5,000 children with the extra meal for a whole year. Evanston, Ill., with 40,000 inhabitants, has pledged $40,000 for the year, and other towns, throughout the United States are fast falling into line. Shall Plainfield join in this great work of saving a nation?

NOW EXPECT VON BERNSTORFF AND ZIMMERMAN TO RESIGN

By United Press:

Amsterdam, March 3.—Resignation of German Foreign Secretary Zimmerman and abrupt termination of the diplomatic career of Count Johann von Bernstorff, former German Ambassador to the United States, is regarded by Dutch officials in close touch with Berlin as certain to follow the revelation of the Zimmerman letter in the United States.

ZIMMERMAN DISCUSSES PLOT LETTER

By United Press:

Berlin (via wireless to Sayville), March 3.—Foreign Secretary Zimmerman today justified Germany's action in seeking to align Mexico and Japan against the United States. Such a course, he said, was merely a defensive measure, not to be carried out except in case the United States declared war on Germany. Moreover, he said, it was no more a "plot" than the "plot" which was reported in South American newspapers as having been undertaken against Germany by the United States when America sought, according to South American and other newspaper reports, to line up the South American republics in action against Germany.

He commented on America's pro-Ally sympathies. He refrained from admitting the authorship of the letter to Minister Eckhardt, at Mexico City, and his whole discussion of the matter, he was careful to say, was based on English reports of the German plot to get Mexico to declare war on the United States, and to secure Japan's aid against the United States."

"You understand that it is impossible for me to discuss the facts of this revealed plot at this moment, and under these circumstances I may therefore be allowed to limit my answers to what is said in English reports, which certainly are not inspired by sympathy with Germany. The English reports expressly state that Germany expected and wished to remain with the United States on terms of friendship, but that in case of the United States declaring war on Germany we prepared measures of defense. In fact, to see how such a 'plot' is inspired by unfriendliness on our part. It would mean nothing except that we would use means generally admitted in war, in case the United States declared war."

BERLIN MINIMIZES KUT-EL-AMARA VICTORY

Berlin, March 3.—"The occupation of Kut-el-Amara by the British was to be expected," declares the official press agency, "since it was the British aim to redress General Townsend's capitulation. The success was only a moral one and sustained at great expense."

The Commission has only four weeks' supply of food ahead.

NAVY YARDS READY TO ARM MERCHANTMEN

By United Press:

Washington, March 3.—President Wilson awaits only authority to arm American ships. The Senate will give him full power today to take this step, which draws the United States closer to open hostilities with Germany. After the Senate passes the bill it goes to the House, where it is expected to pass without a roll call.

By United Press:

Washington, March 3.—If the big supply bills of the Government are held up by an attempt to force an extra session, President Wilson will absolve himself of any responsibility and counter with an effort to put it where it belongs."

RECORD OF THE PAST

No Stronger Evidence Can Be Had in Plainfield.

Look well to their record. What they have done many times in years gone by is the best guarantee of future results. Anyone with a bad back; any reader suffering from urinary troubles, from kidney ills, should find comforting words in the following statement:

C. L. Treat, 411 E. Third St., Plainfield, says: "I suffered for a long time from kidney trouble and for years I couldn't find anything that would give me relief. My back ached constantly and I had pains across my kidneys. I became all run down and close to a physical wreck. The first box of Doan's Kidney Pills I used made a different man of me. I continued taking them, procuring them from L. W. Randolph's Pharmacy, until I was in very good shape." (Statement given February 18, 1911.)

On August 8, 1916, Mr. Treat said: "I shall always praise Doan's Kidney Pills because of the benefit I had from them. I can say that they are the most reliable medicine I have ever known of."

MISS ELLEN E. FAXON IS HONORED AT VASSAR

Miss Ellen Elizabeth Faxon, of Fitchburg, Mass., is one of the 24 members of the class of 1919, Vassar College, who have been invited by the Seniors to carry the daisy chain on class day next June. Miss Faxon is a daughter of Representative and Mrs. John G. Faxon, and Mrs. Faxon will at once be recalled as Miss Alice Holmes, daughter of the late Capt. A. D. Holmes, of this city, where she lived at the time of her marriage. The daisy chain feature of Vassar commencements has long been distinctive and unique. Last year it was omitted by decision of the graduating class but is to be restored this year by the class of 1917.

The invitation is extended for many reasons of preference and is necessarily limited, which makes the selection a marked compliment. Miss Faxon was at the very beginning of her freshman year at Vassar honored by being chosen by the college as one of ten from the members of her class to dance in the Greek pageant on the occasion of the 50th anniversary exercises of the college.

Mr. and Mrs. and Miss Faxon are not infrequent visitors in Plainfield where they have hosts of friends.

MAN WHO SWINDLED GIRL IS SENTENCED

Peter Stankovitz, who was convicted of swindling Anna Tomlaska, a Plainfield domestic, out of more than $600 by means of a "money-making" box hoax, was sentenced to from three to seven years in State prison, by Judge James C. Connolly, in the Court of Quarter Sessions, in Elizabeth, yesterday. His accomplice, Josephine Rogoski, was sentenced to the county jail for six months.

Their victim was employed in a private school in Plainfield, and lost her money by exchanging money for paper stuffed in the "money-making" box. No efforts have been made toward restitution, the court was informed. Two lawyers pleaded for leniency for the couple.

It is to be the aim of every member to bring a friend or relative to each service and to win one person for Christ by Easter Sunday.

March 11 to 17 will be visitation week, when members will call upon each other at their homes. March 18 will begin cottage prayer meeting week when home meetings will be held each night except Wednesday, which will be rally night at the church. Evangelistic meetings will be held in the church from March 24 to April 8 and Easter will be the climax of the meetings and the special efforts will have been made.

MAY MAKE BLATZ COUNTY ATTORNEY

Acting upon advice received from William R. Codington, the Board of Freeholders at a recent meeting discussed the appointment of a new county attorney. Mr. Codington has held this position for several years, but it is understood that his health *is such that he does not care to con*tinue longer in the office.

Francis J. Blatz, his law partner, who has been looking after the duties of the county attorney for the past six months, is regarded as likely to land the plum, although there are several other candidates for the place.

When County Attorney Codington was re-appointed on January first, it was with the understanding that he would soon tender his resignation.

COUNTY INVESTIGATION

After a long period of investigation of the work of the Union County Freeholders the grand jury has returned a presentment commending in some particulars matters which were included in the call for the investigation and which were thought had been included as deserving of criticism. Among the number of inquiries submitted for investigation it will seem to some a surprise that more criticism was not made, but the grand jury found fault only with the business system of the Freeholders and demanded the installation of a more business-like system. Probably no one person was responsible for any laxity of methods, but such laxity had given rise to a complaint which had become common talk, and the investigation was the only way of disposing of the matter which the taxpayers had thought deserved investigating. Perhaps the most interest in the investigation attached to rumors that coupled the names of the Lawrence Portland Cement Co. and some of its members with the question of the legality or illegality of the use of their cement while any stockholder of such company held an official position in the county. The grand jury found that while Portland cement was used in county work it was of proper standard and sold at a uniform price and that it was only one of several brands of cement used by the county. The grand jury specially declared that there was nothing to show that any member of the Board of Freeholders was directly or indirectly interested in furnishing materials to the county and found that nowhere, in the testimony of successful or unsuccessful bidders who sought to furnish material to the county, was any influence used to have contractors purchase cement from the Lawrence Portland Cement Co. The jury also found that the State and county specifications have been open and provide for the use of Portland cement of uniform standard. It will be some satisfaction to members of the Lawrence Portland Cement Co. to be exonerated of any collusion in furnishing material to the county and also to know that the ones who specified their cement have recognized its value, in seeking the best material, which the county says shall be used. It has been a source of much regret, not only to the honorable gentlemen who happened to be in the limelight of the investigation and also to their friends that the investigation has cleared them of any inclination or desire to do other than was strictly legal and right in whatever dealings they had with the county. Those of the Lawrence Cement Company who naturally attracted the most attention are gentlemen far above reproach, and if anything in their dealings is worthy the investigation it was unconscious on their part and did not come in even for slight criticism. Their friends will enjoy extending them a reassurance of confidence and a regret that they were thus brought before the public. No one who takes his place in the world of affairs, large or small, lives so far aloof from his fellows as to avoid contact at sometime, in some way, with affairs which get into the limelight, under good or evil report, and the public mind is prone to dwell upon the adverse features of such rumor. It is one of the penalties of business life to be subject of criticism often most unjustly, and the only redress for being criticized without deserving it is the consciousness of not deserving it and the reassurance of one's friends that the criticism is undeserved.

WHAT THE ZETUNG SAYS

The Chicago Staats-Zeitung, commenting upon the attempt by Germany to align Mexico and Japan against the United States, says:

"Germany is fighting for her national existence and thinks it wise and proper to drag the United States into the war, or wise and proper to adopt any course whatsoever that will injure her enemies, but that will not be sufficient to persuade Americans that Germany is justified in proposing an alliance with Mexico to the injury of the United States or for the violation of the Monroe Doctrine. If the published version of a note signed "Zimmermann" is actually the correct copy of an authentic communication signed by the Minister of Foreign Affairs of Germany then Germany has committed an act of unfriendliness toward our country.

A TALK to COAL BUYERS

This company, in its advertising, has endeavored to impress upon the coal buying public, that by virtue of its organization and wholesale connections, it is in a position to render service of a particularly efficient kind, a service not possible to every dealer in coal.

This winter, during the coal shortage, this service has been put to the test, and how well our organization has met it can best be vouched for by our customers. We have not only taken care of all our orders, but we have furnished coal to other dealers as well, and we point to our ability to care for our trade under the exceptional conditions that have presented themselves, with considerable pride, for we feel that our claim to be able to serve the public satisfactorily at all times and under all conditions, has been amply demonstrated.

If we are not already serving you, would it not be wise to become one of our regular customers, and thus place your coal burden on responsible shoulders?

Give us the opportunity; we will serve you well.

VILLA'S REDEEMING FEATURE

It has been said that Villa, the famous Mexican bandit, has always been obtuse to everything but his own inclinations, but from recent reports a redeeming feature has been found in him. It is said that when he was approached by German agents, with a proposition to start hostilities against the United States, he turned it down, and said he had nothing against the United States, and was only fighting for his country, against Carranza. This is very nice of him if he said it, and it came from his agent in New York, but reports are so uncertain now-a-days. Let us think he means well, but don't fall asleep over it.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Is that defeat of the Germans near Bapaume real or russ?

With Washington "bone dry" some of the pleasures for foreign diplomats at the Capital will be eliminated.

PEOPLE'S FORUM

How to Solve Food Problem

To the Editor of Courier-News,
Plainfield, New Jersey.

Dear Sir:—The evidence throughout the country of the shortage of various foodstuffs prompts me to remind the people of Plainfield how it is within their power to do a great work toward meeting the problem likely to confront our community during this year.

Whether we have war or not, the people throughout the country must be fed, and it is of the greatest importance that all available land should be put under cultivation and thereby create a larger acreage for crops of all kinds than ever before. The farmers should do this, and the dwellers within the towns should do their part by growing, even if their yard space is small, sufficient potatoes and cabbages at least, to provide for their own needs, and better still, to have a surplus to give to others if necessary.

If those controlling large areas of unused land in the vicinity of our city could be prevailed upon to plant them in garden vegetables it would certainly help the situation. It would be interesting if the city authorities could see their way clear to make some suggestions, how, with the aid of the city, preparedness on this most important question could be given very thorough consideration. This is the time now, to get ready and make plans for spring planting and have that great pleasure which comes to everyone who grows something.

GEORGE P. MELLICK.

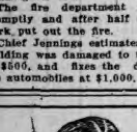
AUTOS DAMAGED IN GARAGE BLAZE

Four automobiles were seriously damaged early this morning by a fire in a garage belonging to Adam Blatr in West Sixth street, rented by William Willis, colored, who operates a line of taxicabs.

Robert Tate, colored, was in the garage washing cars at 3 o'clock, and was using a kerosene lantern. The gasoline tank of one of the cars sprung a leak and the fumes of the gas communicated with the lantern, causing an explosion and setting the building on fire.

The fire department responded promptly and after half an hour's work put out the fire.

Chief Jennings estimates that the building was damaged to the extent of $500, and fixes the damage to the automobiles at $1,000.



TEETH VERSUS

The high cost of living. All about us, we hear cries of the "High cost of living." We should all practice economy and you can start right now on your teeth. You lay in a stock of necessities because the prices may be raised, but do you think of your teeth? If you don't have them treated NOW they will cost you just so much more later on, because decay once it starts spreads rapidly. Have the decay removed as quickly as possible

PLAINFIELD HIGH WINS DEBATE OVER RUTGERS

The Plainfield High School Debating Team won its first inter-scholastic debate last evening when it defeated the Freshmen team from Rutgers College in the home high school auditorium.

The question debated was: "Resolved: That a compulsory arbitration law should be enacted to settle all labor disputes of railroads and other common carriers, constitutionality conceded" on which the Plainfield debaters argued from the affirmative point of view, building up such a formidable wall of argument and logic, with enough points, to substantially prove their statements, that their college opponents failed to drive their points directly homeward. The city team consisted of leader, Horace E. Bunker, Jr., Caryl C. Dunavan, Charles Tomb Todd and Miss Fannie Mann, alternate, while the negative upholders were: William H. Hendrickson, leader, supported by Arthur R. Dayton, Kenneth C. Hand and Herbert P. Tilton, alternate.

A program for the evening was compiled as follows: Piano solo, waltz from Chopin, by Chester Sours; vocal solo, August Franke, accompanied at the piano by Miss Anna Franke; vocal solo, "Laddie," by Irving Manley, after which the decision was announced.

SCHOOL BOYS ENJOY REUNION

Princeton Club Provides Attractive Program at Y. M. C. A. Gathering

Despite the inclement weather there was a large attendance of High school boys from the city and borough at the reunion and jollification held at the Y. M. C. A. last night, under the auspices of the Plainfield Princeton Club. The affair was given to arouse interest among the boys in Princeton University, and if possible to persuade them to seek their higher education at that place.

Former Councilman Duncan W. Taylor was in charge of the program, being assisted by E. T. Carter, Jr., A. B. Reed and other members of the local club. The speakers of the evening were Richard Cleveland, son of former President Grover Cleveland, who spoke on the general activities at the university, where he is a sophomore; "Bill" Moore, a member of the football and track teams, who told of those branches of sports; "Sam" Shoemaker, executive secretary of the Y. M. C. A., who discussed the religious side of the university, and what students were doing in this line, and Dwight Harris, of this city, a student, who described his experiences in visiting the detention camps in England last year in the interest of the Y. M. C. A.

All of the talks were very informal and served to inspire the boys in the achievements to be attained in college. Another feature of the evening was the singing of some of the more popular college songs used at Princeton. Mr. Shoemaker was at the piano and the singing was led by Mr. Moore, who put lots of "pep" into this part of the program.

Those present were given a pleasant surprise when Arthur M. Harris, father of Dwight Harris, one of the speakers, announced that the four boys representing the city and borough schools, who, in competition write the best composition on the subjects: "Why a Boy Should go to College," and "Why a Boy Should go to Princeton University," he would send then to one of the baseball games at Princeton this spring, paying all the expenses. This announcement was received with cheers for Mr. Harris. Following the program refreshments were served.

Many of the boys remained to meet the speakers and enjoy a social half-hour in discussing college life. Early in the spring the local club will arrange to take a number of boys to Princeton some Saturday to witness a game and visit the campus and buildings.

Cold Settled In His Back

Ed Velton, of Rogers, Neb., writes: "I have used Foley Kidney Pills for backache, the result of catching cold which settled in my back. Foley Kidney Pills always give me prompt relief and I can cheerfully recommend them."

The reason Foley Kidney Pills act so satisfactorily is because they neutralize and dissolve the poisonous waste matter that resides in the blood because the kidneys do not do their work properly in filtering and casting out from the system uric acid and other poisons.

Joint and muscle pains in a few days and such symptoms as pain in the sides or back, stiff joints, sore muscles, rheumatism, too frequent action of the bladder at night, and other painful and annoying ailments disappear. Foley Kidney Pills contain no harmful ingredients. They are safe as well as quick acting.

Webster's definition of "New" became —"recently come into existence, possession or use; fresh; lately made; produced"—Hearn's brings that definition up to date by simply adding— "spring apparel recently come into existence; fresh; new spring apparel —at Hearn's, Fourteenth Street, Sixth Just in, every day great cases of fresh, lately made Frocks, Suits, Coats, Skirts, Hats, Blouses and Lingerie are being opened at Hearn's, all ready for use are these delightfully springy clothes, and those that do not exactly fit are altered at Hearn's without extra charge. Strictly tailored, braid-bound serges or mannish tweed Suits for conventional street wear. Dressy tailored suits, which really make women look their smartest. Short tailored suits always becoming. Topcoats for real charming one-piece frock, or delicate blouse and separate skirt; big flaring coats for wrapper or a sport suit. All these are at Hearn's in all sizes—colors, styles, at the best qualities at the lowest possible price. Frocks, too, crepe de chines, georgettes, taffetas, cut to give that lovely silhouette or popular straight line figure. Lingerie, too dainty for words —yet serviceable —incomparable blouses.

Hats that are turbans or mushrooms, large or small, trimmed or untrimmed, but when bought at Hearn's with the trimmings, these are put on free.

Sport, which means the new in clothes—short things every where at Hearn's. Silks and Dress Goods just rich masses of Spring color.

"New" also means young—and a glance at Hearn's Spring Clothes for children proves that Hearn's delivers styles —wearable styles—for real boys and girls.

And for that very new person—the baby—there is a great big department full of Spring surprises.

There's the New Cash Register Service, too, at Hearn's—saves time and the bother of waiting for change.

UNITED STATES NAVY LEAGUE ISSUES CALL.

Washington, D. C., March 3.—A call has been issued by the Navy League of the United States to its 350,000 and more members, many of them women, to come to the assistance of the Navy Department. The call is signed by men and women of national reputation, who will be members of the Navy League War Relief Committee.

The Navy League, after consultation with officials of the Navy Department, and in line with the Department's wishes and at its request, will:

Aid in recruiting for the naval service both for the regular line of defense and for the newly-created naval reserve.

Furnish necessary articles of clothing, equipment, comfort and hospital stores required by the exigencies of the service and not furnished by the Government.

Raise at once, and on the outbreak of war distribute the Navy League War Relief Fund.

The Navy League is an association of people who wish to keep war out of the United States and believe that the surest way to do it is to maintain a navy so strong that no military nation can send its troops across the ocean to attack us. It has no connection with any business or political organization of any kind and is not pro-anything nor anti-anything but just plain American. It has no favors to ask and no views to express, except just this; it insists that whatever else politicians may do or leave undone they do not fail to provide such a navy as will in*sure this country against* the horrors of war in the homeland.

The League was founded and chartered in 1902 and has more than 66,000 members. Among its first members were Admiral Dewey, Theodore Roosevelt, Cardinal Gibbons, the Rt. Rev. Phillip M. Rhinelander and Dr. Lyman Abbott, while many of America's most prominent women are members of the Women's Section. Its accounts are and always have been open to inspection.

AVIATOR THOMPSON LOSES BEARINGS IN STORM

New York, March 3.—Attempting to break the record for altitude with passengers at Hempstead, L. I., Aviator De Lloyd Thompson lost his bearings in the snowstorm and darkness last night and was compelled to descend near the Belmont Park race track. Thompson started his flight with Miss Clara Martin and Miss Ora Dell Just, before dusk. After being up about twenty minutes and reaching a height of about 8,000 feet he made his landing.

N. Y. CONGRESSMAN DIES AT CAPITAL

M. F. Conry, 15th District, a Veteran of House.

Washington, March 3.—Representative Michael F. Conry of the Fifteenth New York district, Manhattan, is dead after a lingering illness from kidney trouble at Providence hospital here.

Mr. Conry was last at his place in the house a week ago. When he was taken to the hospital his colleagues of the New York delegation expressed fear he would not survive his illness.

The news of Conry's death was communicated to the house by Representative Fitzgerald of New York, who spoke feelingly of his life and services. Minority Leader Mann and Representative Bennet, also of New York, joined in a tribute to the departed member.

A resolution was adopted to appoint a committee of representatives and senators to attend the funeral, and a recess of the house was taken as a mark of respect.

Mr. Conry was a lawyer and was serving his fourth term in congress. His death makes the third to occur among the membership of the house during the present session, Samuel J. Tribble of Georgia and David T. Finley of South Carolina having died earlier in the session.

Mr. Conry was forty-seven years old. He was born at Shenandoah, Pa., and educated in the public schools there. Afterward he taught school for seven years. He was graduated in 1890 from the University of Michigan, receiving the degree of LL. B. He entered the legal profession and was for a time an assistant corporation counsel of New York. He was elected to the Sixty-first, Sixty-second, Sixty-third and Sixty-fourth congresses.

Mrs. Conry and one of her daughters have been in Washington for about two weeks. He leaves two other daughters.

SUNDAY PLAYS LEGAL.

They Must Be Given Free, However, Court Rules.

New York, March 3.—It is neither wicked nor unlawful for settlement workers to give neighborhood play-houses performances on Sunday, according to a decision by Magistrate Breen.

Miss Bessie Kaplan, treasurer of the Henry street settlement, had been charged with the penal offense of giving a theatrical performance in Grand street, Sunday, Jan. 21. The magistrate pointed out that the performance was unobjectionable, not given for profit and not disturbing to the neighbors.

STEAMER SINKS U-BOAT.

British Ship's Officers Say She Won Battle With German.

New Orleans, March 3.—Officers of the steamship Knight Companion (British), just arrived here, said the ship was in a battle with a German submarine and sank her.

According to the officers, the submarine opened fire at 700 yards. Five shots were fired at the Knight Companion, but none took effect.

The Knight Companion's gunner fired two shots, the last sending the U-boat to the bottom.

Bay State May Seize Food,

Boston, March 3.—Under suspension of rules the legislature has admitted for consideration a bill to appoint a commission *to investigate the food situ*ation. The measure, advocated by the state branch of the American Federation of Labor, would permit the commission to seize food products and fuel in emergencies and regulate their distribution.

Jump from Bed in Morning and Drink Hot Water

Why is man and woman, half the time, feeling nervous, despondent, worried; some days headachy, dull and unstrung; some days really incapacitated by illness.

If we all would practice inside-bathing, what a gratifying change would take place. Instead, of thousands of half-sick, anaemic-looking souls with pasty, muddy complexions we should see crowds of happy, healthy, rosy-cheeked people everywhere. The reason is that the human system does not rid itself each day of all the waste which it accumulates under our present mode of living. For every ounce of food and drink taken into the system nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out, else it ferments and forms ptomaine-like poisons which are absorbed into the blood.

Just as necessary is it to clean the ashes from the furnace each day, before the fire will burn bright and hot, so we must each morning clear the inside organs of the previous day's accumulations of indigestible waste and body toxins. Men and women, whether sick or well, are advised to drink each morning, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of washing out of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the indigestible material, waste, sour bile and toxins; *thus cleansing, sweetening and puri*fying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Millions of people who had their turn at constipation, bilious attacks, acid stomach, nervous days and sleepless nights have become real cranks about the morning inside-bath. A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will not cost much at the drug store, but is sufficient to demonstrate to anyone, its cleansing, sweetening and freshening effect upon the system.—Adv.

LAST NIGHT. George got SENTIMENTAL about my hair
AND I told him that having
NICE HAIR was a duty
BUT THAT having something

AND I felt myself

I BELIEVE that men don't

President of China Who Opposes Joining Entente.

President Hung is receiving much criticism for opposing immediate action in joining the entente allies. He gave out an interview saying he preferred to act with the United States and other neutrals, but was willing China should join the entente if parliament approved.

RUSSIANS FAIL IN ROUMANIA

British Close After Turks Fleeing to Bagdad.

London, March 3.—Above the north Roumanian frontier the Russians have made freqhent attempts to capture the hill positions lost early in the week along the Jacobeni-Kimpoiung road. They acknowledge that their attacks above Val Putna were repulsed, but claim to have reoccupied the positions south of the town. The German report tells of the Russian failure on the northern sector, but the omission to mention the other end of the battle line appears to confirm the Russian claims to success toward the south.

For the first time in several weeks the Russians have displayed a little activity on Von Mackensen's front toward the southern part of Dobrudja. Small detachments attempted raids north of Kokshani, near Fasari, and in the neighborhood of Carbul, on the Serath, twenty miles above where it joins the Danube. Both efforts were repulsed, but a raid north of the Zavel river gave a Roumanian detachment possession of a hill position, a machine gun and a few prisoners. The position was, however, recaptured.

In an attack on the east bank of the Narayuvka river the Germans stormed Russian positions and captured 170 prisoners with several machine guns.

From Mesopotamia all reports add considerable information regarding the British victory along the Tigris. It appears that more than 4,300 Turkish prisoners have been captured since Feb. 24, and in addition to sixty guns of various types thirty pontoons have fallen into the hands of General Maude's pursuing troops. The loss of this bridge material was a serious matter to the retreating Turks.

In France the British patrols are still feeling their way cautiously through the region evacuated by the Germans on both sides of the Ancre. A summary of their February successes in cindes a total of 22,133 German prisoners and the occupation of eleven villages in the region of the Ancre and the southern approaches to Bapaume.

WOMEN POSTMEN FOR PARIS.

Wives of Soldiers to Be Given Preference.

Paris, March 3.—Women letter carriers will soon be delivering mail in Paris. This method will be an experiment and preference will be given to wives of soldiers.

Doubt has been expressed as to whether the women will be able to shoulder the wooden box that the Paris postmen *carry without being too great*ly fatigued. The boxes now are well filled, since several mail deliveries have been consolidated with others. Sometimes also the mail from the United States is so heavy as greatly to increase the weight of the boxes.

FOOD IS PLENTY, HOUSTON SAYS

Secretary of Agriculture Deprecates Alarm.

BLAMES MUCH ON WASTE

More Than $700,000,000 Thrown Away Yearly in American Kitchens, He Estimates—Intelligent Planning and Not Price Fixing Can Solve Problem, His Belief.

Washington, March 3.—Greater food crops and the practice of household economies are urged by Secretary of Agriculture Houston as measures to help reduce the cost of living. American families, he estimated in a statement on the food situation, wasted in their kitchens annually more than $700,000,000 worth of edibles.

There was nothing in the situation to justify hysteria, however, he said, because there was no real shortage of food in this country. Mr. Houston emphasized the importance of the food cost investigation directed by President Wilson and held out hope that increased acreages this year might insure greater food supplies. The wheat and potato crops, he said, were unusually short last year, but nevertheless there would be enough to supply very nearly normal needs.

Price Fixing Useless.

The food problem cannot be solved, in the secretary's opinion, through price fixing by the federal or state governments, but by "intelligent planning and constructive action in conjunction with the operation of normal forces." Urging a full inquiry into the causes of advancing prices, he said:

"A full and satisfactory explanation of prevailing prices is not possible on the basis of existing knowledge. Where the food supply is located, who owns it, what may be the difficulties of securing it, whether the local market conditions are due to car shortage, whether there is artificial manipulation or control, no one can state with certainty. It is essential that we have the facts not only because of the light that also because they are prerequisite for the working out of a permanent, just and economical system of marketing. The investigation directed by the president ought to be made promptly, and congress ought to give the Federal Trade Commission and the department of agriculture the necessary funds."

Deplores Nation's Waste.

Limitation of waste in the kitchen, Secretary Houston pointed out, would do much toward affording partial and immediate relief from oppressive prices.

"As a nation," he added, "we seem to have a disdain of economizing. Of course, the waste in families of very limited means is slight, but in families of moderate and ample means is considerable. Even if the estimate of $700,000,000 waste in the country, as prepared by our experts, is cut in half it would still leave an enormous waste."

Prices must be maintained at a certain level or farmers would not increase their output, Mr. Houston said, and either the government or the community must guarantee a reasonable price.

"Those who are urging that the farmers be induced greatly to increase their acreage beyond that which their own judgment indicates," he said, "know very little about the psychology of farmers or about the fundamental necessities of the situation."

There is no need of alarm over reports of a food shortage, the secretary believes, because crops generally, with the exception of grain and potatoes, were as large or larger than in 1915.

CARRANZA TO DISAVOW.

Will Deny Knowledge of Anti-American Alliance Plot.

Mexico City, March 3.—Formal disavowal by the Mexican government of any participation in the German plot and probably denial that the scheme was ever actually broached to the Carranza government are expected to be issued within the next few days. Probably it will be the first official act of a new foreign minister, whose appointment by General Carranza is expected at Guadalajara.

The general feeling in Mexico is that the Zimmermann letter cannot be genuine. Both the Japanese and German ministers denied knowledge of the plan.

NO HETTY GREEN MONEY.

Trenton, N. J., March 3.—New Jersey will not get any inheritance tax on the millions of the late Mrs. Hetty Green. State Comptroller Newton A. K. Bubbee announced his conclusion that she was not a resident of the state, despite her many years of housekeeping in a $28 a month Hoboken flat.

An affidavit from Colonel Alexander M. Green, Hetty Green's son, convinced the comptroller that her legal residence was Bellows Falls, Vt. New Jersey has received $20,000 from her estate as transfer tax on stock in New Jersey corporations.

JAPAN DENIES PLOT.

Never Received Alliance Proposition From Germany.

Tokyo, March 3.—Japan has received no proposition from either Mexico or Germany, directly or indirectly, to join in a possible war against the United States, Viscount Motono, Japanese foreign minister, stated.

Viscount Motono said he considered such an idea ridiculous, it being based on the outrageous presumption that Japan would abandon her allies. If Mexico received the proposal, Viscount Motono added, that country showed intelligence in not transmitting it to Japan.

SENATE STANDS BY PRESIDENT

Will Vote Him Power Today on Armed Neutrality.

STONE LEADS THE OPPOSITION

Chairman of Foreign Relations Committee Repudiates Bill He Reported. Only Fifteen Votes Against Immediate Consideration of Measure—Navy Ready to Arm American Ships at Once.

Washington, March 3.—With the death of American men and women in Germany's submarine campaign and the German effort to embroil the United States with friendly neighbors behind them a large majority of the senate fought to vest President Wilson with full authority to protect American life and American rights at sea.

Before the senators was the apparent intention of the president to proceed at once to the arming of American merchantmen for their protection in their ocean journeyings. It was apparent that the bill authorizing the president to place the United States on a basis of armed neutrality had the support of an overwhelming majority. The administration demand for consideration of the bill was carried by a vote of 76 to 15.

The opposition to the bill was led by Senator Stone of Missouri, chairman of the foreign relations committee, which framed the measure, and up to yesterday the spokesman of the administration on matters affecting foreign affairs in the senate.

Stone Repudiates Bill.

The crowded floor and galleries were aghast as the Missouri senator solemnly resigned the bill reported by his committee into the hands of Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, ranking member of that body. The gravity of the situation was apparent in the strained and anxious faces of the senators around him when he announced that he was not in accord with the bill as framed.

"I do not believe," he said, "that it would be proper for me to continue in the management of the bill on the senate floor in this situation."

Immediately the Missouri senator father stirred the senate by proposing an amendment radically limiting the scope of the armed neutrality bill and flatly inimical to the request of President Wilson. The amendment would prohibit:

The use of any person under the employ or direction of the president to operate guns on armed ships.

The carrying of munitions to a belligerent on any ship convoyed by or under the protection of a naval vessel.

About the amendment centered the fight for the authority demanded by the president, and it precipitated a debate, which for gravity and fervor has seldom been equaled in the senate. Senator Stone led the forces supporting the amendment, with the declaration that the duty of preserving neutrality did not impose on the United States the further duty of guarding the munitions transports of belligerents.

Party Lines Forgotten.

Under the leadership of Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska and Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, up to the present the management of the president's foreign policy, Democrats and Republicans united to oppose the Stone amendment and to support the president's demand for authority to meet the situation.

Party lines were forgotten in a burst of patriotic oratory which seemed to indicate that what little opposition there was to the bill would be lost sight of.

Administration leaders said that despite the limited character of the similar measure passed by the house Friday, the lower body would ultimately agree to the broader bill. The senate measure as framed by the committee provided:

That the commanders and crews of all merchant ships of the United States and bearing the registry of the United States are hereby authorized to arm and defend such vessels against unlawful attacks, and the president of the United States is hereby authorized and empowered to supply such vessels with defensive arms, fore and aft, and also with the necessary ammunition and means of making use of them, and that he be and hereby is authorized and empowered to employ such other instrumentalities and methods as may in his judgment and discretion be necessary and adequate to protect such vessels in their lawful and peaceful pursuits on the seas.

The sum of $100,000,000 is hereby appropriated to be expended by the president of the United States for the purpose of carrying into effect the foregoing provisions, the said sum to be available until the first day of January, 1918.

The bill would authorize a bond issue to raise the $100,000,000 and would authorize the use of $25,000,000 of the money to aid the war risk insurance bureau in handling "present war risks."

Ready to Arm Ships.

Complete arrangements for arming American merchant vessels have been reported to President Wilson by Secretary of the Navy Daniels.

Secretary Daniels made it clear that the passenger vessels of the American line can be furnished with guns and gunners within twenty-four hours after the presidential order is issued. These ships would be the first to be armed, and the government expects them to resume their regular sailings under the protection of the naval armament.

Daniels reported that guns ranging from three inch to six inch naval rifles are stored at Gun Island, at the Brooklyn navy yard, at the Norfolk navy yard and at Boston ready to be mounted on merchant ships at once.

He pointed out that the American line ships were built to receive guns and that the mounting of them would call for little labor. He said it might take a longer time to arm other vessels, as a three inch gun exclusive of the mount weighs 19,000 pounds, and many ships would require structural bracing before they could mount such weapons.

So far the president was told only two requests have come to the department for arms and gunners outside of those authorized to arm and defend such vessels against unlawful attacks, and the president of the United States is hereby authorized and empowered to supply such vessels with defensive arms, fore and aft, and also with the necessary ammunition and means of making use of them, and that he be and hereby is authorized and empowered to employ such other instrumentalities and methods as may in his judgment and discretion be necessary and adequate to protect such vessels in their lawful and peaceful pursuits on the seas.

VILLA'S PRESTIGE GONE.

Forces Scattered and Influence in Northern Mexico Lost.

Washington, March 3.—General Francisco Villa is no longer a factor in Mexican matters. The state department has been so advised through an American official source and likewise through a quotation of General Margain that the former rebel leader's physical condition was such as to count him out as a factor.

The American official message said that Villa's forces were scattered and that he no longer held his grip upon northern Mexico.

DEMONSTRATOR NOT NAMED.

Warren Freeholders Refuse to Make Farm Appointment.

Belvidere, March 3.—The Warren county freeholders have refused to appoint a farm demonstrator for the county. The reason was the fact that the annual budget had been made up by the board and they had no right to make a supplementary appropriation for this purpose.

It was the sentiment of the board that an expression of the taxpayers must be had before such an office could be created.

YOU'RE BILIOUS! CLEAN LIVER AND BOWELS TONIGHT

Don't stay headachy, sick, or have bad breath and sour stomach.

Enjoy life! Remove the liver and bowel poison which is keeping your head dizzy, your tongue coated, breath offensive, and stomach sour. Don't stay bilious, sick, headachy, constipated and full of cold. Why don't you get a box of Cascarets from the drug store and eat one or two tonight and enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced. You will wake up feeling fit and fine. Cascarets never gripe or sicken like salts, pills and calomel. They act so gently that you hardly realize you have taken a cathartic. Mothers should give cross, sick, bilious or feverish children a whole Cascaret any time —they act thoroughly and are harmless.—Adv.

President Willard today was made chairman of the advisory commission of the Council of National Defense. Mr. Willard will not resign the presidency of the railroad when he assumes this office, in which he will serve without pay. The understanding is that he will devote a great deal of his time to the task of coordinating the immense resources of the nation in preparation for possible hostilities. WOULD ENLARGE STATEHOUSE

Commission Plans Move to Create More Room.

TO HOUSE ALL DEPARTMENTS

State Architect Asked to Prepare Plans For Enlargement—New Administration Building In Stacy Park Among Suggestions Made—Move For Economy Seen In Uniform Stationery For All the Departments.

Trenton, March 3.—Plans for the enlargement of the statehouse to eliminate the present overcrowding and provide proper accommodations for various state departments are contemplated by the statehouse commission, composed of Governor Edge, State Treasurer Read and State Comptroller Bugbee. State Architect George S. Drew has been asked to formulate a definite scheme of improvement along several lines.

One suggested is the construction of a new administration building and another that a separate building be constructed to accommodate the state courts, state library and possibly the state museum. Whether such a building would be constructed in Stacy park, a considerable tract reclaimed from filling in marshlands along the Delaware river, or on state property already owned along State street has not been decided. The commission will give the subject full consideration before making any recommendations to the legislature.

As a move in the direction of economy the commission has decided to provide uniform stationery for all departments. It will also modify the present system of awarding contracts for printing by providing that all printing possible be done at state institutions already equipped for that purpose. It will also seek reports from all insurance upon state property with a view of having the state insure its own property as soon as the fund available for that purpose becomes adequate.

STATE LIBRARIANS MEET.

Hold Joint Session With Pennsylvanians at Atlantic City.

Atlantic City, March 3.—Three hundred librarians are here for the twenty-first annual joint convention of the Pennsylvania Library club and the New Jersey Library association, which opened with a meeting of the New Jersey body.

Pennsylvania presided over both sessions today, John Ashhurst, librarian of the Free library of Philadelphia, in the morning, and State Librarian Thomas L. Montgomery at night. Topics included "The Indians of Pennsylvania and New Jersey and the Literature Concerning Them," by George P. Donehoe of Coudersburg; "Recollections," by Edward J. Nolan, librarian of the Philadelphia Academy of Natural Sciences; "Advertising the Library," by Professor Herbert W. Hess of the University of Pennsylvania, and "The Library For the State at Large," by Miss Anna A. MacDonald of the State library.

FOR RED CROSS WORK.

Beverly and Edgewater Park Women Form Chapter.

Beverly, March 3.—A Red Cross meeting held at the Masonic temple proved a great success. More than a hundred women from Edgewater Park and Beverly attended. The meeting was in charge of Mrs. James Mulford, chairman of the Burlington county chapter, presented Captain Burbank of New York, who delivered an interesting lecture on the necessity of preparedness.

As a result of the meeting a local chapter was formed. The following officers were elected: Mrs. Thomas A. T. Perkins, vice chairman, Mrs. Garrett B. Leiderman, secretary and treasurer, Mrs. John W. Davis. Meetings will be held every Friday afternoon.

WANT COMMISSION RULE.

Woodbury Again Agitates Question and Calls Public Meeting.

Woodbury, March 3.—Commission form of government for this city is again being agitated. This time the board of trade has taken up the matter by approving the report of the special committee appointed to look into the question. The suggestion that a public meeting be held March 14 in the courthouse was adopted. It is proposed to have addresses on commission government and obtain the signatures necessary for a vote.

Opponents of the plan have also started a campaign. The move made along the same lines a couple of years ago sank into oblivion after Wenonah voted a similar proposition down.

$2,000,000 Will Broken.

New York, March 3.—After a prolonged trial a jury before Supreme Court Justice Greenbaum broke the will of Mrs. Amelia Gertrude Cutter, disposing of an estate of nearly $2,000,000, for the second time. Surrogate Cohalan refused probate to the will in 1914, but his decision was reversed by the appellate division of the supreme court and a new trial ordered.

CAT COMMISSIONER NEWEST STATE JOB.

Albany, March 3.—Senator Theodore Douglas Robinson, Colonel Roosevelt's nephew, had his bill amending cats recommitted to the conservation committee for a public hearing on the merits of the measure. According to Senator Robinson, his bill has brought a host of letters advising him and criticising him for proposing that the hitherto unfettered neck of cats should wear a collar and tag like dogs.

Several persons have applied for the position of cat commissioner under the terms of the bill. All these and the cats are to have their day in Albany to a fair day.

NOW THE DENIALS ARE COMING OUT

What the New Brunswick Girls Really Think of Their Press Notice

Published statements in various papers that the North Plainfield girls used unfair tactics in the basketball game with the New Brunswick High School girls, causing them to lose the contest, brought emphatic denials from the Middlesex county girls yesterday. In fact, there was a veritable storm of protests and denials.

Miss Mildred Cronk, the manager of the team, said:

"The North Plainfield girls played a fair and square game in every respect. There was no roughness, and the charge of tickling is an absurd one, and as it has been published in the New York newspapers much harm is apt to be done our team in so far as future relations with North Plainfield and other girls' teams are concerned."

"None of the players of our team complained about any roughness or tickling. I played during the entire game and found the visiting team fair and square. North Plainfield won the game on its merits."

Miss Gretchen Smith,[illegible] who coaches the team, supported the players in refuting the charges and declares there was not the least foundation for the charge.

Miss Olive McCallum, who was slightly injured, states that it was not through any rough playing that the mishap occurred. It is declared that the charges give an entire false impression of basketball as played by girls. Girls' teams are coached by lady instructors, and never has there been undue roughness, such as is sometimes seen in the contest between boys. The games are played according to girls' rules and are under the direction of the proper officials.

HOPES AND TABS TO CLASH AT H. S. COURT

With both regular line-ups on the floor the T. A. B. S. and Hope Chapel basketball teams will meet this evening on the P. H. S. gymnasium floor for a brand new series of tilts. Both teams are out for victory and some battle is anticipated between these old-time rivals.

Frank Rimmer, who is well known throughout the basketball world, is booked to referee the contest. The high school court was secured to accommodate the large number of fans who, it is expected, will want to see the two aggregations come together at the indoor sport.

BOWLING MATCHES

The Second Night and St. Joseph's club bowling teams will clash in the first of a series of matches Monday evening at the K. of C. alleys. The former team is of unknown qualities and will remain so until the scheduled series takes place. The Saints have staged a few tilts since the first of the year with fair success.

ANCHOR PINNERS DROP THREE AGAIN

Local Masonic Bowlers Up Against It on Elizabeth Alleys Thursday Night

Not fully recovered from the blow dealt them by Essex Lodge a few nights since, Anchor Lodge pinners were still a little grouchy Thursday evening on the Elizabeth alleys and dropped three straight to the representative Washington team. Only in the last game were the totals close, the two teams being separated by some nineteen pins.

Ring's 214 was a very good example for the rest of the Washingtons in the first game, and following his lead they established an 846 figure. Dr. Ley was the man to set the pace in the second game, with 194, while in the last Dear, born a 263 was the best mark on the Washington slate. Anchor's card was guiltless of any double-centuries and the highest tally attained was Laing's 182 in the second game.

COUNTY LEAGUE'S FINAL STANDING

Park Club Stands Sixth When the Curtain Went Down This Week

With the final games of the Union County Bowling League off the boards and the final standings figured out, it is found that the Elizabeth Elks are winners of the 1917 championship. Park Club pinners of the borough hold down sixth position in games won and lost.

Three teams managed to secure a high score of 1,000 or better. Park Club maple smashers struck this score early in the season and for several weeks held the high-water mark of the circuit. The Elizabeth Elks and the Jr. O. U. A. M., however, later secured higher scores.

The Park Club put up a game scrap until the end of the circuit's season and made a creditable showing, all things considered.

BROWNS ON WAY TO TEXAS

By United Press:

St. Louis, March 3.—The Browns, about twenty strong, departed today for Palestine, Tex., to begin the spring training stunts preparatory to making their annual effort to grab off the pennant in the American League.

Fielder Jones, ruler of the iron hand, was in charge of the gang. The squad was composed of infielders and outfielders Rumler, Shotton, Miller, Stevens, Lavan and Sisler; pitchers, Wellman, Koob, Groom, Plank, McCabe, Sothoron and Kerr. Hartley and Severeid made up the catching delegation.

The squad will reach the Texas camp Monday and immediately begin warming up. The advance guard, which reported at Palestine Sunday, is expected to receive the aggregation that departed today.

A SLIP TWIXT——

Through a misunderstanding of information conveyed to this office it was stated through these columns Thursday that the Plainfield Grammar School had used P. H. S. Freshmen in a basketball tilt against a Westfield team Wednesday afternoon. A slip of the tongue and a slip of the keys comprised the combination of the mistake, which we would undo at this time.

What the T. A. B. S. pinners did to the Elks last evening was nothing short of a crime. After having been cleaned up for a trio of tilts Thursday evening by the antlered aggregation the Abstainers took their opponent by the horns last night and took three straight themselves just for luck. And believe the scores, there was some pinning going on at the Fough street lanes!

Layton, who has been playing in the background for some time, came to the fore as the shining light of the occasion, coming through with an average of 203.2, which is some scoring, say we. O'Keeffe, also of the Tabs, struck the high-water mark for the evening, scoring 225 in his sandwich game.

The West Enders copped three of the four scores of the double century scores of the evening, while the two teams split even on the six scores of 190 or better.

CHIPS FROM THE CLAYS

"Chief" Bender is said to be ready to retire from baseball and accept a position as salesman for an ammunition concern. As an Indian trapshooter the "Chief" should be a good attraction at least.

Farmers' gun clubs are becoming all the rage. In nearly every part of the country the men who till the soil are forming clubs, so that they can shoot all the year round instead of the few months of the hunting season.

Trapshooters who know say that Mark Arie, of Thomasboro, Ill., is the best handicap shooter in America—and one of the greatest shots in the world. That's praise enough for any man.

RECREATION SECONDS WIN FAST GAME AT HIGH SCHOOL

The newly-organized Recreation second five annexed its first win of the season last night in the Plainfield High School gym by defeating the Mohawk A. C. in a fast battle by the score of 24 to 18.

The first half was easily the better of the two, the Recreation boys keeping in the lead throughout.

The second half was rather slow and the Recreation boys had things their own way after Berse was put into the fray.

WAR HELPS SOMERS

Cleveland, O., March 3.—The bankers' committee which two years ago took over the affairs of Charles W. Somers, former owner of the Cleveland American League baseball club, announced yesterday that Somers has been financially rehabilitated through the sale of half his coal land holdings. War prices for coal were said to have greatly increased the value of the land. A year ago the bankers' committee sold the control of the Cleveland baseball club, in which Somers was the leading holder, to James C. Dunn for more than $500,000.

LOCAL RIFLE CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

FUTURE WORK PLANNED

With a large number of members of the organization present, the Plainfield Rifle Club last evening revived its activities with a more marked spirit of progressiveness in the session held at Company K armory last evening. The following officers were elected for the ensuing term of one year: President, Dr. D. G. Atwood; vice president, D. F. Aungst; secretary, H. F. Biddle; treasurer, H. D. Davis; range officer, Capt. Charles Peterson.

The following were elected to membership in the organization: H. F. Biddle, D. F. Aungst, John D. Duffy, H. D. Davis and Paul J. Westergard. A large number of new applications are expected to be received in time for the next meeting to be held Friday evening, March 9, at the armory.

Dr. C. W. Leonard, chairman of the committee on securing an outdoor range for use during the coming summer and fall months, made an extensive report on the progress of the committee, but final action on this matter was deferred until the next meeting. Until such times as the outdoor range is ready, however, plans have been made for continuing indoor rifle practice at the armory each Wednesday and Saturday afternoon and evening.

Plans for securing a proper number of rifles for range use were made, and the officers of the organization were authorized to execute the necessary bonds to secure the rifles and other necessary equipment.

From present plans it is expected that the workings of the club will be kept active the year round. Work will be mapped out for all classes of rifle handlers. The beginner will be given especial attention from now on at the indoor range, and it is expected that many young men will become affiliated with the club for this reason. Young men over eighteen years of age are eligible for membership.

It is the purpose of the officers of the club to bring the membership up to the 500 mark in the course of the next few months. This mark was decided after canvass of a fraternal nature by Messrs. Hazze and MacDougall, of the Westfield Rifle Club, a thriving organization in the nearby suburb. Applications for membership to the local club may be transmitted to the meeting next Friday evening through any of the officers mentioned above.

BOROUGH MAIDENS CLAIM THE TITLE

But Are Willing to Entertain Any Who Care to Dispute the Claim

The North Plainfield High School girls' team has laid claim to the feminine basketball championship of the city and borough. Having tried every possible means of securing a series with the Plainfield High School maidens and failed, the borough girls feel they are justified in making this claim.

Early in the season the managements of both schools got together to arrange the usual series, and everything was satisfactorily agreed upon as far as the borough girls were concerned. A week later, the Canadians were informed by the P. H. S. coach that unless certain new conditions were compiled with the series could not be played. P. H. S. wanted to use six players in a game, while N. P. H. S. wanted to play five. Finally, North Plainfield compromised and suggested six players for the first period and five in the second.

This appeared to be a fair agreement, as nearly all the games that either school participated in thus far are under these conditions.

Any feminine quintet disputing North Plainfield High School's claim to the championship can arrange a game with the boroughites.

SENIOR GIRLS WIN EASILY

The Freshmen girls' team of North Plainfield High School proved no match for the speedy Senior maidens in a spirited tussle yesterday afternoon on the Saengerbund Hall court. The final count was 18 to 5.

NEW YORK AMUSEMENT

"Pals First" at the Fulton

One of the laughing successes of the New York theatrical season is "Pals First," now in its third week at the Fulton Theatre, where it is attracting the crowds. "Pals First" is a delightful comedy, adapted for the stage by Lee Wilson Dodd, from Francis Perry Elliott's novel of the same name, by arrangement with the Harper Brothers. The result is a fetching play, which starts out with a swing, and winds up with an entirely unexpected punch. It is a play of life, love and adventure.

The "Pals" are splendidly portrayed by Thos. A. Wise, whose recent masterly performances of Falstaff, in "The Merry Wives of Windsor" still linger in mind, and William Courtenay, one of the Beau Brummels of the American stage, and whose previous big hit was in that other great play, "Under Fire."

The play follows the story in the book, closely, in its development of the strange adventures that befall the "Pals," the mysteries at Winnecrest, near Nashville, Tenn., and the tempestuous romances of which Danny (Mr. Courtenay), the Domitie (Mr. Wise), and the lovely Southern maiden, Jean Logan, are the storm centres.

Among the prominent players producer J. Fred Zimmerman, Jr., has provided to aid his stars, there are: Ann McDonald, Auriol Lee, Marion Kerby, Lester Chambers, Francis X. Conlon, Ben Johnson, Harry Lewellyn, Lawrence Eddinger and James A. Ryan. The production is particularly beautiful one, especially that part where in the prologue is enacted.

VIRGINIA CARTER LEE

In connection with this department Miss Lee will gladly answer any inquiry relative to domestic science, a stamped envelope being necessary for a personal reply. Address care of Courier-News.

In continuing the article of last evening bread-making is an art in which a knowledge of science is both a pleasure and an aid to the cook. A pleasure, because in each part of the process she recognizes the working of well-known laws. An aid, in that she understands how to manipulate these laws to secure definite results.

She knows that in the dough, under proper conditions, the diastase changes the starch into sugar, that the yeast plant in its growth changes the sugar present in the dough into carbonic acid gas and alcohol, both of which, being volatile, escape in the baking. The carbonic acid gas, expanding into bubbles, causes the swelling of the dough, known as rising.

By proper kneading, the gas is distributed evenly through the dough, so that when it has finally expanded, and been driven off in the oven, the result is numerous very small and of uniform size, making a fine-grained loaf. Being familiar with physics and chemistry, she knows that the proper initial temperature for baking bread (450) degrees Fahrenheit) is that at which the yeast plant is instantly killed. This accomplished, a lower temperature finishes the process, giving the delicate brown to the dextrinized crust, which has such a delicious flavor that it is no wonder many "prefer the crust."

Every part of the process is interesting to the scientist. There is no question of luck in her bread-making. She follows scientific laws and the outcome is as inevitable as the change of seasons. Going still another step, the cook who understands bacteriology knows that yeast contains other ferments, which produce acids and sometimes makes bread sour, if the conditions are favorable to their growth. She is, therefore, careful to avoid these conditions, namely, long fermentation or extreme high temperature of the dough (above 98 degrees) and a low initial temperature in the baking.

I have already referred to the nitrogenous food, albumin. By applying her knowledge of science, the cook is able to prepare this food substance so that it is the most use to the body, that is to say, more digestible. We have seen that, although most soluble in its raw state, to many it is unpalatable in that condition. For this reason we resort to cooking. The egg composed largely of albumen is an excellent illustration of this food.

The student of science has learned that albumen coagulates at a temperature of 160 degrees Fahrenheit, and is then a creamy, jelly-like mass, almost as soluble as the albumen in its raw state, and having the advantage of being very palatable. If the egg is subjected to the boiling temperature, the albumen becomes tough and leathery. Therefore, to secure the greatest digestibility, together with palatability, the eggs are put into boiling water and allowed to stand at a temperature below 180 degrees Fahrenheit, about ten minutes.

Meat is another protein food. Collagen is the chief constituent of the connective tissue. This is insoluble in cold water, but in hot water it is quite soluble and yields gelatine. When heated, the collagen swells and becomes tender. This is the reason for broiling beefsteak over coals and for soaking tough meat in a mixture of olive oil and vinegar.

An understanding of the action of heat on albumin is the key to the proper cooking of both meat and fish. When the object is to retain the nourishment in the meat, it is first subjected to a very high temperature for a short time, in order to coagulate the albumin on the outside, thus closing the pores and so protecting the natural juices of the meat. A temperature just below the boiling point, during the remainder of the time, will render the connective tissues soft and tender. The effect is the same through whatever medium the heat is conveyed, whether by hot air (as in roasting), by boiling water (as in so-called boiling), or by hot coals (as in broiling).

When the nutriment is to be used in broths or stews, the object is to extract the juices from the meat. Therefore, an opposite course gives the desired result. The meat is placed first in cold water, which is gradually heated until it conveys a temperature about 135 degrees Fahrenheit.

The albumin remains in the soluble state and the nutriment is dissolved out of the meat, leaving only the stringy fibers. The scientist also knows that the flaky substance present in the broth is very valuable as a food, being a digestible form of albumin, and she does not discard it after the manner of her untrained sister.

I know only too well that a knowledge of science is not the only requisite of a successful cook. A person who would succeed in this line, as well as in any other, must have sound judgement and an active mind. She must also learn to use her hands quickly and skillfully. Granted she possesses the qualities mentioned, combined with a schientific education along domestic lines, she is far better equipped to succeed than those without the last qualification.

BENNY'S MAGIC BAG—Part II

Presently the great griffin dropped with a jolt heavily on the ground. The princess, still unconscious, rolled toward the rock behind which Benny stood.

"Humph!" cried the griffin, shaking his scales till they rattled like a crate of iron bolts tumbling down a ladder. "There is someone around here. Hey! you, boy, behind that rock, come out quick."

Now Benny was so scared that he ran right out in the griffin's face. This so surprised the big beast that he gave a start and jumped back. That gave Ben an idea and he at once decided that as he could not fight the monster, with any equal strength, he would find some smart way in which to kill off this creature and save the princess. He soon made up his mind and, putting a bold face on matters, strode up bravely to the creature.

"You are a pretty thing to be going about the country scaring people and running off with the king's children," said Benny, tossing his head proudly. "You have an idea that you are somebody big. I want you to know that I can kill such things as you in a wink of my eye if I wish."

When the griffin heard this he felt queer. True Benny was a scrap in size, but he might be a great magician in disguise and the griffin began to grow uneasy.

"Well, I don't know who you are," said he, politely, as he smoothed down his scales with a horny claw, "but I bet I am a bigger fellow than you and I can do things you can't."

"All right," replied Benny, "but first let me make the princess comfortable." So Benny, who had noticed, the princess was opening her eyes, brought her a bit of water in his cap and propped her up in the shade of the rock by a rosebush.

The griffin was worried, but he dare not say a word—those magicians might change one into all sorts of things, and it was best to be polite. So he sat on his hind legs and fanned himself with his creaking tail, while Benny gave the princess some crackers he had in his pocket.

"Excuse me a moment," said the griffin. "I have to run back into the cave a bit to see my wife," and he disappeared into the den.

Now, when Mrs. Griffin heard the story she was very angry at her husband for being afraid of Benny.

"The idea," she exclaimed, "of you, a great big griffin, 500 years old, being afraid of that chit of a boy. He would not make a good bite of chewing-gum for me. Run out front and bring both those human beings in here."

"Better go yourself," said the griffin, who still felt uncertain. So both the griffins came out of the cave making a big display, shooting flames out of their mouths and rattling their scales against the rocky sides of the den. The poor princess shook with fear and hid her face, but Benny knew just what to do. At his feet lay his dear brown bag, and he had still one more wish left.

"Ho! Ho!" laughed the lady griffin, as she caught sight of the trembling girl leaning in fright against the rock. "Get back into my den and stay there, both of you, or I will not wait till tomorrow to let you see your fate."

Benny took up the brown bag.

"Turn those two griffins into bats," he said, as he saw two monsters advancing toward him. "And take the princess and myself home as you fly back to India."

The griffins gave a scream, for they saw the genii, who was an old enemy, coming toward them. And in another moment they had shriveled into ugly, black bats who flew far back into the cavern, where they remain to this day. While Benny and the princess were quickly taken home by the bag, which after dropping them in the palace yard, disappeared in the sky.

Of course Benny and the princess were married, and a great wedding they had, with bonfires and balls, bands playing and so much music, singing and dancing that for a whole week it seemed like the Fourth of July.

CHAUNCEY OLCOTT COMES HERE TUESDAY NEXT

Chauncey Olcott plays at Plainfield Theatre Tuesday night, March 6th, in "The Heart of Paddy Whack." It is said that his profits when balanced up on the first of the year ran well over $50,000. "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling" led the list of his songs in popularity. This was particularly so on the other side of the water, as the song was a prime favorite with the British troops in France, where it was changed in tempo and used as a marching song, until the Sinn Fein rebellion occurred, when it and several other Irish tunes were dropped. Up to that time almost 147,000 copies of the song went over to the troops on the continent.

There is a wealth of handsome scenery, brilliant electrical effects, and costumes that will prove interesting to the feminine portions of the audiences, many of them having been made from Parisian creations.

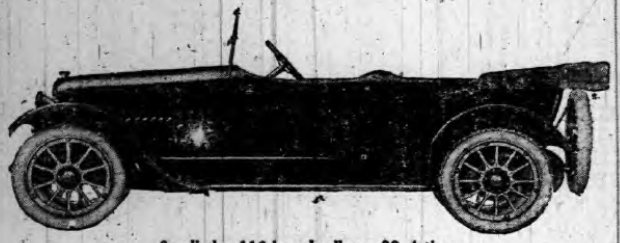
A car that thoroughly covers the $685 to $1285 car field, because no buyer in this class will stop at less, nor pay more after seeing this beautiful Six.



6 cylinder 116-in. wheelbase, 33x4 tires.

Experienced motorists recognize at a glance that this is not a "cheap six" but a thoroughly high-grade car, handsome in design, splendid in performance, and equal in every respect to cars selling for two to four hundred dollars more money.

In the designing and building of the Elgin Six, now entering upon its second triumphant year, this company has aimed at four dominant qualities: Distinction—Endurance—Economy—Comfort.

We believe that these four features as embodied in the New Elgin Six provide all the value, style and luxury that can be desired by the most exacting motorist.

Thousands Now Wish

They Had Waited For a

Hudson Super-Six

Over 27,000 happy owners got it.

But thousands, because of the over-demand, took sixes of other makes. And now they find there is no similarity between other sixes and the Super-Six. In every way the Super-Six out-performs all cars of every type.

The same situation—weeks of waiting for a Hudson Super-Six—may occur again this spring.

We urge you to avoid it by selecting your car now.

The New York Show brought out no new sensations.

There were only types which the Super-Six has hopelessly defeated.

There were Sixes with the same old limitations.

There were Eights and Twelves, once thought to overcome them.

But nothing to endanger the Super-Six supremacy. This type still holds, and will retain, all the worth-while records.

We have on exhibit this year's models, with the various new-style bodies. There are eight beautiful body types in the Hudson line this year.

They are rich and luxurious masterpieces in design.

Immediate delivery is possible. In a few weeks that condition is not likely to exist.

A Unique Condition

Never before has any one car held all the worth-while records. Never has one car proved supreme in speed, in hill-climbing, in flexibility and in endurance.

Never before has a major feature been controlled by a single maker.

The Super-Six, by a single invention, increased motor efficiency 80 per cent. It gave to Hudson a capacity beyond anything ever known.

That is why the quality-car demand so centers on the Hudson. Why Hudson out-sells any rival. And why the spring demand, as last year, will far exceed supply.

The Super-Six invention minimized vibration. In that way, friction and wear in the motor are reduced almost to nil. Thus it saves most of the power which other types waste. And it probably doubles endurance.

That is why it won in a hundred tests. It utilized power which others lost. It kept going when others stopped. It kept in perfect running order when others went to pieces.

A Gasoline Saver

That saving of wear and friction means tremendous economy. It apparently means a double-lived motor. For the limits of endurance of a Hudson Super-Six motor have never yet been realized. Its superlative performances are important only in what they show for endurance.

In the new Hudson appears another economy—a wonderful gasoline saver. It is on the cars we show. Come and see that, and the new Hudson luxury. The rest you know.

WILSON REPEATS OATH OF OFFICE

FIRST CEREMONY SIMPLE

THE PRESIDENT'S OATH
TWICE TAKEN BY WILSON.

I do solemnly swear that I will faithfully execute the office of president of the United States and to the best of my ability preserve, protect and defend the constitution of the United States.

The oath taken by Vice President Marshall was the same as that taken by senators and is prescribed by the constitution. It follows:

I do solemnly swear that I will support and defend the constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic, that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the same, and I take this obligation freely without any mental reservation or purpose of evasion, and that I will well and faithfully discharge the duties of the office on which I am about to enter. So help me God.

Washington, March 5.—The second term of Woodrow Wilson began at noon Sunday. To be absolutely exact, it began at 12:04 p. m., when in the presence of only Mrs. Wilson, members of his cabinet and before Chief Justice Edward Douglas White, he repeated the solemn inaugural oath and, bending over the little black Bible held out to him by the aged jurist, pressed his lips to its open pages.

"The Lord is my refuge, a very present help in time of trouble," were the sacred words upon which the kiss was imprinted. The passage had been selected by the president himself.

President Wilson, accompanied by his wife and augmented detail of secret service operatives, motored through a blinding rain to the capitol. He repaired to the president's room, and there throughout the morning engrossed bills were brought to him for signature. The cabinet gathered about him.

Mrs. Wilson, wearing deep mourning, sat in the window recess. Her sister, Mrs. H. H. Maury of Roanoke, Va., had died less than a week ago.

Few at the Ceremony.

The president expressed the wish that the party to witness the taking of the oath should be the smallest possible. Even so close a friend and counselor as Secretary to the President Tumulty effaced himself. Mr. Tumulty heard the murmur of the oath from the corridor of the senate.

Among the first to congratulate the president after the cabinet members had had their say was Senator Knute Nelson of Minnesota.

"Congratulations, Mr. President," said the sturdy old warhorse of Republicanism as he grasped the hand of the chief executive. "I want to tell you

SCHOOLS' AIM MISUNDERSTOOD

So States Dr. Henry M. Maxson, Superintendent of Public Instruction

REJECTS OLD THEORIES

Modern Idea Is that Education of a Child Should Begin at Birth—Old School Dealt With Book Learning

"Many things in the modern school are criticised through ignorance of their aim," says Dr. H. M. Maxson, superintendent of schools. "Once it was thought that education consisted simply of schooling. The years in the child's life before he went to school and the years after he left school had no part in his education.

"Now we realize that education begins the day a child is born and continues until the day of his death. Schooling is but a part of his education, and even during the years he is at school his education is influenced almost as much by the things outside of school as by the school itself.

"Education is a process of developing the child into ripened and perfected manhood. In this process the child acquires knowledge, habits, tastes, ideals and power. The old time school dealt only with book knowledge; it concentrated its efforts on the intellect of the child.

"The modern school in its wider view of education broadens its field to include the whole nature of the child and attempts to influence and shape his education outside of school as well as in school, and this includes many things that seem strange and wasteful to one who is familiar only with the old time school ideas that dealt only with book learning.

"The aim of the modern school, which we are trying to work out in Plainfield, has been well formulated by the city of Pittsburgh.

"'The schools of the people should give to the children:

"'Ample provision for exercise and joyous play.

"'A course of study covering training for service and appreciation; presenting in the order of their importance those things which contribute to a strong, healthy body, an alert, sure mind, a fine, steadfast spirit.

"'Those things in art or craft which develop to the full the latent ability of each one to serve his fellows with dexterous hand, a lofty mind, and a glad heart, rich in response to the beautiful and noble in life.

AID FOR U. S. SOLDIERS IN CASE OF NEED

An interesting report of the work being done by "The New Jersey Branch Prince of Wales Relief Committee, U. S. A." has been submitted. Their equipment and work has been divided in a most interesting way and all surgical dressings are being made strictly according to the Red Cross requirements, one-half of the finished work being sent for the relief of the suffering Allied armies abroad, the other half set aside to provide an American reserve, which will be kept in the event of need arising for such supplies in the United States.

The articles for the hospitals shipped abroad to date, number two hundred and eight thousand five hundred and eighty-two; these have been made during the last 22 months by the active working members.

The "American Reserve"—which has taken three months in the making—numbers sixteen thousand two hundred and four dressings, and hundreds are being added to this number each week.

As the committee is thus doing double duty all members are urgently asked to give every Thursday morning for this service. They will be helping those in their great present need and suffering and also aiding in laying aside a goodly store towards relief in this United States should the occasion arise.

PRESIDENT GETS STORY OF MEETING

Thanks Hon. E. R. Ackerman for Sending Account of Local Patriotic Meeting

Hon. Ernest R. Ackerman, of this city, sent a copy of the Plainfield Courier-News to President Wilson, with the account of the big meeting in the Plainfield High school, Tuesday night, last, at which former President Taft spoke, urging all patriotic citizens to uphold President Wilson in his efforts to keep us out of war, by every means, except by the loss of the national dignity and honor.

Mr. Ackerman has received in reply the following letter:

"White House, Washington
"March 3, 1917.

"My Dear Senator Ackerman;—Let me thank you cordially in the President's behalf, for your letter of March 1st, and for your kindness in calling attention to the enclosure. I shall lay it before the President at the very first opportunity.

"Sincerely yours
(Signed) "J. P. TUMULTY,
"Secretary to the President."

His subject will be "The Human Side of Military Life," with which he is familiar. He went "out" to France with Earl Kitchener's army of Ten first hundred thousand men, "which is the name of one of the captain's books.

Captain Beith has experienced the tragedy as well as glorious side of the war and has been decorated for bravery. During the winter he has been lecturing in this country and Canada and the outcome of these talks has been a book entitled "Getting Together," showing the part of the country in the great war.

WILL DISTRIBUTE LETTER TO PRESIDENT

Mayor Leighton Calkins this morning stated that the committee have had several hundred copies printed of the letter which went to the President of the United States last week with the signatures of 1821 people in Plainfield and North Plainfield.

This letter has been printed on good paper, in an attractive form and, no doubt, many who signed it would be glad to obtain copies.

Anyone desiring one of these memorials may obtain it by calling at the city's clerk's office. Copies will be freely distributed as long as they last, but the number is limited.

SONG RECITAL BY BETSY LANE SHEPHERD

The announcement is made that Betsy Lane Shepherd, the young American soprano who recently has come into great prominence through splendid work in oratorio and concert, will give a recital in this city. The noted young singer will appear in the High school auditorium on Tuesday evening, March 13th. The appearance of this artist, who is comparatively new to music lovers outside of New York and other large centers gains interest from the fact that she has won a recognized position among the finest sopranos of America in a remarkably short time. She will be presented to the music lovers of Plainfield by Vogel & Briggs of the local Edison Diamond Disc Studio, the concert being given under their auspices. Admission to the affair will be by card which may be obtained so long as accommodations remain by calling, writing or 'phoning the above-named firm.

Her recital here is certain to attract the attention of all music lovers, and there is every indication that she will be greeted by a large and exclusive audience.

NEW BOARD RULES NOW IN EFFECT

Acting County Attorney Blatz Points to Changes Made by Freeholders

The steps which the 1917 Union county Board of Chosen Freeholders have taken to put into effect a more efficient business system, as was recommended by the Grand Jury in its presentment, has been pointed out by Acting County Attorney Francis J. Blatz, of this city. Although Mr. Blatz enumerated specific instances in which the board adopted the recommendations later proposed by the Grand Jury, it was his belief that now the whole method of managing county affairs was on a sound basis.

In the first place, it was strongly recommended that each committee be compelled to keep a minute book of its proceedings so that the records of the work of the committees shall be open to the full board for inspection. At the very first meeting of the year the new director, George G. Teller, made this recommendation, and most of the committees reported that they had been doing this for some time past. Since that time practically all of the committees have adopted this practice.

Ever since the investigation of the county affairs began the county attorney has been attending the meetings of the board to direct the membership in all legal propositions that may arise. Any questions arising now are immediately passed on by the county attorney, as was recommended in the Grand Jury's presentment.

Other changes in the board's conduct of county affairs date from the meeting on January 1, when Director Teller asked the board to take to heart the "lessons learned in 1916." Committees make monthly reports now on the work they have done during the month and nearly every financial need is provided for beforehand by authorization of the full board.

Whenever any resolution is presented to the board which calls for expenditure of money, the question is now asked, "Mr. Director, don't we need a roll-call vote on that?" and the vote has been taken.

WILL DISCUSS THE SALOON PROBLEM

An address will be delivered in Trinity Reformed Church tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock, by the Hon. Oliver W. Stewart, of Chicago, Ill., who was one of the speakers in the great Flying Squadron campaign which lasted from September, 1914, until the following June. During this period the saloon question was presented in 255 cities.

Mr. Stewart will outline to his audience tomorrow evening the plans for the future and will hold an up-to-date discussion of the latest phases of the saloon problem; he will also review the campaign in which he took so prominent a part.

No admission will be charged and everybody is invited to attend.

CHURCH DAY AT TEMPLE BAPTIST

Tomorrow will be "church day" in the Temple Baptist Church, the first Tuesday of each month being so assigned under the new system. The plan is that all departments shall meet on a given day instead of on different days as previously, it being felt that such a plan would bring the members of the various societies into closer fellowship, give additional interest to the departmental work and be of general benefit to the entire church.

The Ladies' Aid Society will meet at 2.30 o'clock; the Missionary societies will meet at 3.30; the Ladies' Aid Society will serve supper at 6.30; the trustees will meet at 7.15, and the Philathea classes will meet at 8 o'clock, and the Christian Endeavor Society at 8.30 p. m.

SERVICES HELD AT GRACE P. E. CHURCH

The Rev. J. R. Atkinson, of New York, preached last evening at the Lenten service in Grace Episcopal Church. Dr. Atkinson gave a most eloquent talk and was greeted by an unusually large congregation considering the inclement weather. On Sunday evening next the Rev. Dr. Oldham, of St. Luke's church, Convent avenue, New York, will conduct the service. There will be a men's Bible conference in the parish house at 8 o'clock this evening.

Lenten services are being held every week-day at 5 p. m., except Wednesday. Holy Communion on Thursday, 10 a. m., Litany, Wednesdays and Fridays, at 10 a. m. and Choral evensong, Wednesday at 8 o'clock.

EX-PRESIDENT TAFT HAD A NARROW ESCAPE

Former President William H. Taft had a narrow escape yesterday afternoon in a train wreck on the Boston Express, of the New Haven road, on his way to Bridgeport to address a Polish meeting. Three miles west of Stamford, between Cos Cob and Riverside, two coaches left the train on the Mianus river bridge, but the bridge railing prevented them from going over into the river, although a thousand feet of track was torn up.

Mr. Taft was one of the derailed coaches, and lent his aid to those who suffered from shock.

BELGIAN RELIEF SOCIETY MEETING

The March meeting of the Plainfield Belgian Relief Society will be held tomorrow morning, at 10.30 o'clock, at 996 Hillside avenue. Business of importance will come before the meeting, and the attendance of all members is requested.

SUNDAY SCHOOL TO LEAD PRAYER MEETING

The prayer meeting of the Temple Baptist Church will be in charge of the Sunday school on Wednesday evening, George Huff will lead. The subject will be "A Life that is pleasing to Christ." WAGE-EARNERS TO DISCUSS THEIR PART IN NATION'S PREPAREDNESS

By United Press:

Washington, March 5.—A conference of representatives of more than three million American wage-earners will be held here March 12, to determine the part labor shall take in the preparedness program in the national crisis.

PRESIDENT MAKES INAUGURAL ADDRESS

Special to the Courier-News:

Washington, March 5.—President Wilson, making a brief, eloquent review of the four years that have elapsed since he first assumed the office of President of the United States, delivered his second inaugural address this noon, in front of the Capitol, in the midst of an assemblage representing the official dons of the nation.

The President laid down these principles: That all nations are equally interested in the peace of the world and the political stability of free peoples, and equally responsible for their maintenance. That the essential principle of peace is the actual equality of nations in all matters of right or privilege.

That peace cannot securely or justly rest upon an armed balance of power. That governments derive all their just powers from the consent of the governed, and that no other powers should be supported by the common thought or purpose or power of the family of nations.

That the sea should be equally free and safe for the use of all peoples, under rules set up by common agreement and consent, and that as far as practicable they should be accessible to all upon equal terms.

That national armaments should be limited to the necessities of national order and domestic safety.

That the community of interest and power upon which peace must henceforth depend imposes upon each nation the duty of seeing to it that all influences proceeding from its own citizens meant to encourage or assist revolution in other States, should be sternly and effectually suppressed and prevented.

PRESIDENT MAY YET ARM MERCHANT SHIPS

By United Press:

Washington, March 5—President Wilson has asked the legal authorities of the Government to give him a formal opinion with twenty-four hours, as to whether or not he has the power to furnish navy armament for American merchantmen without special authorization of Congress. Upon this decision depends whether the President will go ahead, despite the Senate's failure to act on the armed neutrality measure.

If the President finds he has such power it probably will delay his calling an extra session of Congress. Otherwise, if the legal advisers report that he has not such authority, he will call an extra session as soon as the Senate acts upon the revision of the rules, and will reintroduce his "armed neutrality" request.

GERMANY DIVIDES UP BELGIUM IN 3 PARTS

By United Press:

Copenhagen, March 5—That part of Belgium, which is in Germany's hands, has been divided into three provinces with the cities of Brussels, Namur, and St. Quint designated as the capitals, according to Berlin advices today. A German governor has been appointed for each district, the scheme of government being the same as that in the part of Poland that is occupied by Germans.

MERCANTILE MARINE IS NOT DISMAYED

By United Press:

New York, March 5—Officials of the International Mercantile Marine operating ships of the American line stated today that they are not dismayed by the action of Congress, which failed to agree to President Wilson's request for armament of merchant ships. Their hopes centre around the President in the belief that he will take the necessary action.

JAPANESE PAPERS HIT U. S. "WEAK DIPLOMACY"

By United Press:

Tokio, March 5.—Bitter attacks on the United States for American discrimination against the Japanese was the most significant part of editorial comment here today, on the German plot to align Mexico and Japan with Germany against the United States.

The newspaper Osaka Mai-Nichi declared the revelations of the plot "illustrated the weakness of American diplomacy toward Germany.

REPULSED GERMAN ATTACKS AT VERDUN

By United Press:

Paris, March 5.—A violent German attack over a front nearly two miles long made in repeated assaults, was repulsed last night, with heavy losses to the Germans, the official statement says. The attack which was in sufficient force to indicate a general offensive, was in the region of Caurieres woods, and north of Verdun.

MILITARY CAMPS MEETING AT CARNEGIE HALL

The great preparedness meeting in Carnegie hall tomorrow evening will be of interest to Plainfield citizens. New operations of the military training camps will be explained and any one wishing to join either the Plattsburg, the Plum Island or the Navy organizations may do so at this meeting. A company of Plumb Island boys will drill on the stage. Several Plainfield boys will be members of this company.

ALL BRITAIN IS IN SYMPATHY WITH WILSON

By United Press:

London, March 5.—For the first time the British press and public today seemed to have arrived at a full understanding of the complex position which President Wilson faced because of the Senate rules permitting filibustering. Therefore comment, public and in the British newspapers, reflected a more sympathetic attitude toward President Wilson and his problems, than at any time in recent weeks.

On the other hand the "handful of Senators" who blocked passage of the armed neutrality bill in the Senate came in for general execration for "thwarting the national will," as most newspapers expressed it.

Sydney, N. S. W., March 5.—Owing to constant obstructive tactics on the part of the laborite members, the Australian government today announced the double dissolution of Parliament.

By United Press:

Peapack-Gladstone, March 5.—The Raritan river subcommittee of the Somerset Hills Visiting Nurse Association will undertake to dispose of the garbage of this place. At the request of the Board of Health the committee, at a recent meeting, considered holding a clean-up week. It was decided, however, instead of holding a clean-up week, to send a wagon around the town every Saturday to collect rubbish.

Those who want to avail themselves of that opportunity to dispose of their rubbish must have it ready when the wagon arrives and will be required to pay ten cents for the service.

The association also will undertake a tuberculosis exhibit, the arrangements for which are being made with State officials. This, too, was considered at the suggestion of the Board of Health.

MISS PADDOCK SPEAKS AT Y. W. C. A. SERVICE

Miss Estelle Paddock, editorial secretary of the national board of the Y. W. C. A., was the speaker at the vesper service held at the local association building yesterday afternoon. Despite the storm there were more than fifty young women present. Miss Paddock spoke on "Belief, Doubt and Prejudice."

A feature of the service was trio selections, violin, 'cello and piano by Leopold Wolff, Mrs. William Vaughan and Miss Mabel Maxson. This part of the program was greatly enjoyed.

Miss Constance Hutchinson, secretary of the Syracuse University Y. W. C. A., will be the speaker at the supper to be given by the Bible class this evening. Miss Hutchinson will speak on work among the students in the universities.

WOMEN STRIKE; RUBBER PLANT CLOSED DOWN

New Brunswick, March 5.—The plant of the United States Rubber Company has been closed down indefinitely as the result of the women shoemakers making a demand for higher wages. About ten days ago the men asked for an increase of two cents on a pair of rubber shoes.

This led to the factory being closed for three days. It was reopened last Monday, when some of the men who struck returned to work. Now the women have made a similar demand and the 600 employes have all been thrown out of work as a result.

THIS WAS THE "MAPLE SUGAR SNOW"

The snow that fell all day yesterday is known as the "maple sugar snow," and is supposed to start the sap rising in the maple trees. Several persons who had hung cans around the trees to catch the syrup said this morning that they had found the syrup beginning to run.

STARTING FUND FOR HEBREW SOCIETY

Will Be Used for Purchase and Equipping the Leal School Property

The Young Men's Hebrew Association campaign to raise sufficient funds to take possession of the newly acquired Leal School building has started off with enthusiasm. Already a number of young men have volunteered their services to go out and collect part of the fund which has been subscribed, and although coming in slowly, the men and women of this city are showing their anxious desire to see the project an actual accomplishment by talking about it and giving their available funds in aid of the cause.

Harry Dreier, of West Front street, in talking to a member of the committee last night, said: "The cause is an excellent one and you can put my name down for $100. I want to see your plans materialize, and if I can render any service to you don't fail to count on it."

The F. A. Dunham-Clarin Co. sent a check for $25 with the statement that the cause is such that both Jew and Gentile should contribute, for the movement is one that is sure to benefit the community in which we all live, and everyone who can should co-operate."

A small committee of men is calling on some of the local merchants for their donations and the campaign committee earnestly hopes that every person who is solicited will give to the extent of his or her ability, and furthermore bespeaks for them a courtesy becoming only to men who will do their work in an unselfish interest for the best future of the young men and women.

The public is requested to bear in mind that these workers have nothing to gain for themselves, but that the results of their efforts, if they succeed, will be the city's gain, because Plainfield will oe, as a result of this new association building, the pride of all the association's members for what its citizens are making possible for them. The aid and co-operation of all good-hearted people, regardless of sect, is earnestly solicited in this unselfish movement.

The auxiliary committee that has volunteered its services are the following: Jacob A. Fass, Samuel Krauthamer and Arthur H. Richards. The first mentioned member has headed his collection of funds with a personal donation of $75 for the fund. Voluntary subscriptions, either in cash or check, may be forwarded to Harvey Rothberg, chairman, 119 West Front street, or Benjamin J. Kline, treasurer, 922 West Front street, this city.

FLAGS DISTRIBUTED TO CITIZENSHIP APPLICANTS

Several hundred small silk American flags suitable for wearing on the coat lapel will be distributed to applicants for citizenship and others having business with his office by County Clerk Martin, at Elizabeth. The flags were purchased by Mr. Martin solely for free distribution. Friday's number of citizenship applicants seemed smaller than those of past Fridays, but it is still necessary to keep the county clerk's office open from 7 to 9 o'clock Friday evenings. Only Plainfield applicants will be accommodated Tuesday evening.

BATCHELOR CLUB DANCE

The Batchelor Club will run another invitation dance in Dobele's Hall, North Plainfield, on March 16. C. L. Wahl, Jr., of Dunellen, and George Baldwin, of Jersey City, are the committee in charge.

BOY SCOUTS OFFER TO SERVE COUNTRY

Forward Resolution to Mayor and Place Themselves at Disposal of Executive

At a meeting of the Executive Committee of Plainfield held in New York the following resolutions were adopted, and forwarded to the Mayor:

Whereas: The National Council of the Boy Scouts of America has deemed it wise that at this critical period in the nation's history to recommend the placing at the disposal of municipal executives throughout the country, the resources of the troops of the Boy Scouts in America, be it

Resolved, That the Executive Committee of the Plainfield Council, Boy Scouts of America, in meeting extraordinary on this twenty-eighth day of February, 1917, do pledge to the Mayor of Plainfield, N. J., the services of all the Boy Scouts of Plainfield for public service to the community in any capacity in his judgment they may be best fitted.

Because of the specific training that the Scouts receive they will be prepared to do many useful things. Every Scout who wears a second-class or a first-class badge is prepared to render first aid to the sick or injured. He could assist at a hospital. Every Scout who ranks above a tenderfoot knows how to send and receive messages by the Semaphore or Morse code. If the telegraph and telephone lines should be out of commission he could help his community to maintain communication with any point within signaling distance. Many troops have serviceable wireless outfits.

In Plainfield a wireless club has been formed and a set being erected at Scout headquarters. Scouts are trained to observe and remember. They know the public buildings, the locations of fire alarm boxes, hospitals, police stations. They could assist the police and firemen. Scout pace enables them to cover distance quickly on foot when there are no conveyances. With knife, hatchet and cooking kits they would help to shelter and feed persons temporarily homeless. First-class Scouts can swim. That would insure the stretching of the first string of the needed bridge for the rescue of persons in danger of drowning. Long hikes with careful observations, written reports and map-making have prepared them to gather important information. Practical nature study has taught them the uses of the trees, plants and vegetables. Their training of other boys in the tenderfoot requirements has made them teachers and they would multiply the results of their own efficiency by imparting it to others.

DISCUSS LIABILITY ON BONDS

Berkeley Heights, March 5.—Alleged liability of the New Providence Township Committee for bonds of the defunct West Line Railroad, now operated as the Passaic and Delaware branch of the Lackawanna, has again been called to the committee's attention in a letter from McCarter & English of Newark, counsel for the bondholders. The subject was discussed in executive session and the committee declined to disclose the action taken.

The township committee is said to have guaranteed the bonds of the railroad, but it has repeatedly refused to pay the bondholders.

POSTMASTER MAKES TIMELY SUGGESTIONS

Explains How Loss of Parcel Post Packages Can Be Avoided

Postmaster A. E. Hoagland suggests that persons sending parcel post packages place a card or paper bearing name and address of the sender and addressee, plainly written in every parcel, in case the address or wrapping is lost. This will enable the postmaster to find the owner in case of necessity. Absolutely no other writing is permitted.

A suit case arrived at the local postoffice in January without any address. On investigation a calendar from New York State was found inside and an inquiry disclosed the fact that the postmaster in the town indicated by the calendar had been asked about the case. The party was written to, and after an elapse of six weeks the owner secured his property. In the New York postoffice a room the size of the local office is reserved for the storage of lost parcels and many clerks are employed trying to locate owners. Where the owners are not found the parcels are sold at auction.

Mr. Hoagland also advises that all valuable parcels be insured. Three cents will provide for $5 insurance, five cents for $25, ten cents for $50, and twenty-five cents for $100. In case of damage reasonable payment will be made, the collection of insurance being easy through making an affidavit. It is also urged that no money be sent in special delivery letters. In such cases it is advised that letters be registered or that a check or money order be sent.

MISS IRENE MILLER GIVEN SURPRISE PARTY

Miss Irene F. Miller, of 21 Fairview avenue, the borough, was given a pleasant birthday surprise at her home, Saturday evening, when guests to the number of fifty called to help her celebrate the event. During the evening refreshments were served. There were guests present from Easton, Jersey City, Newark, Westfield, Bound Brook and Plainfield.

One hears so much just now about the fireless cooker, that the useful casserole seems almost forgotten. This seems rather a pity, for while admitting the many virtues of the cooker, food never seems to taste quite so good, or present such an attractive appearance, as when daintily garnished and served, piping hot, out of one of these homely dishes.

The old idea of a casserole was some preparation of chopped fish, poultry or meat, enveloped in a crust of cooked rice, macaroni or potato. Properly speaking, however, a casserole is a dish, the material of which, in many instances, is first prepared in a sauté or frying-pan, and then transferred to the earthenware pan, covered with stock or sauce and allowed to finish cooking by a long, slow process, which developed the true flavors of the food.

The use of this dish makes in every way for economy—economy of material, time and labor. Often, by this means, materials too tough for ordinary cooking may be served in a nutritious and tender condition.

Food prepared by this method of cooking may be either cooked in a moderate oven or over the simmerer burner of the gas range. The idea is to keep the liquor in the casserole about 212 degrees Fahrenheit, or less, so that it may simmer and not boil.

It is also well to remember that, perhaps, the crowning advantage of casserole cookery, especially in a family where the meals are apt to be irregular, is that the dish can be kept waiting for a considerable time without deterioration and that food can be left in it with perfect safety as long as desired.

In the following tested recipes will be found formulas for using the casserole to the best advantage:

Fish Soup

Skin and fillet one pound of haddock or flounder. Put the fish bones, skin and other fish trimmings into casserole with 2 quarts of stock and salt to taste, bring to the boil and skim. Then add a bay leaf, one large sliced onion and two stalks of chopped celery, cover the casserole and simmer for one hour and a half. Strain the liquor, add one cupful of milk and pour gradually on to one heaping tablespoonful of melted butter, that has been blended with two tablespoonfuls of flour. Stir constantly over a moderate heat until very smooth and cook for four minutes. Add the small pieces of fish, one tablespoonful of chopped parsley, pepper to taste and cook (covered) for twenty minutes longer. Serve with tiny toast squares in the casserole.

Hungarian Goulash

Slice one large onion and brown it in hot beef dripping. Then remove the onion, add one pound of stewing veal and half a pound of lean beef (cut in small pieces) and brown them evenly in the remaining dripping. Place both the meat and onion in a casserole and add three *cupfuls of boiling water and one tea*spoonful of paprika. After covering the dish, set in a moderate oven and simmer for one hour and a half. Meanwhile, fry twelve small potato balls, six tiny white onions and half a dozen each of carrot and turnip balls (cut these with a vegetable cutter). Then add them to the meat, at the end of the hour and a half, with one teaspoonful of salt, a bay leaf, one clove and two heaping tablespoonfuls of flour mixed to a paste with three-quarters of a cupful of cold water. Stir the gravy until well-thickened, put on the cover and cook for an hour longer.

Pork Chops en Casserole

Cut up two large onions, mix with one tablespoonful of powdered sage and place in a layer in the bottom of a buttered casserole. Mix together one heaping tablespoonful of flour, one teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of pepper and one teaspoonful of curry powder. Coat six pork chops (of medium size) with this mixture, lay them on top of the onion and sage, cover with hot water and simmer (closely covered) for two hours. Season the gravy with a teaspoonful each of kitchen bouquet and Worcestershire sauce and serve with spiced, baked apples.

Baked Beef Liver

Cut beef liver into slices, wash, pour over boiling water to cover and let stand for five minutes. Then drain, dry and sprinkle with pepper and salt. Lay the slices neatly into a buttered casserole and cover with a forcemeat made from three heaping tablespoonfuls of grated bread crumbs, one teaspoonful of chopped parsley, one-quarter of a teaspoonful of powdered herbs and one minced onion. Season the dressing lightly with a salt and pepper, pour over one cupful of rich brown sauce and lay slices of bacon across the top. Bake slowly for one hour, after it reaches the boiling point.

THE KING'S PLAIN DAUGHTERS—Part I

Once upon a time there lived a King who had three very plain-looking daughters, and try as he would to get husbands for them, as soon as the wooer saw the face of the Princess he was to marry he fled from the palace. At last the King in desperation offered to divide his kingdom between three Princes who would marry his three daughters.

One day there came to the palace a King who had lost all his money and lands in wars and was very poor. "I have three sons," he said, "who will marry your three daughters upon one condition, and that is that neither of your daughters shall ask to see her husband until after the ceremony."

The King was only too glad to grant this request, as he knew that was the only way he would ever get his daughters married off.

"His sons must be as plain-looking as my daughters," thought the rich King. "Well, it will be a fair bargain; the sons cannot be plainer-looking than my poor girls."

The day for the triple wedding arrived, and the daughters were dressed in rich silken robes with beautifully embroidered veils over their plain faces.

"You were not to ask to see your husbands until after the ceremony," answered the poor King.

"Your future husbands are behind this screen," he said, pointing to a large screen in one corner of the room.

They did not dare question too much, for they knew they were lucky to get husbands. So the ceremony was performed and then the sisters asked to see their husbands.

They drew aside their veils and the father of the three Princes drew aside the screen.

The Princess sisters forgot their own plain looks when they beheld their husbands.

Instead of three men there stood before them three hunchbacked dwarfs with faces wrinkled and old.

"Never, never will we live with such creatures!" cried the three sisters. "Rather will we die old maids than have those dreadful-looking creatures for our husbands."

But they were married to the dwarfs and there was no help for them; they had to take their husbands, and the dwarfs lived at the palace, following their wives about like three dogs everywhere they went.

One day the Princess sisters rode into the forest trying to get away for a little while from their hideous husbands, but no sooner were they on their way than a clatter of hoofs was heard behind them and there were the three dwarfs on horseback following them.

"Let them come," said one sister;

"we will take them into the forest and lose them. Ride fast, sisters."

The faster the sisters rode the faster the three dwarfs trotted after them, and soon they were in the depths of the forest and the sisters found they could not find the way back.

"Do not be frightened," said the dwarfs, "we will care for you."

The sisters laughed at them and said: "Take care of us, you miserable little creatures? You are too small to even care for yourselves. If a wild animal comes this way we will have to take care of you, though we should feel more like leaving you than saving you."

The three dwarfs did not reply, but they went to work to build three beds of boughs for their wives, and then they gathered berries for their supper.

"You must sleep," the dwarfs told the sisters, "while we watch for the enemy."

The sisters were so tired that the kindness of their husbands softened their hearts a little, but they could not refrain from asking how they expected to fight an enemy if one should appear.

"He will come," answered the brothers, "and then you shall see how we will protect you."

Tomorrow I will tell you what happened.

OLCOTT TOMORROW NIGHT AT PLAINFIELD THEATRE

The Irish romantic actor, Chauncey Olcott, in "The Heart of Paddy Whack," at the Plainfield Theatre tomorrow night

Bringing the real spirit of Ireland in his personality, Chauncey Olcott will present "The Heart of Paddy Whack," at the Plainfield Theatre tomorrow night with all its delicious atmosphere of quaint scenes and characters. So natural is the portrayal of the life in the picturesque little Irish village that the audience seems transported back to the middle of the last century and landed among the heather-clad hills and soft green valleys of the Emerald Isle.

Mr. Olcott plays the role of an Irish barrister, who lives with an old housekeeper in a lonely cottage while he toils for the benefit of ward, whom he has not seen since she was a child, and who returns as the story opens. How she plays havoc with the heart of poor Dennis and upsets all his notions of duty is part of the romance that is unfolded in the play. Some of the best known of the Olcott song hits are introduced in the performance and sung as only Chauncey Olcott can sing them. Among the numbers are "A Broth of a Boy," "Irish Eyes of Love," "Who Knows?" and "A Little Bit of Heaven."

"GOLDEN CROOK" TONIGHT AT PLAINFIELD THEATRE

The "Golden Crook" comes to the Plainfield Theatre tonight, with Billy Arlington as the comedian. His creation of the tramp is conceded to be a comedy classic, made so by his intelligently conceived and artistic exploitation of the type.

With Mr. Arlington are such well known favorites as Frank Dobson, Dolly Meeden, Eleanor Cockran, Pall Mall Trio. There will also be a big dancing scene introducing for the first time on the American stage, Hito and Roflow.

The scenic production is unusually elaborate, while the chorus fascinating attractive, will delight as of yore with its color and charm.

HOWE'S MOVING PICTURES FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

Lyman Howe's moving pictures will be shown at the Plainfield Theatre Friday night and Saturday afternoon and night of this week.

Notwithstanding the enormous outlay Mr. Howe has incurred to present his remarkable films to his patrons, the prices will remain the same as always, although one feature in itself is worth many times the small admission fee. Besides, by way of extraordinary value, there will be a most pleasing diversity of other subjects, including spectacular automobile races over the steep and winding course of Giant's Despair, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., as well as a liberal measure of quaint humor and merry-making provided by Howe's exclusive "comics," which are cleverly interspersed throughout the program.

N. J. CONFERENCE BEGINS TOMORROW

Will Open Campaign to Raise $15,000,000 to Pension Aged Ministers

Special to the Courier-News:

Trenton, March 5.—Featured by an active campaign in behalf of the movement to provide a $15,000,000 fund to pension old ministers and their dependents, an attack by some of its members upon the course of study for students preparing to enter ministry of the church, and other questions of vital interest to Methodism, the eighty-first annual session of the New Jersey conference will open, next Tuesday evening in the First Methodist church, Atlantic City. Bishop Joseph F. Berry, of Philadelphia, the resident Bishop of the Philadelphia area, to which the New Jersey conference belongs, will preside. The Rev. George T. Hanris, formerly of Trenton, is pastor of the church which will entertain the conference.

It is expected that the question of the union of the Methodist Episcopal church, which includes the denomination north of Mason and Dixon's line and all through the West, and the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, will be taken up and endorsed. The split occurred over the slavery question, and in recent years reunion has been proposed. The matter took definite shape at the last general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church at Saratoga last May, when delegates were present from the Southern church and there was a great demonstration when Northern and Southern bishops, who formerly differed, joined hands on the question. The preliminary steps have already been taken by a commission appointed at Saratoga, and following the endorsement of local conferences it is expected that the reunion will actually be effected by the time of the next general conference in 1920.

The New Jersey conference includes all of New Jersey south of the Raritan river. It includes 347 churches, a membership of over 69,000, property worth more than $5,000,000, 357 Sunday Schools, with 7,122 officers and more than 82,500 scholars; 11,000 members in the Senior Epworth Leagues and 10,000 members in the Junior Epworth leagues, besides many other interests.

CHILDREN HATE PILLS, CALOMEL AND CASTOR OIL

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "Good" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are tortured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.—Adv.

SUFFRAGISTS OFFER SERVICES TO STATE

Approval of the action of the emergency board of the New Jersey State Suffrage Association in offering its services to the State in case of necessity as a result of the present international crisis, was endorsed by the executive board at a meeting held at the New Jersey headquarters in the State Trust Company building Friday.

There were forty-five of the sixty-one members of the executive board present and after disposing of some routine matters, a conference was held with the members of the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield, among those present being Mrs. H. C. White, Mrs. C. L. Riley, Mrs. A. B. Jones, Mrs. G. Stuart Simons, Mrs. Henry Wells, Mrs. S. S. Carvalho and Mrs. M. D. Tomlinson. The local members entertained the executive board at luncheon before the afternoon conference.

RETIRES AFTER 42 YEARS.

Elmer, March 5.—Joseph M. Hitchner has been placed on the retired list by the Pennsylvania Railroad company after serving forty-two consecutive years as station agent here. Mr. Hitchner was appointed agent and telegraph operator in the latter part of 1874. The station was an unimportant one then, and the salary was only $35 a month. The town has since become one of the agricultural centres in south Jersey, and for several years the agent has had a big business to handle.

Overwork has undermined Mr. Hitchner's health and forced him to retire at the age of sixty-five, five years below the regular pension age limit. Mr. Hitchner has been a member of the council for several years and is also a director of the Elmer National bank.

WOMEN IN COUNTY COUNCIL.

Organizations Join Forces For United Uplift Effort.

Woodbury, March 5.—A county council has been organized in this city by delegates representing the School league, Parent Teachers' associations and other organized bodies of women in the Central Baptist church.

Mrs. A. H. Reeve, vice president of the state congress, explained the purpose of the council and what work is being done not only in this state, but in others. At the afternoon session D. F. Steelman, county superintendent of public schools, spoke of how the school organizations have wonderfully increased interest throughout the county in school work, and he said surely good *results will be attained through an*other organization.

PLANS MASS MEETING

The Jewish Relief committee, of which William Newcorn is chairman, is planning for a mass meeting to be held here on March 27, in the interest of a $10,000 fund to be raised for the relief of the sufferers of the race in the European war.

MARIE DRESSLER TODAY AT PROCTOR'S THEATRE

At Proctor's Theatre today the program consists of Marie Dressler, in the comedy "Tillie Wakes Up"; "Heart Strings," starring Allen Holubar and Maude George, and Mrs. Vernon Castle in the eighth chapter of the serial "Patria."

Thomas H. Ince's inimitable spectacle "Civilization" will appear for a forewell presentation tomorrow, Wednesday and Thursday. "Civilization" is something more than a mere movie, costing $1,000,000. "Civilization" is the Bible modernized, and shown on the screen sumptuously, even magnificently mounted, convincingly acted and perfectly photographed, a delight to the eye, a feast to the mind. Probably no other picture offered to the public possesses this attribute in so marked a degree.

NEWARK AMUSEMENTS

At the Broad Street Theatre

"Captain Kidd, Jr.," the great comedy success which Cohan and Harris will present at the Broad Street Theatre, Newark, all this week, is accounted one of the season's greatest hits in New York.

Perhaps it is the humaness of this charming play that makes it so attractive, or perhaps it is the lively action and rollicking fun of its four acts that find an appeal, or it may be that the characters in the play are so lovable that they find a responsive chord in the hearts of an audience.

Whatever it is, the fact remains that it appeals to all ages alike. The young man with his best girl, the young woman, all by her lonely, who has no young man; the high school maiden; the middle aged couple; the buyers from the cloak and suit houses, all find that "Captain Kidd, Jr.," teaches a lesson in laughter and philosophy in which there is not a dull moment.

Newark is to get the original cast and production direct from Broadway. Among the people of the play are Edith Taliaferro, Zelda Sears, Adele Rolland, Otto Kruger, Ernest Stallard, Charles Brown, Charles Dow Clark, Elmer Grandin, Edward Snader, Lincoln Plumer, Westcott B. Clark and Alf de Courcey.

WILSON'S INAUGURAL

Yesterday Woodrow Wilson, the twenty-eighth President of the United States, took the oath of office for a second term of four years, having been elected last fall by the greatest popular majority ever given a candidate for that office. Not since the inauguration of Abraham Lincoln in 1861 has the nation been confronted by conditions so ominous as they are today. Lincoln became President with the clouds of rebellion hovering over the land, and soon after his induction into office the struggle occurred that culminated in the triumph of Government dedicated to the proposition that men are born equal, and entitled to liberty and happiness. Today America looks on the bloody struggle across the Atlantic knowing not when she, too, may be forced from her position of neutrality to one of belligerency through the avowed determination of one of the warring nations to rule the world or ruin it. Shall that nation accomplish its purpose? The spirit of Washington, Jefferson, Jackson and Lincoln cry out in protest against such a suggestion, while those who fought and died at Bunker Hill, Trenton, Monmouth, Bull Run and Gettysburg, teach the citizens of today that democratic government was born, sustained and brought to its present development, through sacrifice and vigilance. Woodrow Wilson assumes the Presidency burdened with official cares and responsibilities that are overwhelming, and surrounded by Congressional representatives who fail to realize that their duty to the American people should be above political expediency, or personal advantage. Those who represent in Congress constituencies where the majority is more in sympathy with foreign nations than it is with this nation which give them a haven of safety and an opportunity to progress as they could never have progressed in the land of their nativity, would do well to put their ears to the ground and listen to the rumblings beneath the surface. If they find that they cannot do their duty, they should immediately abandon their post of honor before dishonoring it, because they do not represent the spirit of America and should have no place in the councils of the nation. The attitude of those Senators who yesterday defeated the ship-arming bill and the naval appropriations bill could have done nothing more encouraging to the enemies of this nation. If they can find consolation in their acts let them do so, but let American citizens throughout the land beware of those who give aid and comfort to our foes under the flimsy pretense that the President asked for powers of a dictator. All that President Wilson desires is that the dignity and honor of the American nation may be upheld, and that our citizens shall enjoy their legitimate rights as guaranteed by international law. The time has come when all Americans should get behind the head of the nation—when they should give him their moral support in his efforts to do the right thing at the right time, just as the people of this city did last Tuesday night when an inspiring patriotic meeting was held in the high school.

This is not a time for political bickerings. It is a time to prepare for whatever emergency may present itself. As Wilson looks today on a troubled world and contemplates the recreancy of some who are sworn to uphold the rights and dignity of the American people, he should know that the country stands solidly behind him, and that the people are sometimes deceived in electing representatives who misrepresent.

PRESIDENT JUSTLY INCENSED

President Wilson is justly incensed over the filibustering on a minority of the Senate in its last hours which neutralized his best efforts to obtain authority to do just what the great American public wanted him to do, in the face of international complications which have threatened our national honor and dignity. Such filibustering, in the words of the President, "in the face of disaster have made our country helpless and contemptible." Unfortunately there are no rules governing the Senate to prevent one man from exercising dilatory tactics that will completely paralyze the legislative and executive branches of the government. The inability of the Senate to act in the last hours of its existence, have rendered impossible some of the most necessary legislation when the need was most pressing and most evident. President Wilson says he could call the Congress in special session, but it would be useless in the face of his failure to bring about the most needed legislation when it was in regular session. The nation and its representatives stand back of the President, but eleven men have defied the nation and carried out their defiance to their satisfaction. The President in expressing his disgust over their action says, "The Senate of the United States is the only legislative body in the world which cannot act when its majority is ready for action. A little group of wilful men representing no opinion but their own have rendered the great government of the United States helpless and contemptible."

INAUGURATION ON SUNDAY

Woodrow Wilson was sworn in yesterday noon for his second term as President of the United States. Only twice before in our national history has inauguration day, March 4, fallen on Sunday. The first time was in 1821, when James Monroe, the fourth President, was inaugurated, and the next time in 1877, when Rutherford B. Hayes, of Ohio, was inaugurated, having been declared elected over his Democratic opponent Samuel J. Tilden, of New York. If the President should not take the oath of office in March 4, because that date falls on Sunday, the nation would be without a President for time being, but the responsibility of the office would devolve upon the Secretary of State, and from him in the following succession among the members of the Cabinet, Secretary of the Treasury, Secretary of War, Attorney-General, Secretary of the Navy, and Secretary of the Interior. This provision was made by the Forty-ninth Congress, for any contingency that might arise in case of the death, disability or removal of the President.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The fighting powers occasionally take the trouble to sink a ship that doesn't have any women and children on it.

In case of war, the big metropolitan papers are all equipped to let the enemy know all movements of troops before they take place.

Having declared war against the whole earth, it is expected that Germany will later prepare to do up the sun, moon, and stars.

The Germans should look out, for if they come over here they'll have to listen to Mr. Bryan talk.

Brazil, Argentina, Norway, and other neutrals pop their heads out from the depths of their holes for a brief moment, to remark that they will give us their moral support.

In view of the war situation a number of towns have patriotically given up the campaign for marble post offices as it might hurt their chances for a munition plant.

Bicycles will be more popular this summer, it is predicted. This may not be because it will be less work to propel them, but perhaps some one has designed a prettier bicycle skirt.

As long as the German submarines are permitted to operate, the best efforts of our farmers are being devoted to feeding the fishes.

PEOPLE'S FORUM

Defense of Merchant Vessels

In Wednesday's paper, under the caption "Who Can Answer This?" was an inquiry on the status of armed merchant vessels and submarines. May I offer a reply?

No international tribunal has yet passed upon submarine methods of attack. But international law is meant to maintain order in the family of nations, advance civilization and insure the peace and tranquility of the world. As our municipal law is meant to do within the State. It is founded upon the same eternal certitudes of right and equity. It is not conceivable, therefore, that the law of, cruiser warfare will be changed by the presence of the new form of craft it may be opposed to. If it is under a neutral flag the cruiser may stop it and send a small party aboard to search for contraband goods, just as a constable, armed with a search warrant may search a house for stolen property.

If contraband goods are found on the vessel possession may be taken of it. All vessels captured, whether enemy, or contraband, carrying neutrals, must be taken to the nearest port in the country of the captors, where the admiralty court will pass upon the legality of the capture.

There are exceptional cases in which the law of nations permits the captors to destroy the vessel at sea. But no lives may be taken or endangered. And in every case before destroying it, the captors must remove all persons on board to a place which, in lieu of the vessel, must be turned into the admiralty court for its adjudication upon the legality of the destruction.

Merchant vessels are not permitted to attack a naval vessel. To do so is tantamount to piracy, but if attacked, they may fight, and even sink their opponents in self-defence. Applying this law to the facts, the questions asked will almost answer themselves.

In February, 1915, Germany notified the world that all commercial vessels of the Allies would be sunk without warning. In pursuance of this, she sent down as many neutral as belligerent vessels. In May, 1916, the United States exacted from her a promise to sink no more without warning, and insuring the safety of passengers and crews.

January 31, 1917, Germany notified the United States that she repudiated that promise, and after a certain date would sink all vessels, whether under Allied or neutral flags. Secretary Lansing subsequently further emphasized this by saying: "From this date no special warning will be given to any boats by submarines." The idea of "secret instructions" is negatived by these positive notices from the German Government.

As to when a merchant vessel may fire upon a submarine. There are some expounders of international law who hold that it must wait until actually fired upon. But for a vessel to wait until the submarine has maneuvered to within the short range necessary for a torpedo, and then fire, is to make its own destruction certain. The law of self-defense admits of no such absurdity.

There stands the positive notice of the German Government that its submarines will sink every vessel within certain areas. It has placed submarines in those zones where they now lurk. Since the time of that notice of January 31, they have sunk 219 vessels of a total tonnage of 479,000, or about one and one-half per cent. of the world's available shipping. What more is needed to prove an intent to sink every vessel coming within their range? This is an attack, which may legally be repelled by force.

The question, "Will it justify Germany in declaring war?" The answer is No. Beyond shadow of doubt the first crack of a gun against her submarines will be followed by a declaration of war by Germany. But she will be in the position of the man who sought to justify the murder of another because after he had attacked his victim with a deadly weapon the other man sought to defend himself. The verdict of mankind will not "justify" Germany, because she is already outside the pale of the law.

ANSWERS TO INQUIRERS

To the Editor Courier-News:

In answer to inquiry of "E. K." I would like to give him my opinion of the matter:

As I understand it, under the new ruling, merchant ships of the United States when armed, on sighting a submarine in the so-called "war zone," if the submersible is above which, in lieu of the vessel, must be turned into the admiralty court for its adjudication upon the legality of the destruction.

A GOOD WINTER HABIT

Many people dread winter because the sudden climatic changes bring colds, grippe, rheumatism, tonsilitis or bronchitis. But thousands of well-informed men and women today avoid much sickness for themselves and their children by taking a few bottles of Scott's Emulsion to make richer blood, fortify the membranes of the throat and chest and create body-warmth to resist sickness. Soldiers at war receive cod liver oil; it will also strengthen you.

MERCHANTS TO DISCUSS SUMMER CLOSING PLAN

The question of summer closing of stores will be discussed at the meeting of the Business Men's Association in Exempt Firemen's Hall tonight at 8 o'clock. The merchants hope to arrive at some satisfactory arrangement in making a schedule for the summer months.

J. D. Lolreaux and Samuel Rothberg will have something to say on subject of "Shopping in Plainfield," and there will be reports of committee on credits and kindred subjects, including the "high cost of living; its negligent and fallacious treatment by politicians." Every member of the association is urged to be present.

P. H. S. MAY REVIVE CADET ORGANIZATION

There is some talk of reviving the cadet corps at the Plainfield high school, this being one of the results of the patriotic meeting held in this city tomorrow night. A few years ago the school had an efficient and well-drilled corps and it is believed that such an organization can again be maintained.

The fact that former President Taft while in this city urged universal training for boys has had much to do with the revival of the old spirit to organize a corps. No doubt a preliminary meeting will be held soon.

A TALK to COAL BUYERS

This company, in its advertising, has endeavored to impress upon the coal buying public, that by virtue of its organization and wholesale connections, it is in a position to render service of a particularly efficient kind, a service not possible to every dealer in coal.

This winter, during the coal shortage, this service has been put to the test, and how well our organization has met it can best be vouched for by our customers. We have not only taken care of all our orders, but we have furnished coal to other dealers as well, and we point to our ability to care for our trade under the exceptional conditions that have presented themselves, with considerable pride, for we feel that our claim to be able to serve the public satisfactorily at all times and under all conditions, has been amply demonstrated.

If we are not already serving you, would it not be wise to become one of our regular customers, and thus place your coal burden on responsible shoulders?

Give us the opportunity; we will serve you well.

GAS, HEARTBURN, INDIGESTION OR A SICK STOMACH

"Pape's Diapepsin" Relieves Stomach Distress in Five Minutes

Time it! Pape's Diapepsin will sweeten a sour, gassy or out-of-order stomach within five minutes.

If your meals don't fit comfortably, or what you eat lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is usually a sign of acidity of the stomach.

Get from your pharmacist a fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take a dose just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, nausea, debilitating headaches or dizziness. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin helps to neutralize the excessive acid in the stomach which is causing the food fermentation and preventnig proper digestion.

These large fifty-cent cases contain enough "Pape's Diapepsin" to usually keep the entire family free from stomach acidity and its symptoms of indigestion, dyspepsia, sourness, gases, heartburn, and headache, for many months. It belongs in your home.—Adv.

SOMERVILLE NOTES

CANDY THEFT STIRS SCHOOL

All but one of the high school youths who on Thursday night were suspended from school by the Board of Education for their alleged participation in the theft of a large quantity of candy, have been allowed to resume their studies. These students missed the Friday morning session, but were allowed to attend classes in the afternoon.

It was understood at first that the boys, of whom there were about seven, were suspended by the Board of Education Thursday night for a period of there months, but that on Friday morning the matter was referred to Prof. Allan K. Dilts, acting principal at the high school, who allowed all of the alleged wrongdoers to return to school with the exception of one.

Throughout the entire school term there has been much trouble and anxiety because there have been reports continuously that students had been missing some of the things which they would deposit in their lockers. In some instances the matter was brought to the attention of the Board of Education. The fact that hats, pairs of rubbers, muffs and other wearing apparel were being taken out of closed lockers has been disturbing the authorities at the school for some time.

When the candy theft was learned of and some of the students were thought to be connected with it, the board acted in a drastic way, but it was learned that the entire episode was looked upon by the alleged guilty ones as a joke. It is stated that the candy was taken from a locker which was entered by the aid of a skeleton key.

SCOTCH PLAINS

COMMUNITY STAGE IS DISCONTINUED

For the last twenty years the Scotch Plains Baptist Church has operated a stage coach for the convenience of the Fanwood people who desired to attend the services in the Baptist church. years ago this stage was capable of carrying from twenty to thirty people, was annually well filled, but for the last few years, three or four people made the trip.

Someone conceived the idea of calling this stage the "Community Stage." This was misleading to the public, and the driver was besieged by would-be visitors to Bonnie Burn, clam bakes, picnics, etc., and as spring is approaching and clam bakes and picnics will again be in order, the driver of the stage dreading the idea of telling people "for Baptists only" has resigned his position and the church seeing no necessity for such transportation, has discontinued the service.

16 NEW SENATORS FOR 65TH CONGRESS

They and Sixteen Re-elected Ones Take Oath.

Washington, March 5.—Thomas R. Marshall of Indiana took the oath of office as vice president of the United States at the opening of the special session of the senate of the Sixty-fifth congress called by President Wilson to transact executive business. Sixteen new senators of the United States also took the oath administered by Vice President Marshall.

In addition to these sixteen new senators the oath was administered to sixteen senators who were re-elected, making a total of thirty-two members entering upon new terms of six years. The organization of the new senate was thus completed.

A solemn dignity marked the ceremony coincident with the organization of the senate. President Wilson occupied a seat in front of the vice president's desk. The members of the United States supreme court, garbed in their somber black robes, occupied prominent seats in the front of the chamber. Cabinet officers, other high officials of the government and the foreign ambassadors and ministers were in attendance.

After prayer by the chaplain the special session was called to order by Senator Saulsbury of Delaware, president pro tempore of the senate, who administered the oath to the vice president. Mr. Marshall then delivered his inaugural address.

Although sixteen new senators were sworn in, the political control of the senate remains unchanged, the Democrats retaining a safe working majority. As constituted the senate is composed of fifty-four Democrats and forty-two Republicans, a loss of one Democratic seat from the majority in the sixty-fourth congress. The new senators sworn in were:

William M. Calder of New York, Republican, succeeding James O'Gorman, Democrat; Joseph R. Frazier of Maryland, Republican, succeeding Blair Lee, Democrat; Peter Goelet Gerry of Rhode Island, Democrat, succeeding Henry E. Lingot, Republican; Frederick Hale of Maine, Republican, succeeding Charles F. Johnson, Democrat; Joseph S. Frelinghuysen of New Jersey, succeeding James E. Martine, Democrat; John B. Kendrick of Wyoming, Democrat, succeeding Clarence D. Clarke, Republican; William H. King of Utah, Democrat, succeeding George Sutherland, Republican; Frank B. Kellogg of Minnesota, Republican, succeeding Moses E. Clapp, Republican; Hiram Johnson of California, Republican, succeeding John D. Works, Republican; Aristeus Jones of New Mexico, Democrat, succeeding Thomas B. Catron, Republican; Philander Knox of Pennsylvania, Republican, succeeding George T. Oliver, Republican; Kenneth D. McKellar of Tennessee, Democrat, succeeding Luke Lea, Democrat; Harry S. New of Indiana, Republican, succeeding John W. Kern, Democrat; Howard Sutherland of West Virginia, Republican, succeeding William E. Chilton, Democrat; Park Trammel of Florida, Democrat, succeeding Nathan P. Bryan, Democrat; Joseph Wolcott of Delaware, Democrat, succeeding Henry A. du Pont, Republican.

The following senators who succeed themselves took the oath of office for new terms of six years:

Of the new senators, Hiram Johnson of California and John B. Kendrick of Wyoming come to the senate from the governor's house, while Park Trammel of Florida resigned as governor of that state Jan. 2.

P. H. S. TAKES THE LAST CITY GAME

Again Wallops Borough Five, This Time by Score of 42 to 26

The North Plainfield High School basketball team engaged in another fray with the Plainfield High School team, interscholastic champions, on the city court Saturday afternoon, it being the second tilt on the local court in two weeks. As in the previous games Plainfield won, this time 42 to 26.

The game opened with a rush for the Red and Blue boys, who never once let up. In the last half the entire first team of Plainfield High, with the exception of Snyder, was called off the floor by Coach Patch and replaced by subs. Even they held their opponents to little scoring by playing a fast game.

While the first game was in progress Kyle was replaced by O'Donnell, who did well in all departments. Plainfield's team work was good and often passed the ball at leisure. North Plainfield was wholly at sea during this half and also in the second period.

The final half was a repetition of the first. The subs were given a chance to do their bit, which they did nobly.

The score:

PLAINFIELD H. S.	G.	F.	P.

The pinners of Watchung Council, Knights of Columbus, lost two of three tilts to the Jersey City Council Saturday evening at the local alleys. Neither team did anything out of the ordinary in the scoring line, 180 by Taylor of the locals being the high average of the evening, while 832 was the high team score.

The two teams divided the two double century scores between them, Taylor copping the Queen City's end in this line of endeavor. These games practically bring to an end the schedule of the State Knights of Columbus League for this season.

"THROCK" BACK READY FOR EAST-WEST GAMES

Los Angeles, Cal., March 5.—Harold A. Throckmorton and George M. Church, who recently competed in the tennis tournament of the Mid-Pacific Carnival at Honolulu, Hawaii, and who landed in San Francisco last Wednesday, have arrived here and started practice on the courts for the East-West matches, which begin March 7.

It is said that the California tennis association has named William Johnson, John Strachan, Maurice E. McLoughlin, Willis Davis and Nat Browne to compete against Church, Throckmorton, Connie Doyle, Fred Alexander, T. R. Pell and Bernon Prentice. Johnson defeated Church in the Honolulu singles, and with Strachan bested Church and Throckmorton in doubles play.

Throckmorton is a Union county boy and is well known in tennis circles of this vicinity. "Throck" is at present affiliated with the Shackamaxon Country Club of Westfield.

PLAINFIELD F. O. E. COP SOME PRIZES

Local Bowlers Secure Team and Individual Honors in State League

THE OFFICIAL AVERAGES

The last official figures of the season of the F. O. E. State Bowling League were announced this morning by Claude H. Reed, Jr., secretary of the circuit, and they indicate that the Plainfield pinners have been most successful in making records and copping some of the handsome prizes which were offered for team and individual records early in the season.

First of all, it may be stated that the Queen City lads secured the special prize, a trophy in the shape of a loving cup offered for securing first place in the league. This cup will be retained by the local alleyites for a period of one year, or until such time as the championship of 1917-18 is settled.

In the distribution of other team prizes Plainfield secured first, Newark second and Somerville third. The Queen City bowlers also secured the prize for the high team score. This score stands at 1,021.

Individual averages were also a source of much contention, the high honors in this line going to Denning, of Newark, while Mahoney and Radin of the local Aerie secured second and third prizes, respectively. The high individual score of the season, 256, and the prize which goes with it, were awarded to Denning.

The complete figures follow:

PARISH HOUSE IN ANOTHER DEFEAT

In something of a tight game the North Plainfield Freshmen took the big end of a 39 to 35 score from the Scotch Plains Parish House five Saturday evening. Some game, believe me, when but one out of the ten players fail to secure some sort of score or other.

There did not appear to be a dull moment throughout the entire contest, both sides doing their utmost in the scoring line. The balance of power swayed from one side to the other and the final outcome of the contest was in doubt until the sound of the last whistle. The contest as a whole was one of the fastest to be staged at the Parish House court this season.

TRIANGLES LOST TO A BRUNSWICK TEAM

Locals Not Quite Up to Snuff With Middlesex County Indoor Aggregation

The Inner-Triangle basketball team after running up a lead of six points in the first half and holding its opponents until the last five minutes in the second was beaten in a whirlwind finish Saturday by the New Brunswick Triangles.

On account of injuries John Cartwright will be out of the Triangle line-up for the rest of the season. Alex Campbell, a Rope player, is now a member of the team, with Scruton at guard.

New Brunswick had a strong team on the floor, with honors about even for Oram, Purdy and Stuart.

The score:

In the preliminary game the I. T. C. second team more than proved a match for the Mohawk second team. Coming up from behind in the second half the Triangles strung up a total of 26 points. Western and Dunn played well for their respective teams.

TABS JUST DOUBLE HOPE'S MEN'S CLUB

Abstainers Became Busy in Second Half and Walk Away With the Verdict

One-sided describes the contest. At least, this description fits the second half and final score of the Hope Chapel-T. A. B. S. basketball contest put up Saturday evening at the high school gymnasium floor, the final result standing 54 to 27 in favor of the Abstainers. The first period of the game was fairly tight, winding up with an 18 to 16 score with the Tabs holding the larger end of the figures.

The second period, however, was an exhibition of a different color, the Tabs just walking away with the bulk of the scoring. Every man of the winning aggregation took a hand in piling up points and the Hope boys were swept completely off their feet. The whirlwind type of play was carried up until the last sound of the whistle held by Timer Dois.

To pick an individual star would be an impossibility, both teams putting up a good exhibition of team work.

RAMBLERS SIGN UP TWO NEW BOWLERS

The Rambler bowling team will be reinforced after its series next Wednesday night at Westfield by the addition of Hyslip and Davenport, who "signed up" with the Plainfielders Saturday night. As these two pinners bowl against the Ramblers in this week's match their first appearance in the Plainfield line-up will be against the St. Joseph's on Gates' alleys next week. The work of these two men on the strips is well known, as their records in the Westfield Sunday School and Church League will attest.

Beginning next week, the Ramblers will finish the season with the following eligible players: Dunn, Worrall, Taylor, Betzenberger, Davenport, Hyslip and Koechlein.

SECOND NIGHTS AND SAINTS ARE TO CLASH

The Second Night Club bowling quintet will clash with the St. Joseph's Club on the Columbus Club alleys tonight. A series of three games have been arranged between these two clubs, which should prove very interesting. A large delegation of rooters is expected to accompany the borough five, and from present indications a close match will be staged. A series of three games is under way with the Shamrocks, the dates to be announced later.

Indoor Meet Postponed

The indoor meet between teams representing the local and Montclair Y. M. C. A.'s booked for Saturday evening at the local association, was called off by the Montclair lads. The meet will be staged at a date to be announced later.

Here's One of the Ways Malicious Lies were Circulated about CAMEL Cigarettes

In an effort to injure the wonderful sale of CAMEL cigarettes, many unprincipled schemes have been resorted to. The following is one of many ways such lies have been put into circulation.

An individual liar would approach a group of men, produce a newspaper, published in a distant city, and apparently become interested in reading. Suddenly he would exclaim, "What do you think of this?" He would then pretend to read an article about CAMEL cigarettes. In reality, the paper contained no such statement. The individual would at once walk away, carrying the paper with him. A newspaper from a distant city was always used in an effort to cover the tracks of the liar.

Would anyone voluntarily do this kind of unprincipled work? They must have been paid by someone to do it, and all of them should be exposed. An honest man will not knowingly work under the direction of a crooked superior, nor will an honest superior knowingly tolerate a crooked employee. However, some salesmen have told the trade that they had in their possession a newspaper containing a damaging article about CAMEL cigarettes. This was a malicious falsehood, as they had no such newspaper, and when asked to produce it, they were unable to do so.

CAMEL cigarettes are pure and delightful and the most popular cigarettes ever sold at any price. Cigarette smokers will not, for any length of time, permit malicious falsehoods to prejudice them against CAMELS.

WILSON ASSAILS FILIBUSTERERS

Publicly Holds Them Up as "Willful Men."

URGES SENATE RULE CHANGE

Says Old Statutes Prevent Him From Exercising Full Authority and Sees Little to Be Gained by Calling Extra Session, Where Same Tactics Might Be Repeated.

Washington, March 5. — "A little group of willful men have rendered the great government of the United States helpless and contemptible," President Wilson declared in a statement to the country explaining the situation resulting from the failure of congress to authorize him to protect American rights at sea.

The president said that with the country facing graver dangers in its international relations than it has ever known before eleven men in the senate had been able to prevent congress from acting to "safeguard the country or protect the elementary rights of its citizens."

The president's statement says an extra session would confront the same difficulties which had prevented action in the congress just expired.

He said the situation was graver than had been supposed, because he had found that authority which he believed he held under the constitution to act on his own initiative was "practically nullified" by old and unrepealed statutes. His statement in full follows:

"The termination of the last session of the Sixty-fourth congress by constitutional limitation discussed a situation unparalleled in the history of the country, perhaps unparalleled in the history of any modern government.

"In the immediate presence of a crisis fraught with more subtle and far reaching possibilities of national danger than any other the government has known within the whole history of its international relations, the congress has been unable to act either to safeguard the country or to vindicate the elementary rights of its citizens. More than 50 of the 531 members of the two houses were ready and anxious to act, the house of representatives had acted by an overwhelming majority, but the senate was unable to act because a little group of eleven senators had determined that it should not.

Many Measures Failed.

"This inability of the senate to act has rendered some of the most necessary legislation of the session impossible at a time when the need of it was most pressing and most evident. The bill which would have permitted such combinations of capital and of organization in the export and import trade of the country as the circumstances of international competition have made imperative—a bill which the business judgment of the whole country approved and demanded—has failed.

"The opposition of one or two senators has made it impossible to increase the membership of the Interstate Commerce Commission to give it the altered organization necessary for its efficient conservation bill, which should have released for immediate use the mineral resources which are still locked up in the public lands, now that their release is more imperatively necessary than ever, and the bill which would have made the unused waterpower of the country immediately available for industry have both failed, though they have been under consideration throughout the sessions of two congresses and have been twice passed by the house of representatives.

Money For Army Held Up.

"The appropriations for the army have failed along with the appropriations for the civil establishment of the government, the appropriations for the Military academy at West Point and the general deficiency bill. It has proved impossible to extend the powers of the shipping board to meet the special needs of the new situations into which our commerce has been forced or to increase the gold reserve of our national banking system to meet the unusual circumstances of the existing financial situation.

"It would not cure the difficulty to call the Sixty-fifth congress in extraordinary session. The paralysis of the senate would remain. The causes and the spirit of action are not lacking now. The congress is more definitely united in thought and purpose at this moment, I venture to say, than it has been within the memory of any men now in its membership. There is not only the most united patriotic purpose, but the objects members have in view are perfectly clear and definite.

"The senate cannot act unless its leaders can obtain unanimous consent. Its majority is powerless, helpless. In the face of a crisis of extraordinary peril, when only definite and decided action can make the nation safe or shield it from war itself by the agression of others, action is impossible.

Creates False Impression.

"Although, as a matter of fact, the nation and the representatives of the nation stand back of the executive with unprecedented unanimity and spirit, the impression made abroad will, of course, be that it is not so and that other governments may act as they please without fear that this government can do anything at all. We cannot explain. The explanation is incredible.

"The senate of the United States is the only legislative body in the world which cannot act when the majority is ready for action. A little group of willful men, representing no opinion but their own have rendered the great government of the United States helpless and contemptible.

"The remedy? There is but one remedy. The only remedy is that the rules of the senate shall be so altered that it can act. The country can be relied upon to draw the means. I believe that the senate can be called on to supply the means of action and save the country from disaster.

The old law referred to by the president was adopted in congress in 1810 and referred to the resistance of American merchantmen against the attacks of privateers and pirates, but excluded from vessels which might be so attacked "a public armed vessel of a nation in amity with the United States." Technically Germany is not at war with the United States, and submarines are "public armed vessels" of Germany.

BRITISH ADVANCE ON FIVE MILE FRONT

Continue Ancre Gain as Germans Halt Retreat.

London, March 5.—A new gain on the Ancre for the British is announced coincident with the news that the Germans have apparently completed the retirement to their line of defense around Bapaume. The newest British advance was on the left flank, where General Haig's troops advanced a quarter of a mile on a five mile front in the sector between a point east of Gommecourt and another point north of Puisieux au Mont.

Apparently the British are approaching the line of new resistance and must begin again to fight hard for every gain.

Toward the right flank of the active area a German bombing attack drove a British detachment out of an advanced post near Sailly-Saillisel, but the ground was recaptured.

The French made several small attacks in the Aisne and Champagne sectors and were successful in surprise attacks upon German positions east of hill 304 on the Verdun front.

News from Persia tells of the capture by Russian troops of the Persian city of Hamadan, near the Turkish frontier. This city is about 240 miles northeast of Bagdad and was captured by the Russians in December, 1915, when they were advancing toward Bagdad. When the Turks won at Kut-el-Amara the Russians were forced to retreat from Hamadan, Kermanshah and Khanikin, where they were only 130 miles from Bagdad.

It is possible that a co-operative campaign against Bagdad by British and Russian armies may follow.

WOMAN IS CANDIDATE.

Pedrick, the first woman ever to run for public office here, heads an independent ticket of four candidates for members of the board of education for the election on March 20. A. Weisner, F. L. Suppiee, F. B. Haight and Preston G. Abbott. Weisner is the only old member of the board running for re-election.

A RAW, SORE THROAT
Eases Quickly When You Apply a Little Musterole

And Musterole won't blister like the old-fashioned mustard plaster. Just spread it on with your fingers. It penetrates to the sore spot with a gentle tingle, loosens the congestion and draws out the soreness and pain.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment made with oil of mustard. It is fine for quick relief for sore throat, bronchitis, tonsilitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds on the chest (it often prevents pneumonia). Nothing like Musterole for croupy children. Keep it handy for instant use.

FISH AND GAME BOARD BATTLE

Sportsmen of State Aroused by Pending Bill.

POLITICS SEEN BEHIND IT.

Opposition to Move For Enlargement of Board Is Spreading All Over the State, and Powerful Influence Will Be Brought to Bear on Governor to Veto Measure Should It Get Through Legislature.

Trenton, March 5.—Sportsmen are up in arms against the bill now pending in the legislature to increase the membership of the state board of fish and game commissioners, which, they say, will inject politics into the board. They assert that the provisions of the act are wholly against modern methods of dealing with fish and game problems and will make the state ridiculous.

They add that it will add expense and complications to the fish and game work of New Jersey, which has reached as high a plane as similar work in any other state in the country during the last few years and leads most states in methods and results accomplished.

The commissioners receive no salaries, but each has an expense allowance, and additional commissioners would mean the spending of money in other ways that would have to be taken out of the income that the commission receives from the hunting sportsmen of the state.

Assemblyman Dudley Bramhall of Essex county introduced the bill. The statement accompanying it says, "This bill provides for the increase of the board of fish and game commissioners from four to six commissioners and provides that not more than three of said officials shall be of the same political party." An amendment has already been made to make the number of commissioners seven instead of four or six. Sportsmen are asking, "How many more will be added before the bill gets through the mill?" They are preparing to make vigorous protest to Governor Edge if the bill reaches him for signature.

It is said that the original idea was to increase the number of commissioners to provide a place greatly desired by an Essex county man. Then there was another request from another part of the state and finally a third, and the result is the attempt to raise the board to seven members.

GUARDRAIL SAVES TRAIN.

Boston Express Train Wrecked at Stamford, Conn.

Stamford, Conn., March 5.—A yellow pine guardrail nine inches by six inches prevented a catastrophe on the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad at the 1,200 foot drawbridge over the Mianus river here.

Two cars in the Boston express on its way to the Hub were derailed and plunged along the flank of the drawbridge 250 feet before the train was stopped. The express was on track 4, the extreme outside track, and only the stout guardrail and the safety chains connecting the cars prevented the derailed cars, if not the entire train, from plunging into the river, forty feet below.

There were more than 300 passengers aboard the train.

SEVENTEEN VESSELS SUNK.

Berlin Reports Results of U Boat Work In Mediterranean.

New York, March 5.—Berlin announces the sinking in the Mediterranean barred zone of seventeen vessels with an aggregate tonnage of 48,000. Five steamers are named, four of which have been reported sunk by London and Paris.

Among the victims reported by Berlin are four transports, which are, however not named. The only vessel named in the Berlin account not previously reported is the Italian steamer Prudenza of 3,307 tons.

Her loss brings the total toll taken by unrestricted U-boat warfare since Feb. 1 up to 262 ships, with an aggregate tonnage of 492,433 tons.

Hold Up Bone Dry Ordinance.

Millville, March 5.—Despite the claim of the foes of liquor that enough names were filed to offset the liquor element's just claim to a referendum vote on the bone dry ordinance, the city commission adopted a resolution holding up its operation until May 8, when it will be submitted to a vote of the people.

Five Firemen Killed.

Detroit, Mich., March 5.—Five firemen lost their lives in a spectacular fire that destroyed Field's clothing and suit store, in the heart of the business district, on Woodward avenue. The estimated financial loss is $750,000.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG
It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes without sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action, yet always effective. They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

You will know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets by their olive color. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

SCHOOL TEACHING DEVICES EXHIBITED

County Superintendent of Schools A. L. Johnson gave an exhibition on Thursday at Elizabeth of teaching devices, the members of the county school principals were present, at the office of the county superintendent.

Superintendent Johnson gave a brief talk on the display, saying that he was astonished at the manner in which parents and the general public showed interest in it. He declared the exhibit was open for the inspection of every teacher in the county, and that those teachers who evinced no desire to visit the exhibit and learn new things about teaching devices, gaining ideas for devices of their own, were by no means holding a proper interest in school work.

It was decided that the date for the county contest in extemporaneous speaking, to be held in the Roselle Park High school, be postponed from April 6 to 13.

that I am with you and that I stand with you in this emergency in anything and everything that you do."

Senator Stone of Missouri, chairman of the foreign relations committee, was not among the coterie of statesmen who extended their congratulations to the president after his induction into office. The acrimony of the last two days of legislative strife had marked the Missourian for elimination from that list of the president's friends who can be welcomed to intimate social intercourse.

While the little inaugural party was breaking up, Senator Robert Marion La Follette, to whom even in greater measure than to Senator Stone is due the defeat of the armed neutrality bill, came from the senate. He passed the door of the president's room, his eyes riveted on the elevator gate ahead. He swerved neither to the right nor to the left, but plowed straight along, not even turning his eyes toward the president's room.

There was a slamming of doors; the secret service men and capitol policeman quickly cleared a passage way for the president, who, offering his arm to Mrs. Wilson, with a cheery "Good morning" to the crowd, walked to the west elevator and disappeared.

There was hand clapping and a spasmodic burst of cheering as the president left the capitol. Before 12:30 he was back at the White House, and the new administration of Wilson had begun.

Wilson Again Takes Oath.

The exercises at the capitol were under the direction of a joint committee of the senate and the house. Its chairman was Senator Lee S. Overman of North Carolina.

Just as the doors of the senate chamber were opened three carriages, each drawn by four horses, left the White House grounds. In the first sat President and Mrs. Wilson and Senator Overman, chairman of the senate committee, with Senator Hoke Smith.

As the carriage emerged into Pennsylvania avenue a squadron of the Second cavalry, regular army, wheeled into place around it. For the first time in many years the regular branch of the service had been given the conspicuous honor of escorting a president to his oath taking.

President's Party Guarded.

Vice President and Mrs. Marshall rode in the second carriage, and they were escorted by the Black Horse troop of Culver Military academy of Indiana, which had discharged that duty for its Hoosier fellow citizen four years ago.

At the capitol the presidential party was escorted directly to the private room just off the senate chamber set aside as the presidential office. The committee on arrangements was in waiting, and Vice President Marshall and Mrs. Marshall were escorted to the vice president's room. At a given signal the presidential and vice presidential parties proceeded to the senate chamber, where, after prayer by the chaplain, the special session of the senate was called to order.

The organization of the senate completed, those assembled in the senate chamber proceeded through the rotunda to the platform in the center portico of the capitol overlooking the plaza, upon which the public had assembled.

So soon as all were assembled on the platform Chief Justice White advanced to the front, accompanied by President Wilson. There the oath was administered.

Crowd Serious at Address.

President Wilson then stepped forward to the front of the platform and began his inaugural address. An impressive silence hung over the throng that had gathered in the plaza to witness the history making event. There was a realization in every heart of the seriousness of the occasion and of the gigantic burdens the slender man in black was taking upon his shoulders in assuming the high office of the president of the United States for another four years.

The Inaugural Parade.

Immediately after the address the parade began in the direction of the White House escorting the newly elected president and vice president. A brief halt was made in front of the White House to permit the president to partake of a light luncheon and assume his position in the reviewing stand.

At the forefront of the parade was an escort of mounted police. Immediately preceding the carriages and escort of the president was the famous United States Marine band, followed by the grand marshal, Major General Scott, and staff. The second carriage, with Vice President and Mrs. Marshall and members of the congressional joint committee, was escorted by the Black Horse troop of Culver Military academy.

The first division of the parade was commanded by Major General Tasker H. Bliss, U. S. A.; the second division by Brigadier General William A. Mann, U. S. A.; the third division, veterans of the civil and Spanish wars, by A. J. Huntoon and Daniel V. Chisholm; the fourth division, commanded by George R. Linkens, was composed of the civic and political contingents.

In the first two grand divisions the military and naval branches of the federal government and of the states were placed. Of the state troops the governor and troops of Delaware led the contingents, followed by the governor and troops of Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Maryland, Virginia and New York. Independent military organizations and cadet companies completed this division.

RUN-DOWN WOMEN

We Have a Remedy That Will Cost You Nothing If It Does Not Help You.

Plainfield women will please realize that we mean just what we say in the above heading. Letters like the following prove the efficiency of Vinol in such cases:—

"For the benefit of the other tired women I want to say that I keep house for seven in my family. I became run-down, all played out. I did not seem to have any life in me and looked badly. I read so much about Vinol I decided to try it and I must say it helped me in every way. It built me up so I felt like a new woman, and my friends said they could see a great change in me." Mrs. John M. Waldron, Saratoga Springs, N. Y.

We recommend Vinol to our customers as the greatest strength creator we know because it contains beef and cod liver peptones, iron and manganese peptonates and glycerophosphates, all dissolved in a pure medicinal wine.

All Femininity Now Bows Before Queen Fashion's Scepter

In the turn of a sleeve, the placing of a fold, the catching up of a cloud of fabric, lie the allure which is Fashion—but Fashion herself is ever intangible.

She is an airy goddess of chance,—coming sometimes at our bidding, more often when we do not hear her footsteps.

But when, mysteriously, fair Fashion proclaims herself as Fact, how eagerly do we pay her homage, though knowing well that the present is just a phase of her, and that, come another season she'll take on an altogether different form.

Today Her Mood Is Oriental, and Her Silhouette Is Slim

Fashion has gone in for color—not the tints to which we of the Occident are accustomed, but rich, magnificent shades and tones that hold our attention and compel our admiration—setting us to dreaming of lands far, far to East, ward processions of many people, richly clad; bowdahs glittering in a blazing sun; the faraway clang of temple bells; rare silks; gleaming jewels; dark, inscrutable faces; incense—

Fashion today has outdone herself—she has fired our imaginations.

Spring Frocks Reveal This Oriental Influence

They have taken their character from China, with its gorgeous silks and heavy embroideries; from the Egypt of Cleopatra's time, barbaric, splendid; from Turkey, with its picturesque jackets, wide silken trousers and gold and silver braidings.

And then, as if to offset all this riot of color and richness of adornment, has Fashion, with her usual whimsicality, jumped across the years to the Twelfth Century—a time when fabrics were gray, and slender maidens walked pensively down the long, cold corridors, their metal girdles clinking with each step.

Result—gowns, that are beautiful to a wonderful degree, and that are so varied that every woman's own personality—a word which has come to loom importantly in Fashiondom—may be definitely expressed.

Georgette crepe, taffeta, crepe de chine and satin prevail for afternoon and dinner wear, and for dance and reception use these same fabrics appear combined with fine embroidered and spangled nets and chiffons, beautiful laces and cloudy tulles.

NETHERWOOD DUTCH ARMS MEETS TONIGHT

A meeting of the Dutch Arms Club has been called for tonight in the basement of the Netherwood Reformed church by the newly elected president, Mr. Hughes.

A little over a year ago this club was one of the strongest societies connected with the church, and strenuous efforts are to be made to rebuild this organization, bringing together as many of the men of the community as possible.

The meeting tonight will start at eight o'clock, and a cordial invitation is extended to all men who wish to join to attend this meeting.

FUNERAL OF ELMER TEEPLE

The funeral of Elmer Teeple, of South Plainfield, who died on Fri. day, was held this afternoon in South Plainfield, the Rev. J. Townsend Porter, pastor of the Baptist church, officiating. There was a large gathering of relatives and friends and there were many beautiful flowers. The interment was made in the Middlesex Hillside Cemetery.

VETERAN OF CIVIL WAR MARRIED ON SATURDAY

C. W. Snowden and Mrs. Keziah Cassatt were united in marriage on Saturday evening in South Plainfield by the Rev. J. Porter Townsend, pastor of the Baptist Church. Both of the contracting parties reside in South Plainfield.

The bridegroom is a veteran of the Civil War, having served in Company F, Thirteenth New Jersey Volunteers. He is a member of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., of this city.

A large number of friends and neighbors gave the happy couple a hearty reception. After a brief wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Snowden will occupy the Ryne cottage, Brookside avenue, South Plainfield, which has been renovated and furnished for their accommodation. They will be at home to their friends after March 10.

MASQUERADE IS POSTPONED

The masquerade ball to have been held on Wednesday evening in Abrams' auditorium by the Sisterhood of Temple Sholem, has been postponed until a date to be announced later. All tickets sold for the ball will be honored on the later date.

and joy in service; are large of vision, learners always.

"A training which leads from learning and doing on to wisdom, to high ideals, to service as a sacred trust, to worthy citizenship, to character.

"And, having given these things to the children, the schools of the people should also give to all citizens an exalted neighborly life more abundant, making the big red school house a radiating center, for the final good of all Americans, and then for the world."

"The Plainfield Board of Education have been watchful for improvements but cautious in their adoption. When they have become convinced of the usefulness and value of a new idea, they have adopted it, and in many things Plainfield has the satisfaction of being among the first to take advanced steps in what has later become universal.

"Medical inspection, early adopted by us, is now required by law in all schools; so with methods of enforcing school attendance. Dental inspection, while not yet required by law, is being universally introduced, and in some cities free dental clinics are being established by boards of education in the school itself; summer classes are being established even in cities less than half the size of Plainfield; the enlarged use of school buildings by the general public outside of school hours is now specifically encouraged by State law, and in California the law requires that school rooms shall be provided free of cost to any civic body that asks for them. It is a source of pride to the citizens that the foresight of the Board in providing the best for their children has received such sound endorsement.

"The fundamental, all-important purpose of the school is to prepare its pupils for performing the duties of citizenship and of manhood and womanhood in the most efficient and enlightened manner. In this the school was never as efficient as it is today."

STATE SCHOOL BOARD TAKES NO ACTION

It Fails to Approve of the Military Training in the Public Schools

Special to the Courier-News:

Trenton, March 5.—Despite the fact that four bills touching on military training in the schools are in the Legislature, the State Board of Education at its meeting here on Saturday took no stand on the issue officially, but judging from individual expressions the membership is evidently divided on the question.

Prof. John C. Van Dyke, of New Brunswick, and Col. D. Stewart Craven, of Salem, expressed themselves as opposed, endorsing the report of the Oliphant commission named at the 1916 session of the Legislature to study the subject and which reported adversely, recommending physical training for all school boys. Prof. Edgar H. Sturtevant, of Edgewater, while not expressing opposition to military training, suggested that the board approve the Oliphant commission's findings.

On the other hand, Vice Chairman Melvin A. Rice, of Red Bank, and former Senator Ernest R. Ackerman, of Plainfield, were for the proposition. The latter afterward declared he would not favor militarism, but believed in preparedness.

PLAINFIELD BOYS WIN THE DEBATE

In St. Michael's Hall, Elizabeth, yesterday afternoon, Joseph A. Mc-Evoy and Frederick W. Greene, members of St. Mary's Literary Society of this city, representing the Union County Federation of Holy Name Societies, were victorious in a debate with the representatives of the Essex County Federation. The local young men successfully upheld the right of a belligerent power to search the United States mails. The Essex county debaters were William Mull, of Newark, and Clarence T. Owing, of Arlington.

Following the debate a musical entertainment was enjoyed by the large audience. The victory gained by the two local young men firmly establishes Union county in the league lead although it is up to James Quigley, of Elizabeth, and "Joe" Gallagher, of this city, to see to it that the lead is maintained. The next debate will be in Hackensack on April 1 and Union county will be represented by these two young men. Arrangements have also been made for a debate between the St. Mary's Literary Society and St. Michael's Literary Club of Belleville. This debate will be held in Newark on April 20. A debate with Carlton Academy, of Summit, will take place in the near future.

WHITE SOX DROP WALSH

Chicago, March 4.—"Big Ed" Walsh, the veteran pitcher of the Chicago Americans, will not be taken on the spring training trip, Chas. A. Comiskey, owner of the club, announced Saturday night. Walsh, he said, has permission to arrange a deal for the purchase or managership of a minor league club.

The veteran pitcher, called the "Iron Man" of the American League, has been a member of the Chicago club for fourteen years. The last three or four years, however, he has been of but little service because of the failure of his pitching arm.

SOCIAL CLUB HAS TWO GAMES FOR THIS WEEK

The St. Mary's Social Club basketball team is to start in this week. This evening it is booked to appear on the Hope Chapel court to play the girls' aggregation of that place. There has been as much rivalry evidenced between these two teams as between the Hope boys and the T. A. B. S., and for that reason both teams are expected to put up the best fight to be found in them.

Tomorrow evening the Saints will meet the Newark Plainfield High School feminine tossers of the ball. This tilt will be staged on the T. A. B. S. court. Both teams will have a full crew of rooters on the job.

No printed picture or written word can adequately describe the beauty of this car. Swung low between 116 inches of wheelbase, it presents a graceful appearance that compels instant attention and admiration. The Elgin Six is a thoroughbred in appearance as well as in action.

Every detail, from the curve of the radiator to the tire carrier at the rear, has been judged by the effect as applied to the finished car.

The receding tilt of the windshield, the fashionable center cowl, emphasizing the beautiful yacht-line effect, and the curve of the full crown fenders, all contribute pleasing lines to one harmonious result.

The appearance of the Elgin Six in a subtle way distinguishes it at a glance, not through details alone, but through the atmosphere of refinement it radiates.

Councilman Graves Calls Attention to Fires Caused by Burning Ice House

Pointing to the fire that destroyed Tiers' ice house two weeks ago and to the fact that three other buildings were set on fire by burning embers that fell upon the shingle covered roofs of the latter, Councilman Charles C. Graves presented a communication to the Council last night in which he indicates the advisability of adopting an anti-shingle ordinance.

Mr. Graves stated that it was only the kindness of Providence that prevented a disastrous fire the day the ice house burned. If the wind had been blowing, sparks would have been carried all over the city, and we should have had more buildings ablaze than our fire department assisted by departments from other towns, could have coped with. We should heed the warning which the ice house fire gave, and prepare now to prevent a similar spreading of fire in the future, the communication stated.

Morris Israel was granted permission to remove houses from 301-303 Prescott place to 833 South Second street, and from 929 South Second street to 835 South Second street. He will be required to give a bond for $500 to indemnify the city against damages as a result of the removal. The removal of the houses has been made necessary in order to provide vacant land for a further extension of the Niles-Bement-Pond Company's plant.

The Allen B. Lang Company sent a communication to the Council, stating that it would like to be relieved of the contract for keeping the fire alarm system in order at the expiration of the present agreement, or would continue to do the work if an increased compensation will be paid. The communication stated that the increase in the cost of labor and materials has made it unprofitable to do the work at the price now paid.

DAMROSCH ORCHESTRA HERE THURSDAY NIGHT

There has been an excellent advance sale of tickets for the concert to be given by the New York Symphony orchestra, Walter Damrosch, conductor, at the High School Auditorium on Thursday evening. The concert is given under the auspices of the Dutch Arms Band of this city, and a very strong program will be presented by the New York artists.

The members of the orchestra, fifty in number, will arrive here in a special car attached to the 7.31 o'clock train from New York on the evening of the concert. This is one of the most prominent musical organizations that has ever appeared in this city.

The New York Symphony orchestra needs no introduction to the Plainfield music-loving public. It is known as the world's greatest organization and is now in its thirty-ninth year. It is famed throughout the United States as representing the highest expression of musical art, both in aspiration and achievement. Its players—each a virtuoso on his special instrument—have, under the masterly training of Walter Damrosch, developed an ensemble so marvelous that the orchestra is now described as one great instrument upon which the conductor plays.

ANNIVERSARY OF WOODHULL & MARTIN'S

Twenty years ago today Woodhull & Martin opened business in the Babcock building in West Front street, and five years later to the very date, the building was destroyed by fire. Snow was on the ground to the depth of seven inches.

THE DEATH OF ERNEST L. RANSOME

First Builder of Reinforced Concrete Bridges in This Country at San Francisco

After a period of failing health, Ernest L. Ransome, one of the aged residents of this city, died last evening at the home of his daughter, Mrs. F. B. Lawrence, of 1314 Denmark road. He was seventy-three years old and had lived in this city about ten years.

He leaves his wife and the following children: Mrs. F. V. Lawrence, Miss Violet Ransome and A. W. Ransome, of this city; Mrs. I. C. Boss, of Sacramento, Cal.; Bernard Ransome, of Oakland, Cal.; F. L. Ransome, of Washington, D. C.; and P. A. Ransome, of Philadelphia. Also two sisters living in England.

Mr. Ransome was a native of Ipswich, England, and he and his wife came to this country in 1862, settling in California. In England he had been engaged in the manufacture of Ransome stone, a combination of sand, silica and potash, before the days of Portland cement. In California he developed the product more largely, and with the coming of Portland cement he engaged in the manufacture of that. He was a pioneer in that industry.

He built the first reinforced concrete bridge in this country in 1889, in San Francisco, and the first concrete building in Alameda, Cal., in 1894, and the first building of this kind in the East for the Pacific Coast Borax Co., in Bayonne, N. J.

He lived in San Francisco about twenty-five years; in Chicago ten years; on Staten Island six years, and in Plainfield about ten years. He was at one time the largest stockholder in the Ransome Concrete Machinery Co., of this city, which bears his name as the inventor, but sold his holdings some time ago.

He has since lived more retired. The funeral will be held Wednesday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Lawrence, and will be private.

He was a member of the Masonic order.

MRS. KELLOGG SPEAKS HERE TOMORROW

Tomorrow afternoon at 3.30 o'clock, in the parish house of the Congregational church, Mrs. Kellogg and Mr. Rickard, of the Hoover Commission, will give a graphic account of their work in Belgium, and encourage their hearers in co-operating in the national campaign in America to raise a million dollars a month for Belgian relief work.

In connection with this lecture the Plainfield Belgian Relief Society urges as many as possible to attend. Mrs. Richard Boardman, who has undertaken a campaign for the "supplementary meal" suggested by Mr. Hoover and who has arranged for Mrs. Kellogg's talk, has asked that her committee may work under the Plainfield Belgian Relief Society. Her request is welcomed by the society which takes this opportunity of stating that the Hoover Commission has asked for the society's help in the matter. The letter from the commission will be published tomorrow.

TO RELATE EXPERIENCE IN TRENCHES AT FRONT

The Entertainment Committee of the Park Club has made arrangements with Guy Arthur Empey, a Brooklyn boy, to appear at the Park Club Tuesday evening, March 13, to give a lecture and talk on his experiences in the trenches at the front.

Mr. Empey was formerly a machine gunner and bomber in the British expeditionary force in France and has but lately returned to this country wounded, so that he could no longer fight. He has fought, bled and nearly died for the cause of the Allies. He will appear in uniform and give first hand the wonderful tales of close fighting with the Germans.

A small admission will be charged. There will be no reserved seats and the public is invited to attend. The lecture will begin at 8.30 o'clock.

LECTURE TONIGHT FOR BELGIAN MILK FUND

The illustrated lecture, by Mr. Erwin for the benefit of the milk fund that is being raised by the Plainfield Belgian Relief Society, for relief of Belgian children, will be held in the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium tonight. No charge is made for admission, but those attending are asked to contribute in the baskets at the door, such sums as they wish to devote to this cause of humanity.

The pictures that Mr. Erwin will show are splendid views of picturesque California, and should furnish an eventful entertainment to lovers of the beautiful, besides being shown in a worthy cause.

TO FIGHT MOVING OF GRAND LODGE

Opposition to Plan to Transfer It From Trenton to Newark

Trenton, March 6.—Judging by what South Jersey Masons have read and heard of late about Newark plans to induce the Grand Lodge of Masons to hold its 151st annual communication in 1918 in that city, with a prospect looking to the removal of the grand lodge to the metropolis from the State capital, there promises to be a lively session when the grand lodge meets here next month.

As one past district deputy here puts it, there will be a most interesting time at the grand communication in April, with a prospect for three fights on the floor. The first of these, as the speaker put it, will be to prevent, if possible, the grand lodge going to Newark even on invitation in 1918, including its being retained at its historic meeting place for all time.

The second class will be the contest to fill the office of grand secretary made vacant by the recent death of Theodore B. Townley, and the third will be over the numerous candidacies for the "grand south" as it is called, the office of junior grand warden, through the expiration of the term of the present grand master and the moving up one place of other elective officers, thus leaving the junior grand warden's station vacant.

Unfortunately unsavory incident to this is due to the fact that an election of a junior grand warden, in the ordinary course, is usually equivalent to an ultimate election as grand master, after a year's service each as junior and senior warden, senior grand warden and deputy grand master.

Within a few days official notices have been sent to all past masters and others entitled to sit and vote in the grand lodge, announcing that the 130th annual communication of the grand lodge will be opened at 10:45 a. m., Wednesday, April 18, next, in the auditorium of Crescent Temple, at Trenton, to continue in session two days. Officers for the ensuing year will be elected, appointed and installed on Thursday.

HIGH COST OF LIVING JUMPS BUDGET

Boro' School District Will be Asked to Vote About $9,000 Increase This Year

The increase in the cost of commodities is again the principal cause contributed to the advance of nearly $9,000 in the budget to be presented by the North Plainfield Borough Board of Education at the district school meeting this month. Last year the district appropriated $38,729.87.

The budget was decided upon last night at a meeting of the Board held at the residence of Horace Fischer, Willow avenue. So much a quorum it was necessary to meet at Mr. Fisher's residence, the latter having just recovered from an attack of the grip. Other members present were: Messrs. Cooley, Currin, Holstein and Krausse. County Superintendent of Schools H. C. Krebs met with the Board.

The building and grounds committee asked for an appropriation of $12,050. This includes repairs, $4,250, the connection of the schools to the sewer system, installation of modern sanitary arrangements in the Watchung school, and the painting of the Somerset school building this year.

The teachers were provided for by a six and a half per cent. increase of salaries, the annual appropriation to be $42,000. A new rule went into effect last night, the teachers being all re-elected for their positions somewhat earlier in the spring for the ensuing year. Supervising Principal D. Fred Aungst was re-appointed head of the schools at an increase in salary. Fifteen hundred dollars will be asked for text books supplies.

Dan Cupid has made his usual inroads in the teaching corps. Resignation was received last night from Miss Margaret Howell, of Morristown, the instructor in drawing resignation, taking effect June 15th. Miss Howell will be married during the summer. Miss Nellie Rapalje, of Somerville, a teacher in the Watchung school, resigns for the same purpose.

Both of the assistant teachers in the kindergarten departments of the Somerset and Watchung schools have also resigned their positions to wed. The Board has decided to purchase phonographs to aid in the work of the kindergarten departments.

One of the noticeable increases of supplies in the schools is coal, the appropriation asked for this year at an increase of $900. In some instances school supplies have increased 100 per cent.

Clerk Rowley was empowered to advertise the annual school meeting to be held on Tuesday evening, March 20th.

ARTHUR K. PECK TO LECTURE HERE

Will Describe Italy at Washington School on Thursday Night

The attention of the public is called to the fact that the next public lecture given by the Board of Education, which is scheduled for Thursday of this week, will be held in the Washington school auditorium.

Arthur K. Peck, who is a local favorite, will give his lecture, "Italy, the Land of Enchantment," and he has a collection of views of historic ruins, romantic gondolas and enchanted lakes which are interesting and historical as well as entertaining viewpoint.

As all previous lectures and entertainments have been held in the high school, it is hoped that the change of location in this particular one will be noted and that there will be a large attendance. As far as is known at this time, the final two lectures of the series will be held in the high school building.

On March 29th, Ada B. Talbot will lecture on "Mexico, Yesterday and Today." This lecture, in view of present conditions, should prove to be a splendid attraction.

On April 26th there will be a practical demonstration of the work given by the Science Department of the high school. This will be an interesting exposition, by pupils, of the everyday knowledge obtained in the classes.

YOUNG SOPRANO TO SING IN HIGH SCHOOL

The young American soprano singer, Betsy Lane Shepherd, will appear in the high school auditorium on Tuesday evening, March 13, and her recital is certain to attract music lovers in large numbers.

Miss Shepherd has come into enviable prominence through her unusual work in oratorio and concert singing and has won a recognized position among the best known sopranos of the United States in a remarkably short time. She comes to Plainfield under the auspices of Vogel & Briggs of the local Edison Diamond Disc Studio, and admission to the recital will be by card obtained from that firm.

MISS TABBERT GOES TO CALIFORNIA

Miss Gertrude Tabbert, a graduate nurse of the Muhlenberg Hospital Training school, left today for Medesta, California, where she has accepted a position in the Medesta Sanatorium.

NOTICE.

Dating from next Monday, March 12th, the subscription price of the Courier-News will be increased from $5.00 to $6.00 a year, and from $5.00 to $6.00 a year. The yearly subscription price applies to CITY DELIVERY PAID IN ADVANCE SUBSCRIPTIONS ONLY.

While we have been forced to pay an increase of more than 100% for white news print paper no increase in price has been made to our subscribers until the present time.

We do not expect either the subscriber or advertiser, or both combined, to make up the added expense. Only a small part of it can be shifted to them. We must stand the loss ourselves. If this was our only trouble the situation would be much more comfortable than it is. But it is decidedly worse; we cannot buy enough paper for our needs at any price. At this time the Courier-News is being printed on paper of such poor quality that under normal conditions it would not be accepted from the manufacturers.

The unusual conditions make it necessary that we keep the number of copies printed at the lowest possible figure. For this reason we must insist upon prompt payment from subscribers. As a proportion to our paid in advance and prompt paying subscribers, we will be compelled to discontinue serving the Courier-News to those who fall behind in their payments.

Benjamin Miller Lectures Before Monday Afternoon Club in Parish House

An interesting and instructive lecture on Peru and Ecuador was delivered yesterday afternoon in the parish house of the Congregational Church by Benjamin L. Miller of Lehigh University, before the Monday Afternoon Club.

Dr. Miller has travelled through the countries he described and took the views he showed on the screen. These views were so arranged as to give almost a history of the American lands for they showed the old walls and monuments of the mysterious people that preceded the Incas, then the traces of Incas themselves, with the ruins of their buildings and their methods of agriculture, then the times of Spanish dominion and finally the countries as they are today.

In his address Dr. Miller called attention particularly to the hieroglyphics on the older monuments. These, strangely featured those of old Egypt but had so far never been interpreted in modern times, and the speaker believed that whoever found the key to them would be able to make a most important contribution to the veiled history of the Incas and that of the race that came before them. The question as to how this ancient people transported the huge blocks of stone also reminded one of the similar problems regarding the pyramids of Egypt.

Perhaps the two outstanding features of the Andean lands are the immense value of the mines and, on the other hand, the lack of any kind of land in the mining districts. This latter makes it next to impossible for the people to warm their houses when the nights fall and it also keeps back the mining to a serious extent.

CITY PLANNING COMMISSION MET

Will Take Up East End Flood Question Next Monday Night

The Research and Advisory Commission on city planning recently appointed by Mayor Calkins, consisting of George S. Clay, Richard A. Claybrook, Chauncey F. Stout, Duncan W. Taylor and Samuel Rothberg met last night in the councilmanic committee room for the purpose of formally taking up the question of establishing a system of public parks and overcoming the flood conditions that prevail periodically in the east end.

Mr. Claybrook was absent from last night's meeting because of illness. The committee decided to meet next Monday night when Councilmen Smineck and Martin, of the First Ward, with City Engineer Andrew J. Cavett, will present such facts as they possess respecting the cause that leads to the inundation of the east end whenever there is a heavy rainfall.

Mr. Smineck has spent a great deal of time in studying this problem and has a plan which he will submit to the commission.

The park question will receive the attention of the commission from now on, and it is probable that some recommendation relative to this proposition will be made to the council in time for action by that body next year.

The Advisory and Research Commission simply investigates questions of public policy and submits recommendations to the council.

The personnel of the commission is such as to merit the confidence of the people, and give assurance that only matters of a meritorious nature will receive consideration.

STATE TRUST CO'S NEW HOME A MODEL ONE

The State Trust Company, which is now comfortably settled in its fine new banking quarters, is being congratulated by its many patrons and others upon the acquisition of such a modern and well-equipped institution. The general plan of the interior was designed for the purpose of securing the greatest degree of convenience and efficiency, and this has certainly been accomplished.

Not only has ample accommodations been made for the male patrons of the institution, but special arrangements have been made to look after the welfare of the women who will find the department reserved, for them attractive in every respect and calculated to expedite their business with the company. Every facility known to modern banking methods has been incorporated by the company in its building, believing that its efforts will be rewarded by a generous share of the public's business.

PRESIDENT HOPES BY INAUGURAL ADDRESS TO SET EUROPE RIGHT

By United Press:

Washington, March 6.—"To set Europe right" on the position of the United States in the international situation today, President Wilson has instructed that copies of his inauguration address of yesterday be brought to the attention of all foreign governments as "information."

AUSTRIA SUPPORTS GERMAN SUBMARINING

By United Press:

Amsterdam, March 6.—Austro-Hungary supports the theory of unrestricted submarine warfare. Approval of Germany's course was reiterated by the Viennese government in a note handed to United States Ambassador Penfield today, according to dispatches here.

The note was a formal answer to the United States request through Penfield for an explanation, whether responsible themselves for any losses.

Austro-Hungary pledges in the Ancona and Persia submarinings still held, or whether she like Germany supported the unlimited use of submarines.

A summary of the note received here says that while Austria supports the essential belief of the United States Government that safety be afforded neutral lives, nevertheless neutrals have had full and complete warning not to penetrate the Central Powers' "barred zone," and if they do they are responsible themselves for any losses.

ZIMMERMAN STILL DEFENDS HIS ACTION

By United Press:

Amsterdam, March 6.—Foreign Secretary Zimmerman's second defense of his action in seeking to align Japan and Mexico with Germany, against the United States was that criticism from certain Germans, of such a source, ill-suited previous complaints that Germany was not doing enough to acquire new allies.

Such an explanation, according to Berlin dispatches received here today, was Zimmerman's answer to Socialist queries. Newspaper comment all over Germany appeared to support Zimmerman, although there was a disposition to criticise the bungling by which the move by Germany became known.

LONDON'S POISON PLOT CASE ON TRIAL TODAY

By United Press:

London, March 6.—All the elements of a Sherlock Holmes detective story were present today, when the Crown called for trial the famous "poison pot quartet" to answer the charge of conspiring to poison Premier Lloyd George and Minister Arthur Henderson.

The four were Mrs. Mary Wheeldon, her daughter, Miss Harriet Wheeldon and son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Mason.

A dark-skinned Mohammedan, S. H. Hiza, appeared as counsel for defendants, and for the Crown Attorney-General Sir F. E. Smith appeared, in charge of an array of counsel.

AUSTRIA STRETCHES A POINT ON SUBMARINES

By United Press:

Washington, March 6.—Austria cannot give up her right to "sink enemy merchantmen," she says, in her reply to the American side memotre, received at the State Department.

Austria does not, however, include neutral merchant ships under this right. Hence authorities are inclined to feel that she has stretched a point in order to meet the efforts of the United States to avoid a break.

PRESIDENT WAITING ADVICE TO ARM SHIPS

By United Press:

Washington, March 6.—President Wilson will probably announce his decision today on arming American merchantmen. There were strong intimations that the decision of his legal advisers will give him power to furnish guns to the ship owners.

The President is represented as waiting only for such formal ruling on his authority to promptly arm the ships, and thereby establish a state of armed neutrality for the United States.

TENNESSEE RIVER FLOOD MAKES 4,000 HOMELESS

By United Press:

Chattanooga, Tenn., March 6.—Four thousand persons were forced to abandon their homes here last night, when the Tennessee river burst its bounds and inundated large sections of the city.

ATTRACTIVE PROGRAM FOR SAURER'S MINSTRELS

Saurer's minstrel show will be the attraction at the Plainfield High school tonight, the affair to be given under the auspices of and for the benefit of the concert band, which was organized some time ago among the men employed at the plant of the International Motor Company. The members of the minstrel troupe have been rehearsing their different parts for several weeks and a fine performance is assured tonight.

The program will open with a selection by the band, "International Quickstep," composed by George S. Dufford, band director, and the singing of "Under Southern Skies," and "Down Where the Sunshine River Flows," by the chorus. The end men will be Messrs. Apgar, Ricketts, Linger and Perrin. Part first will consist of the singing of popular songs. Part second will open with a sketch, "Come on Down to Ragtime Town," by Jesse Tambo and Bessie Bowen, to be followed by the Musical Stuarts and specialty numbers, and the program will be concluded by additional popular songs, selections by the band, and dancing. J. W. Hallard is manager for the show.

NOON-DAY SERVICE

The speaker at the men's noon-day service to be held in the hall on Madison avenue tomorrow will be F. H. Andrews. All men are invited to attend and participate in an hour of rest and inspiration.

The many friends and acquaintances of Miss E. Foubel, who has been designer in the millinery department of Tepper Brothers for the past eight years, will be pleased to hear that Miss Foubel has transferred her activities to the sales department, and that they may now have Miss Foubel's personal attention and aid in the selection of the season's latest creation. Previous to this time it has not been possible for Miss Foubel to render any such personal service, owing to the fact that the designing department required her entire attention.—Adv.

BLATZ PLANNING TO START SET-OFF SUITS

Assistant County Attorney Francis J. Blatz, of this city, will meet with the committee on legal questions of the Union County Board of Freeholders, probably this week, and complete arrangements for starting the set-off suit by the county in the Supreme Court against County Engineer Jacob L. Bauer for $28,000, which is approximately the amount paid him in four years by the county for services of field parties.

It is quite likely that special counsel will be engaged to try the suit, because of the fact that County Attorney William H. Codington was a witness at the Supreme Court investigation and was mentioned both in Justice Bergen's charge to the grand jury, and the presentment reported by the inquest.

MISS PAVLOWA TO SPEAK IN BRYANT SCHOOL

There will be a meeting of the Bryant-Lincoln-Emerson Parent-Teacher Association this evening, at 8 o'clock, when Miss Raba Pavlowa, recently returned from Bulgaria, will speak on "An American Soldier in the War Zone."

The pupils of the fifth grade will entertain with music and a demonstration of physical training. Refreshments will be served.

COST OF CORNERSTONE LAYING

It cost $135.35 to lay the cornerstone of the new City Hall. Bills for this sum, covering the furnishing of supplies incident to the cornerstone laying ceremony were read and approved by the Common Council, last night. The Council also approved the payment of $1,230 to the P. F. Kenney Company, contractors, and $561.15 to Peck & Bottomley, architects.

ANDERSON MAKES SUGGESTION TO EDGE

Urges Advisability of Collecting Data Showing Cost of Local Governments

William Delaroche Anderson has sent the following letter to Governor Edge:

"My dear Governor:

"We have, or attempt to have, in this State equalization of revenue contribution (taxation); why not have or attempt to have equalization of dollar efficiency of disbursement?

"I respectfully suggest that an effort in this direction would make strongly for the economy and efficiency in public affairs which is the main objective in your administration.

"I offer a simple plan which should require no new legislation and the good results of which would be automatic, namely:

"That the State publish a booklet showing the total amounts of money raised and disbursed by each community in the State reduced to a per capita basis and segregated proportionally to various sources of revenue and to the various municipal departments causing public expenditure, the effect of which would be an itemized comparative statement of statistics, on a per capita basis, of all the municipalities in the State, available to every person as a schedule of relative municipal efficiency and valuable in more ways than one would imagine.

"I am expecting at any time copies of a booklet from the State of Ohio where a plan somewhat similar to the above has already been successfully instituted and will take the liberty of sending you one as soon as may be.

"If the idea expressed in general terms above appeals to you I will be glad to go into the matter in detail with you at any time."

Mr. Anderson says that if the people of the State could see a statement of the comparative cost of local governments they would immediately demand reforms.

ASSEMBLYMAN GETS A "WARM" RECEPTION

Special to the Courier-News:

Trenton, March 6.—Because he voted against the local option bill last week in the House, Assemblyman C. Ackerman, a member of the congregation of the First Baptist church of Paterson, has incurred the displeasure of the congregation, and reports from the Silk City indicate a "warm" reception awaits his next attendance at prayer meeting.

Ackerman, one of the youngest members of the Legislature, was supported at the last election by the church members because they believed he was a proponent of the local option issue. In meeting the other evening the church membership expressed "disapproval" of the Passaic county man's vote.

Officers of the regular army who will assist in mustering out will occupy Pullman cars with the battery's officers on the trip to New Jersey. The battery hopes to arrive in East Orange Tuesday, March 13. Alfred Dean and Raymond Manley, Plainfield, are members of the Battery.

JUSTICE BERGEN ORDERS MORE SPECIFIC BILL

Supreme Court Justice Bergen on Saturday directed that a more specific bill of particulars be furnished the defendant in two suits against Samuel W. Rushmore, of this city, by William A. Coddington and Leila C. Stockton, both of Plainfield.

The plaintiffs ask $15,000 damages to their land in this city caused by "malicious trespassing" of agents of the defendant. While Mr. Rushmore was building a large residence on Belvidere avenue, it is alleged, his agents removed large quantities of top soil from the land of the plaintiffs.

McCarter & English, counsel for Mr. Rushmore, contended that the claim for damages was exorbitant. The bill of particulars will show the time of the alleged trespassing, the quantity of soil removed and its value. Alfred A. Stein is counsel for the plaintiffs.

ALUMNI OF STEVENS READY FOR SERVICE

For the past year the Alumni of Stevens Institute of Technology have been actively engaged in measures for military and industrial preparedness, so that the present emergency has not taken them by surprise.

Acting through their Committee of Military and Naval Affairs, they are now completing a classified list of Stevens men with reference to their qualifications and readiness for Government service where their special training and experience will make them of great value.

Many Stevens men have already been commissioned in the Officers' Reserve Corps, some are officers in the Regular Army, the Navy and the National Guard, while others are doing special work in ordnance and naval engineering.

ARRESTED BEARER OF ZIMMERMAN NOTE

Houston, Tex., March 6.—It was reported here Sunday night on good authority, and partly corroborated by army officers, that the messenger sent to Mexico by Count von Bernstorff with the Zimmerman note inviting Mexico and Japan to attack the United States, was captured as he tried to cross the Rio Grande by a band of Progreso, twelve miles south of San Juan ferry and twenty-five miles west of the international bridge at Brownsville. He was to have been met on the Mexican side by thirty-five rurales, who were to have escorted him to Mexico City and the German Minister, who were seen by the Indiana guardsmen waiting on the other side of the Rio Grande.

BREAKAGE OF PIPES CAUSES SHORTAGE OF GAS

Special to the Courier-News:

Cincinnati, March 6.—All industrial consumers of gas have been shut off, following the breaking of the pipe lines of the Columbia Gas and Electric Company lines, and the flooding of pump stations in the Kanawha Valley. The flood in the Kanawha, New and Big Sandy River districts is reported the worst in years. The full effects of the shortage will be known this afternoon, and may leave Cincinnati without any gas for heating homes.

NEWARK CONFERENCE OPENS MARCH 28

Bishop Luther B. Wilson Will Preside for Fourth Year in Succession

A strong program in preparation for the coming session of the Newark Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church will be announced this week, when details have been completed. The sessions will be held in the Halsey Street M. E. church, Newark, opening Wednesday morning, March 28, and continuing until the following Monday or Tuesday.

For the fourth time in succession Bishop Luther B. Wilson will preside over the deliberations of the conference. His wisdom and judgment in dealing with the many complex questions that are bound to rise in a conference so large as the Newark Conference, have endeared him to the members, and at last year's session a resolution asking that the General Conference reassign him to the metropolitan district was carried with enthusiasm, and in May, at Saratoga, the bishop was again named for this district.

One of the chief items of business to come up for discussion will be the proposed changing of boundary lines. Members of the Newark Conference, acting with members from the New York and New York East conferences, form a joint commission that has been considering a plan for more efficient work through change of boundary lines.

The decision to hold the conference in Newark is pleasing to most of the men of the conference. At the 1916 session it was agreed that the invitation of the Washington (Warren county) church be accepted, but later it was necessary to recall the invitation and Halsey street church stepped into the breach. It is probable that some arrangement whereby this church can be made the permanent conference church will be made at this year's session. The Rev. J. C. Howard, D. D., is pastor of the church.

STATE DEATH RATE INCREASE IN JANUARY

Trenton, March 6—An increase of almost two points in the death rate in New Jersey for January, as compared with December is indicated in returns compiled by the bureau of statistics of the State Department of Health. There were 4,422 deaths in January. Of these 4,364 were residents and fifty-eight non-residents of the State. This gives a resident death rate of 17.58 a 1,000 for the month.

There were 675 deaths of children under one year, 182 deaths of children over one year and under five years and 1,721 deaths of persons aged sixty years and over. The last group showed the greatest increase, there having been 322 more deaths in the group in January than in December.

THIRD ANNUAL REUNION OF 1914 GRAND JURY

Former Councilman A. D. Edgar and Berthold J. Schreiner, of this city expect to attend the third annual reunion dinner of the January 1914 term grand jury, of which they were members, to be held Thursday night, March 15, at 6:30 o'clock at the factory of the Wheatena Company, near Rahway.

As it is unusual for grand juries to have three successive annual reunions the committee hopes that all of the members will attend. John T. Dunn will arrange for free transportation from the Rahway station to the Wheatena Company's building if he is given the time of the arrival of the guests.

TAFT WILL AROUSE PEOPLE OF SOUTH

Former President Hopes to Stir Countrymen to Appreciation of Duty

New York, March 6.—Believing that "there are some things worse than war," to use his own words, Wm. H. Taft, former President of the United States, now professor of international law at Yale University, and president of the League to Enforce Peace, has cancelled all his paid lecture engagements from March 18 to April 4 in order that he may ride, like Paul Revere, through the South and Southwest, to rouse twentieth century minute men to a proper appreciation of their duty to defend their rights now and hereafter.

Mr. Taft's itinerary is as follows: Richmond, Va., March 21; Greensboro, N. C., March 22; Atlanta, Ga., March 23, Birmingham, Ala., March 24; Nashville, Tenn., March 25; Memphis, Tenn., March 26, morning; Little Rock, Ark., March 26, evening; Dallas, Tex., March 27; Oklahoma City, Okla., March 28-29. Leaving Oklahoma City on the evening of March 29, Mr. Taft will arrive in Chicago on the evening of March 30, and will reach his home in New Haven, on the afternoon of April 1.

President Taft's tour is to be made under the auspices of the League to Enforce Peace, the arrangements at each stop being made by the local branch of the organization, co-operating with leading citizens and organizations. At Atlanta, for instance, Governor Harris, of Georgia; Mayor Chandler, Clark Howell, editor of the Constitution, the Chamber of Commerce and, indeed, all the leading citizens are working with energy and enthusiasm to make Mr. Taft's visit to the Georgia metropolis the most notable event of the kind in the State's history. It is to be a Georgia affair, with representative citizens from every part of the State, and not merely a city gathering.

COUNCIL AWARDS SUPPLY CONTRACTS

The Plainfield Trap Rock Company was last night awarded by the Common Council, a contract for supplying the city with cracked stone during the present year. The bid which this company submitted was the only proposal received. It was as follows: 2 1-2 inch stone, $1.40 per ton; 1 1-2 inch, $1.45; 1 inch, $1.60; 1-2 inch, $1.70; screenings, $1.70.

The Watchung Stone Company was awarded the contract for supplying culvert stone, cross walks and curbing.

The Rutherford Rubber Company was also awarded a contract for supplying rubber tires to the city. Their proposal was for ten or more tires 30x3, $18.45; 30x3 1-2, $21.08; 34x4, $40.80; 35x5, $63.25.

The Barrett Manufacturing Company was the lowest bidder on refined tar for streets and was awarded the contract. Their price was six cents per gallon.

"SMOKE-EATERS" WERE VICTORIOUS

Last night's series of games between the Barbers and the Firemen in the borough pinochle tournament proved disastrous for the nary trimmers. They lost a double header contest, the best four out of six games going to Chief McCullough's trio. The Independents won the best two out of three games from the Dominoes. The contest is now drawing to a close with the Barbers in the lead. Tonight the Cooperites battle with the Barbers in the series of games.

RECOVERING FROM STORM CONDITIONS

Street Commissioner's Men Busy Opening Gutters and Cleaning Walks

Traffic conditions were considerably upset during the past two days as a result of the belated snow storm, which was accompanied with some rain. Street Commissioner Andrew J. Gavett kept his force of men busy clearing crosswalks and opening gutters, but he has been handicapped to some extent through inability to get enough men.

It was not until yesterday afternoon that the street men were able to clean crosswalks in the business section, thus affording much relief. A small gang has been busy in the residential sections clearing crosswalks and sidewalks where property owners have failed to do so. It is likely that some of those who have failed to comply with the city ordinance will find themselves in the police court, the authorities being determined that walks shall be cleaned within a reasonable time after a storm.

Several merchants complained yesterday that where the city had taken the trouble to open up gutters, drivers of automobiles as well as horses would allow their vehicles to stand in the gutters close to the curbing stopping the natural flow of the water and slush, causing it to back up, greatly inconveniencing pedestrians.

The storm also caused much trouble for the trolley company, throwing the cars off schedule, and the telephone and telegraph companies found it difficult to maintain normal conditions.

"ICE WAGON" CONNORS APPLIES FOR PARDON

Trenton, March 6.—With 21 murderers, seven men convicted of manslaughter, two charged with white slavery and several accused of arson applying for clemency, the Court of Pardons today announced the list of those who are asking for their liberty from State Prison for the March term. This is an unusually large number of capital cases to apply for one term. The total number of applicants, including a few who want fines remitted or restoration to citizenship, and several penitentiary cases, is 282, one of the largest lists in some time. The list of applicants includes Charles Connors, sentenced January 8, 1915, to three and one-half to seven years, for entering the home of Senator Ernest R. Ackerman, of this city, and stealing jewelry valued at $15,000.

"FIRST AID" SESSION ON FRIDAY NIGHT

On account of the Damrosch concert for Thursday night, the class in "first aid" being held at the First M. E. church will be postponed to Friday evening for this week only, thereafter the lectures will occur every Thursday evening as originally planned. The class is unlimited as to number, but an early enrollment is advisable, especially since time of the ten lessons must be attended at the Red Cross examination is to be taken. The examination is not compulsory, however. The class is open to both men and women or to any young people. Single admission to any lecture may be had at small fee.

WILL VACATE THORNTON AVE.

An ordinance providing for the vacating of a portion of Thornton avenue was adopted on first and second reading by Council last night. The portion of the street referred to has never been used. The land belongs to the Englehart Real Estate Company. A public hearing on the ordinance will be given on April second.

The salary is about $40 to $50 a month. This examination is open to female residents of the State. On Wednesday, March 21, the examination will be for the position of stationary firemen, open to residents of the southern part of the State. The salary ranges from $480 to $1,200 per annum. FIRST BAPTISTS ELECT BIBLE SCHOOL OFFICERS

The Bible school of the First Baptist church held the annual meeting last evening and elected the following officers: Superintendent, Arthur M. Harris; first assistant, Frank W. Jones; second, James E. Church; third, Miss George Robins; treasurer, Frank E. Bach. Other officers will be appointed later.

The reports showed that the average attendance for the year was far above that of the preceding year, due largely to the increase in the adult classes. The amount raised for all purposes was $1,800. Eighty-six of the pupils joined the church during the year.

TO HOLD DELEGATES

A series of three meetings has been arranged by the State Executive Committee of the National Progressive party for the selection of delegates to the national convention to be called in St. Louis on April 12, 13 and 14, and to continue the organization work. The places and dates are: Camden, March 10, at 2 p. m., at 315 Market street; Morristown, March 16, at 8 p. m., at the office of A. T. Robinson, Park place; Newark, March 23, at 8 p. m., in the assembly room in the Essex building.

FRELINGHUYSEN AND EDGE AT DINNER

With the Governor of New Jersey and one of the State's representatives in the United States Senate as speakers for its annual dinner on March 17 the Society of the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick, of Montclair, expects that its celebration of St. Patrick's day this year will be one of the most interesting it has ever conducted. Governor Walter E. Edge and Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen have both accepted the invitation of the Friendly Sons to attend the dinner and deliver speeches.

Besides these two officials the speakers at the dinner will be former Mayor Julian K. Gregory, of East Orange, and the Rev. Father John J. Murphy, of Amjere. Mayor Louis F. Dodd, of Montclair, will deliver the address of welcome, and Judge James P. Mylod, of Glen Ridge, will be the toastmaster. The dinner will be held at the Hotel Montclair, where the Montclair Friendly Sons have conducted all their celebrations since they organized eight years ago.

PLAINFIELD PEOPLE INJURED IN WESTFIELD

Early this morning an east-bound trolley car, No. 2018, in turning at the corner of Brightwood avenue and Prospect street, Westfield, failed to respond to the brakes and switched across the tracks.

There were eight passengers in the car, and five of them were bruised and shaken up. They were: Mrs. K. S. Palmer and Mrs. L. E. Palmer, 522 East Second street, Plainfield; Samuel Kotz, 243 East Third street, Plainfield; Frederick Neilson, 1426 East Second street, Plainfield, and George Buzz, 511 Market street, Camden.

The injured were taken to the home of Mrs. Kay of Prospect street, where they were attended by Dr. R. G. Savoye and Dr. G. R. Laird. The injuries were not serious and it is understood that all the parties were sent home after they had received the necessary attention.

SOMETHING TO EXPLAIN

The Senators who refused to stand by President Wilson in the last hours of Congress, to uphold the dignity and honor of the United States, will have something to explain to the "folks back home," for their attitude was a surprise to their constituents, and directly in violation of the action expected of them. They stood out against the President when he was urging the Senate to take proper measures to protect the nation in "a crisis fraught with more subtle and far-reaching possibilities of national danger than any other the Government has known in the whole history of its international relations," to use the words of the President.

Victor Ridder, vice president of the New York Staats-Zeitung, throws some light on the suspected Pro-German tendencies of Senator Stone, of Missouri, who instead of being willing to "be shown," insisted on wearing out the patience of the Senate in a long screed of filibustering.

One of the most sensational statements attributed to Senator Stone by Mr. Ridder was that "the administration's apparently anti-German policies were only for public consumption, and that privately they were ready to work hand and glove with the German-American leaders." As chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate, it was surmised that Mr. Stone must have been speaking for himself when he spoke of the administration.

Vardaman

Jackson, Miss.—The" Daily News, discussing Senator Vardaman's opposition to the President's German policy, says:—"Four years in the United States Senate have failed to make a statesman of Jim Vardaman. He is still the rabble-rousing demagogue of old. The only thing notable about his service is that a poor Democrat has been converted into an unreliable Republican. Probably he is voting against Americanism because it is the only possible way for him to attract attention nowadays. Jim is one person who has never been able to distinguish between fame and notoriety."

Kirby

Texarkana, the home of United States Senator Kirby, does not favor any attitude of the Arkansas Senator that is not wholly in sympathy with the desires of President Wilson. It may be safely said that this is the consensus among the leading citizens and

LaFollette

Madison, Wis.—Senator La Follette is not receiving the indorsement of the majority of the citizens of Madison, his home town, on his filibustering in the Senate. Prominent citizens, many of whom have been his ardent supporters in politics, are severely condemning him for not standing behind the President. Mayor George C. Sayle expressed the sentiment of the majority of the people yesterday, when he sent a telegram to Senator La Follette urging him to get behind Wilson.

EDITORIAL NOTES

In case of a war a great many people will develop conscientious scruples against fighting.

It must have been an awful shock in Germany when Ambassador Gerard wouldn't kneel and kiss the Kaiser's toe.

There are still a large number of people who think that a sweet smile is ample protection against 42 centimetre guns.

Formerly a boy was told that he might become president of the United States, but now it is pointed out to him that he might become a moving picture star at $1,000,000 a year, with far fewer troubles.

The ball players will be quite an asset in case of war, as they have been practising for many years on the umpire.

SHELLS' DESTINATION SECRET

Hoboken, March 6.—Although it is believed it is intended for Europe, secrecy surrounds the destination of a shipment of from 75,000 to 90,000 sixteen-inch shells which has arrived here over the Lackawanna Railroad from a Western point. The shells, all of which were empty and which weighed 650 pounds each, were loaded aboard lighters and taken down the bay.

CAN'T CUT RATES SAYS M'CARTER

If there is to be any change in electric power and light rates as the outcome of hearings under way before the Public Utility Commission, the change must be to higher rates. This was the gist of a statement made yesterday by Thomas N. McCarter, president of the Public Service Corporation, during the course of a hearing before the commission, as part of the electric rate inquiry, now in its third year.

"It is perfectly ridiculous to talk about lowering electric light rates," Mr. McCarter asserted. "No matter what the decision of this commission may be, it would be academic in that respect. Any lowering of rates under the present conditions would mean insolvency."

Mr. McCarter declared in his statement, which began as a somewhat impassioned protest against "crowding" the company in the rate inquiry, that electric companies are now passing through a most critical period. He related that during January the Public Service Electric Company had paid $350,000 more for coal than under normal conditions—an item of $3,000,000 a year, he pointed out.

For the last three months, engineers representing the commission and the company have been in conference, seeking to agree on an inventory and an appraisal of the Public Service Company's properties. Dr. D. C. Jackson, the commission's representative, reported accomplishment yesterday, but also reported failures to reach agreement on certain phases. Chairman Ralph W. E. Donges of the commission announced the commission's determination to proceed with the hearings, and it was against this decision that Mr. McCarter protested.

POSTPONE SCHOOL VOTE

For the first time in many years the people of New Providence Township will not be asked by the Board of Education to vote on appropriations at the annual school election, to be held March 20. A special election will be called before July 1. This is done because an entire new school board will be chosen at the March election, and it was feared that it might interfere with the proper consideration of the question of appropriations. The board consists of three members. One will be elected for three years, one for two and the other for one year.

Special to the Courier-News:

Trenton, March 6.—New Jersey will receive during the next ten years the sum of $1,243,035 in Federal aid for her vocational education as the result of the Smith-Hughes bill, signed by the President on February 23, the State Board of Education was told by Assistant State Commissioner of Education Lewis Carris, who has charge of industrial education. Mr. Carris submitted the report in the absence of State Commissioner Kendall. The Smith-Hughes bill provides Federal grants of money annually shall be made for the purpose of co-operating with the States in the promotion of vocational education.

The money will become available on the first of next July, and for the year of 1917-1918 New Jersey will receive the sum of $42,650. Of this amount $6,400 will be for the salaries of teachers, supervisors or directors of agricultural education; $12,350 for salaries of teachers of trade, home economics and industrial subjects and $13,800 for the training of teachers of vocational subjects. For the following year the State will receive the sum of $62,445 to be apportioned to the foregoing purposes, and each year the grant will increase until in 1927 the maximum of $200,100 will be reached, and thereafter annually that sum will be paid New Jersey as its share of the Federal appropriation.

A TALK to COAL BUYERS

This company, in its advertising, has endeavored to impress upon the coal buying public, that by virtue of its organization and wholesale connections, it is in a position to render service of a particularly efficient kind, a service not possible to every dealer in coal.

This winter, during the coal shortage, this service has been put to the test, and how well our organization has met it can best be vouched for by our customers. We have not only taken care of all our orders, but we have furnished coal to other dealers as well, and we point to our ability to care for our trade under the exceptional conditions that have presented themselves, with considerable pride, for we feel that our claim to be able to serve the public satisfactorily at all times and under all conditions, has been amply demonstrated.

If we are not already serving you, would it not be wise to become one of our regular customers, and thus place your coal burden on responsible shoulders?

Give us the opportunity; we will serve you well.

REGULAR MEETING
MARCH 7th

NEWS FROM NEARBY POINTS

Readers of the suburban news will often find news of their towns in other columns of the paper under headings from their towns when such news is too late for the regular column.

SOMERVILLE NOTES

FIREMEN WANT MORE PRESSURE

Among the recommendations made by the Board of Fire Engineers at the meeting of the Borough Council last night was that the town fathers compel the Somerville Water Company to give increased pressure, in accordance with the contract between the borough and the company. Councilman Schoenmaker declared that "there was no use fooling about it," and that if the proper pressure was not given, the borough ought not to pay the water company. Councilman Bellis stated that "the town had been coward long enough" and suggested that the fight against the water company be pushed.

Mayor Steele explained what arrangements had been made with the company last year, adding that he believed that improvements which would bring about increased pressure would be commenced this spring. Councilman Richards gave it as his opinion that the contract for the change had already been awarded.

Along with the suggestion as to the pressure, the Board of Engineers recommended the purchase of a new triple-combination steam-pumping engine of 1,100 gallons per minute pumping capacity for Engine Company No. 1. A request was also made for 2,000 assembly-ply hose and 24 items of supplies for the various companies.

There were also requests that telephone be installed for Newton Dumont, chief driver of the auto apparatus, an auxiliary switch to light fire houses when alarm rings, and fire alarm tappers for officers and drivers of the department. The recommendations were referred to the fire committee for a report at the next meeting.

Letters sent to the Raritan and Bound Brook fire departments, thanking them for their aid at the big fire here on Feb. 20th, were ordered placed on the minutes.

Complaint About Sidewalks

Complaint was made to the Council last night because there were no sidewalks in front of the realty company's land at Gaston avenue and Main street. It was also reported by one of the citizens that there were no sidewalks on Davenport street from the bridge to Spring street, and that the people had to walk in the street. Mayor Steele declared that the matter had already been referred to the Street Department.

Advertise for Sewer Bids

Upon motion of Councilman William Hardgrove, it was decided last night to advertise for bids for the proposed extension of the sewer system on Culver street, Gaston avenue and Davenport street.

The Council ordered five more traffic posts from W. J. Kirby at a total cost of $35. All will be like the one at Main and Division streets.

New Bikes for Police

Police officers of the borough will have new bicycles, the Council having ordered them last night upon the recommendation of Chief Bellis. The wheels will be purchased from the Somerset Motorcycle Co., which was the lowest of three bidders. The bicycles formerly used by the police will be accepted in trade by the motorcycle company.

Other Council Business

The application of James Herbert Gaston as a special borough officer was ordered placed on file. Mr. Gaston is over six feet tall and weighs 162 pounds. He has been in the employ of the C. R. R. for about 12 years.

The report of Collector J. K. Brokaw showed a balance of $29.66. The board last night decided to borrow $3,000.

Will Have Older System

No bills will be paid by the borough authorities unless authorized by an order of the proper borough department, properly signed, it was decided last night. Councilman Bellis introduced the order-blank system which was adopted to take effect immediately.

Prosecutor A. M. Beekman, Assistant Prosecutor Frank L. Cleary and Counselor John A. French were among those from this borough who attended the inauguration exercises at Washington yesterday.

GIRLS! TRY IT! HAVE THICK, WAVY, BEAUTIFUL HAIR

Every particle of dandruff disappears and hair stops coming out.

Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a "Danderine hair cleanse." Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

Besides beautifying the hair at once, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it surely get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any druggist or toilet counter, and just try it.

Save your hair! Beautify it! You will say this was the best 25 cents you ever spent.—Adv.

CONDITIONS AT R. R. STATION BAD

So Declares DeWitt Rapalje in Presenting Argument for Public Comfort Facilities

DeWitt Rapalje appeared before the Common Council last night and spoke in favor of establishing a public comfort station in the business section. He also took occasion to criticise the accommodations provided by the Jersey Central Railroad at the North avenue station, declaring among other things that the Railroad Company is not giving Plainfield the same consideration that it shows for other towns along the line, notwithstanding the fact that more passengers are carried from this city than from any other station west of Elizabeth.

Mr. Rapalje said that the sanitary appliances in the stations at Bound Brook, Cranford and Westfield, are more extensive than they are at the local station, and he deplored the fact that officials of the Railroad Company should contend that the accommodations at the local station are adequate to the requirements of the travelling public, because if this were so, the number of persons using the local station would only be equal to the number that use stations in the smaller communities, all of which have better sanitary accommodations than Plainfield.

Mr. Rapalje expressed the hope that the council would take action in this matter, which he said is a very important one to the community. He further stated that because there is a possibility of leasing a portion of the railroad company's land surrounding the local depot for the location of a public comfort station, the council should not fail to insist that the depot be adequately equipped.

Previous to Mr. Rapalje's address, a letter from the Board of Health signed by Health Officer Chandler was read. The health officer urged the location of a public comfort station in the business section, instead of in the depot park, as he understood was contemplated.

The letter from Mr. Chandler was referred to the Public Affairs Committee, which has the question of establishing a public comfort station under consideration.

Levis M. Booth, chairman of this committee, stated to a representative of the Courier-News that the committee will make some recommendation in the matter, but that it will first give the subject the consideration it deserves.

"We are not going to jump at any conclusions," Mr. Booth declared.

PAPER PRICE OF $2.50 FIXED BY TRADE BOARD

Reporting that increases in the selling price of news print paper for 1917 were, in most cases, not justified by cost of production, the Federal Trade Commission yesterday named $2.50 per hundredweight as a reasonable charge for the paper. Both the American and Canadian paper manufacturers have agreed to this proposition.

Manufacturers had suggested that the commission name a reasonable price and the proposal was acted upon in the commission's report. For paper in less than carload lots higher prices were named. Sheet paper also was quoted at higher figures.

The commission recommended that the prices fixed by it be in force for six months and contracts calling for higher prices be abrogated. Other prices than that of $2.50 at the mill in carload lots were named as follows: Less than carload, $2.75; news print sheets in carload lots, $3.25; less than carload, $3.50. Jobbers will charge not more than 5 per cent. on carload lots, 12½ per cent. on less than carload lots, and 20 per cent. on less than a ton. Not until publishers and paper jobbers agreed to the manufacturers' proposal of having the commission act as arbiter did its members consent to act.

Says we will both look and feel clean, sweet and fresh and avoid illness.

Sanitary science has of late made rapid strides with results that are of untold blessing to humanity. The latest application of its untiring research is the recommendation that it is as necessary to attend to internal sanitation of the drainage system of the human body as it is to the drains of the house.

Those of us who are accustomed to feel dull and logy when we arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. Those who do not regularly use limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste, acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the phosphated hot water is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, biliousness, sick headache, stomach troubles, stiffness; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a prosecuted crank on the subject of internal sanitation.—Adv.

NETHERWOOD DUTCH ARMS ELECTS

Last night the Netherwood Dutch Arms Men's Club held its regular monthly meeting in the parlor of the Netherwood Reformed church. Mr. Hughes presided, with a goodly number in attendance. A short devotional service was conducted by Claude Gonod, after which three new members, Albert Macgugan, Mr. Enoch and Mr. Reid, were accepted into the membership of the club. Mr. Macgugan was elected to fill the secretaryship, taking over the position from Arthur Klenzle, who has left the city. Mr. Enoch was appointed chairman of the entertainment committee.

A report was received from William Banks, the club's delegate to the Federation of Men's Clubs of this city. He gave an outline of what the federation was planning for the future, and extended a cordial invitation to all members of the club to attend the federation's meetings.

The Rev. E. S. Ralston, donated the use of the parsonage as the next meeting place of the club, and plans were laid to have some special entertainment, at which refreshments are to play a large part.

This club is open to all men of the community regardless of their church affiliations. One of the purposes of the club is to bring together the men of the community, so that they may learn to work together. A cordial invitation is extended to all men to attend the next meeting at the parsonage on March 26, at 8 p. m.

MISS ELLA PRICE DIES HERE WHILE ON VISIT

Miss Ella Price, who had been visiting her niece, Mrs. J. T. Goodwin, for the past four months, died this morning at the home of the latter, 740 Carlton avenue, in her sixty-seventh year. She was taken ill with pneumonia early in February and uraemic poisoning developed which caused her death.

Miss Price was born at Harpers Ferry, Va., being the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John F. Price. The greater part of her life was spent at Champaign, Illinois. It was her custom to visit a few months each year with her niece in this city. She was a devout Christian and active member of the Methodist church.

There survives three nieces, Mrs. J. T. Goodwin, of this city; Mrs. W. B. Spalding, of Champaign, and Mrs. Charles Gibson, of St. Joseph, Ill., and three nephews, J. F. Price, of Pittsburgh, and J. S. and T. J. Price, of Chicago. The funeral and burial will be at Champaign, Ill.

MANY ATTEND FIRST REHEARSAL FOR SHOW

More than one-half the number of persons required to produce the comic opera, "The Land of Mystery," which is to be given by the Plainfield Lodge of Elks at the Plainfield Theatre April 10, 11 and 12, attended the first rehearsal at the Elks' club house last night, where they met Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Skilling, the authors of the opera. There was a total of 125 persons present and after hearing the score all agreed that the music was even better than that of "The Mystic Rose."

There were a number who, because of other engagements, could not attend last night, but will later. Seventy-five more people are needed for the chorus and those in charge feel sure that that number will be secured before the next rehearsal on Thursday night. Mr. Skilling was much pleased last night with the preliminary work and predicts a success for the production.

FEARS DAMAGE FROM STORM SEWER

Peter W. Voorhees, owner of land on Stelle avenue, between Hobart and Clinton avenues, through which a water course runs, sent a communication to the Common Council last night, stating that the storm sewer which the council purposes to empty into the water course will produce a greater volume of water than the course can accommodate, and that there is likely to be great damage to his property.

He shall expect proper compensation for such damage whenever it occurs, and his communication was in the nature of advance information on the subject.

Councilman Hylan, of the streets and sewers committee, stated that this water course is the only means of disposing of water taken in by the storm sewer, and that arrangements will have to be made with Mr. Voorhees.

CAPTAIN PETERSON NOT TO BLAME

It has come to the notice of Captain Charles A. Peterson, of the local military organization, that on the night of February 22 a number of small boys went through the streets of the East End, and wherever an American flag was displayed they rang the door bell and told the householder to take in the flag, adding that Captain Peterson had directed them to make the suggestion.

Captain Peterson states that he is in no way responsible for the pranks of these boys and hopes that those who were annoyed by them will so understand.

T. O. DOANE'S QUICK ACTION AVERTS TROUBLE

Sitting near the window in his office on North avenue this morning Building Inspector T. O. Doane noticed a large quantity of steam and boiling water coming from the side of the building, opposite which is occupied by Edward Hardinkham, real estate broker.

Making a hurried investigation, he discovered that the hot water heater in the rear of the basement was running full blast, allowing steam to escape and causing the water to overflow and seek an outlet. The furnace was quickly opened and in a few minutes the trouble was abated. Mr. Doane said that it was a fortunate thing that the boiler did not explode.

WEAKNESS MAKES US EASY VICTIMS OF DISEASE

The reason most people suffer from colds and colds every winter is that you do not protect yourselves during the fall. This year instead of courting trouble avoid it. Prepare your system now so that it will be in a position to resist the elements. Strengthen your lungs, tone up the entire system, so that no matter what the weather may be no matter how cold or inclement or disagreeable conditions may be you will be so full of health, strength and energy that you will be able to go about your daily work at full speed.

Last year thousands of people enjoyed sparkling health throughout the winter because they took malto-ferrin. It is that way they were well fortified against weakness, so that they were able to go out at any time, knowing that they would not be taken down with any of the numerous colds, grippe, that are usually prevalent in the winter time.

The reason that malto-ferrin acts so wonderfully in that it contains just the essential medicinal elements that build and tone up the body.

It works wonders with your stomach—tones up the liver—sharpens the appetite—builds good firm flesh, and gives a new type of strength, health and vitality.

The success in attempt to describe the wonderful benefits that result from the use of malto-ferrin. It is so marvelous in its work that you begin to feel its effect almost from the very first night. Just a tablespoonful two or three times a day will make you feel like a new person in no time. Begin taking it at once.

Go to your pharmacist today and get a bottle. If malto-ferrin does not make you feel ten times as good, bring back the empty bottle and get every penny of your money. This offer is made only because malto-ferrin has done so well previously in thousands of other cases. If for any reason you are unable to readily obtain it at your nearest druggist's send 50 cents or $1.00 for the size you want to the Malto-Ferrin Chemical Co., 81 Prospect place, Brooklyn New York, and it will be sent direct to you prepaid.—Adv.

EXPERT FARMER TO ADVISE STATE

Freehold Man Will Increase Farm Productivity.

APPOINTED BY GOVERNOR EDGE

W. B. Duryee, Successful Agriculturist and Specialist in Farm Management, Will Show State Institution Heads How to Increase Productivity of Grounds Cultivated—Will Cut Living Cost.

Trenton, March 6.—In response to a request from Governor Edge, the state department of agriculture has designated William B. Duryee of Freehold, a specialist in farm management, to co-operate with the boards of managers of state institutions where ground is under cultivation with a view to increasing its productivity. Mr. Duryee was graduated from Rutgers college several years ago and returned to the management of his own farm in Monmouth county. Later he became superintendent of farm demonstration for the county.

The views of Governor Edge were outlined in the following letter he wrote to Secretary Alva Agee of the state agricultural department a few days ago:

"I am very anxious to have the state department of agriculture co-operate with the boards of managers of the various state institutions where ground is under cultivation so that the greatest return may be secured in the way of raising agricultural products of all kinds. At the present time, of course, there is much state land under cultivation, but there seems to be a well defined opinion that this could be greatly increased by scientific and careful management. In addition to this, if the different state farm managers felt that they could work with a representative of the state department the results certainly would be more concentrated. The kind of produce could be divided in different sections in order to obtain the best results and try to meet the state's demands.

SHAD SEASON TO BE LATE.

Gloucester City Fishermen Gloomy Over Spring Outlook.

Gloucester City, March 6.—Fishermen are gloomy over the outlook for an early run of shad in the Delaware river, and they have their doubts if any are caught before the middle of next month.

The fishermen say shad will not leave the bay and come up the river so long as cold water prevails. There has been so much ice and snow of late it will take some time for the water in the river to get to the right temperature, and when they do start up the Delaware the fishermen are afraid the shad will not arrive in large numbers.

Smith of Boonton, county elementary superintendent, will deliver an address at both sessions. Miss Elizabeth Trimble, county home department superintendent, will deliver an address in the afternoon.

$500,000 HOTEL FOR MEN.

Somers Point, March 6.—It has been learned that officials of the Bethlehem Steel company were here a few days ago inspecting sites along the water front to construct a $500 00 hotel.

The company is desirous, according to information, of obtaining a site that will be close to its gun proving grounds, so its employees and guests can be housed without sending them to Atlantic City. If a site is found here it is expected the company will construct a large wharf and run a boat daily to and from the proving grounds to carry the workers.

BRITISH HALT ANGRE ADVANCE

Dig In as German Resistance Stiffens; French Lose.

London, March 6.—The British advance at the heels of the Germans retiring on the Ancre seems to have come to a stop. For the first time since the retirement began ten days ago the war office statement announces no progress on the Ancre.

There is instead a hint that the British have come face to face with the new German line and are digging themselves in. East of Gommecourt, at the northern end of the fourteen mile front of retirement, the last point at which the British advanced, Haig's men have "improved and strengthened" their positions.

How important to the Germans was the loss of their first line beyond Bucquoy was the threatening Peronne, is shown by the fact that they have made another counter attack in an effort to recapture the lost trenches. This attempt met failure.

The Germans attacked violently on a front of a mile and a half between Chambrettes farm and Bezonvaux, a part of the French line at Verdun that has been often attacked. Between Caurieres wood and Bezonvaux the French fire broke up the attack. North of the wood the Germans got into several trenches.

French infantry charged from the wood and into the new German line. There was a hot fight, in which losses were heavy.

ACCUSE GERMAN OF HAVING BOMBS

Police Discover Several In Prisoner's Room.

DENY PLOT AGAINST WILSON

Young Teuton Said to Have Boasted He Was In Conspiracy to Blow Up Big Munition Plants, but Detectives Who Arrested Him In Hoboken, N. J., Are Unable to Find Proof of Others Working With Him.

New York, March 6.—Fritz Kolb, a young German, was arrested by detectives from Captain Tunney's "bomb" squad of this city and by Hoboken policemen in the Commercial hotel, at 212 River street, Hoboken.

In his room two well made bombs were found complete except for the fuses and small amounts of trinitrotoluol and picric acid. Kolb came under suspicion first, according to the Hoboken police, because he boasted while drinking that he intended to cause another explosion of munitions at Black Tom.

It was rumored that he was connected with many Teuton plots in this country, including a plan to send bombs to President Wilson, but nothing was brought out after his arrest to substantiate these stories.

Watched For Three Weeks.

Kolb had been watched for three weeks before he was arrested. It was known, the police say, that he had taken explosives and other materials for bombmaking to his room, and the delay in arresting him was due to the hope that by watching him the detectives could find out whether other persons were working with him.

Chief of Police Hayes of Hoboken said that evidence had been obtained that Kolb was only one of those taking part in a widespread conspiracy to destroy munitions factories, and that several arrests might follow, including the apprehension of one of two "big men." Captain Tunney did not maintain this view. He said that the watch kept on Kolb had indicated that he was working alone and that his arrest completed the case.

The two bombs found in Kolb's rooms were made of steel pipe, cut in seven inch lengths, with threads worked at either end. Steel caps had been screwed on the pipe after it had been loaded with a powder thought to be picric acid, which is now in the hands of the bureau of combustibles in this city for analysis. Wound around the steel pipe was a copper tube perforated at intervals of every half inch. The fuse was to be inserted in this, and the holes in the tube were to let in air so that the fuse would burn. The pipes and copper wire fitted perfectly into two cylindrical containers of thin lead.

Says Friend Made Bombs.

All that Kolb would say after his arrest, according to Chief of Police Hayes, was that the bombs had been made by a man known to him only as "Karl." Kolb said that about five weeks ago he met this man in a saloon and allowed him to use his room. Kolb said he did not know what his acquaintance intended to do with the bombs.

The prisoner, Kolb, is about five feet five inches tall and says he is thirty-three years old. He had brown hair, very thin in front, and a close cropped red mustache, which is curled upward at the ends, after the fashion adopted by the kaiser. Kolb said that he was born in Cologne and came to this country on a German ship in 1914. He said he was not a reservist, as he was disqualified by a physical defect. He added that he had worked as a porter, waiter, cook and bartender in this country.

Kolb was held on a charge of having explosives in his possession without a license.

New Industry at Daretown.

Daretown, March 6.—As soon as the machinery can be installed in the old flour and feed mills of C. F. Fox a New York company which has bought the property will begin to reduce milk to a powder form on a large scale. Daretown is considered a dairy center. In Salem county and plenty of milk will be at hand to keep the mill in steady operation.

OPENED VEST PUT BUTTON IN PATH OF BULLET.

Yonkers, N. Y., March 6.—It was a good thing for Ralph De Angelis of 128 School street, he told the police, that he wore his vest unbuttoned when he alleges Mrs. Virginia Chinard, a neighbor, fired a revolver at him.

In court he exhibited the vest with a button split in two, which he says intercepted the bullet and saved his life. Had the vest been closed the bullet would have entered his chest, Judge Beall adjourned the attempted assault charge against Mrs. Chinard until tomorrow.

You can try to prevent a receiver from being dropped or banged against the receiver hook.

Any damage to the instrument or telephone lines may impair your service.

THE POIRET MODELS FOR SPRING 1917

Now on view in our Fashion Salons

These authorized Poiret reproductions are very moderate in cost, the dresses ranging from $29.50 to $98; the skirts from $7.50 to $14.50; the suits from $45 to $67.50; the coats from $57.50 to $115. Meeting all requirements for an entire season it is possible for a woman to be dressed entirely by Poiret at an outlay that would formerly have bought but a single Poiret garment.

Poiret flashed upon the fashion world about 10 years ago. A collection of gowns for Southern wear was sent to us by our Paris representative. Among them were five models almost startling in their daring newness of type, line and color. "A new genius," we said, "who is he?"

"He will take his place among the fashion masters of the world," was our prophecy.

* * *

Poiret's start in life was prosaic enough. As a boy he was apprenticed to an umbrella merchant.

One day he was asked to deliver a package in a big store.

A new life opened before his eyes. He saw people — thousands of them — fashionably dressed women. He studied them. He became interested in clothes. He began sketching. Wherever he went he made sketches of what he saw. He would ride up and down the boulevards on top of a bus and sketch.

He even essayed some original designs. With these, one daring day, he knocked at the door of a dressmaker. It was opened. His designs were bought—and changed into clothes.

Poiret has found his field.

In 1904 he opened a small shop of his own. By 1907 he had moved into larger quarters and his growing fame had reached America.

By 1910 Poiret's genius had gone so far that to the amazement of Paris he left the business neighborhood and opened his wonderful establishment at 107 Faubourg St. Honore, an old chateau set in the center of a great garden, which at once became an art center known to all Europe and to North and South America.

* * *

Now the scene changes.

It is Monday morning, August 3, 1914— the second day of mobilization for the great war.

We go to the Salons of Poiret, in Paris. We find him dressed in soldier's clothes. He is surrounded with weeping crowds of devoted helpers. "I go to join my regiment," he says, "an artist is nothing when a soldier is wanted. France needs men today, not artists. My atelier is closed, and will remain closed until I return, if I do return."

And so Poiret disappeared for nearly three years.

And Now Poiret Returns

As Attache de la Ministere de la Guerre, he is given sufficient time away from his duties to take up again his beloved art. But Paris is closed to fashion. So Poiret creates his new models especially for American women. He sends 20 to New York, from which 14 are chosen for reproduction. He organizes a company to exploit them. He authorizes four specialists to reproduce these models, under the direction of his own representative to see that each one is faithfully reproduced, line for line, color for color. There are robes, costumes tailleur, coats, skirts and sports costume. Fourteen models, which in various materials and colors count up to more than half a hundred.

SENATE BATTLE OVER CLOTURE

Leaders Determined to Put End to Filibusters.

WILSON STUDIES ARMED SHIPS

President and Advisers Seek Full Authority to Put Guns on American Merchantmen Without Contravening Old Statutes—Hope to Avoid Call For Extra Session by Discovering Legal Power.

Washington, March 6.—Determined to protect American rights at sea, President Wilson today is seeking to fix the exact status of his power to arm and convoy American merchant vessels to brave the German submarine zone. At the same time administration leaders in the senate planned their fight to so alter the rules of that body that an opposing minority could not prevent the enactment of legislation to extend and amplify the president's powers to deal with the international situation.

Secretary of State Lansing and Attorney General Gregory are making a close, detailed study of the constitution and all of the statutes from the inception of the government bearing on the question of armed ships.

There is a clear conviction that the cabinet law officers, who expect to call on experts in international law from private life to aid their researches, would hold that the constitutional powers of the president were sufficient to allow him to act.

Wants Early Report.

Mr. Wilson urged the cabinet members for an early report on the matter, and if they upheld his authority, it was stated, there would be little delay in placing government guns and government gunners aboard the ships of the American line and such other American vessels as request similar protection.

Meantime Democratic leaders in the senate immediately after the new upper house organized in special session called a caucus of senate Democrats to take up the question of altering the rule of unlimited debate, which allowed eleven senators to defeat the armed neutrality authorization demanded by the president.

Following the president's denunciation of the filibuster which prevented action on the measure, the Democratic leaders sought to arrange for an immediate change in the senate rules. The caucus which will name a majority leader to succeed Senator Root, who retired from the senate yesterday, will consider sidetracking all other business before the senate and concentrating Democratic efforts in a fight for cloture.

Senator Owen of Oklahoma, who has been fighting for cloture for years, will endeavor to obtain a caucus indorsement for his resolution, reported to the last senate by the rules committee. Under this resolution the senate by a majority vote could limit each senator to a one hour speech on the pending question. This rule would undoubted*ly clear the way for the passage of an* authorization resolution in an extraordinary session of congress should the president deem it necessary to call one.

Often Fought Before.

How far the president's denunciation of the senate filibuster rule has strengthened the support of cloture troubles administration leaders. In the past cloture has been vigorously opposed by both Democrats and Republicans, particularly among the older members of the senate. Sporadic attempts to amend the rules in this regard for twenty years have met with failure. Senators express grave doubt that a cloture measure could be forced through even in the present emergency.

The first fight is expected in the senate today when the cloture supporters will seek to prevent the automatic operation of the rules of the past congress. Heretofore it has always been held that the senate was a continuing body and the rules automatically continued.

Several senators, including Owen and Walsh of Montana, one of the legal authorities in the body, have contended, however, that the rules must be formally adopted by the senate at the beginning of each congress. This contention, if sustained, would open the way for a general revision of the rules and the adoption of a cloture proposal.

Ready to Arm Ships.

The navy department is ready to move at once to arm American ships. While no definite orders have been given for placing guns aboard the vessels, all preliminary steps have been taken. The guns and mounts have been assembled, and twenty-four hours after the order is issued the big American line ships will be fully protected.

The probability of a break between the United States and Bulgaria looms up as imminent. Reports from abroad that Bulgaria was prepared to withdraw her representatives from Washington were received without surprise in diplomatic and administration circles. It was stated that since the break with Germany it has become increasingly apparent that Bulgaria was prepared to support the German submarine campaign to the limit.

Defense League For Madison.

Madison, March 6.—A meeting will be held here Thursday night in the small hall of the James building to organize a Madison home defense league. Judge Alfred F. Skinner will be in charge. The meeting will be open to women as well as men. The committee expects to begin work at once to name committees and arrange to work out plans for immediate preparation for any emergency which may arise.

$12,500 For Loss of an Ear.

New York, March 6.—A verdict for $12,500, chiefly for the loss of an ear, was awarded by a jury in the supreme court in a suit of Patrick Martin against the American Express company. The plaintiff was run down by a truck. He asked $50,000.

The Plainfield H. S. seconds put one over on the Recreation Five yesterday afternoon on the high school court, the final score being 36 to 16.

The final period of play saw the Recreation Five doing better work. It made 12 points, while the Red and Blue boys repeated their performance of the first half and again scored 18 points.

HOPE GIRLS WIN OVER SOCIAL CLUB

Sunday School Players Outclass St. Mary's Club Team on Fourth Street Court

The Hope Chapel girls made sure of their superiority over the basketball aggregation of the St. Mary's Social Club, defeating them by a score of 9 to 3. The contest was originally booked for the chapel court, but owing to lack of proper lighting on account of the storm, the contest was shifted to the T. A. B. S. court by mutual agreement.

This is the second defeat the Hope girls have handed to the Social Club five this season, the previous one having been taken by a score of 7 to 5. Miss Overbaugh, of the Hopes, put up an excellent game, securing seven of her team's eight points, while Miss McCauley chalked up the bulk of her team's points. Both teams put up good games, and the Hopes had to keep playing all the time in order to maintain the lead which they secured early in the game.

PLAINFIELDERS IN ELIZABETH SHOOT

John Terry and George Ord, of Climax Club, Take Part in Events at County Seat

Johnny Anthes, Jr., successfully defended his title as Union county champion against Robert J. Maurer on the Meadow Lane traps of the Duane Rod and Gun Club Sunday afternoon. For a time it was doubtful whether the match would take place, owing to the heavy snow, but both gunners were willing they banged away at the discs and of the fifty birds thrown for each gunner, Johnny busted forty-two and Maurer forty.

Another number on the program which proved interesting was the shoot for the Isaac trophy, which was won by Paul Woltman, who broke eighteen "tar hawks," and with a handicap of seven, recorded a perfect score. A special match between two members of the Climax Gun Club of this city was won by John Terry, who scored fifteen straight, as compared with George Orde's thirteen.

The results of the other events were as follows: Ten-bird sweepstake, won by John Anthes, Jr., 8; Robert J. Maurer, 7; William Anthes, 6; Charles Gibson, 5; Paul Woltman, 5. Fifteen-bird sweepstake, won by John Anthes, Jr., 12; Paul Woltman, 11; William Anthes, 10; Robert Maurer, 9; Charles Gibson, 8. CITY LEAGUE RACE IS GROWING TIGHT

Official Standing of Teams Show Outcome of Season Still Uncertain

INDIVIDUAL AVERAGES

With the schedule of the City Bowling League now well on the way of its last half, the fight for first place honors among three of the teams is growing to proportions unknown up to this point of the season. The Elks have the slight advantage of a full tilt over the Imperials for the honor position, while the latter aggregation has a full game grappling with second place over the Knights of Columbus. The Total Abstainers have still and unthreatened possession of the cellar position, but judging from their walloping of the league leaders last Friday evening in a complete series of tilts they will yet be able to throw a scare or two into the camps of one or two of the other three combinations.

Taylor of the Knights, Vail of the Elks and Gates of the Imperials still remain the "big three" in the individual average line of endeavor. Voorhees of the Imperials and O'Keeffe of the Abstainers, however, are sufficiently well up in the race for average honors and hold a position where they might threaten the upper places before long.

The complete set of latest averages of the league, as given out this morning by Secretary George Howe, are noted below. The figure to the left of the name of the individual indicates the position he held when the records were last published.

PARK CLUB AND ELKS WILL CLASH TONIGHT

The Park Club alleys will be the scene of the second of the home-and-home series of bowling matches between them of that organization and the Elks aggregation, both teams are in the prime of condition and in readiness for the fray, and the old-time rivalry between the line-ups may be anticipated.

Mention is again made that members of the two organizations are expected to bring their wives, mothers, sweethearts and other members' beaus to witness the contest. A social time will follow the matches, and the women folks need have no fear that their interests will not be cared for in the proper way.

BLOOMFIELD BOYS WALLOPS BOROUGH

North Plainfield Players Prove No Match For Their Hosts Yesterday

The North Plainfield H. S. basketeers are still in the throes of defeat, the strong Bloomfield H. S. five administering a 41 to 18 beating to the boroughites on the Bloomfield court yesterday afternoon. North Plainfield played miserably, with Billy Ahern nursing a sprained ankle and Andy McDonough suffering from a heavy cold. The Bloomfielders were never in danger of defeat.

The home team started off with a rush, scoring five two-pointers before Ahern dropped one in for the locals. For the next few minutes N. P. H. S. showed some real life, McDonough finding the ring once and Ahern twice. The half ended 22 to 10 in favor of Bloomfield.

Benhurn, the Bloomfield star, after being held to no field goals by Willett in the first half, switched over to right forward in the second and found the basket six times. Clay and Barry were injected into the fray after ten minutes had been played and put up a fine article of basketball.

"MASKED MARVEL" IN INITIAL APPEARANCE

The fears of the T. A. B. S. house tourney took two last evening from the Tigers, the feat having been made possible largely through the inspiration of the "masked marvel" of the local bowling circles. The "masked marvel" did some good work as his own hook in the first tilt, chalking up a score of 202, and manages to maintain an average of 179.

Mahoney did the heavy work of the evening, working the lanes for an average of 190.1, while O'Keeffe of the Tigers came second in this line with an average of 185.1. Mahoney's 224 in the second tilt was the high mark of the games.

The schedule for the remainder of the week follows: Tomorrow night, Leopards vs. Foxes; Friday, Bulls vs. Lions.

SECOND NIGHTERS ON WRONG END OF SCORES

The Second Night Club, which operates one night a week, needs to get into action about two or three evenings during the course of the next week or two in order to get into trim. The pinners of this organization visited the Somerset alleys last evening, where they were properly walloped by the St. Joseph's Club in a clean sweep of three tilts.

The Second Nighters never appeared to have a chance in any of the games, the boroughites taking all three by substantial margins.

HUNTERDON COUNTRY CLUB HOLDS FORTH

The monthly meeting of the board of managers of the Hunterdon Country Club was held last night at the clubhouse near High Bridge, when arrangements were made for a smoker to be held next Tuesday night, at which time the bowling team from the Pomfret Club of Easton will compete against the Hunterdon Country club five in a match.

SNYDER COPS AVERAGE CUP IN THE ROLL-OFF

The question of who should have a clear title to the individual average honors of the Bound Brook Firemen's Bowling League was settled for all time at Klinger's alleys of that place last evening when Snyder defeated Hodge in the best of seven games. Snyder averaged 190 as against 181 for Hodge, the former also securing high score of 223 in his first set-to. The best Hodge could do was to secure an even 200 in his second round.

By virtue of his bowling last evening Snyder secures the handsome loving cup for high average offered by George Bonger, of Bound Brook, who was father of the league.

The scores:

Snyder—222, 192, 213, 178, 160, 190. Average, 190. Total pins, 1,355.

Hodge—174, 200, 180, 167, 189, 163, 188. Average, 181. Total pins, 1,271.

HIGH SCORES MADE IN HOUSE TOURNEY GAMES

The individual house tourney of the Somerset alleys, the borough, was resumed last evening with four sets of games being staged. Several rattling good scores were set up during the course of the evening, with Mantz securing the high average for a trio of games at the chalk mark of 214.3. It was left to Voorhees to secure high individual score at 238, this pinner coming in second in the averages at 198.1.

HELPS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

VIRGINIA CARTER LEE

In connection with this department Miss Lee will gladly answer any inquiry relative to domestic science, a stamped envelope being necessary for a personal reply. Address care of Courier-News.

So many inquiries have reached me lately, in regard to preparing the different varieties of salad dressings, that the household article this evening will be devoted to that topic. Several novel formulas are given, in addition to the ordinary French, mayonnaise and boiled varieties, as well as directions for making green mayonnaise, sauce tartare, etc.

In mixing salad dressing, have everything as cold as possible, and stir and beat it constantly from the moment you begin to mix it until it is finished. If these directions are followed, and the ingredients used in the correct proportions, there will be no difficulty in the mixture curdling or separating.

French Dressing

Perhaps this dressing is best blended by pouring the ingredients into a bottle and then shaking rapidly. If mixed in a bowl or soup plate, have the receptacle chilled. First, put in a half teaspoonful of salt and a dash of white pepper. Then add four tablespoonfuls of olive oil, stir with a fork until slightly thickened and add one tablespoonful of lemon juice or vinegar. This same dressing may be blended with the addition of a teaspoonful of French mustard, or omit the vinegar and add two tablespoonfuls of chili sauce. Either of these latter varieties are excellent to serve with green salads, or those composed of beans.

Vinaigrette Dressing

Blend together one-quarter of a teaspoonful each of salt and pepper, add two heaping tablespoonfuls of finely chopped chives, parsley, tarragon and chevril, six tablespoonfuls of olive oil and three tablespoonfuls of vinegar. This dressing is recommended for asparagus and other cooked vegetable salads.

Roquefort Cheese Salad Dressing

Beat one-quarter of a cupful of the cheese to a cream (use a wooden spoon). Then gradually beat in five tablespoonfuls of olive oil, one-quarter of a teaspoonful each of salt and paprika and two and a half tablespoonfuls of vinegar. This dressing is very good with lettuce, endive, sliced tomatoes and cold boiled cauliflower. Serve with crackers or brown sandwiches, but not with meat or fish dishes.

Mayonnaise Dressing

Beat the yolks of two eggs until light and lemon colored. Add half a teaspoonful of salt, one-quarter of a teaspoonful of pepper and half a teaspoonful of ground mustard. Beat vigorously and add two tablespoonfuls of acid—lemon or vinegar, or half of each, as preferred. When the mixture is smooth, beat in half a teaspoonful of olive oil. Continue beating in the oil, increasing the quantity to a tablespoonful until a pint has been added, and lastly, beat in two scant tablespoonfuls of boiling water. In making the dressing, use a Dover egg beater and beat steadily from the start. If the dressing is to stand any time before using, cover the bowl with a plate and set aside in a cold place. Beat the full quantity of acid into the yolks at first, otherwise the oil cannot be added in the quantity given.

Chantilly Dressing

To a pint of mayonnaise, add half a cupful of double cream, whipped solid, and omit the mustard. This is excellent to serve with fruit salads.

Boiled Salad Dressing with Whites of Eggs and Cream

Mix half a teaspoonful of mustard, half a teaspoonful of salt and a quarter of a teaspoonful of paprika. Add the yolks of two eggs and beat thoroughly. Blend in one-quarter of a cupful of butter and one-quarter of a cupful of cider vinegar. Set the saucepan over hot water and stir until the mixture becomes smooth and thick. Then remove from the fire and beat in the stiffly whipped white of one egg. When the mixture is cold, beat again. Just previous to using with the salad, fold in half a cupful of double cream, beaten solid.

Russian Salad Dressing

Start the dressing with one cupful of plain mayonnaise and gradually beat into it an additional half cupful of olive oil. Then add one-quarter of a teaspoonful of salt, half a teaspoonful of paprika, one teaspoonful each of finely chopped green pepper and pimentos, one tablespoonful of vinegar and half a cupful of Chutney sauce.

In preparing sauce tartare, use the formula for mayonnaise dressing. Just previous to serving, add half a tablespoonful each of chopped olives, capers and minced pickle.

For a green mayonnaise, chop one tablespoonful of parsley very finely. Put it into a bowl and rub with the back of a spoon until it is reduced to a paste. During the process add two or three drops of pure alcohol (no more) and blend in with the regular mayonnaise.

THE KING'S PLAIN DAUGHTERS—Part II

The sisters were too sleepy and tired to reply to their husbands, and they stretched themselves out on the beds of boughs and were soon fast asleep. But not so with the dwarfs; they kept awake and watched, peering into the darkness of the forest with expectant looks.

By and by something could be heard moving among the trees and bushes, and then two lights were seen like two fires with streams of flames running up among the trees.

"Here he comes," said one brother. "Our wives must be protected; remember that, even if we lose our lives in saving them."

The sisters had awakened at the first sound and heard what the brave dwarf had said, and before the sisters could ask what was to happen out of the dark depths of the forest came a roar that shook the ground, and two fiery eyes came upon their astonished gaze.

By the light of the eyes the sisters saw a huge dragon with a green body and tail which slapped the ground as it crawled, and its mouth, wide open, looked large enough to swallow all of them at one mouthful.

The sisters huddled together, too frightened to cry out, and the dreadful dragon, without giving one look at the three dwarfs, made straight for the sisters.

Not until he was close to them did the dwarfs make a single motion; but just as the hot breath of the dragon came upon the sisters and they were sure they were lost, their husbands sprang at the monster.

One dwarf caught it by the lower jaw and another by the upper jaw at the same time springing upon the head of the creature so that he could pull well. The third brother began throwing rocks into the open mouth of the dragon, which he swallowed as fast as they were thrown.

After awhile the sisters could see that the monster could swallow no more, and the rocks piled up in his mouth, and when it was full the dwarfs sprang to the ground beside their brother.

"Now comes your part," they said to their wives.

"Oh! what can we do?" they asked. "You have saved our lives; we will do anything you ask of us."

"You must take the monster by the tail and pull with all your strength—all three of you," said one dwarf.

The dragon was slapping his tail about and shaking his head, trying to get the rocks out of his mouth, but they were packed in his mouth so tightly he could not be rid of them.

The sisters tremblingly approached the tail; three times they tried to grasp it, and each time it struck one of the sisters in the face. The fourth time they held the tail of the monster firmly and pulled.

A mighty roar went up from the dragon and at the same time the rocks began to fly out of his mouth, and as they fell they landed on the head of the monster and killed him.

Then the three dwarfs set to work taking out the rocks that still remained in the dragon's mouth, and when it was quite empty they stepped into his huge mouth and disappeared.

The sisters screamed with fright, for they had grown to love their husbands for all they had risked to save them.

They ran to the mouth of the dragon and looked in, but before they could call to their husbands the dragon disappeared and in its place stood three handsome men.

They bowed low before the sisters and one said: "We are your husbands; will you live with us and love us now?"

The three sisters knew how plain they were and replied: "You will not want us; we are so plain; you will want handsome wives."

"Look in the river and see what it reflects," they told the sisters.

When the sisters looked they found they were beautiful; their plain features had disappeared, as well as the hideous forms of their husbands, and they ran back to their husbands, who stood waiting for them with open arms.

And while they rode back to the palace the three brothers told their wives the story of a wicked witch who had changed them into dwarfs because their father, the poor king, had lost all his money, and could not give her three bags of gold for them after they were stolen by his enemies.

"And the only way we could ever be released from the dreadful forms," said one brother, "was to marry the daughter of a king; then we were to fight a dragon in a forest to save the lives of our wives, and you know all that has happened."

"And was that what you meant when you spoke of the watching for the enemy?" asked one sister.

"Yes," replied her husband, "and it was worth all the danger to gain three beautiful wives."

"The things we prize most are those dearly bought," said the sisters, and we prize our handsome husbands no less than you do your wives."

STOP CATARRH! OPEN NOSTRILS AND HEAD

If your nostrils are clogged and your head is stuffed and you can't breathe freely because of a cold or catarrh, just get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm at any drug store. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream into your nostrils and let it penetrate through every air passage of your head, soothing and healing the inflamed, swollen mucous membrane and you get instant relief.

Ah! how good it feels. Your nostrils are open, your head is clear, no more hawking, snuffling, blowing; no more headache, dryness or struggling for breath. Ely's Cream Balm is just what sufferers from head colds and catarrh need. It's a delight.—Adv.

WOMEN WHO FADE EARLY

How often we hear the expression, "How she has faded!" or "How she has grown old!" Her friends see it. Her husband sees it. She realizes it herself with a pang. Often she knows the reason, some female derangement has fastened itself upon her and makes it almost impossible for her to drag around from day to day. Such women should remember there is one tried and true remedy for their condition, and that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for more than forty years has been restoring women to health and happiness. Try it!—Adv.

REPLIES ON PROTEST AGAINST REP. MANN

Trenton, March 6.—Three favorable, three adverse and two non-committal replies have been received from Republican State Committeemen to a letter sent out by Hamilton F. Kean, of Union county, asking that the committee forward to Washington a protest against the selection of Congressman Mann as Speaker of the House. The partial result was announced by State Chairman Buchee, who requested the expressions of opinion.

Among the answers was one from former Governor Stokes, who said he was in sympathy with Mr. Kean's view, but doubted the wisdom of a protest. Harry P. Thorn, committeeman from Burlington, protested that he had full confidence in the New Jersey Congressmen, while Albert H. Darnell, of Atlantic county, advised against any act that might destroy Republican harmony.

HUSBAND DISAPPEARS, WIFE'S MONEY ALSO

Perth Amboy, March 6.—Mrs. Frank Huss has asked the aid of the police in locating her husband, who has been missing from his home in this city for a week. Since he left, says Mrs. Huss, $1,100 belonging to her and boarders has been also found to be missing.

The wife is left destitute and City Attorney Leo Goldberger is endeavoring to find a way to convince the postal authorities that $400 deposited in the savings department of the local office is actually her money, although it was deposited in her husband's name.

OLCOTT TONIGHT AT PLAINFIELD THEATRE

There is a rare, unforced atmosphere of optimism and good will that is really appealing in "The Heart of Paddy Whack," which Chauncey Olcott will present at the Plainfield Theatre tonight. It is one of those cheerful, heart-reaching plays that makes one happier for having seen it. It is a sort of Irish "Daddy Long-legs." A fund of humor, more wit and romance and a deeper heart grip. Chauncey Olcott as Dennis O'Malley, called "Paddy Whack" by his vivacious ward, in this role is on a level with the foremost of our American players. His tenor voice, schooled under great masters of oratorio and song, has few equals even on the concert stage. Years have ripened his art and his rendition of "A Little Bit of Heaven," "Who Knows," "A Broth of a Boy" and "Irish Eyes of Love," is a treat that few can afford to miss.

HOWE'S MOVING PICTURES FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

In these days when a world war seems imminent and our own fair country seems to be about to plunge into the fray, it is only fitting and proper that a timely spectacle like "Civilization" should appear before the public throughout the land.

Proctor's Theatre has arranged for a farewell appearance of this spectacle in Plainfield starting to-day and continuing tomorrow and Thursday. From the opening of the film play the visualization on the screen takes us from the happy, care free working people of humanity to the first intimation of war. In the big battle scenes Ince has photographed graphically the terrible devastation that follows in the wake of the canon's belch—buildings are blown to atoms, aeroplane raids, with the terrible destruction of buildings.

The visionary effect of the submarine, which is now occupying the centre of attention by all the world, the appeal of the mothers to stop the war, and other scenes are made gripping in their intensity.

TWO SUBMARINES SINK FIFTEEN STEAMERS

Special to Courier-News:

Berlin, March 6.—Two submarines which recently returned to their home bases reported that they sank fifteen steamers and seven sailing ships of a total gross tonnage of 64,500.

"CIVILIZATION" REPEATED AT PROCTOR THEATRE

Lyman Howe's moving pictures will be shown in the Plainfield Theatre Friday and Saturday of this week. In this program you have real pictures of the world, big, vital, worth while, not posed for dramatic purposes.

A most pleasing diversity of other subjects will also be presented, including spectacular automobile races over the steep and winding course of Giant's Despair, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., as well as a liberal measure of quaint humor and merry-making provided by Howe's exclusive "comics" which are cleverly interspersed throughout the program.

At Proctor's today, tomorrow and Thursday

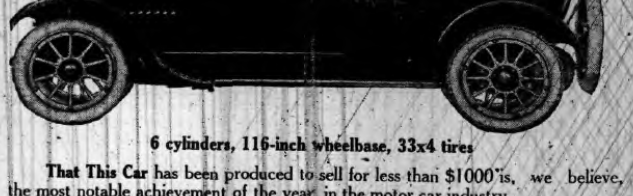
A car that so thoroughly covers the $685 to $1285 car field that no buyer in this class will stop at less nor pay more after seeing this beautiful Six.



6 cylinders, 116-inch wheelbase, 33x4 tires

That This Car has been produced to sell for less than $1000 is, we believe, the most notable achievement of the year in the motor car industry.

It enables the $1000 buyer to own a big, roomy, impressive quality car where heretofore he has been limited to the small "cheap six."

That the Elgin Six is a car of endurance and stamina has been proved by the fact that it has won perfect scores in every contest it has entered. These contests include some of the most gruelling reliability and endurance tests of the past season, many of which required the car to be put over the roughest roads, through the deepest sands and over the steepest hills and mountains, at a car-racking, stamina-testing speed, which could only be withstood by a product mechanically right in every respect.

CASE AGAINST THE SALOON

An Address Delivered by Hon. W. O. Stewart, of Flying Squadron

IN TRINITY CHURCH

Declares Problem Has Two Sides, Economics and the Question of Good Government

The Hon. Oliver Wayne Stewart, of Indianapolis, Ind., spoke last evening in Trinity Reformed church under the auspices of the Flying Squadron, on "The Case Against the Saloon." The Rev. John Y. Broek presided, and prayer was offered by the Rev. Dr. Theodore L. Gardiner. A. L. Titsworth presided at the organ and Theodore G. Davis sang "Calvary," by Rodney.

Mr. Stewart said in part:

"There are two phases of the fight against the liquor traffic which it is my purpose to emphasize at the outset. There are two counts in the indictment against the saloon, upon either of which it must stand condemned, because upon neither is it able to offer an adequate defense.

"The first at these is economic. Those who speak upon the question, are compelled constantly to reiterate the arguments against the saloon as an industrial menace on account of the fact that the liquor traffic seeks to defend itself as an economic blessing.

"The saloon will plead guilty to almost any charge made against it as ethical or moral grounds, and then, having so plead will justify itself with the claim it is a benefit to business. Since it makes that claim, we are compelled to meet it.

"It is easy to see why the saloon selects that ground for its defense. There are certain facts which unconsidered appear to be on the side of the saloon. For example: It is obvious that saloons employ bar-keepers. It is equally plain that distilleries and breweries furnish employment to workmen. No one ever denied that. But our liquor friends seize upon these undenied facts and make the claim that since saloons employ bar-keepers, and since breweries and

JUDGE CRANE TAKES BENCH

Began His Term as Presiding Judge of District Court This Morning

GETS MANY FLOWERS

Speeches Made by Retiring Judge Hetfield, Judge Newcorn and Others—New Judge Will Strive to Dispense Justice Equitably

With a beautifully sentimental ceremony, Judge James Henry Crane took his place as judge of the Plainfield District Court this morning. The courtroom was filled with members of the local Bar Association when Judge Crane and retiring Judge Walter L. Hetfield, Sr., entered the room and walked to the bench. On the table before the judge were a floral horseshoe, presented by Italian citizens, and a handsome bouquet, the gift of other admiring friends.

The Bar Association also presented Judge Crane with a beautiful floral horseshoe. The presentation speech was made on behalf of the association by former Judge William Newcorn. City Court Judge William G. DeMeza presented Judge Crane with a handsome rosewood gavel, suitably inscribed. The gift was a personal token.

Before the opening of the court session Judge Hetfield arose and said: "When I assumed the duties of judge of this court five years ago I realized that I was not possessed of a knowledge of all the law that existed, but I felt that many years of experience as a practitioner had endowed me with common sense and the ability to deal impartially with all matters brought before me.

"Now that the time has come for me to retire, I do so with the knowledge that I have always performed my sworn duties in accordance with law and equity.

"The legal question arising in this court are the same as those arising in the higher courts of the State, and while it is true that there have been times when, could I have decided cases as I personally felt they should be decided, a different verdict would have

UNION ASSEMBLYMEN FOR SMALL BOARD

Runyon, Pierson and Morgan Lined Up in Favor of Roberts Bill

Believing that there is widespread sentiment throughout Union county favorable to a smaller board of freeholders, through a districting plan, which would provide adequate representation for all the municipalities the members of the Union county assembly delegation are working with Assemblyman Emmor Roberts, of Burlington, for the passage of House Bill No. 34, introduced by Roberts. The bill, which was referred to the committee on the revision of laws, has passed the House on first and second readings.

In the Senate it is expected that the measure will have the support of Senator Carlton B. Pierce. The fact that the bill has no mandatory provisions is expected to work in its favor when it comes up in the House for third reading.

Assemblyman Arthur N. Pierson, speaking for the Union county Assemblymen, declared that Runyon, Morgan and he were backing the Roberts bill and proposed to do everything possible to have it enacted into law. "We believe it is a good bill. It overcomes what I believe has been the chief obstacle in the way of the adoption of a small board of freeholders in Union county—the lack of a districting plan. This bill has a districting clause. It provides adequate representation for all the municipalities of the county. I believe the people of Union should be given an opportunity to vote for a smaller board as provided for in the Roberts bill."

Assemblyman Runyon approves the measure. "Union county has asked for a small board act with a districting clause," said Runyon, "and that is provided for."

The Roberts bill provides:

That the county clerk of each county in which an act shall be adopted shall certify the same to the judge of the Court of Common Pleas and sheriff of the county, and that all three shall act as commissioners to divide the county into seven (the number of freeholders Union county will have under the act) districts, such districts to be of contiguous territory and so constituted as to comprise as nearly as practicable the same population according to the last preceding Federal or State census. In making such division no village, township, borough or ward of any town or city shall be divided.

Salaries of members of the board in counties having between 135,000 and 300,000 inhabitants shall be $1,800, such salaries to be payable in equal monthly installments, and to be in lieu of all fees or other compensation and expenses except actual disbursements for traveling expenses to an amount not exceeding $200 a year. This amount may be allowed and paid when a fully itemized statement thereof, duly sworn to, is presented to the board. And it shall be unlawful for any member of the Board of Chosen Freeholders to receive any compensation, fee or reward for his service other than his annual salary.

GAVE TALK ON INDIANS

The Plainfield High School Commercial Club had the pleasure of listening to a very entertaining and instructive talk by Mr. Van Dusen, Tuesday morning on the subject of "Indians."

DOES MUCH FOR BELGIAN AID

Plainfield Association Has Sent 21,010 Garments Since Sept., 1914

LETTERS OF THANKS

Notes of Appreciation Give Many Details of Terrible Sufferings Borne by Children, Aged Men and Women

The regular monthly meeting of the Plainfield Belgian Relief Association was held yesterday morning at the home of Mrs. Frederic W. Wallace, of Hillside avenue.

The chairman reported that as a result of the garment campaign, conducted by Miss Corey, 2,732 articles of clothing had been collected, of which 2,620 were new, and as a result of the handkerchief campaign conducted by Mrs. Warren and Mrs. Stevens 9,218 handkerchiefs had been collected, 10,000 in all guaranteed. These are for the 4,000 Belgian children in school now in Havre.

Mrs. Wallace stated further that 3,827 garments, exclusive of the handkerchiefs, had been collected this year, making a total of 21,010 sent by Plainfield since September, 1914. Three boxes were shipped on the Chicago last month and have arrived. Two boxes left on last Saturday's steamer. The ten still on hand will be shipped at the rate of two a week.

It may be of interest to the people of Plainfield to know that the French Government receives free shipments 56,000 cubic feet on each of the three French steamers that are scheduled to sail weekly so that the transportation to Europe costs us nothing. The cases sent to the Appui Belge go via the Vacation War relief, those to the Second Duryea through the New York Clearing House, those to La Panne by the English boats, also without cost.

Appreciative letters from Miss Glaenzer and Mrs. Duryea were read. The latter included a note from Mrs. Hobart Tutle, who is working at the Paris depot. It reads as follows:

"Paris, Jan. 17, 1917.

"We felt yesterday that all the agencies in France could not cope

CONVICTION IS SET ASIDE BY COURT

Judge Newcorn Wins in Supreme Court Appeal of Dr. Finkel's Case

The Supreme Court has set aside the conviction of Dr. Israel S. Finkel, formerly of this city, of assault on Mary Grant, which sustained William Newcorn, counsel for Dr. Finkel, in his objections to Judge Connolly's conduct of the case in the Court of Quarter Sessions about a year ago. Prosecutor Alfred A. Stein represented the State in the Supreme Court when the appeal was heard. The opinion is written by Chief Justice C. J. Gummere.

The indictment charged that Dr. Finkel, a dentist practising in this city, tried to assault Mary Grant, colored, when she visited his office to have a tooth extracted. Following the jury's verdict he was fined $200. In conducting the trial Judge Connolly permitted the State, over objection by defendant's counsel, to show that a similar charge of assault had been made against Dr. Finkel by a Mrs. Bettock, and that this charge had not been pressed because the defendant and his wife asked Mrs. Bettock not to do so. According to the opinion, this testimony was irrelevant and incompetent, and created a wrong impression in the minds of the jurymen.

Judge Connolly's charge to the jury in which he questioned the veracity of the defendant while on the stand is called "harmful to defendant" by Chief Justice Gummere. The part of the charge which was criticised, was as follows:

"Of course, in denying this charge the defendant has everything at stake. His practice, his family, his reputation, his future are all tied up in the verdict in this case. Will a man under whose circumstances tell a story that would incriminate him in the eyes of the jury, or would be rather tell a story that would make his case appear in the best light in the eyes of the jury?"

"We thing this instruction was harmfully erroneous," reads the opinion. "While it is true that the trial court may properly call the attention of the jury to facts which are of importance in determining the credit to be given a witness, the instruction complained of did far more than that."

SAURER MINSTRELS A GREAT SUCCESS

Fine Program Presented at High School by Local Talent

An audience that nearly filled the auditorium of the Plainfield High School last night enjoyed the first Saurer minstrel benefit given under the direction of the concert band, which is composed of employes of the local plant of the International Motor Company. The greater part of the program, was presented by local talent, and considering that it was the first public appearance of a number of the cast, the performance was a creditable one, reflecting much credit on all taking part in the entertainment.

The program opened with a selection by the band, "International Quickstep," composed by George S. Dufford, band director, and the singing of "Under Southern Skies" and "Down Where the Suwanee River Flows" by the entire company.

Bernie Colvin, who acted as interlocutor, then introduced the end men, Thomas Agar, Thomas Ricketts, Harold Lunger and Arthur Perrin, who greatly amused the audience with their original witticisms. This was followed by the singing of the following songs: "How Agar Got His Job," Thomas Agar; "She's Dixie All the Time," Thomas Ricketts; "Somewhere a Voice Is Calling," James Jamieson; "Watching the Dog," Harold Lunger; "Pray for the Lights to Go Out," Arthur Perrin; "There's Someone More Lonesome Than You," Theodore Glaser.

The olio, or part second, was opened with an original sketch of singing and dancing by Tessie Tambo and Bessie Bones, entitled "Come On Down to Ragtime Town," the impersonations being made by Miss Dolly Zoll, of this city, and Miss Florence Hartman, of Westfield. Each was presented with a bouquet of flowers by admirers.

The Musical Stewarts then entertained with playing on bells, one-string fiddles, tin cans and the banjo, receiving several encores. The latter part two of the program was devoted to a tumbling act by *Herbei Hansen, songs and mono*logue by George Pearson, a Scotch comedian; humorecque black-rope walking by Blondin Bragger, violin selections by Frank Pentz, cornet solos by Messrs. Dufford and Warne.

The Jerbius Quartet, comprising C. G. Hunt, Walter Marienhek, Peter Benson and Benjamin Dodwell, pleased the audience with harmony numbers, impersonations and eccentric dancing, which was followed by the following solos: "Black-eyed Susan," Elmer Barrett; "Way Down Iowa," Richard Schott; "Tonight In Dreamland," Patrick Powers; "I Wasn't Scared," Andrew Crozier; "Over the Billow Wave," C. G. Hunt; "Old Black Joe," Joseph Gilbert, and H. H. Wickham as the funmaker.

The grand finale, during which the audience sang the "Star-Spangled Banner," represented a tableaux, entitled "The Spirit of '76," in which Edward Rowland was Uncle Sam and Miss Ruth Hallard was Liberty. Others taking part were Jose Ryan, Robert Hinvest and Rolland Agar.

Dancing was then enjoyed by the audience until a late hour. J. W. Hallard was manager for the entertainment, with Benjamin Dodwell as assistant. C. G. Hunt was director and George S. Dufford director of the band.

Much credit for the success of the minstrels is due Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Hunt, of this city, who staged and personally supervised the production.

SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA TOMORROW NIGHT

A large attendance at the concert of the Damrosch New York Symphony Orchestra at the High School Auditorium tomorrow evening is assured, judging from the advance sale of tickets at Miller's pharmacy, Park avenue. The orchestra appears here under the auspices of the Dutch Arms Band, of Trinity Reformed church.

This will be the last opportunity in some time to hear this famous organization, as on March 18 Walter Damrosch, the conductor, will take his musicians on a ten weeks' tour to the Pacific coast. The demand has been so great everywhere for the orchestra's return that engagements to play in other sections of the country have had to be postponed.

NOTICE.

Dating from next Monday, March 12th, the subscription price of the Courier-News will be advanced from 10c to 12c a week, and from $5.00 to $6.00 a year. The yearly subscription price of the Supplies, as heretofore, to PAID IN ADVANCE SUBSCRIBERS ONLY.

While we have been forced to pay an increase of more than 100% for white news print paper we have shrunk from making this change in our subscribers until the present moment.

We do not expect either the subscriber or advertiser, or both combined, to assume the entire expense. Only a small part of it can be allotted to them. We must stand the loss ourselves. If this was our only trouble the situation could be much more comfortable than it is. But it is deficiently worse; we cannot buy enough paper for our needs at any price. At this time the Courier-News is being printed on paper of such poor quality that under normal conditions it would not be accepted from the manufacturers.

The unusual conditions make it necessary that we keep the number of copies printed at the lowest possible figure. For this reason we request that, under upon prompt payment from subscribers. TWO MORE PLOT CASES REVEALED

One For India Rebellion, Other to Wreck Plants.

New York, March 7.—A plot extending from this city to China and India was disclosed, the authorities allege, in the arrest of a German physician and chemist and a Hindoo scientist.

The German is Dr. Ernest Mathias Sekunna, a scholarly looking man of early middle life. His companion is Dr. Chandra Chakraberty, a young Hindoo. The two were seized at 304 West One Hundred and Twentieth street, one of the two handsome brownstone houses in the residential district which they own. They were released in $25,000 bail each when arraigned on a charge of inciting insurrections in India and alleged violation of the federal statute forbidding the fomenting of a "military enterprise against a country with which the United States is at peace."

Two valises of documents were seized. One official made the statement that the government as a result of the seizure was in possession of information as sensational and important as the Zimmerman note.

Federal agents, the Hoboken (N. J.) police and private detectives are seeking more evidence against Fritz Kolb, arrested Monday in Hoboken. It is charged he was engaged in plots to destroy munition plants and ships. Hans Schwartz, said to be an accomplice of Kolb, was arrested and is said to have confessed that a plan had been devised by Kolb and himself to repeat the Black Tom munitions explosion on March 5.

SUMMIT LICENSES CUT.

Only Two Left in Borough Now, and They Are Warned.

Summit, March 7.—The board of excise has warned wholesale and retail liquor dealers they must not violate the law. At the same time the board refused to grant a saloon license to the Spring Lake hotel, conducted by George J. Summers.

The refusal of Summers' license cuts the number of saloons to two. Charles H. Wulff, proprietor of the Summit House, and Frank Griffin of the Halcyon House were warned that if they sold to minors or to intoxicated persons their licenses would be revoked.

TWO GUARDSMEN MISSING.

New London, Conn., March 7.—Privates John Maloney and William Potts, Ninth company, C. A. C., C. N. G., stationed at Thames river bridge, have been missing since Saturday night. Both left the bridge and said they were coming into the city, and nothing has been heard of them since.

The police here and at Stamford have been notified to be on the lookout for them. Sergeant Vogel said that both had considerable money.

"Any Child Who Has a Cough Ought To Take Father John's Medicine

"My Francis is a big, healthy boy; not yet three years old. He is the picture of health, because I have given him Father John's Medicine almost all his life; whenever he had a cough or got run-down, Father John's Medicine has saved me many a doctor's bill." (Signed) Mrs. John McDermott, 2334 Mountain St., Phila. Pa.

Thousands of mothers praise Father John's Medicine as an all-round family tonic and body builder, which builds new strength and flesh, drives out impurities and treats colds, coughs and throat troubles without using alcohol or dangerous drugs.

ELIZABETH PROTESTS EDGE ROAD TAX BILL

Elizabeth, March 7.—"It seems incomprehensible that our representative in the Legislature not only did not consult the financial authorities of the city, but, on the contrary, declared that he did not care what the city thought."

This was the statement in a letter sent to City Council by Mayor Victor Mravlag in condemning Assemblyman Charles L. Morgan, of Elizabeth, for not opposing the Edge State road tax bill, House 2, now in the Senate and passed by the lower house, after being introduced by Assemblyman Oliphant.

The council, in executive session, carried out the Mayor's desire, and asked Senator Carlton B. Pierce to arrange a hearing for the city on the measure. The Mayor declared that the Edge bill, if it becomes a law, would raise the Elizabeth tax rate ten points yearly. He added that Passaic, Newark and Jersey City had also protested against the bill.

Carrying out Mayor Mravlag's suggestion, Councilman John Dravis introduced a resolution calling for the appointment of a committee to look into the matter of procuring a municipal lighting plant. The resolution was adopted, as was also a resolution providing for the appointment of a committee to investigate a municipal water plant proposition.

Council voted in favor of engaging an expert accountant to establish a tax arrearage bureau, and passed the ordinance increasing the salary of Assistant City Attorney John J. Griffin from $1,500 to $2,000. Griffin was again chosen for the office for a term of three years. Republicans endeavored to replace Griffin with Peter J. Olde, but were defeated by a party vote of 7 to 4.

JERSEYITES TO TALK ON CITY PLANNING

A conference on city and village planning, at which representatives from organizations interested in that work in New Jersey will speak, will be held in the City Club of New York at the club house, 55 West Forty-fourth street, Saturday afternoon and evening.

At the afternoon session, Harry Metzell, Jr., assistant secretary of the New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce, will speak on "City Planning in New Jersey" and at the night session David Grotta, a member of the Newark City Plan Commission, will talk on "Newark."

Invitations have been extended to many Jersey men to attend both sessions. A dinner will be held in the grill of the club at 6:30 o'clock. The work of the Interstate Bridge and Tunnel Commission will be discussed by W. H. Noyes, a member of that body. Arthur N. Pierson will tell of the city planning work done in Westfield and W. Reginald Baker will speak of the work in Madison.

It is hoped that out of this conference will grow sufficient enthusiasm to bring about the formation of an interstate program for co-operative planning throughout the metropolitan district. In addition to the New Jersey speakers, there will be many representatives from the different sections of Greater New York.

PACIFISM IS MURDER SAYS F. R. COUDERT

Famous New York Lawyer So States in Letter to Henry Ford

Frederick R. Coudert, of New York, an official of the National Security League, has written to Henry Ford that the peace propaganda he and other pacifists were spreading through the country might well, in case of war, make the pacifists accessories to murder before the fact. Mr. Coudert's letter read:

"I have the literature which you kindly sent me on the question of peace. You are a man of ability, very successful in the great business you have established, and I believe you mean to be a good American citizen.

"Has it occurred to you that your propaganda in delaying, obstructing, impeding military preparedness may, yet, in the near future, result in the death of hundreds, perhaps thousands, of Americans? The work in France of well-intentioned but misinformed sentimentalists, sharing your views, has caused that country the loss of probably half a million men. The efforts of the pacifists had resulted in lack of artillery, of machine guns, of ammunition, and uniforms, all of which had to be supplied after the Germans had crossed the frontier, and this necessitated the loss of the very best blood of France. The philosophy of pacifism had made itself accessory to murder before the fact, and French people of all parties and shades of belief realize it today.

"The great champion of pacifism, Jaures, basely shot on the eve of the war, had yet had time before his death to recognize that the conflict was inevitable. His tens of thousands of followers recognized that his apparently humane ideas had led to the useless slaughter of their children.

"It seems sad that Americans, like yourself, with such an example before them, should persist in the endeavor to keep America disarmed in the presence of a nation of Germany's power, whose spear knows no brother, and to whom truth is synonymous with contemptible weakness. You who place human life above all else should be the first to deplore the fact that the success of your theories in your own country would mean the loss of our best blood.

"It is for this reason that the pacifist, however sincere, and often in proportion to his sincerity, is more dangerous than the pro-German plotter whose war upon our country is notorious and may be met.

"Even the benefit which we have all derived from your industry can not in any wise compensate for the vast injury to the nation which your propaganda is sure to cause. In view of the fact that the literature you sent me was obviously intended for general circulation it can not be considered indiscreet on my part if I make this letter public."

INDICT 64 MEN AS COAL TRUST

U. S. Grand Jury Also Accuses 108 Companies.

PRICE JUMP NETS $34,000,000

Penalties For Individuals Under Sherman Law Are Year In Prison and $5,000 Fine, While Corporations Would Be Fined a Total of $544,000. Coal Used by Navy Boosted to $3 a Ton, Is One Charge.

New York, March 7.—The special federal grand jury, which is conducting an inquiry into the high cost of food and fuel products, returned two indictments charging 108 corporations and sixty-four individuals with violation of the Sherman anti-trust act.

They are charged with having formed a combination in restraint of trade to increase the price of the semi-bituminous coal produced in the Pocahontas and New river regions of West Virginia.

According to the indictments, the defendants by agreement among themselves last January, were able from time to time to fix and increase the price of 22,000,000 tons of Pocahontas and New river smokeless coal, with an increased net profit to themselves of $34,000,000 a year.

The indicted corporations include some of the largest coal distributors and operators in the east. Among them are the American Coal company, Gauther Curran & Hallitt, Inc.; the Pocahontas Fuel company, the Smokeless Fuel company and the Chesapeake and Ohio Coal company.

Face Year In Jail.

Of the individual defendants a number live in New York—Thomas F. Farrell, general manager of the Pocahontas Fuel company; John A. Renahan, president of the Algonquin Coal company; W. Ile L. Waldbridge, president of the American Coal company; John J. Tierney, president of the Crozer Pocahontas Coal company; Lawrence E. Tierney, president of the Elk Ridge Coal and Coke company, and George C. Clausson, president of the Peerless Coal and Coke company.

If convicted the individual defendants would be liable to $5,000 fine or one year imprisonment, or both. The corporate defendants are liable only to the fine, which would bring to $870,000 the total amount of fines possible in the event of the conviction of all the indicted defendants.

Navy Hit by Increase.

The alleged combination, according to the indictments, dates back to a meeting held some time in January at the Waldorf-Astoria, when fifty-five men, representing the coal corporations and practically controlling the soft coal industry in West Virginia, agreed to raise the selling price of their product at the mine from $1.25 a ton to $3 a ton. The new rate was to take effect with all contracts during the year beginning April 1.

This coal is used largely for steaming purpose and is much in demand by the United States navy, manufacturing plants, steamships, railroads, schools, hospitals and other institutions.

It is mined only in the southern, southeastern and southwestern counties of Virginia, so that the elimination of competition from this region is said to have left the defendants in a position to fix and increase the price of the coal at will.

Railroads, factories and other consumers, the indictments state, have been deprived of the benefits of competition and are now paying $3 per ton at the mines and purchasers of spot coal are paying a great deal more than the contract prices. This coal was selling in Boston recently at $13 per ton.

APPAM A BRITISH SHIP

Supreme Court Rules She Is Not German Prize.

Washington, March 7.—The British ship Appam, brought into Newport News, Va., a year ago by Captain Berg, a German prisoner, today was held to be the property of her claimants by the supreme court. The court in sustaining the British libel attachment suits held the Germans had violated American neutrality, as treaties between the United States and Germany do not entitle German prisoners unaccompanied by the captor ship to indefinite asylum in American ports.

Justice Day said the Germans followed neither of the two normal courses—to take the Appam to a German port or to the nearest neutral port, but brought her thousands of miles across the seas to a port of the United States. Justice Day stated that to rule otherwise would convert American harbors into refuges for belligerent ships thus destroying the government's neutrality.

PRINCETON'S SAD 27

NEVER KISSED A GIRL.

Princeton, March 7.—Twenty-seven members of the senior class of Princeton university have never kissed a girl. Their confession was made in a record of statistics of the class now published.

Here are some of the reasons advanced for this condition: The high cost of loving, high collars, sanitation and hygiene, adherence to the policy of "watchful waiting," etc. One admits he had never found a fair lady worthy of the honor of a kiss from his lips. Several unfortunates say that they have lacked the opportunity, but not the nerve.

Forty-one members of the class declared kissing to be morally wrong. One hundred and eighty-seven confess they have kissed girls.

Amazing Power of Bon-Opto To Make Weak Eyes Strong

Doctor Says It Strengthens Eyesight 50 per cent in One Week's Time in Many Instances

A Free Prescription You Can Have Filled and Use at Home

Victims of eye strain, and other eye weaknesses and those who wear glasses, will be glad to know that according to Dr. Lewis there is real hope and help for them. Many whose eyes were failing say they have had their eyes restored by this remarkable prescription and many who once wore glasses say they have thrown them away. One man says, after using it: "I was almost blind. Could not see to read at all. Now I can read every thing without my glasses, and my eyes do not hurt any more. At night they would pain dreadfully. Now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days everything seems clear. I can read even fine print without glasses." Another who used it says: "I was bothered with eye strain caused by overworked, tired eyes, which induced fierce headaches. I have worn glasses for several years, both for distance and work, and without them I could not read my own name on an envelope or the typewriting on the machine before me. I can do both now and have discarded my long distance glasses altogether. I can count the flickering leaves on the trees across the street now, which for several years looked like a dim green blur to me. I cannot express my joy at what it has done for me."

It is believed that thousands who wear *glasses can now discard them in a reason*able time and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by the use of this prescription at home. Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. Drop one Bon-Opto tablet in a fourth of a glass of water and let it dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two to four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start, and inflammation and redness will quickly disappear. If your eyes bother you even a little it is your duty to take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have saved their sight if they had cared for their eyes in time.

Note: Another prominent Physician to whom the above article was submitted, said: "Yes, the Bon-Opto prescription is truly a wonderful eye remedy. Its constituent ingredients are well known to eminent eye specialists and widely prescribed by them. I have used it very successfully in my own practice on patients whose eyes were strained from over-work or need glasses. I can highly recommend it in case of weak, watery, aching, smarting, itching, inflamed eyes, red lids, blurred vision or for eyes injured from exposure to smoke, sun, dust or wind. It is one of the very few preparations I feel should be kept on hand for regular use in almost every family." Bon-Opto, referred to above, is not a patent medicine or a secret remedy. It is an ethical preparation, the formula being printed on the package. The manufacturers guarantee it to strengthen eyesight 50 per cent in one week's time in many instances or refund the money. It can be obtained from any good druggist and is sold in this city by L. W. Randolph.

APPEAL OF WERNER HORN DISMISSED

Special to the Courier-News:

Washington, March 7.—The Supreme Court has dismissed the appeal of Werner Horn, who claims to be a German army officer, who is under indictment in connection with an explosion which damaged the Canadian Pacific international bridge at Vanceboro, Me., last year. Horn contended that as a German military officer he is immune from arrest and punishment for carrying out an act of war against British property. The indictment was brought under the Federal statute prohibiting interstate transportation of explosives on passenger trains.

DISCUSSES NEED FOR WOMEN'S COLLEGE

Special to Courier-News:

Trenton, March 7.—That there is a definite need for a woman's college in New Jersey is the finding of Professor Robert W. Scoon, of Princeton University, in his report on the subject, which is printed in the March Education Bulletin, issued by the State Department of Public Instruction, out today.

The report is the result of the arrangement made last summer by the Federation of Women's Clubs with Professor Scoon to undertake a survey on the subject. His report has just been presented to Mrs. Charles W. Stockton, president of the State Federation of Women's Clubs.

PATERSON RAISES LICENSE FEE

Paterson, March 7.—By a party vote—five Republicans to four Democrats—the Board of Aldermen Monday night raised the retail liquor license fee from $200 to $490 per annum. The increase *will be effec*tive beginning May 1 next.

Efforts to have the fee boosted to $1,000 were made by delegations of citizens, backed up with a petition from the law and order committee of the Paterson Ministerial Association. It was suggested that the raise proposed was mere "sop."

INCIDENTAL REFERENCE TO INAUGURATION

President Woodrow Wilson, who was inaugurated Monday, is the twenty-eighth to be inaugurated to that office, although the twenty-seventh different man to hold the office. President Cleveland is counted twice, he having been elected twice, but not consecutively.

President Wilson is the tenth to be inaugurated for a second term. The others were: Washington, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, Jackson, Lincoln, Grant, Cleveland, and McKinley. Roosevelt served two terms, but the first term by succession as Vice- President, after McKinley's death.

Thomas Riley Marshall is the first Vice-President to be re-elected to that office, since party conventions came into practice.

President Wilson makes the eighth native of Virginia, to become President, and thus helps keep that State the lead as the mother of Presidents. The others were: George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, James Madison, William Henry Harrison, John Tyler, and Zachary Taylor. Local interest attaches to the fact that two of these, Washington and Monroe, were born in Westmoreland County, Va., which was the home of former Councilman Richard A. Claybrook, of this city.

Ohio follows Virginia in the number of Presidents, having been the birthplace of U. S. Grant, R. B. Hayes, James A. Garfield, Benjamin Harrison, William McKinley and William H. Taft.

Nineteen of the Presidents were lawyers; two were soldiers, two were farmers. Seventeen of them were college graduates, and one from West Point. Fifteen were of English ancestry; six Scotch-Irish; three Scotch; one Welsh (Jefferson), and one Dutch (Roosevelt).

Roosevelt was the youngest at inauguration, being forty-six years old. *The oldest at the time of inaugura*tion was William Henry Harrison, aged sixty-eight. The one who lived to the greatest age was John Adams, who lived to be ninety.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 7, 1917.

TO THE PRESIDENT

(Editorial from the Chicago Tribune of March 2, 1917.)

You were not surprised by the discovery that Germany tried to form an alliance with Japan and Mexico against the United States. The people of the United States were astonished, very disagreeably, when their government made public the facts, because the people of the United States, owing to their fancied isolation and ignorance of realities, think that such dangers are mythical, but you knew that they were real and close.

You knew that Germany not only would do this, but that for her own protection she must do it if she could. What else could the United States expect if the United States and Germany went to war? A clear-headed child would know that if a nation fights it takes all the help it needs and can get.

Mexico was, is and will be, until we change conditions, the exposed flank of the United States. It is the hole in the wall. It is the open postern gate of the fortress. It can admit the enemy.

You knew that the Mexican government which the United States virtually created was disposed to intrigue with Germany against the United States. Evidences of German influence in Mexico were numerous. Cabrera of the American-Mexican joint commission revealed that Germany was working through Mexico for an embargo on all supplies furnished by American countries. That was last summer.

You had information which the people of the United States never were given. You knew why Boy-Ed and Von Papen were sent home. The people do not know now.

The danger of a German-Japanese-Mexican alliance may not be great at this time. The Japanese may not want to enter it at this time. Germany has tried to form it. Mexico would be willing to accept the proposal. It is only Japanese unwillingness which protects the United States now.

Such an alliance, if Germany were free, would be irresistible. The United States, unequipped as it is, could not stand before it. Our fleet would be destroyed if it could not escape. American cities would be ruled by enemies and American citizens would have to accept the terrible humiliations imposed by conquerors. These truths, Mr. President, you know.

The American people may think these possibilities unreal and grotesque. They probably thought that no such document as that signed "Zimmerman" could possibly exist, and even when they saw it published in the newspapers may have doubted its authenticity until you authorized Senator Swanson to tell the Senate and the nation that it was textually correct.

This may open the eyes of the people, but the government of the people has known for a long time that just such dangers might threaten and that if they do not take form now they may take form later. The affairs of nations may not be like those of the Lord, to Whom a thousand years are as a day, but neither are they like the affairs of an administration, to which four years may be an eternity.

What Germany suggested to Japan and Mexico now, when Germany and Japan are enemies in theory, if not in fact, and when Germany has many other enemies, may be suggested again when Germany and Japan are friends. They then may use Mexico as the hole in the wall. They will if it is not stopped. This has been said time and again, until repetition has become wearisome and despairing, but the Zimmerman document justifies an "I told you so" if ever one were justified.

The United States can resist a combination of Germany, Japan and Mexico only by adopting universal military service. It can anticipate by putting Mexico under control now. If Dr. Zimmerman has not given this nation a warning to call out its young men of 19 and train them for the defense of their country, then the American nation is beyond the reach of warning. Its ears are closed. Its fate will be upon it.

You cannot afford to be tender to the feelings of people who are appalled by plans for protecting the United States. You are about to begin another term of four years and the influence of your next administration may be a benefit or a blight to the country. You are directing the affairs of this nation in contact with a real world and not with a world of illusions.

The Zimmerman document came out of a real world. Under your leadership the people of the United States may turn about and face that world.

GREAT BRITAIN AND GERMANY

Great Britain has not been sinless, but Great Britain stands for law on the high seas and fights for it. Germany is not the only wicked empire in history, but Germany runs amuck, and proclaims a freedom of the seas which is anarchy, pure and simple. Seeing this issue clearly, we need have no difficulty in perceiving further what is wrong with the argument that the starvation of noncombatants in Germany is as indefensible as the drowning of noncombatant passengers that have not been given a chance for their lives. Germany has the option to save her women and children by surrender. She is not denied quarter.—From "Our Challenge to Germany," by Franklin H. Giddings, in March 3d Collier's.

PEOPLE'S FORUM

Compliments the Police

To the Editor of the Courier-News:

Sir:—Please allow me space in your valuable paper to express my gratitude to the Chief of Police and his cabinet of officers for the plain straight-forward way in which the record of one of my race, James Austin Saunders, retired police officer, has been given to the public. I speak the sentiments of the negro race in these congratulations.

We are proud of Mr. Saunders, his efficiency and persistence. The unbiased way in which he has been given the honors due to such tenacity ought to, and I hope it will show to my people that we are blessed in being citizens of a State and city in which real manhood counts, and not race or color. We as citizens are proud of the many opportunities given us as a race.

Thanking you in advance I am yours respectfully,
READER OF THE COURIER-NEWS.

Japan and America

In the editorial article, "Japan and America," of the issue of Mar. 6, the Sun speaks of the increased confidence between them resulting from the recent exposure of German duplicity. The Sun might have gone further and brought out more clearly the deeper and firmer ground of assurance that America can have now no reason whatever to fear the possibility of a quarrel with Japan.

In general, editorial and other writers having occasion to comment on the relations between the United States and Japan have continued up to the present time to refer to the issues between the two nations as though they still retained a degree of importance and to speculate concerning the probability that Japanese feeling might lead to action injurious to us. It is odd that our citizens should be so slow to recognize the new situation in which our country finds itself, and the tardiness is evidence of our want of familiarity with the simplest requirements of belligerent diplomacy.

From the outbreak of war, with the possibility always before the Entente Allies that the most powerful and resourceful of the neutral nations might be induced to enter the conflict, it was to be doubted that any of them would fail to do anything possible to hold the good will of America. And now, most certainly, the requirement of distinguished consideration toward the United States has become imperative. By the President's act of February 3, severing our relations with Germany, our country has assumed the status of a neutral rather more than benevolently disposed toward the allied cause, has become, in fact, a new and valuable convert almost surely won over. To conceive, therefore, that any one of the nations with which presumably we are about to co-operate with the full power of our resources could make the mistake of antagonizing us deliberately at this juncture is to impute to that nation a capacity of blundering stupidity surpassing even that lately displayed by Germany in her intrigue against our territorial integrity.

We know the Japanese to be not only extremely intelligent, but even more notably a tactful people. Whatever defects we may attribute to the Japanese character, foolishness is not one of them, nor is there a lack of racial pride and deep solicitude for the good repute of their country. They would be the last we may be sure, to earn the resentment of their associates and the charge and possible punishment of treachery by being so grossly inept as to interpose an obstacle in the way of a full and effective employment of America's vast potential strength in support of the allied nations, of which Japan is one.

Let us dismiss from our minds, then, the last remaining suspicion that we need fear Japan in the present circumstances. Not at any former time in many years have we been guaranteed so securely against the danger of Japanese aggression. So long as the possibility remains that the United States may join forces with the allies of Japan, and so long afterward as our Government may continue in close understanding with them, it will be quite incredible that the Japanese people should offer to our own the least suggestion of seriously unfriendly purpose. The "yellow peril" for the time being certainly has ceased to exist.

Peck Says:
"Here Are the Goods, Help Move Them"

It Takes a Tailor To Make Men's Good Clothing
NOT A PRINTER.
Printers' ink can do wonders. It can make cotton look like wool. But it can't make cotton give the service wool gives. It can take a steam power suit of clothes and make it look like $25 worth.
But the man who buys it will soon lose some of his confidence in human nature. Any clothing tailored by machinery will not hold its shape, not even if you hot iron it every day of the year.
Strictly all wool hand tailored clothing for men is right. There's no getting away from the absolute fact that that is the standard. Yet prices are no higher than some stores ask you to pay for the other kind. Our new Spring line has arrived, either ready-made or to order.

A TALK to COAL BUYERS
This company, in its advertising, has endeavored to impress upon the coal buying public, that by virtue of its organization and wholesale connections, it is in a position to render service of a particularly efficient kind, a service not possible to every dealer in coal.
This winter, during the coal shortage, this service has been put to the test, and how well our organization has met it can best be vouched for by our customers. We have not only taken care of all our orders, but we have furnished coal to other dealers as well, and we point to our ability to care for our trade under the exceptional conditions that have presented themselves, with considerable pride, for we feel that our claim to be able to serve the public satisfactorily at all times and under all conditions, has been amply demonstrated.
If we are not already serving you, would it not be wise to become one of our regular customers, and thus place your coal burden on responsible shoulders?
Give us the opportunity; we will serve you well.

SOMERVILLE NOTES

MARRIAGE OF THOMAS HICKEY

Just before the members of the Pi Sigma Kappa Fraternity were about to leave the West End Hotel last night after their banquet, each was given an announcement of the marriage of Thomas Francis Hickey, of Raritan, and Miss Helen Gertrude Howard, formerly of Lynn, Mass. It was an absolute and thorough surprise. The marriage took place at the Church of Nativity, Brooklyn, on Oct. 31, but no one in the borough had learned of it.

During the evening it was announced that because no toastmaster was present each one would be expected to make a short address in alphabetical order. And that was done, at about the conclusion, the announcement was made.

Mr. Hickey, who has law offices in the Second National Bank Building, is a graduate of Lehigh University and New York Law School. He is one of the popular members of Somerville Lodge, No. 1068, B. P. O. E., and the Pi Sigma Kappa.

Among those present last night: E. L. Keenan, C. H. Mathews, A. V. DeHart, J. Harry Wyckoff, W. S. Woodruff, F. D. Woodruff, George A. Gaston, George R. Nevius, C. W. Hoffman, H. F. Wilson, L. W. Hoagland, C. Harry Ten Eyck, and T. F. Hickey.

Beekman, John D. Case, Joseph Fitzgs, L. P. Gaston, William Hardgrove, S. A. Kenney, Dr. W. F. Naylor and F. S. Vander Veer.

There will be five vacancies to fill at the election. The three-year terms of D. H. Beekman, W. F. Naylor and F. S. Vander Veer expire. J. D. Case was appointed to the board to succeed L. M. Coddington, who resigned a year ago, and S. W. Kenney to succeed Dr. F. S. McConaughy, who resigned recently. There will, therefore, be a two-year and a one-year vacancy to fill.

F. S. Vander Veer has announced that he will not be a candiate for re-election.

Ex-Chief Edward Fellows, representing America Hose Company No. 2, asked the borough fathers to amend the ordinance under consideration relative to the new gasoline apparatus soon to be procured. Mayor Robinson and Councilman Bohner spoke in favor of the change, which will doubtless be made.

Following the report of the committee that it had been unable to agree with William Greasheimer, of Manville, as to a price for the land he owns on Drake street, which the borough required in order to widen it to 34 feet, upon motion of Councilman Bell it was decided to have the commissioners of assessment assess the benefits and damages which will be occasioned by the condemnation proceedings. DOES MUCH FOR BELGIAN AID with this new crowd of poor which floods to this depot; people sent from Germany through Switzerland because not useful. They have borne too much. *They speak rarely, re*spond slowly to kindness as though they could never again know how to smile. They have known every insult, wrong and sorrow. One man, eighty-two, had gone mad from suffering. His wife of seventy-two is his sole stay against starvation. She showed me photographs of her five sons, four killed and one disappeared and their pretty home amongst its flowers, since burned and pillaged. Mary could not clothe them for crying. Can't you make happy Americans understand? We never have enough though we clothe over 2,000 a month of these piteous creatures."

The Belgian reports showed that the society has on hand $1,424.82. One thousand dollars of this is for 200 cases (5,600 cans) of condensed milk which has not yet been shipped. The society decided to send 125 cases to La Panne to Queen Elizabeth for her orphanage there and 75 cases to the Appui Belge for Belgian refugees in France.

Mrs. Wallace then took up the matter of the supplementary meal planned by the Hoover commission for Belgian children in its conquered district and read a letter from the Commission asking that the society help with this work. She ex*plained that Mrs. Richard Boardman* who is interested in the movement and who has planned a talk by Mrs. Kellogg for tomorrow afternoon, has asked that her work be done under the auspices of the Plainfield Belgian relief. It was resolved that the society accede to the request of the Hoover Commission and also to that of Mrs. Boardman, and that Mrs. Boardman be appointed chairman of a committee to work for the supplementary meal planned for the Belgian children, that this campaign be conducted by Mrs. Boardman and her committee on which another member appointed by Mrs. Wallace will also serve, the proceeds to be sent to the Hoover Commission by the Plainfield Belgian Relief. Mrs. James R. Joy was appointed by Mrs. Wallace.

The letter from the Hoover Commission to the Belgian Relief explaining the need of the supplementary meal and the method will be printed later. Plainfielders who think of their own children and then read the description of the meal that in addition to what the Belgian chil*dren receive at home 150 per cent* of a normal average daily ration; is to save them from tuberculosis and all other evils of mal-nutrition, may be glad to give a dollar a month to the cause.

Miss Phillips then spoke to the meeting of the committee in France which asks that Americans "adopt" little Belgian refugees. At present the committee cares for 900 who are under the charge of Sisters of Mercy. Miss Draper, of New York, is chairman and she stated that $1.50 a week or $6 a month is adequate for the support of a child. Miss Phillips has already found many names for a number of these children and she kindly consented to serve as chairman of a committee in Plainfield to answer questions and receive subscriptions for "adoptions."

Warm gratitude was expressed for the generosity of the Plainfield gentleman who made himself responsible for all the expenses of the delightful talk to be given by James Erwin, and who donated to the Belgian Relief milk fund the collection taken at the lecture.

been rendered, but in such circumstance I had to be guided by what the law decreed, and I should have been in error did I do otherwise.

"Inclosing, I wish to say that my successor has my sincerest wishes for a successful administration of this court. I am proud to have had this honor; it is an honor of which any man may well feel proud."

Judge Hetfield then presented Judge Crane, who said:

"I am deeply impressed with the honor that has been accorded me in selecting me for this important position. Most of high standing at Trenton told me when I was given this appointment that this is an important branch of the administration of justice in this State.

"As my distinguished predecessor has just told you, cases involving legal technicalities are presented here for solution, and it is essential that the presiding judge exercises due care to see that justice is equitably dispensed. That is what I shall strive to do.

"As for Judge Hetfield, I wish to say that it has been my privilege to practice before him, and there never was a time when common sense and justice were not displayed in his disposition of cases."

Judge Newcorn, in presenting the floral horseshoe to Judge Crane, spoke of the high regard in which he and his predecessor are held by members of the local bar.

"It was my privilege to have been appointed the first Judge of this court," said Judge Newcorn, "and I know that questions of great importance are presented here for legal interpretation.

"This is the poor man's court—the tribunal to which those who have differences with their fellow men may come for justice.

"The bench and the bar are, to my mind, like the small rivulets that wend their way through the western part of this country, all bearing upon the great Mississippi river, which carries half the commerce of the nation to its proper destination.

"The bench and bar of this court do the same thing. Questions which are brought here for determination are either settled or carried from here to higher tribunals where they terminate."

Directing attention to the white carnations in the floral horse shoe the speaker said, "These white flowers are typical of the immaculate character of the judge. He must be of good character or confidence in the court is lost. Like Caesar's wife, the Judge must be of unimpeachable character.

"I congratulate you, Judge Crane, upon your ascendency to the bench of this court, and I also congratulate your predecessor, Judge Hetfield, upon the completion of a term during which I am sure he gave a maximum of satisfaction to the members of the Plainfield bar and the litigants of this court."

Michael Pistachio, an Italian lawyer, then addressed the court, saying that on behalf of the Italian citizens of the city he wished to extend congratu*lations* and to present a floral token as an evidence of their esteem. A floral piece ordered for former Judge Hetfield did not arrive at the court on time for presentation. A testimonial dinner will be tendered to Judge Hetfield next week. The date and place will be announced later.

WILSON WAITS SENATE ACTION

Modified Cloture Expected to Be Voted.

EXTRA SESSION ALTERNATIVE

Democrats and Republican Leaders In Upper House Practically Agree on Abrogation of Unlimited Debate Rule. Cloture May Be Used Only In Present Crisis—Owen of Oklahoma Starts Fight.

Washington, March 7.—The calling of an extraordinary session of the Sixty-fifth congress today looms up as a possible solution of the difficult problem confronting President Wilson in his efforts to arm American ships and protect American rights at sea in the face of the German submarine campaign.

With the executive power of the president to arm ships still in question, the administration is encouraged by definite steps taken in the senate toward a limitation of debate, which would clear the way for immediate action in an extra session on the armed neutrality bill, which died in the closing hours of the last congress.

An expected statement as to the exact extent of the powers of the president under the constitution to arm merchant ships is withheld, while the administration watches closely the efforts of the senate to overthrow the traditions of a century and impose a form of cloture on the upper house of congress.

President Wilson called off a cabinet meeting which was expected to say the final word on his authority to arm ships, although an opinion on the subject had been prepared by Attorney General Gregory.

Caucuses on Cloture.

Meantime the cloture campaign had made great strides. A conviction that a fight to change the senate rules was doomed to defeat had changed to an apparent feeling that action in that direction was extremely probable. Both Republicans and Democrats of the senate met in caucus and discussed the cloture question. Each caucus named a committee to take up the subject, and their members joined in a bipartisan discussion of the international crisis which confronts the country and its relation to the senate rules.

"I think we will get somewhere," said one member of the committee after the conference. "The discussion was entirely informal, but conditions look favorable."

Senators James, Owen, Reed, Hoke Smith and Swanson, Democrats, and Senators Lodge, Borah, Penrose, Cummins and Brandegee, Republicans, formed the joint committee. After the discussion in both party caucuses it was stated that a clear majority of the Democrats favored cloture and that a substantial majority of the Republicans, led by Senator Lodge, would support a modified cloture proposal.

Temporary Cloture Plan.

One suggestion made after many conferences among senate leaders was that elimination of the debate designed only to meet the present crisis might be adopted. Under this plan the senate might agree to impose cloture just long enough to put through the president's armed neutrality bill at an extra session or impose a cloture rule to extend only until the beginning of the next regular session of congress.

This plan, it was stated, would meet the present international emergency and at the same time would not entirely eliminate the senate's fabled unlimited debate privilege.

When the president called off his cabinet meeting Washington had been convinced he was ready to move at once to arm ships. Secretary of State Lansing and Attorney General Gregory had submitted their views on the legal phases of the question. It was learned that Secretary Lansing, before the president in his original address to congress had expressed his confidence that he had the necessary authority without congressional affirmation, had digested all of the legal precedents.

This included the statute of 1819, which has since been used to demonstrate that the president has not the needed authority. But the dismissal of the cabinet changed the outlook. The expected order to the navy department was not forthcoming.

President Wilson went to the state department early in the morning and nearly an hour conferred on the situation with Secretary Lansing. He then went to the navy department, where with Secretary Daniels he discussed the final technical details of the plan to arm ships when the order is given.

Deny They Filibustered.

The fight over armed neutrality began as soon as the senate met. Senators who had been denominated by President Wilson as "a little group of willful men," who had "made the great government of the United States helpless and contemptible," began their defense. Senator Knox of Iowa in a voice that shook with passion arose to brand as false the statement of any one who says I filibustered against the bill."

"The plan seems to be," he said, "to include in the filibuster all who refused to sign a paper supporting the bill. I did not talk one minute against the measure. I would have voted for it in its final form, trusting to the president not to arm munition ships. The statement that I attempted to block a vote on the bill is unqualifiedly false."

Senator Vardaman of Mississippi disavowed any intention of filibustering, saying he had used only sixteen minutes of the senate's time on the bill. He offered to co-operate to secure cloture.

A complete indorsement of the president's attack on the filibuster was voiced by Senator Williams of Mississippi, who said that the filibuster had "made the country contemptible before the world in a great crisis."

The cloture supporters made their first open efforts when Senator Owen of Oklahoma sought to prevent any rules of the previous congress enforced in the present senate.

"The senate as a legislative body is not continuous," he said. "It is not bound by the rules of any previous senate."

The dispute that followed was finally settled by a unanimous agreement to pass the resolution which started it, naming a committee to notify the president that the senate was ready for business.

Annual Conference Opens at Atlantic City.

EXPECT FEW PULPIT CHANGES

Many of the Larger Churches Have Asked Pastors to Remain For Another Year—Institute on Educational Lines Now Feature of Gathering—Talk Consolidation of Retirement Funds.

Atlantic City, March 7.—The subject of chief interest at the New Jersey annual conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, which opened here this morning, is the fund being raised for retired preachers and their wives. For two years attempts have been made to interest laymen in the creation of a fund that will eventually amount to $400,000. During this time subscriptions totaling $70,000 have been obtained.

Efforts are now under way to unify the interests of the retired preachers. At present there are virtually three funds—the board of conference stewards, the conference claimants' endowment fund and the Preachers' Aid society. It is the belief of the leaders of the conference that so many organizations to handle funds for the one object interfere with the success of each one, hence a sentiment prevails for consolidation by which there will be only one invested sum from which to pension ministers.

The opening sermon of the conference was preached last evening by the Rev. Dr. H. D. Ketcham, pastor of the State Street church, Trenton. This morning the business sessions began, with Bishop Berry of Philadelphia presiding.

At the morning session a memorial service was held for the pastors who have died during the year. These include the Rev. G. S. Goff at Farmingdale, the Rev. I. S. Yerks at Pitman church, New Brunswick; the Rev. Newton Nelson at St. George's church, Camden, and the Rev. William Stone, who was engaged in Junior Epworth league work.

The conference will witness an innovation by the introduction of an institute at which educational leaders of the church will deliver addresses. This afternoon Professor John A. Faulkner of Drew Theological seminary speaks on "Ritschl versus Wesley." On Thursday afternoon the Rev. Dr. Harry Ward of Boston will speak on "The Modern Church and Its Work" and will continue the subject on Friday afternoon.

There is much speculation as to the appointments of the preachers for next year. The Rev. E. F. Hann, pastor of the Cookman church, Philadelphia, has been invited to the pulpit of the First church, Trenton. His appointment will depend upon the exchange of a man from the New Jersey conference to the Philadelphia.

A singular condition of affairs prevails this year in that all the large churches of the conference have invited their pastors to return. This makes it particularly hard to give the younger men an opportunity for advancement, and it has made both churches and pastors reticent about asking for a change.

CONTEMPT RULE SET ASIDE.

Trenton, March 7.—The action of Judge Shinn of Atlantic county in adjudging Robert C. Miller, chief of police of Atlantic City, guilty of contempt of court has been set aside by the supreme court upon the ground that the court of common pleas lacked jurisdiction to punish for contempt alleged to have been committed against the juvenile court.

Miller's alleged offense consisted in disbarring a boy named Ralph Watring, who had been committed on a charge of larceny by Judge Shinn, awaiting consideration of his case by the juvenile court. Several weeks intervened without judicial action, and Miller finally released him.

Wills $20,000 to Hospital.

Hackensack, March 7. The sum of $20,000 is provided in the will of William A. Linn, who died Feb. 23, for the establishment of a nonsectarian hospital in the place of his birth, Russex borough, in Russex county. The testator directs in the will that the executor is to use this amount for founding, establishing and maintaining the institution, which shall be called the Alexander Linn hospital in memory of his father, who gave his professional life to the community.

MUSTEROLE—QUICK RELIEF! NO BLISTER!

It Soothes and Relieves Like a Mustard Plaster Without the Burn or Sting

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made with the oil of mustard. It does all the work of the old-fashioned mustard plaster—does it better and does not blister. You do not have to bother with a cloth. You simply rub it on—and usually the pain is gone!

Many doctors and nurses use Musterole and recommend it to their patients. They will gladly tell you what relief it gives from sore throat, bronchitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia).

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets.

These pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Just try Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Most headaches, "dullness," and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "logy" and "heavy." Note how they "clear" clouded brain and how they "perk-up" the spirits. 10c and 25c a box. All druggists.

STEAMER APPAM IS RETURNED TO OWNERS

Special to Courier-News:

Washington, March 7.—The supreme Court of the United States affirmed a decision of the Federal Court for the Eastern District of Virginia, awarding the steamer Appam to its British owners. The court held that it would be unneutral for the United States to permit either belligerent to bring prizes into American ports and that Germany could not claim such a right under existing treaties, and there was a clear breach of American neutrality for Hans Berg to bring the Appam into Hampton Roads. The cargo was also returned to British owners.

FEW FOLKS HAVE GRAY HAIR NOW

Druggist Says Ladies are Using Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture improved by the addition of other ingredients by asking at any drug store for a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre, and gives it an appearance of abundance.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite to impart color and a youthful appearance to the hair. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Adv.

COUNTY ATTORNEY'S ACTION A PUZZLE

Union Freeholders Fear Codington May Not Resign as He Promised

A perplexing situation confronts the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union county in the matter of straightening out the county attorneyship tangle. Although County Attorney Codington was renominated with the understanding that his resignation would take effect April 1, the approach of that date leaves the board still in doubt as to whether or not they must name his successor.

Before the board, or rather the eleven insurgents, would consent to the renomination of County Attorney Codington at the beginning of the year, a written resignation was procured, according to one freeholder, which stated that the county attorney would leave office April 1. This resignation is said to have been given to Freeholder Henry Krouse.

Last Thursday's caucus disclosed that there was some doubt as to the county attorney's willingness to retire, especially since his trip to Florida has improved his health greatly. Consequently, no action was taken and a special meeting will be held March 22, at which something must be done to provide for the future. What that must be the board does not know.

If a successor is chosen, and if the county attorney does not resign, Union county may have two county attorneys, while, if there is no successor chosen, and the county attorney does resign, there will be no county attorney following April 1. As the insurgents want to see the agreement lived up to, while some of the older members would like to continue Mr. Codington in office, the board is in a quandary as just what can be done.

No doubt exists now that Francis J. Blatz, of Plainfield, and Mr. Codington's law partner, has been picked as the next county attorney. For the past few years he has been performing many of the duties of the office.

Mr. Blatz was practically decided upon as the next county attorney long before the present situation arose, according to one freeholder this morning. There were two reasons, he claimed, why the freeholders' majority were willing to permit Mr. Codington to be renominated for this year, with the agreement that he should resign after three months. One was that he might not seem to leave office under fire of the recent investigation. The other was that, by performing the duties of his senior law partner, Mr. Blatz might easily and naturally follow Mr. Codington into the office.

Saves Eggs

Royal Baking Powder makes it possible to produce appetizing and wholesome cakes, muffins, cornbread, etc., with fewer eggs than are usually required.

In many recipes the number of eggs may be reduced and excellent results obtained by adding an additional quantity of Royal Baking Powder, about a teaspoon, for each egg omitted. The following tested recipe is a practical illustration:

SPONGE CAKE

1 cup sugar
½ cup water
3 eggs
2 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
1 cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup cold water
1 teaspoon flavoring

DIRECTIONS:—Boil sugar and water until it spins. Then pour and add to the stiffly beaten whites of eggs, beating until the mixture is cold. Add the sifted flour, baking powder, salt and baking powder, and add alternately with the yolks of the eggs beaten stiff. Add ½ cup cold water and flavoring. Mix lightly and bake in moderate oven about one hour.

The old method called for 6 eggs and no baking powder

ARE GENEROUS TO STRICKEN BELGIUM

England and France Give $14,000,000 Monthly for Relief

How many comfortable Americans now prospering directly or indirectly from Europe's war, appreciate that while they are giving generously to the afflicted abroad, the English and French, many of whom are enduring real privation and financial disaster, and burdened with heavy taxes, such as we have never known, have been for months past, and are now, contributing at the rate of $14,000,000 monthly, as compared to America's total contribution of the last two years of but $9,000,000.

How many who read this realize that of $250,000,000 spent for Belgian relief, and this contributed mostly by the Allied governments, over $150,000,000 was spent in the United States, yielding a profit of approximately $30,000,000 to Americans? Does not our $9,000,000 in two years seem almost paltry?

There are 1,200,000 destitute growing children in Belgium. These must be provided with adequate fats, which are not contained in sufficient measure in foods now distributed to maintain the growing child.

The commission for relief in Belgium, of which Herbert Hoover is chairman, is the only commission authorized by the German Government through which relief is permitted to reach the Belgian people. The medical staff of the commission has reported that one biscuit and a cup of cocoa each day, in addition to the bowl of soup and a piece of bread, now allowed each child, will sustain bodily health, enough to prevent an increase of rickets, scurvy and tuberculosis, now alarmingly prevalent, and will safeguard the coming generation.

One dollar a month will save a child. Many cities in the United States have separately undertaken the cost of supplying the supplementary need for the children of various towns in Belgium.

Here is an opportunity for the city of Plainfield to figure among the American cities who have so generously undertaken to support Mr. Hoover in his campaign, raise $1,000,000 a month in America.

This afternoon in the parish house of the Congregational church Mrs. Kellogg and Mr. Rickard of the commission gave a graphic account of their work in Belgium and encouraged Plainfield to undertake this great work in America.

HOWE'S MOVING PICTURES FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

Grandeurs of Yosemite National Park to be Shown Here Soon by Lyman H Howe

At the Plainfield Theatre Friday and Saturday, matinee daily

Sir Douglas Mawson's Expedition to Antarctica is one of the features presented by Howe's moving pictures at the Plainfield Theatre, Friday and Saturday, March 9 and 10, matinee and night. The Philadelphia Inquirer says of it: "The living records of the animals and birds in this desolate region, the sea-lions and sea elephants, the giant penguins and the sea petrels are beyond price."

Voicing the sentiment of educational authorities, President Cavanaugh of the University of Notre Dame, states: "The greatness of the theme, the inspiring heroism of the explorers, the wonderful opening up of great, new vistas, the strange sights, and especially the human achievements coming near to the sublime, makes it such a thrilling experience to witness these scenes as one does not often have in life. It would be a great joy to me to know that every important school in America could see them."

LONDON BELLES MONDAY AT PLAINFIELD THEATRE

Rose Sydell's Famous London Belles will appear at the Plainfield Theatre next Monday, matinee and night. The cost of costumes, scenery and electrical effects has totaled up an amount equalled to the cost of equipping four ordinary burlesque companies.

The opening musical burlesque "A Trip to Washington," is a concoction of hilarious episodes, mingled together with a song here and there, forming a bright, breezy entertainment. The closing act is a roaring farce, introducing catchy songs, medleys, and musical ensembles. The gowns worn are perfection of the latest Parisian workmanship.

The cast is our old favorite Johnnie Weber playing the title role; Bill Campbell, Frances Cornell, Lew Thall, Ward Caulfield, Grace Tremont, Franklin Sinclair, Miss Pullman, Billy Smith, Harry Waltjen, Ed Wright, and the Queen of Burlesque, Rose Sydell herself.

VAUDEVILLE TWO DAYS AT PLAINFIELD THEATRE

"Up and Down the Strand," an excellent comedy sketch with several charming girls is the headline offering on the vaudeville bill at the Plainfield Theatre for today and tomorrow. Four other excellent numbers are included on the regular bill.

As an added feature there will be "tryouts" tomorrow night with four of the best amateur acts obtainable. "Pearl of the Army" will also be shown today instead of Friday. Tonight will be "Country Store."

"CIVILIZATION" DRAWS CROWDS TO PROCTOR'S

Unusual interest centers in the farewell appearance of Thos. H. Ince's "Civilization" at Proctor's Theatre which comes to an end tomorrow evening. Aside from the many spectacular features with which the mammoth battle drama abounds there is also a sweet love story, which aids in developing and accelerating the action and builds up the theme which Producer Ince found in his work—the theme of world-wide peace, which is the propaganda that "Civilization" teaches.

"Civilization" is perhaps the most eloquent argument ever presented in favor of world peace. Whole towns are seen to be destroyed by aeroplanes, and battles on land and sea have been reproduced with fine realism. The most impressive group of scenes is that which represents the sinking of a passenger ship by a submarine, paralleling the torpedoing of the Lusitania.

About 40,000 persons were used at various times, as many as 5,000 appearing in one scene. Two armies of infantry, 8,000 horses, battleship fleets, aeroplanes and submarine flotillas all combine in enacting the diabolical business of wholesale murder and devastation.

ELKS AND PARKS IN SOME COMEDY

PARKS TAKE THREE

Rotten was no name for it. And what is more, members of both teams admit that such was the case. One does not have to prove it, for they all admit it. And the scores conclude the evidence to be introduced in the case.

The sum and substance of the whole affair is that the Park Club pinners took the entire set of three games from the Elk maple smashers —and a clean sweep it was! But, then, the Park boys are not doing a whole lot of bragging about what they ought to have done.

Splits and misses were the order of the evening, both sides running into these features of the lanes with something of a regularity. There did not appear a man on the floor but what struck into his share of this part of the inside work. Even Jake Waldorf did his part in keeping up the good work of the evening.

Long, anchor of the Parks, was about the only man to come through with any sort of a showing, securing a high score of 217 and high average of 193.2. He was the shining light of the occasion. Both Lyman and Nash secured double century scores, but the splits managed to split up their averages for the evening. Strong, the champion split-zetter of the evening, topped the booby prize with an average of 147.1.

By virtue of the three straight wins the Parks claim the championship of the two organizations. A few weeks back, on their own alleys, the Elks copped two of three games.

Dancing and a general social hour followed the bowling, special instrumental music having been furnished for that portion of the evening. The members of both organizations, their wives and lady friends, the latter having been invited to witness the bowling, enjoyed a full evening of dancing.

Winning Basket Shot in During Last Minute of Play by Dunning

The North Plainfield H. S. basketball team obtained sweet revenge on the strong Westfield High quintet on the Washington School floor, Westfield, yesterday afternoon. The final count was 28 to 26. This victory evens up the series between the two schools, West field having won the first game played at Westfield 40 to 32.

Yesterday's fracas was some game from the blow of the whistle in the first half. The final count was made by Dunning, who took McDonough's place in the last in the last ten minutes. Dunning's basket came just before the call of time with the score 26 to 26 on a pass by Force under the broughtest basket.

The P. H. S. Seniors, who have reached that point where they are of the opinion that they know everything, were set down yesterday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. gym in the High School League team of the latter institution by a score of 45 to 41. Of course, that is not to infer that the Seniors did not put up a great game. They did, but in the final analysis of the score it availed them nothing for the league boys had an edge on them.

Snyder, who divides his attention between Hope Chapel, the Y. M. C. A. and high school, was the star of the afternoon, piling up some twenty-one points for his aggregation. Kyle also did some good work in the scoring, while Kline and Townley, playing guard for their respective teams, also put up some good work.

COMMUTERS HAVE BEEN GETTING INTO SHAPE

The Commuters' Social Club of Westfield and this city, an organization which has been in existence for the past year, has been having its members on the alleys of the Westfield Theatre Hall during the course of that time. The rolling up to this week has been considered more or less as mere practice, but the work on the alleys of this past Monday evening produced some fairly good scores and the folks now feel that they are regular pinners.

The secretary has presented the most recent of the scores as proof positive of the padding, which are published herewith:

OFFICIAL FIGURES OF COUNTY LEAGUE

Final Averages of Union County Circuit Show Long Leading Park Club

ROSELLE BOWLER HIGH

Just one series separated Harry Gathman of the Elizabeth Elks, from the first individual prize in the Union County Bowling League for the season now ended. Harry leads the list of active pinners, for in 27 games he had an average of 191.15, but as the qualifying rule of the league requires that a contestant bowl at least thirty games, he is one match shy.

Therefore, Cox of Roselle Casino corrals the honor with a 186.29 figure for 42 games. Moller, of Elizabeth Casino, leads the list with a 203 mark, but as he has pinned but one series his record is all for naught, and a like fate is suffered by Burke of the Elks, who rolled a single game.

Ira B. Wheeler, captain of the Elizabeth Town and Country Club outfit, champions last season, wins the high score prize with a big crack of 266. On the same evening Iss busted 'em in another set-up to the tune of 256.

As a team, the Elks cleaned up the prize for the best average and for high score, with marks of 903.35 and 1,029, as well as nailing the Journal trophy for having the best percentage in games won.

USED CAR SHOW NOW ON AT NEWARK HALL

Yesterday's attendance at the combination Used Car and Motor Truck Show now in progress at the Palace ballroom, Newark, was another step forward to prove that a used car show can be a success.

The nightly auction sales are a feature of the show, and a large crowd took an active part in the lively bidding.

As a special feature the management has secured the services of the Roiay Hawaiian Orchestra, brought direct from the Cleveland exposition. This Hawaiian orchestra has made a great hit wherever it has appeared and is among the best musicians that ever visited these shores from the much-sung-about Hawaiian islands.

GIRLS' CITY CHAMPIONSHIP IS THE BIG QUESTION OF THE HOUR

P. H. S. Correspondent States City Side of the Argument—Not Too Late Yet for Representatives of the Two Teams to Get Together

Apropos of the recent discussion on the question as to whether the P. H. S. or the N. P. H. S. girls' basketball team is entitled to the title of champions of Greater Plainfield in the basketball world, S. Wright McAneny, P. H. S. correspondent of this paper, submits the following as the city side of the argument.

The communication is printed as presented by the writer, and it is hoped that representatives of the teams may get together, arbitrate their differences, giving and taking, and settle their local differences as to which team is entitled to the championship upon the basketball floor.

The public press is certainly no place to settle such a dispute as this, but should be settled upon the basketball court. The argument properly belongs the latter place in the form of a series of three games under conditions and regulations which both teams can meet if they will.

Local fandom demands that the question be settled in a rightful way and that games be played. The spirit of each of the schools demands that the games be played. Public opinion demands that the games be played. Plainfield and North Plainfield sentiment for clean sports demands that the games be played. The question can never be settled otherwise. No printed word or heated argument can ever bring about a definite conclusion on the matter. Come, let us reason together.

Mr. McAneny's communication is as follows:

Sporting Editor, Courier-News:

As a member of the Plainfield High School and a representative of that school for this newspaper it is my desire to submit the following facts that have to deal directly with the girls' basketball title of this city.

Who has ever heard of the absurdity of claiming a basketball title without first asserting the truly sportsman-like ability to win it? Anyone might ask this question, and in reply it might make the general admission that no basketball team of any character has ever won the mere claim for a title without first contending for it, for has any team of sportsman-like calibre ever laid a claim to a city title without first having contended for it.

Last Saturday evening an article expressing North Plainfield's desire to lay claim for the city title appeared in this paper. Then it went on to say that "early in the past season the managements of both the Plainfield and North Plainfield high schools convened to arrange a series of games for the city title" and that "everything was agreed upon as far as the borough girls were concerned." Continuing, it stated that "a week later the Canadians (presumably North Plainfield) were informed by the city high school coach, Miss Ruth Wean, that the games would be played under certain new conditions." Then it claimed that North Plainfield wanted to compromise.

The above quotations cover the principal parts of the article as it appeared. I wish to correct these statements not merely from the Plainfield High School point of view, but simply to be more accurate. Early in the basketball season a meeting was held to make arrangements for a series of games for the city title. At this meeting everything was agreed upon favorably, but shortly after the meeting the manager, Miss Elsa Palmer, of the city team, recalled the hitch that has arisen in former years, namely, the question of using five or six players. The North Plainfield manager was called to the telephone and told Miss Palmer that they would be perfectly willing to play with six players. The following day Miss Lillian Spencer, of North Plainfield, spoke to the Plainfield management over the telephone and broke off the arrangements that the North Plainfield manager had made the day before and said that North Plainfield would not play unless the side-centers were left out of the game. In previous years Plainfield has always been willing to conciliate and play one half of a game with six players and the other half with five. Miss Ruth Wean, who coaches the Red and Blue team, interviewed the Plainfield High School principal, Lindsey Best, who expressed his opinion that the use of only five players would tend to make the game too strenuous for girls. Miss Wean then conversed with Principal Albert Earley, of North Plainfield, for the purpose of coming to a friendly agreement, whereupon he said he wouldn't consider the question of using six players. Then, because North Plainfield was not willing to settle the question by arbitration, as has been done in previous years, Plainfield High School broke off basketball relations with the school across the brook.

Can it now be said that North Plainfield has any right to the city title? If so, I fail to see it, and so does every member of the Plainfield High School. North Plainfield is doing itself a great injustice by laying a claim to a title which it has not won. It is also apparently endeavoring to establish a failing precedent of securing a basketball title without winning it.

A basketball team of sportsmanlike qualities would not lay any claims to a title unless it won it, and this sportsmanship demands. A victory is a thing to be proud of, an object to attain and an honor to cherish, but what's a claim? Possibly the prospects of some day holding it, but North Plainfield can not hold its claim. As the North Plainfielders state, it is only "laid," and I hold that it has not been honorably won. Upon what do they base their claim to the title? Nothing!

The young ladies of the Plainfield High School team have their own free right to lay claim to the city title, but they realize that they have not won the title. No physical contest has been fought, and laying an unfounded claim lacks a spirit of true sportsmanship. That quality of the city team has been admired by many during the past season, and they propose to retain that honor.

If deciding who deserved the title to the claims would be the way to determine who the lady champions are, which is now apparently North Plainfield's method, I can readily show by statistics that the city girls have the better right to the claim. The Plainfield team has had a brilliant basketball season this winter. It has lost only two out of twelve games.

Now, if a city title must be made by claim, which is not a physical victory, but which, nevertheless, seems to be North Plainfield's method of settling the situation, Plainfield has won the claim, both by its desire to offer to arbitrate early in the season and because of Plainfield's superior basketball qualities, as shown by a fair comparison of records.

The Plainfield High School team is still desirous of winning the victory and not to make claim of it. If North Plainfield is willing to arrange a series of games Plainfield is willing to consider it. Plainfield's claim to the city title, I conclude, is based on better accomplishments and their offer to arbitrate, which was declined. Now, if North Plainfield is anxious to win the interscholastic basketball title of the city I suggest it play the game after friendly arbitration or under the conditions which Plainfield has already made clear and which conditions alone can bring a girl basketball team throughout the State.

Let honor come after victory and not before!

BIG EATERS GET KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts at first sign of Bladder irritation or Backache

The American men and women must guard constantly against Kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then be fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing at a time.—Adv.

CHAUNCEY OLCOTT DREW A LARGE AUDIENCE

Chauncey Olcott in one of his best plays, "The Heart of Paddy Whack," entertained a large audience in the Plainfield Theatre last evening, in his usual versatile way, pleasing his hearers fully as well in this bit of Irish romance as in any of his former plays here. A feature of his play is his singing in a clear lyric tenor voice by which he has made his plays famous.

His support was excellent, particularly by Miss Ruth Sinclair, his protege in the play, who is the sprightly blue-eyed young girl who he brought up by the lawyer after the death of her father. The love-making is done by the young girl in the exuberance of youth, in spite of the resistance of her guardian, whose only wish for her is her happiness. When she makes him very sure that he can make her happy, he yields to the love he has left for her, and then both are very happy.

TWO-MAN TEAMS WILL FIGHT IT OUT TONIGHT

There has been booked for Elmer's alleys at Bound Brook this evening a two-man match, when teams representing that town and Somerville will clash for some post-season bowling. At the Central Jersey League match at Bound Brook last Thursday night some discussion arose as to the relative bowling ability of the pair of two teams and the managements agreed to place two-man teams on the lanes to fight it out and settle the argument for all time.

A complete set of twenty-one games is to be rolled off, eleven of which will be staged at Ellinger's alleys this evening and the other ten to be put on at Somerville tomorrow evening. The teams will be composed as follows: Bound Brook, P. Koechlein and Snyder; Somerville, Roller and Mathews.

HOT FIGHT IN COUNTY MASONIC LEAGUE SOON

What looks like the big series of the season for the Masonic League wheel will be pulled off Thursday night on the German Lutheran alleys, Elizabeth, where the leading Essex Lodge team, of Elizabeth, will mingle with Rahway's representation, the Lafayette Lodge bowlers, present champions of the league. This match has been anxiously awaited for some time and the rolling promises to be fast and furious from start to finish.

League leaders almost from the beginning of the F. and A. M. season, the Essex bowlers have been pretty generally picked to carry off the championship. Of late, however, the Lafayette contenders have been rushing to the front with great long-leaps until they are now close on the heels of the pace-makers. Lafayette's great spurt has caused a number of the league rooters to lose some of their Essex enthusiasm and they are inclined to believe that titular honors will again go to Rahway. Thursday's match may go a long way toward unraveling this new tangle.

If Essex can get away with honors this week they should not have a whole lot of trouble crossing the goal line a winner, but a continuation of Lafayette's clean-up stride will give the race an altogether different complexion.

Other Masonic League matches scheduled for this week sent Orient and Tyrian lodges into action last night, and Thursday night Washington's men of might will hike out to Roselle Park for a session with Azure.

PUSSIE AND THE MICE

Pussie was the terror of all the mice, for she was as quick as a flash, and seldom a mouse ventured out of his hole to return again.

But one day Pussie grew tired of catching mice, she saw cream and milk on the shelves and knew she could not have it, and she did not think it quite fair that she should work so hard and get so little for her trouble.

One night a mouse, who was bolder than his brothers, came out on the pantry shelf right over where Pussie was standing on the floor.

"I won't harm you, my pretty creature," said Pussie very sweetly. "I want to send a message to all your brothers and sisters, and if they will agree to help me I will not harm any of you."

Mr. Mouse said he would be glad to listen to anything Pussie had to say if she would keep right on the floor.

Pussie promised she would and told him her plan. "I want all your brothers and sisters to come out tonight and eat all you want in the pantry. I will not touch one of you, and all I ask in return is that just before you return to your holes you will dip your tales in the cream and milk and let them drag after you."

"That is a very simple thing to do in return for my "kindness. I am sure," said Pussie, "and I am not all sure but that the cream will make your tails grow longer."

Mr. Mouse said it sounded very nice to him and he would run right home and tell his father and mother and his brothers and sisters.

In a few minutes he came back, followed by all the family, who looked down at Pussie and asked if she really meant they were to eat all they wanted, and she would not hurt them.

"If you will do what I ask just before you go to your holes," said Pussie.

They all said they would, and away they ran to the cheese at the end of the shelf; they ate the frosting off the cake and they ate the meat in the plate by the milk, but Pussie didn't care; all she wanted was the cream and milk.

"There, you have had enough," she said, after awhile. "Now, dip your tails, every one of you, and run, for I will be after you."

It did not need a second warning for Pussie to make all the mice scamper, and after them trailed a

FAVOR THE TRANSFER OF WOMEN PRISONERS

Bernardsville, March 7.—Letters have been sent to all the ministers in New Jersey by the chaplains of the New Jersey State Reformatory for Women at Clinton Farms, urging the removal of the women prisoners now at the State prison in Trenton, to the Clinton Farms institution.

The letter, in part, reads: "We are asking if you will be good enough to bring the subject of this letter to your congregation. Please give them the names an addresses of the Senators and Representatives of your county and ask them to write a letter, no matter how short, to your representative, urging the removal of the women now in the State prison at Trenton to Clinton Farms.

"From our knowledge of the excellent work at Clinton Farms we believe all the women prisoners should have the opportunities of the reformatory."

The reasons given are "for the benefit of the women themselves and that the wing with the most sun and air at Trenton, now used by women, could be used by tubercular prisoners." The letter is signed by Rev. Joseph Mahoney, of High Bridge and Rev. Thomas A. Conover, of Bernardsville.

YOUNG WOMEN TO AID IN CAMPAIGN

Will Devote Two Weeks in Work for Y. M. H. A. Building Fund

Again the Young Men's Hebrew Association building campaign committee calls the attention of Plainfield's citizens that its campaign is on with more ginger than ever before. It is their desire that, if possible, the local school building be taken over free and clear of any indebtedness, and to accomplish that, the committee is counting on contributions from each and every Jew in this city and from the many other friends of the Jews of other denominations. The day for any antipathy toward the Jew has long since passed, and it is hoped that the newly acquired building, with its contemplated improvements, will be a monument not only to the Jewish spirit, but a credit also to the community and a blessing to our growing manhood.

The directors of the movement have been working hard to realize the plan mapped out in Friday's issue of the Courier-News, and they again call the attention of the vast number of readers that without their aid, their contemplated project with all its improvements can not be accomplished. It is interesting to note that a number of the Jewish young women have offered their services toward the collection of funds for the acquisition of the building, and two of them have volunteered their time in a clerical capacity toward expediting the publicity end of the committee's work. So earnest have been their wishes to co-operate to the full extent, that they have offered to give up their evenings for the next two weeks to see the women of the community and solicit their subscriptions. The committee desires at this time to announce again that anyone so desiring may send their contributions direct to any member of the committee, or to the Y. M. H. A. Building Fund, Plainfield, and they will receive immediate acknowledgment as soon as received. A very important meeting of the building campaign committee is scheduled tonight at 8 o'clock, in the office of the chairman at 119 West Front street.

"SAVE THE BABIES"

"At 15 months the baby may have at first one teaspoonful and later a tablespoonful of rare scraped beef, mutton or chicken. When 18 months old he may have one-half of a mealy baked potato daily. When two years old he may have most of the fresh green vegetables when thoroughly cooked and finely mashed.

Boston, March 7.—The prize for persistence has been awarded to Hiram Gorham Farnum of 440 Riverside drive, New York, a real estate broker, who is to be married on Monday to Miss Viola Evelyn Trueman, sixteen, of Roxbury.

Farnum, who is thirty-four, became engaged to her when he was a student at Cornell and she was only five. He says her father refused his consent at least a thousand times. Mrs. Trueman sanctioned it from the beginning, however.

HEBREW WOMEN DANCE FOR CHARITY

Social Affair Well Patronized Last Night at Abrams' Auditorium

The Ladies' Hebrew Benevolent Association gave a very successful dance and whist in the Abrams auditorium on West Front street last evening. About two hundred guests attended and had an enjoyable time.

Twenty different prizes were awarded for the highest scores and the victors were agreeably surprised by the utility of the awards. The prizes were the gifts of the local merchants who had voluntarily contributed merchandise from their stores to aid in making this charitable affair a grand success.

To the committee is entirely due the great success of the affair. Mrs. Harry Dreier and Mrs. J. Abrams were the committees that had charge of the arrangements and they performed the work in a noteworthy manner. The refreshment committee was composed of Mrs. H. Adelberg, Mrs. J. Zechendorf and Mrs. Morris Abrams, who worked incessantly for the financial success of the whist and dance.

Plans are already being made for the next social event which the committee is arranging for the entertainment of its many members, and all of the society are unanimous in the sentiment that if the next event's success can be guaged by this one, they are determined that the same committee shall continue its good work and so increase the funds of the association, the aims of which are charitable and in the interest of the Plainfield Jewish citizens.

MYSTERY STILL HIDES DEATH OF MRS. VON SALDERN

Tokio, Mar. 7.—The mystery of the recent murder of Mrs. von Saldern, wife of Lieut. von Saldern, a German war prisoner, and daughter of Vice Admiral von Capelle, the German Minister of the Navy, has not yet been solved.

It is understood that Mrs. Von Saldern desired to leave Japan, but that her husband prevailed on her to remain. After the murder of the woman, Lieut. von Saldern committed suicide owing to remorse.

GREAT EUROPEAN RECIPE FOR CATARRH, CLOGGED NOSTRILS, CATARRHAL DEAFNESS, HEAD NOISES

Few people realize what a serious disease Catarrh really is. If neglected the damage it does is often irreparable. Deafness, Lung troubles, and Head Noises that drive the sufferer nearly frantic are invariably due to this insidious disease. Don't suffer another day! Don't let it make you into a worn-out, run-down Catarrhal wreck. Stop that Catarrh today, and soon be something far more serious. Remember it is more than a trifling annoyance. Rush it before it's a dangerous one. A wrecked ear frequently destroys smell, taste and hearing and slowly but surely undermines the general health. If you have Catarrh in any form go to your druggist and get an ounce of Parmint (double strength) about 75c worth. Take this home and add to it a pint of hot water and 4 ounces ordinary Granulated sugar. Take a tablespoonful four times a day. Parmint is the great European recipe for Catarrh that is now being so extensively sold here in America, where it is giving satisfaction even under our own trying climatic conditions.

Catarrh being a disease of the blood, the only possible way to cure it is by treating the blood itself. Drive the Catarrhal poisons from the system by treating the blood and the disease itself must vanish. Parmint has proved successful in the most severe cases. It acts directly upon the blood and mucous membranes.

To be able to breathe freely, to hear plainly, smell, taste and arise in the morning refreshed and strong and with head and throat free from phlegm are conditions that spoke life worth living. For your own sake give Parmint a trial—and with your whole system running for relief why not start the treatment now? Parmint is sold and recommended by all first-class druggists. Schreiner Bros. can supply you.—Adv.

distilleries employ workmen, we must admit our fight for nation-wide prohibition is ill-considered and ill-advised. Of course, we are not required to admit anything of the kind. It does not follow that, because a saloon employs a bar-keeper to do a bad thing, therefore, the saloon itself is a good thing, nor does it follow because a distillery or brewery furnishes employment to men to do something harmful to society that, therefore, the distillery and brewery are a benefit to society. Exactly the opposite would follow, but relying upon us not to see the fallacy, the saloon presses home its seeming advantage on the industrial side of the case.

"Our prosperous friends would be decidedly impatient with us if we made the same argument in favor of bank burglary that they make on behalf of the saloon. Yet it could be done. We could insist that bank burglars are a benefit industrially because directly and indirectly they furnish employment to men.

"The second phase needing quick emphasis is the good government side of the case. Coming at it from the other direction, it can be stated in this way: The saloon is an institution which cannot succeed without special protection under the law. It is not prepared to exist as does a legitimate business; it must have special protection or it is lost. It cannot get that protection on its merits. It has no merits. Protection must be had by devious processes, by the gilliances it forms by the partnerships in which it engages. But it cannot form an alliance with decent people. It has nothing good to offer the community in return for the protection desired.

"In one sentence the difficulty can be stated as it presents itself to the saloon. The liquor traffic produces no good thing; the saloon turns out nothing beneficial to the country.

"How can we get together against it? That question comes naturally to mind. Here is a nation of a hundred million people. How will we get right action from them with reference to the saloon? A quick answer is—by getting right thinking. Right thinking must precede right action.

"The problem is not so difficult as it appears. The mind of the Nation acts as does the mind of the individual. All intelligent action by the individual results from certain mental activities, embracing Intellect, Sensibility and Will. Including the act, four words will describe the process: Knowing, Feeling, Willing, Acting. These cannot be reversed nor interchanged. One does not act before he wills. He does not will before he knows.

"We will get together by burying our non-essential notions while we agree upon the essential things. When we get to the essentials we will discover that we are a unit in every local fight.

"The saloon shall never have free breath on any square inch of American soil. Also, we will keep up every county and State fight. While we do all that, we will further agree that down the road, at the end of the journey, we will stand together for a Nation-wide policy that will close the distilleries and breweries which make the stuff and shut the Customs House against it. Upon that national policy we will will stand agreed.

"The saloon is a dying institution. It would be a mockery to say that a Nation devoted to education, enlightenment and religious freedom must remain under the control of the liquor traffic."

PAINS SHARP AND STABBING

Ogdensburg, Wis.—"I suffered from female troubles which caused piercing pains like a knife through my back and side. I finally lost all my strength so I had to go to bed. The doctor advised an operation but I would not listen to it. I thought of what I had read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and tried it. The first bottle brought great relief and six bottles have entirely cured me. All women with any kind of trouble of any kind should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. ETTA DORION, Ogdensburg, Wis.

Physicians undoubtedly did their best battled with this case steadily and could do no more, but often the most scientific treatment is surpassed by the medicinal properties of the good old fashioned roots and herbs contained in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If any complication exists it pays to write the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for special free advice.

RAISED $1,000,000 BY RED CROSS SEALS

New York, March 7.—The National Tuberculosis Association has announced the holiday sale of Red Cross Christmas seals and raised $1,000,000 for the tuberculosis campaign.

"Without the co-operation of the newspapers these tremendous results from the Red Cross seal sale would have been impossible," said Dr. Chas. J. Hatfield.

The association is proud of the fact that the slogan of the campaign, "One seal for every inhabitant of the United States," has been realized. The last fall amounts to a voluntary tax of one cent for each man, woman and child in the country, except the insular possessions.

Seals were sold in every State and territory of the United States except Guam, Tamiti and Samoa. Counting the school children, who sold seals numbering approximately 300,000, the total number of agents approaches 500,000. This includes school teachers, merchants, storekeepers, professional men.

The association says the little Christmas tokens have been responsible, not only for the control of tuberculosis, but also for tremendous advances in the whole field of public health work.

Open windows the whole year through are today the rule rather than the exception. Tuberculosis is today generally recognized as curable and preventable, while ten years ago a vast number of people still held to the theory that it was inherited, incurable and unpreventable.

YOUNG JUDAEA SOCIETY MAKES AN APPEAL

Young Judaea, the Junior Branch of the Zionistic organization, has organized a campaign enlisting the aid of all the Jewish school children of America to help the children of Palestine maintain their schools in this world crisis.

An appeal has been issued and the co-operation solicited from all the Hebrew daily and Sunday schools all over the country for one week, beginning *last Sunday. This date being appro*priate as it falls on Purim. Purim is a day traditional with Jewish peoples to send "Shalachmonos," meaning presents, distributed to the poor and also to friends who in return do likewise. A very appropriate leaflet in English has been distributed to all the Jewish children in the schools making a direct appeal to them to deny themselves of some little luxuries and to put their coins in the little paper safe which has been distributed for that purpose.

The local Hebrew school, which is conducted under the direction of the local Zionist organization, numbering over one hundred children have received this campaign with a great deal of enthusiasm, and it is expected that a goodly little sum will be raised for the cause.

A car that so thoroughly covers the $685 to $1285 car field that no buyer in this class will stop at less nor pay more after seeing this beautiful Six.

Among the many notable performances of the past season was the record-breaking trip from Miami, Florida, to Chicago of an Elgin Six stock car, which made the strenuous run of 1626 miles in 67½ running hours, and arrived in perfect mechanical condition. The route lay over the steep, rocky mountain grades of Kentucky and Tennessee; through the deep sands and heavy mud of Georgia, and the shifting sands and slippery, treacherous swamp roads of Florida.

Three Elgin Sixes, on a hard two days' run under the auspices of the Chicago Motor Club, made perfect scores and averaged 25.6 miles to the gallon of gasoline.

An Elgin Six Touring Car won a race against a fast express train through the wilds of Minnesota and Dakota, over roads that in some places were little better than a mere rocky trail, covering 552 miles without mechanical adjustment and without a single stop of the motor.

MAYOR ASSUMES RESPONSIBILITY

Has Directed Police to Enforce Ordinance Relating to Snow Removal

WANTS TO BE FAIR

Those Who Fail to Clean Sidewalks Do an Injustice to Citizens Who Show Proper Regard for Users of Streets

Discussing the failure of certain householders to remove snow and ice from sidewalks in front of their premises and the subsequent arraignment of police court, Mayor Calkins this morning said:

"It is natural to be annoyed when invited to appear before the City Judge for violation of the snow-removal ordinance. But really it is stretching a point to show resentment. The judge and the officials who report the violations are entitled to some sympathy. They are but performing a disagreeable duty, in a manner wholly impersonal, and are in no way responsible for the predicament in which worthy citizens occasionally find themselves — not so much through intention as oversight. I wish to share whatever unpopularity attaches to the vigorous campaign which we are prosecuting this winter for cleared sidewalks. In fact, I will assume the whole blame.

"A considerable effort was made last winter to improve conditions. Not only did we advertise the ordinance, but in several statements to which the local papers gave prominence, I carefully summarized the requirements and gave notice of our purpose to enforce the law. If ice unless ice to be covered with sand, ashes or sawdust within 4 hours of daylight after it forms, and snow and ice to be removed within 12 hours of daylight after it falls or forms. Owners and tenants are both liable. A fine is the penalty for violation.

Much sympathy is expressed for her family in their sad bereavement. Mrs. Muir was well-known and much beloved in Plainfield. Volk; Mrs. Russell Hustes, Theodosia and Grace Vail, all of Plainfield.

WILLIAM B. HOWLAND LEFT $10,000 ESTATE

It distributes an estate of "over $10,000" in personal property among a large number of relatives living in New York and this State.

Mr. Howland, who was 69 years old, dropped dead in his New York office on February 27 last. He was a native of Ashland, N. Y., and the greater part of his life was spent in publishing newspapers and magazines.

J. A. FASS BUYS HAND PROPERTY

Has Purchased Building Opposite Postoffice and One Adjoining Rink

FOR AN INVESTMENT

May Add Two Stories to One of the Structures—Sees Watchung Avenue a Business Thoroughfare in the Future

The most important real estate deal that has been made here in many years was put through yesterday, when the brick building, located at 202-12 Watchung avenue, opposite the new post office, and the three-story structure, adjoining the Crescent rink building, on Watchung avenue, south of the railroad, belonging to Charles H. Hand, was purchased by Jacob A. Fass, owner of the Paris cloak and suit store, in West Front street.

The deal was put through by Morris Abrams and his son Jacob. The consideration paid for the properties could not be learned.

When Mr. Fass was seen this morning by a representative of the Courier-News, he said that he and some one of town parties had purchased the properties for an investment.

The building opposite the new post office is partially of one-story, but it is likely that the new owners will add another story, or perhaps two, in the near future, and they may also construct an addition to the rear of the building.

Charles H. Hand, the former owner, erected both of these buildings several years ago. They are two of the many buildings which he constructed in different parts of the city.

Mr. Hand has undoubtedly constructed more buildings here than any other man who has been a resident of the town.

During the past few years he has been in ill health and unable to look after his realty holdings as he formerly did, and that is why he has disposed of these business properties.

Mr. Fass sees the possibility of Watchung avenue becoming one of the important business streets of the city in the near future, and he has let it be known that it is the intention of himself and his associates to maintain these properties in good condition for business and apartments.

The location of the post office and the new city hall on this thoroughfare, and the probable construction, in the near future, of a large terminal and office building for the Public Service Corporation, on the vacant lot adjoining the railroad, seems to justify the expectation that a thriving business section will be developed between East Front and East Fifth streets. There is already considerable business located within this area.

Mr. Fass, some years ago, bought the Compton building on West Front street, and after remodelling it, removed his business there.

DR. MATHEWS SPEAKS HERE AT 2 P. M., NOT 3

ERRORS COURT SUSTAINS DECISION

Verdict Obtained by Irving Kunzman is Upheld by High Tribunal

Attorney Irving Kunzman has just received word from Trenton that the decision obtained by him in the Supreme Court in the case of Chrissafides vs. Brunswick Motor Company has been affirmed by the Court of Errors and Appeals.

The plaintiff in the case, whom Mr. Kunzman represented, is Stratto Chrissafides, who is connected with the New York Lunch. The case arose out of an automobile accident which occurred December 23d, 1915. Plaintiff was riding in a Ford automobile from Plainfield to Perth Amboy, and while going around a curve at Pumptown he was run into by the passenger-carrying bus of the defendant company, which is engaged in operating a bus line between Plainfield, Metuchen and New Brunswick.

As a result of the collision, the plaintiff's face was bruised and he sustained severe internal injuries. A suit for damages for personal injuries was commenced in the Supreme Court and the case was tried last May before Circuit Court Judge George S. Silzer and a jury at Elizabeth. The defendant contended that the plaintiff was guilty of contributory negligence and also that plaintiff did not sustain the internal injuries as a result of the accident, but from other causes. After a two days' trial the jury brought in a verdict for the plaintiff for $1,100.

The defendant company took the case up on appeal to the highest court in the State, and that court in an opinion in which all the judges concurred, sustained the judgment of the lower court. William E. Holmwood, of Newark, represented the defendant.

NO RELIEF FROM PAPER FAMINE

Will Cost $2.50 a Hundred Pounds, But Supply is Far Behind the Demand

Scarcity of news print paper which has been so keenly felt in the United States for the past several months, is felt also so keenly in England that London newspapers say they must cease printing unless the public will be content with fewer papers. The circulation departments are fighting harder to reduce the circulation than they ever fought to increase it. There is some talk of reducing the circulation of the London Times so that one copy will have to supply half a dozen homes. The war is doing one good thing, during the high price of paper.

Announcement has been made that the Federal Trade Commission is the United States had succeeded in getting a working agreement between buyers and manufacturers of paper, at a price of $2.50 per hundred pounds, a price which was also agreed to in Canada. But before this price can become effective the supply of paper will have to be increased, and that will take a long time. The present consumption of paper is forcing the mills to run to full capacity, but they have not caught up with the demand.

It is one thing to make a price for an article, and quite another to get the article if there is no available supply. It is the scarcity of paper that drove the price up to a prohibitive figure, but even at the maximum price there was no paper to be had in any amount that would assure publishers of their ability to continue publishing. There will be no prospect of reducing the paper famine under some months so that any advantage can be taken of the price agreed upon. The demand will simply have to wait the supply before publishers can be assured of getting paper, not to speak of any price consideration.

FRANCIS J. BLATZ EXALTED RULER

Selected at Annual Meeting of Plainfield Lodge, B. P. O. E., Last Night

Plainfield Lodge B. P. O. Elks held its annual election in the Watchung avenue club house last night. These officers were chosen: Exalted ruler, Francis J. Blatz; esteemed leading knight, Dr. Chalmers L. Crist; esteemed loyal knight, E. J. Harding, Jr.; esteemed lecturing knight, Vincent William Nash, Jr.; secretary, Louis H. Starker; treasurer, Frederick Hayes; tiler, Edward C. Searing; trustee for three years, Samuel P. T. Wilbur; representatives to grand lodge, Walter S. Marder; alternate, Louis A. Bellis; representatives to State convention, Lewis A. Bellis, J. P. Wessner and John H. Cose; alternates, William Mulvey, Richard J. Harrigan and Frank McInerney, Jr.

William R. Townsend, for many years secretary of the lodge, retired because of the pressure of his personal affairs, and his inability to give the time necessary to the duties of secretary.

CO-OPERATION OF PARENTS IS URGED

Miss Addie Parker Jackson Gives Parent-Teacher Association Timely Advice

"What the public schools aim to do for the children," was the subject of a practical talk given by Miss Addie Parker Jackson, physical director of the Plainfield public schools, at the meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association of the Franklin-Stillman-Whittier schools held at the Franklin school yesterday afternoon. She pointed out that what the schools aim to do for the children will amount to little if the parents fail to do their part in their development and training at home.

Miss Jackson emphasized the importance of a well-ventilated home with proper attention given to the physical training of the child, explaining that the parents can do a great deal in co-operating with the school teacher in looking after the welfare of their children.

Following Miss Jackson's talk, Miss Noel J. Bullock, principal of the Franklin school, informally addressed the association, following the same line of thought in the first talk. Some of the members of the association feel greatly discouraged because of the apparent lack of interest and the fact that a number of them have transferred their membership to the Evergreen School Association. However, the association has been doing excellent work in providing lunches for the children, as many as 150 lunches being served some days. Owing to the high cost of living it has been found necessary to increase the prices a few cents and the association will probably not be able to show a profit this year as they did last year when there was a balance of over $80 in the treasury. Slow progress is also being made in furnishing the rest room for the teachers at the William school and it is hoped to complete this soon.

Mrs. S. Frederick Smith is now acting president of the association, the members refusing to accept her resignation as president, but she has decided to give up her position at the end of the present school year, because of a pressure of other duties.

WILL MEET EVERY FRIDAY

The Junior branch of the National Special Aid Society will hereafter meet every Friday afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock at the society's headquarters, 175 East Front street.

NOTICE.

Dating from next Monday, March 12th, the subscription price of the Courier-News will be advanced from 10c to 12c a week, and from $5.00 to $6.00 a year. The yearly subscription price applies, on application, to PAID IN ADVANCE SUBSCRIPTIONS ONLY.

While we have been forced to pay an increase of more than 100% for white paper, no other increase in price has been made to our subscribers until the present time.

We do not expect either the subscriber or advertiser or both combined, to make up the added expense. Only a small part of it can be shifted to them. We must stand the loss ourselves. If this was our only trouble the situation would be much more comfortable than it is. But it is decidedly worse; we cannot buy enough paper for our needs at any price. At other times the Courier-News is being printed on paper of very poor quality; that under normal conditions it would not be accepted from the manufacturers.

The unusual conditions make it necessary that we keep the number of copies printed at the lowest possible figure. For this reason we must insist upon prompt payment from subscribers, as a protection to our paid in advance and prompt paying subscribers, we will be compelled to discontinue serving the Courier-News to those who fail behind in their payments.

CONTRIBUTE $125 TO BUILDING FUND

At Meeting of Y. M. H. A. Last Night This Sum Was Subscribed

At an enthusiastic meeting held last night in the rooms of the Young Men's Hebrew Association, the sum of $125 was added to the association's building fund.

After the regular meeting a collation was served, by the entertainment committee, which had charge of arrangements, and of which Alex Goodman is chairman. The president of the association called for a report of the Building Campaign Committee, to which Harvey Rothberg, the chairman, responded. So great was the enthusiasm of the young men present that the following men voluntarily contributed the amounts annexed to their names: Harry Bronston, $50; Victor Miron, $20; Reuben Rabinowitz, $10; A. Zeckendorf, $10; Cohen & Pariser, $10; Edward Marks, $7.50; visitor, $5; Louis Genisman, $5; Alex Goodman, $5; Edward Jass, $5; Arthur H. Richards, $5; Robert Rubin, $5; Isidor Schneider, $5; and Samuel Wirth, $2.50. A number of the men went on record as promising to contribute one week's salary to make a better and bigger club house for the association, and if the animated spirit manifested at last evening's meeting is significant of the association's future success, Plainfield will undoubtedly have occasion to be proud of the work these young men are trying to do.

A new committee was appointed to revise the constitution, so that a board of trustees and directors will have control of the organization and discipline of the association.

Samuel H. Schwartz was selected as the chairman of the committee to secure estimates for the necessary improvements which are to be made to the building immediately after occupancy by the club. Any further donations to the association may be mailed to the Young Men's Hebrew Association, Campaign Committee, 119 West Front street, this city.

RED MEN HELD BIG CLASS INITIATION

Miantonomo Tribe of This City, Hosts to State Officers Last Evening

Twenty pale faces received the adoption degree and one member was reinstated last night at the class initiation of Miantonomo Tribe, No. 118, I. O. R. M., held in the West Front street wigwam. The local degree team of Red Men did the work in excellent shape.

It was also the occasion of the visitation of some of the State officers and a general pow-wow followed the business session of the Tribe. Among the visitors were: Great Chief Sachem, John Meyers, of Lakewood; Great Senior Sagamore, Allyn Thompson, of Morristown; Great Keeper of Wampum, Osborn Spofford, of Bayonne; Great Sannap, Dr. Kurtz, Asbury Park; Great Guard of the Forest, C. L. Holstein, and Vice-Great Sachem, Judge William Newcorn, both of this city. Following the serving of the corn and venison, pipes were lighted and a general social session concluded the meeting.

Delegations brought greetings from Naraticong tribe, of Somerville; Menno Tribe, of Westfield; Tonaluka Tribe of Cranford, and other nearby places. The pow-wow broke up about midnight.

Miantonomo tribe will hold another class initiation on the first meeting night in April when it is planned to have the adoption degree performed by Pamrapaugh Tribe team of Bayonne. The local Red Men's organization is now in its twenty-eighth year and has a membership of over 265.

Invitations are being sent out for an address to be given at the home of Mrs. S. S. Carvalho, of West Eighth street, Tuesday, March 20, at 2.30 p. m., by Miss Elsie McKenzie, on "What women are doing in the War".

When plans for the meeting were first discussed it was suggested that the date be made for March 9, but ultimately was made for March 20.

Miss McKenzie comes from England, and brings a story of personal observations of work in the trenches, and what women are doing to aid the soldiers and to provide comforts that are so much needed in the hardships that the men in the trenches are enduring, in the cause of duty.

WAR COUNCIL CRITICISES DARDANELLES EXPEDITION

By United Press:

London, March 8.—The British War Council, which decided on the Dardanelles campaign, "failed adequately to investigate the availability of troops with which the joint naval and military attack could be undertaken," according to formal reports of this Dardanelles Commission, issued today.

"Mr. Winston Churchill's advocacy of a purely naval attack was based on a certain amount of half-hearted, hesitating, expert opinion," the report said, "the practicability of which was apparently not directly supported or directly opposed by such responsible naval and military advisers as Lord Fisher or Sir James Murray."

The report did not spare even the late Lord Kitchener, England's idol. "Lord Kitchener," it says, "did not sufficiently utilize the services of the General Staff, and this resulted in confusion and lack of efficiency."

By United Press:

Washington, March 8.—Germany is permitting Americans to leave Belgium freely, Minister Whitlock, at Brussels, informed the State Department today. PRESIDENT'S ILLNESS HALTS ARMING QUESTION

By United Press:

Washington, March 8.—President Wilson's illness has delayed announcement of his decision on the armed merchantmen question. Evidence increased today, however, that orders to Secretary Daniels providing for arming American merchant vessels at once will not be postponed much longer.

Assurance is given that the President's cold has developed no complications and is not serious, but every care is being taken so he can soon be at work again. He was in bed today.

CUBAN REVOLUTION IS APPARENTLY ENDED

By United Press:

Havana, March 8.—The revolution in Cuba is apparently ended. Capture of ex-President Jose Miguel Gomez and his whole staff, leaders of the insurrection, was reported today, to be followed by sentence to death of these conspirators.

At the same time there were reports that the remnants of the rebels in Camaguey had been forced to capitulate.

THINK FIRE VICTIM WAS JOHN MOORE

Lived Here Some Years Ago —Father Owned Queen City Hotel

It is the belief of the local police, that the man whose dismembered body was found in the ruins of a burned barn, at Cheshire, Connecticut, on Monday morning, and who was said to have given his name as John Moore to a man named Joseph Stopnick, who was traveling with him, and who is now held by the police at Cheshire, is John Moore, son of the late William Moore, who at one time owned the Queen City Hotel, in this city, and the County Hotel at Somerville.

John Moore who about 55 years old and was a college graduate. He visited here some years ago, then disappeared, and he is not since been heard from by friends in this city.

The condition of Moore's body has led the police of the Connecticut town to believe that he was murdered and that the barn was then set on fire to cover the crime.

Stopnick is held for a further investigation. He professes ignorance to how Moore's head and arms were severed from his body.

COUNTY ATTORNEY TO RESIGN APRIL 1

W. R. Codington to be Succeeded by F. J. Blatz, According to Report

Whether County Attorney William R. Codington, who is now in Bradentown, Florida, intends to resign his position on April 1, as he promised, appears to be giving some of the Union County Freeholders considerable anxiety. It was learned today from an authoritative source that Mr. Codington will retire on April 1, and his law partner, Francis J. Blatz, is scheduled for the appointment. It is said that he has sufficient votes in the Board of Freeholders to insure his getting the position.

Before Mr. Codington went away he placed his resignation in the hands of Freeholder Henry Krausse, with the understanding that it was to be presented at the April meeting of the board. It is reported that there has been no change in this plan, and that the resignation will be acted upon at the time fixed by Mr. Codington.

There was a report in circulation this week that Mr. Codington had been so greatly benefited by his southern trip that there was somedoubt as to his retirement, and that he was likely to finish out his term.

Martin Whelan, of 625 East Second street, who underwent an operation in Muhlenberg Hospital last Saturday, is reported as doing nicely.

Union County Freeholders Receive Word of State's Approval of Project

State approval for the improvement of Mountain avenue, from Mountainside to Springfield, was given Tuesday and this section of road covering a distance of 3¾ miles will be built this summer of concrete with a tar covering. It will be 22 feet wide and will be a continuation of the long stretch of road constructed last year leading up to Mountainside.

Bids for this work will be received at the Court House, Elizabeth, on Monday afternoon, April 2, at 2:30 o'clock. The supervision of this work will be in charge of the road committee from the Union County Board of Freeholders, of which S. P. T. Wilbur, of this city, is the chairman. The committee has also secured an appropriation of $2,500 for repair work on St. George avenue, between Elizabeth and Rahway and on North and South avenues, between Plainfield and Elizabeth. During the temporary absence of George G. Teller, director of the Board of Freeholders, and at the request of the latter, Mr. Wilbur will be the acting director in road matters.

Mr. Wilbur stated today that he had received from Arthur E. Smith, the local contractor, a sketch for lamp standards to be placed on the new Westervelt avenue bridge, four in all, which he has offered to erect for $320. This work will be done within the near future.

Chicago, March 8.—The Continental and Commercial Trust and Savings bank of Chicago may float another huge Chinese loan. It was announced that J. J. Abbott, vice president, and Henry Platt, an attorney for the bank, will leave for China Saturday to determine whether conditions there warrant landing the republic $25,000,000.

This proposed loan, if made, will be in the form of long term government bonds. The money raised is to be used in the industrial development of the country. The bank lent China $5,000,000 recently.

NEW JERSEY DRUGGIST PRAISES FINE KIDNEY MEDICINE

I have sold Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root for the past fifteen years as proprietor and for eleven years as clerk and I have heard very favorable reports from those who have used it. The sale for the preparation is very steady and if it did not possess great merit in the diseases for which it is recommended the demand would not continue.

Very truly yours,
R. H. VAN DERVEER,
Knickerbocker Pharmacy,
Oct. 20, 1916. Red Bank, N. J.

You will also receive a booklet of valuable information, telling about the kidneys and bladder. When writing, be sure and mention the Plainfield Courier-News. "THE HOODOO" A SIDE-SPLITTING FARCE

That "The Hoodoo," the farcical comedy to be presented by the Chi Gamma Chi, in St. Joseph's hall on Monday night next, will be long remembered, is the prophecy of those who have attended rehearsals.

The play is quick in movement, replete with genuine humor, has a number of powerful situations and each act closes with a strong climax.

From the opening of the first act until the fall of the last curtain the audience will be held in excited expectancy as to the outcome of the plot.

Miss Ann-Veronica Daley, as "Dodo" is displaying unusual ability in the interpretation of her role. Miss Mary O'Connor is coaching the play.

ARTIFICIAL COAL TO CUT FUEL PRICES

By United Press:

Chicago, March 8—First American factory for manufacture of "artificial coal" in commercial quantities may be erected in Chicago, members of the Chicago Realtors' Association said today.

A committee appointed by the association to seek a solution of the fuel famine menace, which has threatened this and other cities all winter, has reported that they have a formula for manufacturing "coal substitute" from tar, chemicals, and by-products, at a cost far below that of coal.

The committee's report shows that tests which they have made, show the artificial product to be higher in heating units and more efficient generally than the mined product.

The letter that was received yesterday from the adjutant general's office at Ottawa, Canada, states that no further trace of the soldier Forgerson has been furnished by the officer of Estates in England, who had been instructed to make a search. Whether Forgerson was taken prisoner, wounded or killed in battle is still a query.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE AND LIVING COSTS

The Domestic Science schools say there is a great demand for lecturers to go out and talk to clubs on these subjects. But there is as yet no great demand among married women for the formation of classes in which they shall take them up in a thorough way. To get the technique and the methods of good domestic science in a few club lectures is about as if a girl tried to learn stenography in a half dozen lessons. Housekeeping is a trade requiring just as thorough preparation as office work. There will be waste and high living costs and bodily fatigue until women get that thorough preparation. However, thousands of domestic courses in public schools are making a splendid beginning. Many young brides of the next few years will begin their married life knowing far more of housework than their mothers did at a similar age. For women who formerly kept servants, new methods have made it possible to eliminate the wasteful and ill-trained maid of all work. With good tools and properly fitted kitchens they have saved servants' wages and food, and eliminated waste, besides enjoying better health from their active life. For women who have been doing their own housework, domestic science shows more efficient ways of working, less physical and nervous strain, ability to perform more work with less effort. This gives them more time to study many means of economy, some of which were suggested in a previous article. After all, the vital question is the woman's personal relation to her home tasks. If she gets interested in them, if she comes to look at them as a problem just as well worthy of her brains and initiative as the tasks her men take up in factory and office, she will find plenty of ways to make her home more efficient and economical.

BISHOP AND NEWSPAPERS

Thus spake Joseph F. Berry, bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church and himself a former editor, in a recent address. It was a clear-cut, manly tribute to the wholesomeness of the average American newspaper. For, of course, the bishop did not intend to convey the idea that every newspaper in the land was clean and inspirational. He gave praise to the press as a whole, and he added that the newspapers are growing ever better with the passing years.

"It attach tremendous significance," Bishop Berry declared, "to the remarkable change in the tone of the American newspaper. A sign of the times, too, is the rising quality of the American newspaper editorial. The change is a monument to the onward progress of American ideals."

There is a thought in connection with the statements of Bishop Berry which may not occur to the average critic— friendly or otherwise—who is commenting upon the moral standing of the press. This is the fact that the newspapers of America have always stood for the best things. As many newspapers have in the past failed because the ideals which they advanced were too wholesome to receive general public indorsement and support as have gone into bankruptcy from all other combined causes. Fewer publications are nowadays meeting this fate, however. May it not very properly be held that public sentiment is at last rising to the place occupied so long by the press? If this be admitted, what vast credit must be given journalism for the development of morals thus occurring!

ADVOCATE OF DEFENSE

Congressman Thomas S. Crago's twenty-five years' connection with the National Guard of Pennsylvania has served to make him a most influential member of the Committee on Military Affairs of the House, and when he speaks on matters connected with that subject his remarks are closely followed by his colleagues. After completing the arduous work of drafting the army appropriation bill in the closing days of the last session, Mr. Crago gave it as his opinion that all members of the committee had worked on the matter solely with the future welfare of the country in mind. He deprecates the assertion that increased military preparation is for the purpose of involving us in complications with other nations, but declares that, on the contrary, an adequate defense tends to prevent our being drawn into the European conflict.

KITCHEN INSISTS THAT WAX VISITED HIS HOTEL

William Kitchen, former proprietor of the Kensington Hotel, in this city, was a witness yesterday in New York, in the trial of Rae Tanzer, for perjury, in connection with the suit she brought two years ago against Assistant District Attorney James W. Osborne, for breach of promise, claiming that he was the man who came to this city with her and registered her as his wife in October, 1914.

Mr. Kitchen identified Charles Wax as the "Oliver Osborne" who came here with the girl. Several other witnesses testified that Wax was the man they had known as "Oliver Osborne."

The testimony went over some of the same ground that was covered in the trial of Franklin D. Safford, who as employe of Mr. Kitchen, and clerk of the hotel at the time the Tanzer girl is said to have come to this city, was tried and convicted of perjury some weeks ago, on his testimony that Assistant District Attorney James W. Osborne was the man who came here with the Tanzer girl. Frank Lapp, formerly employed at the Hotel Kensington, testified yesterday that James W. Osborne was not the man who visited the hotel.

It is said the choice of the commissioners for city recorder will be either John Watson, a Republican, and former city clerk, or Edward Tindy, a Democrat, who ran for commissioner at the first election.

Counsel for Former Mayor of Roselle to Go to Court of Errors

Codding & Oliver, attorneys for Harwood Fish, former Mayor of Roselle Park, whose appeal from his conviction in the Court of Quarter Sessions on the charge of having libeled William E. Johnson, a grand jury member, was denied by the Supreme Court, announced yesterday that they would take the case to the Court of Errors and Appeals.

"We have just received a copy of the opinion of the Supreme Court in the State against Harwood Fish and have only had time to make a hurried examination of it," the attorneys state. "The court disagrees with us as to Mayor Fish's right to have the circular explained of in the criminal action instituted against him. As we read the opinion it makes an person or any newspaper responsible for the truth of any statement that would, if untrue, be libelous which is published about a candidate for public office, no matter if the statement was published in good faith, for a good purpose and in the belief that it was true. We have never understood this to be the law. With regard to the conduct of the trial below the opinion states that errors were undoubtedly committed, but also indicates the belief of the court that these were not of sufficient damage to the defendant to require a new trial.

"We feel that our duty to our client requires us to carry the case to the Court of Errors and Appeals, which will be done at the earliest moment. It would, of course, be improper for us to comment upon the opinion of the court outside of the proper tribunal for the review.

BATTERY C EN ROUTE FOR HOME STATION

Battery C, New Jersey Field Artillery, of which Alfred Seals and Raymond Manley, of Plainfield, are members, left Douglas, Ariz., yesterday for its home station in East Orange. The battery will make the trip east in tourist sleepers.

The delay in the arrival of the transportation will allow Private Mercer Skidmore, of Rahway, who has been suffering with pneumonia in the camp hospital, to return with the battery. The only man to be left behind will be Corporal August Reiger, who is recovering from a broken leg. Captain J. R. Starkey will welcome the battery home and muster it out at East Orange.

A TALK to COAL BUYERS

This company, in its advertising, has endeavored to impress upon the coal buying public, that by virtue of its organization and wholesale connections, it is in a position to render service of a particularly efficient kind, a service not possible to every dealer in coal.

This winter, during the coal shortage, this service has been put to the test, and how well our organization has met it can best be vouched for by our customers. We have not only taken care of all our orders, but we have furnished coal to other dealers as well, and we point to our ability to care for our trade under the exceptional conditions that have presented themselves, with considerable pride, for we feel that our claim to be able to serve the public satisfactorily at all times and under all conditions, has been amply demonstrated.

If we are not already serving you, would it not be wise to become one of our regular customers, and thus place your coal burden on responsible shoulders?

Give us the opportunity; we will serve you well.

HOT DEBATE OVER NEW FRANCHISE TAX

Trenton, March 8.—With the Republicans and Democrats going at each other "hammer and tongs" in a lively partisan debate, during which it was charged that James R. Nugent, as a Democratic boss, was the "Colossus" who kept a public utility franchise tax plank out of the Democratic platform, the Democrats replying with the allegation that the Republicans only put such a plank in their platform because of a desire to grasp something that would prevent the election of the Democratic candidate for Governor, the Senate yesterday afternoon passed the committee substitute for the Oliphant bill increasing the franchise taxes upon public utility corporations other than street railway companies. The bill was passed by all the Democrats present voting with the Republicans in favor of it. Senator McClennon, of Hudson, who was detained home by the death of his mother, was the only absentee.

BEEKMAN TALKS FOR NEW ROAD

Sentiment was unquestionably in favor of the proposed construction of the Chimney Rock road, at the dinner given last night at the Hotel Cawley, by the Somerville Merchants' Association. The assemblage was a notable one because the governing body of nearly every municipality in the county was represented. The purpose was to consider the construction of a road from Chimney Rock to Martinsville, a distance of about one and a quarter miles. The estimated cost is about $70,000, the amount being a large one probably because the proposed construction would necessitate a cut through the mountain.

Prosecutor A. M. Beekman, who hails originally from Martinsville, on behalf of his former townsmen, made an eloquent and masterful plea in favor of the road, outlining the benefits and advantages. Nearly every property owner of the Martinsville section was present at the dinner. Fred Thomas, president of the Merchants' Association, also spoke in favor of the road. Those representing the Bound Brook authorities let it be known that they, too, favored the improvement.

Frank Remsen, director of the Board of Freeholders, stated that he was not in favor of any more expensive roads until the county could care for the roads they now have undertaken. He added that the Freeholders are having their troubles because the State authorities have not been giving the county as much money as was expected.

Bedle Schoonmaker, former president of the Merchants' Association and a prominent property owner here, declared that he was opposed to the construction of the Chimney Rock road at this time on the grounds of expense. He stated that the cost of such an improvement was almost prohibitive at this time.

RESERVE POLICE ARE SWORN IN

Last night there was an important meeting held in the town hall to form a reserve police force of forty private citizens, each man being sworn in by Recorder Springstead with the full authority of a regular police officer. These men are to be provided with badges, revolvers, night sticks and the full paraphernalia of guardians of the peace. The force is to be divided into squads of five men each and each squad will be under a sergeant with a lieutenant at the head as a whole. There are forty men thus far sworn in and quite a number are on the waiting list.

The new reserve force is patterned after the 20,000 men reserve in New York City. Many of the local reserves are expert or sharpshooter riflemen of the Westfield Rifle Club and few of them weigh less than 170 pounds. They range in age from 25 to 45 years and have been chosen because of their apparent fitness to discharge their duty in a calm, sensible manner.

The object of the reserve force is to back up the regular police system of the town in case of special need. They will also make life miserable for the auto speed maniac, the panhandler and the book agent. Should any emergency arise these men will hold themselves in readiness for instant service at the call of Chief of Police Rosecrans. Captain J. J. Thomas, ex-United States Army officer has been appointed as head of the reserve force with Kenneth R. Hare, as first sergeant, and Leigh M. Pearsall, secretary. The names of the reserve force are withheld because the authorities do not wish their names to become known to the public.

GENERAL VON BISSING.

It is reported from France that General von Bissing, governor general of Belgium, has issued a decree ordering the seizure of certain articles for removal to Germany when the quantities held by any owner exceed certain specified numbers or weights.

HARD FIGHTING ON FRENCH FRONT

British Gain on Ancre, Germans at Verdun.

London, March 8.—Hard fighting continues on the western front in both the Somme and the Verdun sectors, with considerable activity on a smaller scale at many other points. Above the Somme the British appear to be in contact with a part at least of the line which the Germans mean to defend. This is along the highway from Peronne to Busaume.

The British stormed front line trenches on the Bouchavesnes-Moislains road and held the advantage gained there, although repulsed elsewhere. This is along a high ridge, between Bouchavesnes and Sailly-Saillisel to the north lies St. Pierre Vaast wood, all of which is still held by the Germans except the western edge. If the British can drive a wedge through here and Vaux wood, directly beyond, they will convert Peronne into a dangerous salient as Mouchy, twenty-five miles away, at the other end of General Haig's great advance.

On the Verdun front the Germans are more fortunate. In addition to capturing trenches in the Caurieres wood, as acknowledged by the French, they also took an important point on the southeast edge of Fosses forest, with six officers and 572 men besides fifteen machine guns and twenty-five quick firers. The ground commands the Ornes-Brus road and greatly endangers positions held by the French to the east of this road in Caurieres wood. The French, however, hold a position a short distance to the south of Hardaumont, where at a range of 1,200 yards they are on a hill which commands the position thus captured.

In Macedonia British outpost patrols were active between Lake Doiran and the Vardar, and along the lower Struma, but nothing seems to indicate either a Teutonic offensive or an allied retirement in this mysterious region.

In Mesopotamia British cavalry pursuing the Turks defeated at Kut are within twenty-seven miles of Bagdad.

GENERAL SCOTT REAPPOINTED.

Washington, March 8.—Major General Scott was reappointed as chief of staff of the army by President Wilson. Because of his intimate association with the secretary of war the chief of staff has to be reappointed when a new administration begins office by law.

General Scott will serve until next September under the ordinary procedure, when his will reach the retirement age. In the event of war, however, he would continue in active service without regard to the age limit.

CLIMBED STAIRS ON HER HANDS

This woman now raises chickens and does manual labor. Read her story:

Richmond, Ind.—"For two years I was so sick and weak with troubles from my age that when going up stairs I had to go very slowly with my hands on the steps, then sit down at the top to rest. The doctor said he thought I should have an operation, and my friends thought I would not live to move into our new house. My daughter asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as she had taken it with good results. I did so, my weakness disappeared, I gained in strength, moved into our new home, did all kinds of garden work, shoveled dirt, did building and cement work, and raised hundreds of chickens and ducks. I cannot say enough in praise of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and if these facts are useful you may publish them for the benefit of other women."—Mrs. H. O. HIGHER SALARIES, AIM OF PASTORS

Methodist Conference to Debate Resolution.

ACTION IS UP TO CHURCHES

Secretary and Treasurer Reappointed. Conference Is Now an Incorporated Body and Will Maintain Permanent Offices In Camden—Busy Sessions Today, With Bishop Berry Presiding.

Atlantic City, March 8.—Either today or tomorrow the annual New Jersey Methodist conference, in session here, will take up the question of a 10 per cent increase in pastors' salaries. The resolution urging the increase is before the convention, and the only difference of opinion is whether the conference should order the increase or leave it to individual churches. It is said the conference has no power to order, but can only urge the increase.

The resolution calls attention to the extraordinary advance in the cost of necessaries of life and to the fact that, while wages have generally advanced, salaries in the professions have not been increased.

The conference is now an incorporated body, articles having been filed under the law permitting incorporation of associations not for pecuniary profit. The principal office is to be at 317 Market street, Camden, and will be in charge of E. G. C. Bleakly, city solicitor. The following, all ministers, were designated as trustees: John Handley, Salem; Andrew B. Carlin, Pemberton; James B. Bills, Ocean Grove; Alfonso Dale, Haddonfield; Henry J. Zelley, Woodbury; Melville E. Snyder, Trenton; James W. Marshall, Ocean Grove; John B. Haines, Holmes P. Gravatt, John R. Mason, Alexander Corson and Fred De Maris, all of Camden.

The Rev. Ewar A. Wells of Williamstown has been re-elected conference secretary. He named as assistants the Revs. B. C. Lippincott, journalist; H. J. Belting, assistant journalist; H. M. Blake, H. L. Bradway and J. R. Reeves. Walter L. Shaw of Stratford was re-elected statistician.

De Witt C. Cobb of Trenton was re-appointed treasurer. He named his assistants the Revs. B. C. Lippincott, journalist; H. J. Belting, assistant journalist; H. M. Blake, H. L. Bradway and J. R. Reeves. Walter L. Shaw of Stratford was re-elected statistician.

PERJURY TOO COMMON.

Judge at Passaic Will Try to Stop this Practice.

Paterson, March 8.—That perjury is a too common practice in the Passaic county courts and that he will make a supreme effort to stop it was stated by Judge Bilzer in circuit court here. The statement was made in charging the jury in a damage suit brought by David Fuchs, trading as the Savoy Silk mills, against Morris Geist.

"It is evident from the testimony," Judge Bilzer said, "that some one has been lying and committed perjury. I have never found so much of this sort of practice going on as is apparent here in this county."

The jury returned a verdict of $500 in favor of the plaintiff.

Bone Dry Bill For Nebraska.

Lincoln, Neb., March 8.—A "bone dry" prohibition bill passed the lower house of the Nebraska legislature, 84 to 3.

GLASS OF WATER BEFORE YOU EAT ANY BREAKFAST

Wash poison from system each morning and feel fresh as a daisy.

Every day you clean the house you live in to get rid of the dust and dirt which collected through the previous day. Your body, the house your soul lives in, also becomes filled up each twenty-four hours with all manner of filth and poison. If only every man and woman could realize the wonders of drinking phosphated hot water, what a gratifying change would take place.

Instead of the thousands of sickly, anaemic-looking men, women and girls with pasty or muddy complexions; instead of the multitudes of "nervous wrecks," "run-downs," "brain fags" and pessimists we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy-cheeked people everywhere.

Everyone, whether sick or well, should drink each morning before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds, and particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and whose tongues are constipated very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store which will cost but a trifle but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance awaiting those who practice internal sanitation. We must remember that inside cleanliness is more important than outside, because the skin does not absorb impurities to contaminate the blood, while the pores in the thirty feet of bowels do.—Adv.

Every bit of dandruff disappears and hair stops coming out.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, lustre and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance, an incomparable gloss and softness; but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp.

Dandevine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful. —Adv.

CUBAN REVOLT LEADER TAKEN

General Gomez a Prisoner After Losing Battle.

Havana, March 8.—Ex-President Jose Miguel Gomez, leader of the rebels, and his entire staff are prisoners in the hands of Colonel Collazo, commander of the government forces operating near the dividing line between Santa Clara and Camaguey provinces.

The men were said to have been captured after a battle in Camaguey province lasting several hours, in which many are believed to have been killed or wounded. Machine guns played a prominent part in the defeat of the rebels.

Immediately following the news of the capture of Gomez an unconfirmed report spread that Rigoberto Fernandez, in Santiago de Cuba, had offered to surrender if allowed to come under the amnesty decree offered by President Menocal a few days ago. General Pino Guerra, a prominent rebel leader, and his brother Ramon are reported to have given themselves up to Colonel Carrillo in Pinar del Rio.

Atlantic City, March 8.—Vice Chancellor Leaming, at the request of counsel, has continued until April the suit of Archibald Lambert, formerly of Baltimore, who has large realty holding in Chelsea, against Mrs. Ida Vare, wife of Representative William S. Vare of Philadelphia.

Lambert is suing Mrs. Vare who holds the title to the handsome Vare mansion at the beach end of Berkley square, Chelsea, to quit the title of a lot between the Vare line and the Boardwalk, for which he is said to have paid $40,000. The defendant claims priority of title under a riparian grant.

HELPS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

VIRGINIA CARTER LEE

In connection with this department Miss Lee will gladly answer any inquiry relative to domestic science, a stamped envelope being necessary for a personal reply. Address care of Courier-News.

That entertaining is an art, no hostess will deny, and the woman who would achieve success as a hostess must consider her guests, her cook and herself, when planning for her refreshments. In the article this evening suggestions will be given for those who, when entertaining, desire dishes that are attractive, appetizing, a little unusual and not to expensive or difficult to prepare.

Every cook and housekeeper knows the inconvenience of the ordinary "family" recipe when entertaining and the multiplications and additions that are always necessary. In these recipes, this difficulty is largely eliminated, for these are tried and true rules, which will be found reliable for a small dance, an informal tea, an auction party, or a chafing dish supper.

All recipes given will serve twenty-five persons.

Crab Meat au Gratin

Make a sauce of two-thirds of a cupful of butter, one-half a cupful of flour, one quart of rich milk, half a teaspoonful of paprika, one teaspoonful of salt and two tablespoonfuls of Worcestershire sauce. When the sauce boils and is very smooth (it should be stirred constantly), add two quarts of crab flakes, one quart of drained cooked peas and half a cupful of minced peppers. Fill buttered baking dishes with the mixture and dust the tops with dried bread crumbs. After dotting over with bits of butter, bake for twenty-one minutes in a hot oven.

Chicken a la King

Melt half a cupful of chicken fat, add two tablespoonfuls of grated onion, two small, green peppers (finely chopped and freed from seeds), three pimentos (cut into strips) and half a cupful of flour. Stir and cook for five minutes. Then add three cupfuls of milk, salt and nutmeg to taste and three cupfuls of cooked chicken (cut into small strips). Bring to the boiling point, add two cupfuls of saute mushrooms and four egg yolks mixed with two cupfuls of thick cream. Cook until well-thickened and, just before removing from the fire, add a generous half cupful of sherry. Serve with toast points.

Garden of Eden Salad

Peel six tangerines and four grape fruit, remove the sections and cut in small, even pieces. Then drain thoroughly. Shred one ripe pineapple. Pare, core and dice three tart apples and sprinkle with lemon juice to prevent discoloration. Peel two pounds of Malaga grapes and remove the seeds, cutting in halves lengthwise, and cut half a pound of fresh marshmallows into tiny shreds. Mix all the ingredients together, moisten with one quart of Chantilly dressing (a recipe for this was published last evening) and serve in individual portions, in small heart lettuce cups. Mask each portion with a little of the dressing and garnish with Maraschino cherries.

Newport Salad

The ingredients required are: Two quarts of tuna fish (flaked), one pint of diced, peeled cucumbers, half a cupful of quarters of the pint of peeled tomatoes (cut in small pieces) and one pint of shredded lettuce. Mix well and moisten with one quart of Russian dressing (a recipe for this will be found in last night's Courier-News). Serve on crisp lettuce leaves and garnish with slices of pickled beet and small pickles.

International Sandwiches

Four loaves of graham bread and half a pound of butter. In making these sandwiches the bread should be very lightly buttered. For the filling, cream one cupful of butter, add one and three-quarter cupfuls of Roquefort cheese, four chopped pimentos, two tablespoonfuls of *chopped chives and two tablespoon*fuls of sherry. Work the filling until very smooth, before using between the bread slices. Cut in rounds.

Nut Loaf for Sandwiches

Mix and sift two and a half cupfuls of graham flour, one cupful of white flour, one teaspoonful of salt, four teaspoonfuls of baking powder and one cupful of sugar. Moisten the dry ingredients with one and three-quarter cupfuls of milk mixed with one lightly beaten egg, beat vigorously, stir in one cupful of chopped nut meat and bake in a greased pan, using a moderately hot oven. When cold, cut in thin slices, use orange marmalade for the filling and spread the bread with sweet butter. Cut into rounds. The marmalade may be omitted and the bread and butter used alone.

Diplomatic Fruit Punch

Mix together the juice of six lemons, three oranges and two grape fruit and add one large cupful of sugar. Let stand on the ice for two or three hours to chill and ripen. Then add two quarts of iced, unfermented grape juice, the contents of a small bottle of Maraschino cherries and one quart of iced, carbonated water. Pour slowly over a small block of ice placed in the punch bowl.

Recipes tomorrow evening will comprise formulas for frozen dainties, cakes, etc. Miss Lee will be also very glad to furnish menus, or special recipes, for any occasion, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to her at the office of the Courier-News.

THE PRINCESS' EARRINGS—Part I

Once upon a time there lived a Princess who had a very wonderful pair of earrings that had been given to her by an old witch.

The witch had met the Princess one day while she was riding through the forest, and because the Princess had been kind and thrown some gold to the old witch, she had given to her a wonderful pair of earrings made of dull gold and emeralds.

"Wear them, my pretty Princess," said the old witch, "and never let them leave your ears, for while they adorn your little ears, no evil thing shall you hear."

So the Princess put the earrings in her ears and the birds began to sing more sweetly than she had ever heard them, and the wind sounded like strains of sweet music.

Everyone who spoke to the Princess said pleasant things, and never did she hear an unkind or harsh word or anything that caused her unhappiness.

Now it happened that one of the servants of the Princess was with her when the old witch gave her the earrings, and, thinking that they contained some magic power which would make her rich if she possessed them, the serving maid stole them one night while the Princess slept and the maid stole out of the palace.

The Princess wept herself sick when she found the earrings were gone, for all the sounds which came to her ears now were changed, and unhappiness came upon her. Search where they would, the servants of the King could not find the maid who had stolen the earrings, and at last the Prince said she would marry the man who would bring back her earrings, be he high or low of birth.

Every Prince that heard what the Princess had promised began to search, but the maid could not be found, and, after a while, a poor peasant youth said he would begin the search, and would promise to bring the earrings if the Princess would stoop to marry one of so lowly a birth.

"It matters not who he is, so that I have the carrings," said the Princess, and so the youth set forth to search for the servant who had stolen the earrings.

He looked in the cities and he searched in the towns, but no trace could be find of anyone with the earrings, and he was almost at the point of returning to the King and telling him of his failure, when he happened to be passing by a river one day and saw a big fish jump out of the water and look about, but the fish quickly disappeared when it saw the peasant.

"That is a queer thing," said the peasant to himself; "I'll just hide behind this tree and watch a while."

Pretty soon he heard some one coming, and, peeking out from his hiding place, the peasant saw a girl walking by the bank of the river.

She stopped and knelt on the ground and looked into the water.

Just then up jumped the big fish he had seen, and when it saw the girl, it dropped into the water again and swam to the bank.

"Have you brought them?" asked the girl.

The peasant was greatly surprised to hear the fish reply, "Yes, I have the earrings, but you will have to marry me, as I told you yesterday, before you can have them."

"I cannot marry a fish," said the girl, "Don't be so silly; and what can a fish want with earrings? Come, give them to me, I want to find out the magic spell that is in them that I may find a rich and handsome husband."

"Marry me and I will help you to all you wish for," said the fish.

"No, I will not," said the girl, "and if you do not give me my earrings, I will get some fisherman to catch you, and that will be the end of you. Oh! how could I have been so silly as to drop them into the water because a silly fish told me it would bring out the magic spell?"

"If you marry me, you will find the magic spell," said the fish.

"No; you may keep them," said the girl. "I don't believe there is any magic spell about them anyway, and I wish the Princess had her earrings back; I am sorry I stole them."

"I will give you one more chance," said the fish, "I will come again to-morrow; you may change your mind by that time. Remember that I hold the secret of the magic spell of the Princess' stolen earrings, and, if you wish to know it, you must marry me. There is no other way to learn it."

The fish swam away and out of sight as it finished speaking, and the girl got up from the bank and walked away, wringing her hands and weeping.

Tomorrow I will tell you the rest of the story and how the peasant helped the maid and the Princess out of their troubles.

EXTRA SESSION BY JUNE 1 SURE

Senate Leaders Pave Way by Agreeing on Cloture.

WILL PREVENT FILIBUSTERING.

Bipartisan Pact on Limited Debate Rule Insures Adoption of Rule by Which Two-Thirds of Senate Can Halt Discussion—President to Issue Call For Extra Session Once Rule Is Adopted.

Washington, March 8.—Within a week, administration leaders say, a modified cloture rule will have been adopted by the senate and the way paved for a call by President Wilson for an extra session of the Sixty-fifth congress to act upon his armed neutrality bill.

A modified form of cloture has been agreed upon by both Democrats and Republicans in independent caucus.

The change in the senate rules was framed by a joint committee of the Democratic caucus and the Republican caucus and indorsed by both caucuses. The Democrats accepted the proposal unanimously, although some administration leaders urged a more drastic form of cloture. The Republican caucus voted (9) to 2 in favor of the cloture rule.

Expect Week of Debate.

"There will be some opposition to the cloture rule on the senate floor," said Senator Lewis of Illinois, whip of the Democratic organization, "but it will pass without a doubt."

It was stated that the leaders expected about a week of debate on the proposal and that it would be forced to a vote at the end of that time. If an effort is made to filibuster against the proposal the Democratic-Republican alliance is prepared to take drastic steps in parliamentary practice to halt the opposition.

The new rule as adopted by both caucuses, would allow two-thirds of the senate to limit debate on any pending measure. If the Democratic caucus Senator Hoke Smith tonight has proposal to allow a majority of the senate to fix the limitation, but was unsuccessful. There was some sentiment in the Republican caucus for majority cloture. The rule as adopted read:

That if at any time a motion signed by sixteen senators to bring to a close the debate upon any pending measure is presented to the senate, the presiding officer shall at once state the motion to the senate and one hour after the senate meets on the next calendar day but one thereafter he shall lay the motion before the senate and direct that the secretary call the roll and, upon the ascertainment that a quorum is present, the presiding officer shall, without debate, submit to the senate by an aye and nay vote the question as follows:

"Is it the sense of the senate that the debate shall be brought to a close?"

And if this question shall be decided in the affirmative by a two-thirds vote of those voting then said measure shall be the unfinished business to the exclusion of all other business until disposed of.

Thereafter no senator shall be entitled to speak on the motion or on the bill, the pending measure, the amendments thereto and motions affecting the same, and it shall be the duty of the presiding officer to keep the clerk of each senator who speaks. Except by unanimous consent no amendment shall be in order after the vote to bring the debate to a close unless the same has been presented and read prior to that time. No dilatory motion, dilatory amendment or amendment not germane shall be in order. Points of order, questions of consequence, relevancy and appeals from the decision of the presiding officer, shall be decided without debate.

Under this rule, after two-thirds of the senate vote to close debate, ninety-six hours of discussion will be allowed.

Walsh Hits at "Traitors."

The cloture proposal was discussed with the president by Senators Reed, Owen, Walsh, Swanson, Hoke Smith and James, Democratic members of the joint committee which framed the rule. The president indorsed the plan, and Senator Walsh of Montana was placed in the chair to conduct the proceedings.

Senator Walsh, when he returned from the White House, opened the rules fight by presenting a motion to adopt all of the rules of the last session except those which the cloture proposal will supplant. He made a speech which for vigorous language has seldom been equaled in the senate, in which he declared that a determined debate opened the way for "traitors" to bring disaster on the country.

"A genuine alarm pervades the country lest some enemy may in the near future attack us," he said. "Imagine the time at hand and the foe bearing down upon us, action—immediate action—by the congress is imperative. It is scarcely conceivable that war should be precipitated or be impending without an appeal from the president for some hurried action by congress.

"Such an appeal comes to this body. It finds ready response except from a small coterie of senators, who spell each other on the floor until the enemy thunders at the gates of our cities and the republic hears its death throes. They may be honest but misguided peace at any price men, who confuse Recalls Historic Incidents.

"Multitudes of sagacious men believed in 1861 that the south would not fight and others that the north would never resort to arms to preserve the Union. It is not inconceivable that the obstructionists—filibusters—may be actuated by traitorous sentiments. The Revolution had its Arnold. I trust I offend no sensibilities in referring to the fact that in 1861 ten or more members of this body were expelled for treason.

"A vice president of the United States who for four years presided over the senate was indicted and tried for treason, and a senator charged with him for this capital offense escaped expulsion by but one vote. The senate at that early day expelled one of its members for perfidious negotiations with the enemies of his country.

"What say you—can the senate make a rule under which it may be held at bay by treachery until a foreign foe shall have opportunity to cripple action? A rule for the senate the effect of which is to deprive it of the power under any circumstances of bringing debate to a close is void."

Albany Autoist Pays $500—Becomes Total Abstainer.

Albany, N. Y., March 8.—William Castle Herrick, accused of killing Mrs. Thomas Fazackerly on Oct. 28 last by running her down with his automobile, pleaded guilty to the indictment in the county court. Judge Addington imposed a fine of $500 upon Herrick, which was promptly paid.

The court then deprived Herrick of his citizenship and informed him that he could not have a new license to operate an automobile. Herrick, who was intoxicated at the time of the accident, told the court he had become a total abstainer and that reparation had been made to his victim's family.

ASSAIL O'GORMAN'S ACTION.

Woodrow Wilson League Says Ex-Senator Misrepresents State.

Albany, N. Y., March 8.—Former Senator O'Gorman was repudiated here by the members of the executive committee of the Woodrow Wilson league, a strong Democratic organization. The members charged that in failing to support President Wilson in the international crisis Mr. O'Gorman misrepresented the state and the Democratic party, which elected him.

The committee adopted resolutions urging the senators from New York to "support such amendments to the rules of the senate as will hereafter preclude a small minority from preventing legislation desired by the people."

KENWORTHY GETS TAX BOARD JOB

Special to Courier-News:

Trenton, March 8.—In the face of what is understood to have been bitter opposition from the Republican faction in Morris county to which Senator Harry W. Mutchler, of that county, is opposed, Governor Edge has sent to the State Senate for confirmation the name of Joseph Kenworthy, of Millington, to succeed Edward A. Quayle as a member of the County Board of Taxation of Morris county.

Milady and the New York Shops

To my mind, these are the best curtains for a summer home. They are simple and wash as easily as a linen handkerchief, and they are very durable, too. They come in many different figured designs, figuring in price from $1.75 up. Imagine getting a pair of curtains, from 2½ to 3 yards in length, for $1.75! I never knew before that one could get any sort of window length curtains there so cheap as that, and even some of these Spanish madras curtains were of the best materials.

There are, however, numbers of women who prefer their odd "stand-by" —imported Swiss muslins; and Altman's are showing a pleasing variety of different designs. There is a big demand, too, for scrim curtains, and Altman's sell them for as low as $1 a pair. The net and marquisette curtains are very inexpensive, too, and quite attractive.

But I know that you want to hear about Altman's novelty effects in curtains for summer wear. One pretty model was made of marquisette with a filet border, a faithful and scarcely detectable reproduction of the original. Very pretty, too, were their fine Brussel striped net curtains, in which style the stripes come in several sizes. Perhaps the daintiest of the lot were a pair of novelty curtains with a plain net foundation and a lace edging. While the point d'esprit was too alluring for words! Something unusual was Altman's embroidered net roulette curtains with a ruffle edge, or plain marquisette with embroidered ruffle.

"For a living room I can't imagine anything more suitable than a pair of Altman's colored Scotch madras. The backgrounds are either white or ivory, some having inset designs and some only with colored medallion borders. One model I particularly admired was ivory, with a hanging basket design. The color was furnished by the natural looking pink roses in the basket. For the dining-room, one might choose as a summer decoration a tan and green madras, which looked almost like tapestry.

"Specially designed by the head of the department were the Scenic net curtains with French designs, made in Switzerland.

"I know you wanted to hear about Altman's curtains, but I must tell you of their wonderful scrim door panels of French net with Marie Antoinette designs, and (of course this has nothing to do with my story) of their decorative work in making up real pieces of art for tablecloths, serving cloths, center pieces, pillows and the like by placing together selected pieces of real lace and hand embroidery. This department is one of the most wonderful in the entire store, and very few people know about it. All you have to do is to select your laces—wonderful laces, imported from across the seas—and they do the rest."

Summer Curtains and Some Are Not

"At Altman's, imagine!" Mrs. Jones exclaimed in surprise. "Of all places. I would not think of going to H. Altman & Co. for inexpensive curtains, and yet you tell me that you found such wonderful bargains in summer curtains there?"

"Bargains!" answered Mrs. Brown. "Well, I guess, I never saw such wonderful values in all my life. The question of summer curtains for a large country home is surely a big one and an expensive proposition on account of the number of windows. But I found that at this huge establishment one could clothe her home in summer garb in the best of materials for the least money. That curses me. I shall never go to a 'cheap' store for cheap goods, but shall rather look for good values at the best stores."

"Tell me about your visit to the curtain department at Altman's," requested Mrs. Jones, "and about the beautiful summer curtains you saw there."

And this is what Mrs. Brown told her friend:

"I was introduced to a gentleman in the curtain and lace department who had just returned from Europe, where he went expressly to buy stock for Altman's, and it was like being on a 'personally conducted' tour to have him show me his marvelous display of importations. There they were—that is, the samples—arranged artistically, so that one could view the entire assortment and then choose wisely!

"First of all, he showed me the Scotch madras, this year's importation.

GOVERNOR SIGNS MORGAN TAX BILL

Trenton, March 8.—The bill by Assemblyman Morgan, of Union county, repealing Section 1 of the supplement of 1915 to the unpaid tax act has just been signed by Governor Edge. The section repealed provides that if any purchaser of real estate at a sale of property for unpaid taxes shall fail to perfect his title within ten years, the property shall be free and clear from the lien and the certificate of sale shall be void. The purpose of the repealer is to make such certificates of sale good for twenty years.

The 1915 act would have become effective on April 8 this year, and as it was passed before its full effect was realized, it is now wiped off the statute books. It is claimed that loss of taxes would have resulted to cities had the Morgan act not been passed.

MODEL FOR UNITED STATES.

Albany, N. Y., March 8.—John H. Finley, who as state commissioner of education is one of the heads of the Military Training Commission, has issued a statement, in which he says New York leads every state in the Union in preparedness measures.

Dr. Finley says the passage of the amendments to the Welch-Slater military bills of last year, which bring 225,000 boys between the ages of sixteen and nineteen under military training, will if signed by the governor give the United States a model upon which her general defensive training can be based.

Wants Cities to Seize Food.

Lansing, Mich., March 8.—Representative Arthur Wood of Detroit believes that municipalities should have power to seize fuel and food for the public. He has introduced a bill giving the mayor of a city, upon resolution of the council, the right to seize fuel and food held in storage.

KINDNESS TO STRANGER BRINGS $33,000 TO GIRL

Paterson, N. J., March 8.—Politeness was richly rewarded in the case of Miss Rose Champagne of 213 Hamilton avenue, Bloomfield, thought when three years ago she ran to help Mrs. Catherine Ward, an aged widow, of Detroit, who had slipped on the wet sand at Revere beach, Boston, that the kindly act would make her an heiress of $33,000.

Mrs. Ward died recently. Her will left her young friend $33,000 in trust, the income to be paid her from the date of Mrs. Ward's death and the principal to be turned over to her in three years if she were still single.

lation, and in addition to imposing a fine the city may do the work and charge for it on the tax bills.

"In previous years the judge has been embarrassed in doing his part to back up the police, because the cases came before him on reports made by patrolmen during their night rounds, and owing to the fact that many houses are inaccurately numbered, or not at all, mistakes were frequent; and besides there was often a direct conflict of evidence between officer and defendant.

"This winter our plan has been for the Chief of Police to check all patrolmen's reports by a personal survey of the city the next day. He has been assisted by the Street Commissioner to connect violations with the right parties according to the city maps, and to avoid serving notice on non-residents, owning property here, who are registered with the Street Commissioner's office and pay for the service.

"By this means, except for an occasional mistake which the officials always stand ready to correct, the judge is furnished with ample proof to enforce the ordinance. As the purpose is not to acquire an income but to provide cleared walks for the public, the judge has announced a definite policy of one dollar for the first offense, two dollars for the second, and five dollars for each succeeding offense. In view of all the publicity given of the intention to enforce the ordinance, the judge will not suspend sentence for first offenses. He should be supported by all fair-minded citizens.

"We have been solicitous to make allowance for circumstances of peculiar hardship. While the law technically makes no distinction between those who violate it, officials who are charged with its enforcement may exercise a discretion justified by reason and fair-dealing. There is a difference between people of means who deliberately or carelessly ignore the municipal regulations and people who cannot afford to hire men to clean their walks and sometimes are unable to do the work themselves because of illness. It is right that allowance should be made in deserving cases, and that citizens should be first summoned whose only excuse is either open disregard of the law or indifference to it.

"The public safety, convenience and comfort call for a scrupulous compliance with this law. Property owners and tenants who observe the requirements are entitled in their use of the walks to have others equally observant.

"Perhaps irritation will give way to good nature if the matter is looked at philosophically; it is not an indignity to be fined for violation of a regulation of this sort, if unintentional or occasional. Nobody feels disgraced if fined for not attending a club meeting. Sometimes people elect to break rules and pay the price. Then, too, mistakes occur in the best regulated circles. The man regularly employed to shovel snow may fail to turn up, or the boy in the family whose job it is may forget.

"I visited in a home last summer where a ten-cent fine for adults and a penny fine for children was levied for every slang expression uttered at dinner. They were well trained not only in escaping fines themselves but in detecting violations. Visitors were not exempt, and I pretty nearly paid the price of an excellent dinner, although a guest. But near the end one little fellow first gave his mother a penny and then said, 'Gee! whiz. It's hard work.'

"Citizens, it would seem, have an opportunity to play the better part if instead of showing irritation they will step up and pay the fine cheerfully. If they feel like it they might occasionally thank the court for the gentle reminder."

HOME RULE FIGHT AGAIN IN HOUSE

Nationalists Withdraw After Heckling Premier.

Offers Self Government to Any Section That Wants It, but Refuses to Force Ulster—Irish Leader Praises President Wilson as Friend of Rights of Small Nations.

London, March 8.—The presentation by the Irish Nationalists in the house of commons of a resolution calling for the immediate application of the home rule statute to Ireland precipitated one of the most bitter sessions in months and threw the home rule question back into its old position of uncertainty.

The resolution forced the government into a declaration of policy toward self government—namely, that any part of Ireland that wished home rule could have it, but that no coercion would be employed to compel Ulster to accept. At the same time the proposal drew from the Ulsterites the ultimatum that they would not accept, which, coupled with the government's pronouncement, effectually pushed all hopes for a speedy settlement.

The Nationalists, headed by their leader, John Redmond, withdrew in a body from the house, and Mr. Lloyd-George was facing his first embarrassing situation since he assumed the premiership.

Call Premier "Turncoat."

For more than an hour before the Nationalists left the house the premier had faced a whirlwind of angry censures from the Nationalist quarter, which almost forced him to take his seat because he could not make himself heard. He was called "turncoat" on the home rule question, and one Nationalist exclaimed: "Hangman Carson! He is only fit to be a hangman, not first lord of the admiralty!"

The Nationalist resolution was introduced by T. P. O'Connor, who asserted that the manner in which the government had handled the Irish rebellion had transformed a friendly people into one filled with bitter hatred toward England. He pleaded that home rule should be put into operation immediately for the sake of Ireland and in the interests of England, the empire and its allies.

At the point in his address he paid tribute to the president of the United States, saying that President Wilson in his recent speeches and notes had shown the United States government recognized the rights of small nations and the principle of nationality.

Unionists Defiant.

Lord Lonsdale, speaking for the Unionists, threw a wrench into the machinery by declaring that Ulster wanted nothing to do with home rule of this sort.

Premier Lloyd-George followed with the pronouncement of the government and after stating that any part of Ireland that wanted home rule could have it suggested that a conference for the settlement of the differences between the Irish factions. One was a conference of Irishmen, and the other was the setting up of a commission of inquiry to report to the government and parliament. He offered an amendment to the Nationalist resolution to the effect that "this house would welcome any settlement which would produce a better understanding between Ireland and the people of the United Kingdom, but considers it impossible to impose by force on any section of Ireland a form of government which has not their consent."

Redmond Withdraws.

Redmond, Nationalist leader, declared he would have nothing to do with further negotiations. He and his followers, he said, had been fooled once before. After a brief speech he withdrew from the house with his adherents, and the Nationalists went into conference.

Another meeting of the Nationalists is called for today, and the deepest interest attaches to this, as there are many who still feel in view of the statements of the premier and Mr. Asquith concerning a possible settlement that any early opportunity should be taken to submit proposals in a more concrete form for the consideration of the parties concerned.

BOUND BROOK WINS OVER SOMERVILLE

Two-Man Teams Did Some Great Work at Efinger's Alleys Last Night

Efinger's bowling alley galleries were not sufficient to entertain the fans of the indoor sport last evening who desired to witness the two-man team match bowling between Bound-Brook and Somerville. The galleries were crowded to their capacity, and they saw the Bound Brookers take eight of the eleven games rolled off according to the booking.

Snyder, of Bound Brook, struck the high water mark of the evening in his fifth tilt, chalking up a score of 253. This gentleman's average for his eleven games stood at 196, which was head and shoulders above the marks maintained by the other participants in the series.

The other ten games necessary to complete the series will be staged at Roller's alleys, Somerville, tomorrow evening, and it is expected that the galleries will again be taxed to standing room only.

Last evening's scores:

GRAMMAR SCHOOL WINS OVER ROSELLE PARKS

Using all sorts of talent in order to accomplish the trick, the Plainfield Grammar School lads just walloped the lives out of the Roselle Park Freshmen yesterday afternoon by the score of 29 to 11. The play during the course of the first period was fast and tight, the half concluding with the score standing 12 to 11 in favor of the Grammar School lads. The Roselle Park aggregation never had even the appearance of a chance to score a single point during the latter portion of the tilt.

LOCAL GIRLS WIN AT WESTFIELD ALLEYS

The Columbian Bowling Club visited Westfield last night and captured three straight from the Westfield Social Club, winning all three by decisive scores.

Foxes	6	18	926	.250

The Leopards of the T. A. B. S. house tourney managed to take two of the three games last evening from the Foxes. May it be said that neither team showed the spirit of the type of animal they were supposed to be the namesakes, and for that reason the scores were somewhat loose. However, the leopards succeeded in breaking into the victory column again to sufficient extent that a few more of the same gait will put them nearer the top of the ladder than they are at the present time.

Mullin of the losers snowed the way through the blazed trail of individual endeavor, marking up an individual average of 173. Lawton of the winners was his nearest competitor in this respect, with a chalking of 165.1.

Friday evening is to be a big night in the tourney circuit, as the Lions and Bulls, at present tied for second place honors in the race, will clash.

The Alumni Club five and the Recreation Five, both running under the auspices of the Recreation Committee, had it out last evening on the P. H. Kline, playing centre for the winners, put up an exceptionally good game, scoring 18 points for his team.

WOW! RAMBLERS ARE BEATEN UNMERCIFULLY

The forecasted trimming of the Ramblers by Westfield last night on the Playhouse alleys, Westfield, did not go amiss, but the margin of victory was out of all proportion to that anticipated. It might be said that the same condition will continue to prevail in the Rambler ranks until Taylor et al. speed up their work and bowl real games, which they have demonstrated in previous series can be done.

As to the match the data is contained in the following scores:

Ramblers vs. St. Josephs Tuesday

The next Rambler bowling match will be that with the St. Joseph's Club of North Plainfield next Tuesday night on Gates' alleys. Edward Hyslip will be in the local line-up that evening and also for the rest of the season.

ST. JOSEPH'S CLUB IS NOW PLANNING AHEAD

The St. Joseph's Club held a regular meeting last night in the parish hall for the coming bazaar of St. Joseph's church, in which the young men will take an active part, were discussed. The Saints plan to have special features every night of the bazaar week at their own booth and will run off many prizes.

After the meeting the baseball candidates were put through a short drill by Earl Moran. Eddie Haberman has been signed to play ball for the borough team and was present at the work-out last night.

The bowling team is still busy and would like to hear from teams of the City League, as well as other aggregations of this vicinity. George Gates is caring for the bookings of the club.

An effort has been made to sign up Eddie Stallings, the well-known diamond citizen he may consent.

An important meeting of the club will be held next Monday night, at which all members of the club are urged to attend.

HOBLITZEL SIGNS

Boston, March 8.—The signed contract of Richard C. Hoblitzel, first baseman of the world's champion Boston Americans, was received yesterday. Hoblitzel, who received $5,600 last year, was dissatisfied with a cut of $690 in this year's terms. He signed at $5,000. Hoopes, Lewis, Leonard, Foster, Mays and Greg are still unsigned.

ATHENIANS WOULD LIKE TO MEET TAB OUTFIT

The Athenians, Plainfield's representative colored basketball aggregation, is anxious to arrange a game with St. Mary's T. A. B. Society, but have been somewhat disappointed in arranging the details. A communication to this effect was received by the sporting editor this morning, signed by Jackson Hedgman and John R. Slater, managers of the Athenians. It appears that the Athenians have a guarantee desired by the Tabs held up all prospects of such a tilt.

The Athenian management cannot see it's way clear to put up a $25 guarantee for a tilt at the high school gym, but the managers still claim they would like to meet the Tabs, as well as the Hope Chapel and Y. M. C. A. aggregations.

LADS AND LASSIES IN A BURLESQUE MATCH

The annual basketball game between the girls' team and the boys' varsity team of the North Plainfield High School will be staged on the Saengerbund Hall court Saturday evening. The entire game will be played according to girls' rules and the male contenders will be obliged to don middy blouses and skirts around the floor in potato sacks.

Tickets for the game are now on sale, and accommodations for a big crowd have been arranged for by the management. Stands and bleachers have been provided in Saengerbund Hall, and those wishing to see the "best game of the year" should get their tickets at once, as the number is limited.

In an effort to injure the wonderful sale of CAMEL cigarettes, many unprincipled schemes have been resorted to. The following is one of many ways such lies have been put into circulation.

An individual liar would approach a group of men, produce a newspaper, published in a distant city, and apparently become interested in reading. Suddenly he would exclaim, "What do you think of this?" He would then pretend to read an article about CAMEL cigarettes. In reality, the paper contained no such statement. The individual would at once walk away, carrying the paper with him. A newspaper from a distant city was always used in an effort to cover the tracks of the liar.

Would anyone voluntarily do this kind of unprincipled work? They must have been paid by someone to do it, and all of them should be exposed. An honest man will not knowingly work under the direction of a crooked superior, nor will an honest superior knowingly tolerate a crooked employee. However, some salesmen have told the trade that they had in their possession a newspaper containing a damaging article about CAMEL cigarettes. This was a malicious falsehood, as they had no such newspaper, and when asked to produce it, they were unable to do so.

CAMEL cigarettes are pure and delightful and the most popular cigarettes ever sold at any price. Cigarette smokers will not, for any length of time, permit malicious falsehoods to prejudice them against CAMELS.

RIFLE CLUB MEN ARE GETTING BUSY

Indoor Range Practice Wednesdays and Saturdays Proving Quite Popular

Renewed interest in rifle practice under the auspices of the Plainfield Rifle Club has been manifested to a considerable degree since its inauguration a week or two ago. Many members of the club have taken advantage of the practice hours Wednesday nights and Saturday afternoons and evenings and it is expected that a capacity number of those who can be accommodated at the indoor range at Company K armory, which is being used by the club members, will be reached shortly.

CIVIL SERVICE FOR ALL POSTMASTERS

President Said to Plan to Extend Rules.

Washington, March 7.—Members of the house said that Postmaster General Burleson had told them that the president had decided to put all first, second and third class postmasters under the civil service by executive order to become effective on April 1. The fourth class postmasters were put under civil service by President Taft, so that if this decision stands all postmasters hereafter will be appointed after competitive examinations instead of by political preferment.

The change will be almost revolutionary in its effect upon local political machines throughout the country. And, as explained by the postmaster general, the effect will be felt speedily, for the president's plan is not to include present incumbents, but to have examinations for each office as the terms of incumbents expire. Congressmen said they doubted if a tenth of the postmasters could pass the civil service examinations and that the effect of the order would be an immediate downfall of political forces throughout the country.

Congressmen discussing the matter *today are plainly disturbed at the ef*fect of the executive order on their political supporters. The postmasters here before have been regarded as the local political leaders of the party in power, or at least as the local workers. In a particular sense they were supposed to be workers for the congressman that procured their appointments. In congressional minds that is where the shoe pinches.

Chief among the contributing elements of success back of the wonderful performance of this car is the powerful 35 H. P. high speed, Valve-in-Head Motor, giving the Elgin Six owner the advantage in power that comes from ample motor size; the reserve power that comes from large overhead valves; the flexibility that comes from a sure, hot spark at even the lowest speeds—a constant, resistless flow of power that you "feel" the moment you touch the throttle, and that responds instantly to every demand.

The Elgin Six motor is the last word in clean-cut simplicity and accessibility, the removable cylinder head and three point suspension being noteworthy features. The crankshaft and camshaft are forged from the highest grade of steel and are firmly supported in ample bearings, which renders the shafts remarkably free from vibration.

THIS CONCERT A REAL TREAT

DAMROSCH CONDUCTOR

It Was Presented Under the Auspices of the Dutch Arms Band, and Fulfilled All Expectations of Music Lovers

With a crowded house, a most enthusiastic audience and an altogether delightful program, the Dutch Arms Band rounded out a complete success, and fulfilled expectations in presenting the New York Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Walter Damrosch, in the Plainfield High School, last night. It was the largest undertaking the local organization had attempted, but if the members had any misgivings at the outset, in essaying so much, they could easily have felt assured when they presented the name of Walter Damrosch as the keynote of their offering.

The hold that music of a high order has on Plainfield is proverbial, but was no more surely attested than by last night's concert, for the audience was not confined to music lovers familiar with the great productions of the metropolitan stage, for it included not only them, but those whose ear is just as keen, and whose opportunities for hearing something unusual have been restricted to the local field.

The orchestra of sixty-five pieces played as one man a two-part program of nine numbers, all from the greater composers and some from the greatest. It was the one opportunity that Plainfield music lovers hearing this noted aggregation of players, for next week they leave for a tour to the Western coast for the season.

Each number was greeted with the heartiest appreciation, and it was difficult to determine which the su-

LYMAN HIBBARD IN AMBULANCE CORPS

Local Man in Active Service on French Battle Front, Letter States

Henry D. Hibbard, of 144 East Seventh street, has received the following letter from A. Platt Andrews, head of the American Ambulance Corps in France, which Mr. Hibbard's son Lyman recently joined:

"I want to send you just a line in acknowledgment of the pleasant note which you sent with your nephew, Lyman Hibbard, and also in appreciation of your having helped to send him to us. I saw him this week in the little village of Dombasle, near Verdun, where his section is located. His car has already been pierced by several pieces of shell and he has evidently shown qualities of courage and pluck, which have won for him the respect and liking of the older men of the section.

"The boys were living in a little village in which there is scarcely a roof or a wall intact, a very unpromising habitation in the frightful cold through which France has been passing the past month. They had covered the second floor of a ruined house with tar paper and tacked up boards and blankets over what were once windows, and in a large old fireplace they had built the other night a roaring fire of pieces of bedsteads, chairs, armoires and beams from neighboring houses, and before this the fellows were gathered while an orchestra with violin, guitar, ukulele and mandolin (the latter played by Lyman) went through a long repertoire of American songs.

"It was a picture that appealed to one's imagination, this group of American youths, some from the University of Virginia, some from Harvard, some from Princeton, some from other universities, gathered in the ruins of a house in France and singing and playing American songs while the French and German guns rumbled outside."

This Article, Written by O. B. Leonard, of This City, Continues Line of the Laing Family

REPEATS STORY OF VISIT TO THE CITY

Wax Declares He and Rae Tanzer Were Here as "Oliver Osborne and Wife"

Further testimony was given yesterday in the second trial of Rae Tanzer for perjury in swearing that James W. Osborne was the man who accompanied her to this city, and promised to marry her. Frederick H. Wax, self-styled "Oliver Osborne," occupied the stand most of the day, and repeated his story, told at the trial of Franklin D. Sadler, former clerk at the hotel, of having taken Rae Tanzer to this city, and registered with her as "Oliver Osborne and wife, New York."

The defendant himself swept as he smilingly told his version of their alleged relations. Several letters alleged to have passed between the couple were read in court, and Wax was requested to give samples of his writing. James W. Osborne, who was in court, was called upon by Prosecutor Rand to write similar sentences to prove the character of the handwriting of each before the jury. Lewis T. Chanler, counsel for Miss Tanzer, objected and Mr. Osborne was neither allowed to write nor remain in the room while Wax was writing.

On cross-examination by Mr. Chanler, Wax admitted that he had been convicted of forgery. Then followed a lively battle of arguments between counsel. Wax insisted upon gazing at Miss Tanzer steadily, that the court, following objections raised by Mr. Chanler, told him that if he persisted he would be punished.

Henry Hartman, Christian Christiansen and Miss Anna Hall, all of New York, were called as witnesses and testified to seeing Miss Tanzer meet a man at Columbus Circle, whom they identified as Wax.

Y. M. H. A. WILL MEET TONIGHT

Tonight at 8:15 there will be a meeting of the Young Men's Hebrew Association, Building Campaign Committee, at the home of Samuel H. Schwartz, at 1129 West Front street. In talking to a reporter this morning Mr. Schwartz said:

"I am earnestly and sincerely interested in this campaign.

"The young Jewish men of Plainfield certainly deserve a home where they may congregate in a wholesome and clean atmosphere under the guidance of the older men, and where they may receive a training, which, under present circumstances, is not well within their reach. I am very enthusiastic about the providing of the quarters for the Jewish children so that they may receive their training in Hebrew history, language and traditions, supplemental to the public school training, which is so excellent in Plainfield."

FORMAL OPENING OF STATE TRUST COMPANY BUILDING TOMORROW

Tomorrow, from two in the afternoon until ten o'clock in the evening, The State Trust Company will throw open its new banking house for the inspection of the public, and few will be prepared for the surprise that awaits them.

The building, as fine as it is exteriorly, is surpassed in its interior finish and equipment, and the public, we are sure, will not fail to appreciate the efforts that this institution has put forth to provide the community with a banking house of the most modern type. A great deal of taste has been displayed in selecting the interior marble work and finish. Botticino, a new Italian marble, buff in color, has been utilized for the counter screens, while Tennessee another Italian marble, harmonizing in color with the counter screens, has been used for the floor. Using this buff marble as the keynote, the decorations of the bank have been carried out in colors that harmonize completely, the only contrast being the mahogany cabinet work.

The company's round door Manganese steel vault, a product of Plainfield manufacture, has been installed at the rear of the public space, and is separated only by a large sheet of plate glass, so that upon entering the building the vault stands out in all its perfection.

In equipment, every detail has been carefully worked out. The company boasts a directors' room nearly forty feet in length; a fine gallery flanks the rear of the banking room, providing for future growth, clerks' locker rooms and lunch room, and, in addition, a fine large customers' examination room, opening from which are large new silver storage vaults. A pneumatic tube carrier has been provided to convey checks direct from the women's teller on the left hand side of the public space, to the bookkeepers, on the opposite side; an attachment is to be installed, which will make it possible for this teller to communicate with any of the bookkeepers.

Last, but not least, the women's reception room must be described, and this is a real feature of this splendid new banking room. The reception room is a picture; a perfect piece of Georgian decoration in style, beauty and usefulness; a room where a woman may stop and enjoy a half hour. Quiet is preserved by glass doors that separate this room from the main banking room. These doors are hung with substantial portieres of cloth curtains, and are closed softly after each person enters, by a self-closing device. An old Napoleon printed chintz frames the windows and shelters the exquisite dressing tables, which are hung in purple taffeta silk; over them are oval mirrors framed in silk to match. The tables are appointed with hand mirrors, powder boxes, and trays of old ivory; in fact, all the little accessories so delightful to a woman's comfort are provided. The Georgian and French styles are so nearly mated in finest detail that in this room they seem to meet in perfection. With all its fineness, the room is simple in effect, each piece of furniture and ornament having its particular place and use. The room is typical of Miss Edith Van Boskerck's ability of combining art with usefulness and fitness.

The public, generally, is cordially invited to be present tomorrow afternoon and evening, at which time an appropriate souvenir of the occasion will be distributed. At night, the building will be brightly illuminated; the indirect lighting employed will show the banking room at its best.

Above the banking room the company has provided ten large light offices for rent; here, tenants have janitor service, light, heat, and the convenience of an automatic electric elevator, the entrance to these offices being at the rear of the building on North avenue. The office floor will also be illuminated and open for inspection tomorrow evening.

Rakes Filibustering Methods and Explains Methods. Also Explains System of Closure

Miss Janet E. Richards, of Washington, D. C., commenced her "Talk on Current Events" in the Hartridge auditorium yesterday afternoon with a reference to the horrible condition of New Jersey prisons and urging her audience to take up with the State Legislature the matter of action on the prison appropriation and the continuance of the special commission, saying that the measures were in danger because the good people of this State, like those of other States, are unorganized while the bad people are always organized. In New York State, she added, under the magnificent leadership of Osborne, the political influences are being withdrawn.

Taking up the events of the last two weeks, the speaker reminded her audience that on February 26 Mr. Wilson asked Congress to arm the American merchantmen, now tied up because of the submarine menace, so that they might be released, and he asked for authority to use such other instrumentalities as might be necessary in order to safeguard this country. The latter clause was felt by many to be a blanket authority. The individuals of the United States navy, said Miss Richards, have proved themselves marksmen than whom there are none better or, indeed, equal in the world, but the trouble is that this country has not enough of these by many thousands.

Concerning the Zimmermann note, Miss Richards remarked that there were those who thought that Mr. Wilson had launched it and the details

MR. M'VOY NOT ELIGIBLE FOR PENSION

There is a lot of loose talk on the part of superficially advised persons about the attitude of the Board of Health in retiring William Addis, Sr., on a pension after having served twenty years, and attained the age of seventy years, and appointing as his successor Isaiah McVoy, who is practically the same age, and who, it is popularly supposed, will also be retired on a pension soon.

For the benefit of those who feel concerned over the business judgment of the Health Board in taking the action it has, it should be borne in mind that under no circumstances will Mr. McVoy be retired as Plumbing Inspector of the Health Board on a pension.

Mr. McVoy is an old resident of this community, he is well qualified to perform the duties assigned to him. Mr. Addis retired on a pension of his own volition; he was not asked to do so, but his request for retirement was granted.

Mr. McVoy is a veteran of the civil war and so long as he was available for the position, and able to do the work, there should be no question of him or his employers, the Board of Health, until some action not in accordance with public policy, or detrimental to the efficiency of the department, is taken.

NOTICE.

Dating from next Monday, March 12th, the subscription price of the Courier-News will be advanced from 10c to 12c a week, and from $5.00 to $6.00 a year. The yearly subscription price applies in Plainfield and SOUTH AVE-NUE ADVANCE SUBSCRIPTIONS ONLY.

While we have been forced to pay an increase of more than 100% for white news print paper no increase in price has been made to our subscribers until the present time.

We do not expect either the subscriber or advertiser, or both combined to bear the entire added expense. Only a small part of it can be shifted to them. We cannot stand the loss ourselves. If this new condition should continue the situation would be much more comfortable than it is. But it is decidedly worse if we cannot buy enough paper for our needs at any price. At this time the Courier-News is being printed on paper of less paper quality that under normal conditions it would not be accepted from the manufacturers.

The unusual conditions make it necessary that we keep the price of our copies printed at the lowest possible figure. For this reason we must insist upon prompt payment from subscribers. As a protection to our paid in advance and prompt paying subscribers, we will be compelled to discontinue serving the Courier-News to those who fall behind in their payments.

STEPS TAKEN TO GET ARMORY SITE

Steps have been taken by the Union County Board of Freeholders to acquire title to the Boice property on East Front street, upon which an armory for Company K of this city is to be erected in the near future. Under the law, an appropriation of $20,000 for the purchase of land must be made by the Freeholders, following the approval of site by the State Military Board. This approval was made recently and the Freeholders were notified to that effect.

It is now the purpose of the Freeholders to advertise the sale of $20,000 worth of bonds, and it is anticipated that there will be little or no difficulty in selling the bonds. In addition to this amount for land, the State will appropriate $25,000 toward the erection of an armory. Not much of a building can be erected for that sum, it is said, and Capt. Charles A. Peterson is trying to secure an additional appropriation of $15,000 from the city.

A majority of the members of the city council, it is said, favor this action, and it is quite likely that the appropriation will be made. This would provide a fund of $40,000 for the building, which, it is believed, would put up a structure that would be a credit to Plainfield. Captain Peterson has offered to furnish free all the sand needed for the construction work, and this has been accepted by the State military authorities.

TO SPEAK OF WOMAN'S WORK IN THE WAR

Miss Elsie McKenzie, a Red Cross nurse from the French border, and belonging to the battalion of the war to the Women's Land Service Corps of Great Britain, will speak Tuesday afternoon, March 20, at 3.30 o'clock, at the residence of Mrs. S. S. Carvalho, on West eighth street.

She will present facts that came in her experience and observation in England and France, during the two and a half years of the great European conflict. She will tell of the work two hundred thousand women are doing for agriculture, first aid in the trenches, and after battles and Zeppelin raids, the French hospital work, the munition making, and the substitution of women for men while men are at the front.

RECRUITING BOOTH AT STATE TRUST CO.

Through the kindness of E. F. Feickert, of the State Trust Company, the National Special Aid Society will conduct a recruiting booth to enroll male members tomorrow afternoon and evening, when the Trust Company will hold its formal opening for the public. The booth will be in charge of Mrs. Morris J. Dumont, Miss Elizabeth McGee and Mrs. Francis Olmstead.

All men can join the society as annual members for $1 a year. While the men do no actual work their rapidly growing membership lists show that they are encouraging women in this patriotic movement. All contributions will be gratefully received and spent on materials for hospital dressings.

SHOW HOW MOTOR BOATS CAN BREAK BLOCKADE

Henry A. Wise Wood, who spoke in Columbus Club here last October, on "Preparedness," made an address last night, to the Automobile Club in New York, showing how motor vessels could break a blockade.

He suggested building a thousand motor vessels of one thousand tons each, the cost to be approximately one hundred million dollars. These vessels, msatless, smokeless and of such diminutive size that they would have very low visibility, thereby having better chances of escape, would within a short time make the submarine blockade a joke, said Mr. Wood. The scheme Mr. Wood credited to F. Huntington Clark, an American engineer.

POSTAL CLERKS' CONVENTION

The State convention of the Postal Clerks will be held in Arcanum hall, Elizabeth, and following the meeting there will be a dinner in St. Michael's hall, East Jersey and Jaques streets, on May 26. This was announced at the meeting this week of Elizabeth Branch, No. 84, National Association of Postal Clerks, held in Kleinhans' hall, 1000 East Grand street.

There will be in attendance several hundred delegates and their friends and many of them will be women, for whom a theatre party will be given.

EXPRESS COMPANY SUES FOR $950,360

Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Accused of Violating Its Contract

The introduction of the parcel post system by the Federal Government is said to be the direct cause for an action just brought in the Supreme Court by the United States Express Company to recover $950,360 from the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company.

In August, 1887, the express company alleges, it purchased from the railroad company its business, known as the "Baltimore and Ohio Express," together with a contract guaranteeing the exclusive right to use the railroad's lines for all express business for thirty years. For the purchased business and the privilege the United States Express Company paid $1,000,000 in cash and $1,500,000 in its capital stock to the railroad. It also agreed to pay forty per cent. of its gross receipts received on the Baltimore and Ohio system for the entire thirty-year period.

Since January, 1913, the complaint alleges, the railroad has permitted an increasing volume of business to be conducted over it by another agency, with the result that the United States Express Company was forced to discontinue its business on the lines June 30, 1914. The amount sought now is said to be due on the alleged breach of contract.

The United States Express Company is the one which operated offices in this city and along the line of the Jersey Central and Lehigh Valley railroads until it gave up business two years ago. It was succeeded by the American Express Company.

SYNOPSIS OF LECTURE BY WALTER N. WESTON

The following is a synopsis of a lecture by Walter Newell Weston of the Society of the Inner Light, of New York, delivered at the residence of Howard A. Colby, 1405 Evergreen avenue, this city, yesterday:

People often wonder why they are compelled to suffer and contribute their sufferings to an angry or revengeful God. The real purpose of suffering is to compel us to balance up within ourselves, to bring forth certain dormant faculties or to curb others selfishly over-worked. When one non-resistantly and intentionally does this he awakens quickly to new realms of consciousness and ultimately enters into a realization that he is not a mere physical or mental being, but a spiritual being, possessing a body and a mentality for purposes of self-expression.

In the larger sense this is his "salvation," which was an accomplished fact all the time, though to him unperceived. He now discovers that the keynote of his greatness is the forgetfulness of selfishness, injury, loss, lack, failure, disappointment and their hell and the consequent liberation into a consciousness of unity with the One Source of all prosperity, health, poise, power, health, satisfaction and life. He discovers that the purpose of loving is not getting, but to love for the sake of loving. He discovers his own individuality and that the law of his own being is that he shall be himself. He discovers that the teaching of Jesus Christ is not the deification of suffering but the fullness of joy. He discovers that joy, the "beloved of all nations," is the greatest healing principle, is changeless and indestructible. He who keeps a joyous heart under adverse conditions has the sceptre of divine law and completeness. Living For the sole purpose of joy.

Phillipsburg, March 9.—Phillipsburg teachers are anything but satisfied with the proposed increase in salaries, as provided for in the report of the employes and salaries committee, as presented last Thursday night at the meeting of the Board of Education and laid over without action until next month. They expressed this displeasure at a meeting of the teaching corps Tuesday afternoon, when they formed an organization to be known as the Phillipsburg Teaching Club.

The minimum salary of grade teachers was increased $50 and the maximum $120 to $870; of women high school teachers to $1,000 and the maximum pay of special teachers is increased, as present, all the increases, however, are small.

The teachers make the objection to the schedule on the grounds that the increase in salary asked for is needed at present because of the increase in the cost of living, but should the schedule be adopted as presented, the provisions are too indefinite because the report of the committee provides that all increases shall first be sanctioned by the committee and the superintendent, and either could hold up an increase indefinitely.

At present the salaries of the teachers increase automatically each year until the maximum is reached. Fault is also found with the increases provided for, the contention being that they are not substantial enough. The club is expected to have another meeting this week. Michael Maloney has been chosen temporary chairman and Ralph Thomas temporary secretary.

CAT-NIP

The State of New Jersey taxes the dog, generally regarded as man's friend. It has neglected thus far to tax the cat, convicted by agricultural authorities as the most destructive enemy of valuable birds; condemned by sportsmen as a persistent slayer of small game, both in and out of season; labeled by State health authorities as an active disseminator of disease germs, says the New Jersey Fish and Game Commission.

dience liked best. The program was not arranged to save the best for the last, for after the overture "Mignon," by Thomas, the largo by Dvorak from "The New World," found spontaneous response. Lovers of Tschaikowski found a delight in the andante cantabile, the second part of the third number. The overture "Fingal's Cave," by Mendelssohn met a hearty reception, and lovers of Beethoven found complete satisfaction in the allegretto from Symphony No. 7. The Rakoczy March by Berlioz was highly appreciated, in which the 'cellos were conspicuous in some of the strains.

Other numbers were the Gavotte in E by Bach; "The Spinning Wheel of Omphale," by Saint-Saens; prize song from "Die Meistersinger," by Wagner; "Dance of the Sylphs," by Berlioz, and the concluding number a waltz, "The Artist's Life," by Strauss. All were most heartily received with unfeigned enjoyment.

By this concert the Dutch Arms Band has established a confidence in the local public for being able to bring here such an aggregation of musicians. There need have been no apprehension about a public response to the announcement of a Damrosch concert, but there was some surprise that a date could be obtained for its production here.

The name Damrosch is a synonym for the best in instrumental music, and to see him as a conductor of a concert was additionally pleasing to most of the audience.

The expense of bringing this concert here was something like $1,000, but the proceeds will net a satisfactory figure.

FIRST ACCOUNTING OF WM. L. LOEW'S ESTATE

The first accounting of the estate left by William L. Loew, father of Mrs. Eliza S. Taylor, of Westfield, made by his daughter, Ethel V. Loew, of New York, and the Title Guarantee and Trust Company, as executors, was today filed in the surrogate's court, New York. April 10 is the date set by the surrogate for approval or disapproval of the document. The estate is divided among a large number of relatives living in New York and vicinity and Westfield.

In their accounting the executors charge themselves with $190,012.52 of the principal, credit themselves with $125,000 of the real estate, $6,177.90 for funeral, administration and other expenses, and show a balance of $58,834.62 for further distribution, subject, however, first to the deductions of their commissions and the expenses of the accounting.

HEAVENLY REST MEN'S ASSOCIATION MEETING

The Men's Association of the Church of the Heavenly Rest held one of the largest meetings in its history last evening in the parish house of the church. During the meeting a resolution of sympathy with Russell Vail, one of the members, was passed on the death of his sister, Mrs. George Muir.

The matter of purchasing a pool table for the association was discussed and a committee was appointed to look after prices and particulars. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

LADIES' AID HAD BIRTHDAY PARTY

A birthday party was held yesterday afternoon in the Epworth House of the Monroe Avenue Methodist church by those members of the Ladies' Aid Society whose birthdays fall in one of the first three months of the year.

There were about forty members present. Mrs. Anna Wenzel and Mrs. John J. Fraed gave readings and the Victrola was played by Mrs. Humble. A pleasant social hour was enjoyed, during which refreshments were served.

URGES A GREATER INTEREST IN S.P.C.A.

Henry Nicolay Compliments Boy Scouts and Mrs. Van Hoesen

The following letter from Henry Nicolay to the Editor of the Courier-News, is timely and interesting:

It is remarkable what an indifferent interest so many of our residents apparently take, in the society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals with its splendid work, saving animals from abuse, prosecuting cases of cruelty successfully, through the indefatigable energy and devotion, of Mrs. Stephen G. Van Hoesen, the society's special officer, noble, self-sacrificing work, practically a labor of love.

I wonder how many of your readers were interested enough to have given any thought or attention, to the report of the society for the year of 1916, published by you at the time it was made, and if many did, if they realized that this efficient work had been accomplished with a total income for the year of but $227.95. Think of it! about 62 1-2 cents a day, certainly not much of a showing for the humane spirit of Plainfield, generous Plainfield, for the people of our city are generous, munificiently so, in their response to all appeals.

I believe it is only necessary to tell them about the S. P. C. A., through the Courier-News, to bring the help the society so much needs. It is a simple matter, increase its membership, let us begin right now. Let us get new owners of horses especially and members we can for them. Each new member means another dollar a year for their work, the dues are only one dollar per annum, but see what it would mean to the society if the membership could be brought up to 500 and that ought not be difficult.

All lovers of animals should join.

MAY CONSOLIDATE AEROPLANE PLANTS

Special to Courier-News:

New York, March 9.—While certain negotiations looking toward a consolidation of the Wright-Martin Aircraft Corporation and the Curtiss Aeroplane Corporation have taken place, interests identified with both companies say that it would be impossible to make any positive statement as to what would be the outcome of the situation.

A committee of three has been appointed by each of the two companies, making six representatives appointed to work out plans for such consolidation, but thus far neither committee has reported back to the directors of either organization.

EAT HALF POUND OF BON BONS WITH YOUR BREAKFAST

By United Press:

Los Angeles, Cal., March 9.—Eat chocolate for breakfast; half a pound of them will make you feel better and put you in cheerier spirits than a regular breakfast of bacon and eggs and grapefruit. That is what Miss Eunice Hughes advocates and does. She has kept it up several months and likes her early morning box of chocolates better now than ever. Eat soft chocolates and start with ice water, she says.

ENGLAND CALLS FOR 20,000 MORE WOMEN

(By Frank Getty, United Press Staff Correspondent)

London, March 9—England wants 20,000 more women for her second line of advance—the munition factories.

The first appeal, sent out by the Ministry of Munition early last month, which called for 8,000 women, was immediately met. Today, in making "a big spurt for the last phase that will carry the men at the front into victory" the Ministry wants 20,000 more.

"We want rich and poor alike for this final effort," an official at the Ministry of Munitions told the United Press. "In the early days of the war women with means were asked to stand on one side to let working and professional women who had to earn their livings give service. Now we want all classes to come forward and help in the making of munitions, so that every woman can say in the near future that she has done her share.

"We have found that physical qualities are no longer necessary for the work. As long as the volunteer has delicacy of touch she belongs to the right type.

"Women are at work now in all the danger zones and through their hands entirely munitions go from the ingot to the finished articles. They do the testing, overlooking, packing, sealing, lorrying and actually place the goods in railway trucks for the front."

AID COLUMBIA

Bring forward Old Glory!
Oh! let her unfurl
In aid of Columbia,
Our dearest old girl;
To the strains of bugle call
We'll march to conquer or fall
For the cause of the land of the free.
For we fear not a race,
We fear not a nation—
We fear not the whole of this civilization
We're a hundred million strong,
Sons and fathers, old and young,
All craving to fight for you, O Liberty!

Lead on, Columbia,
By you we stand;
Our lives for a cause,
So noble and grand,
Is a poor price to pay;
So is therefore we say
For your sake we are happy to die.

Chorus—We fear not a race, etc.

Every self-respecting man
Throughout this great land,
Merchant, laborer and banker
And the humble farm hand,
Every single mother's son
Big enough to hold a gun
Will join in the glorious battle cry.

Chorus—We fear not a race, etc.

J. M. LEVIN.

DOCTORS SAY COLDS ARE CONTAGIOUS

Specialists Declare Germs of Common Colds Scattered by Sufferers Are Real Danger

Doctors have recently declared positively that our common colds are really just as "contagious" as pneumonia or scarlet fever and that sufferers from colds should be isolated as carefully as victims of the latter diseases. They say that in sneezing the victim of a cold scatters millions of germs into the air which all of us breathe and when these germs lodge in the nose or throat of anyone who is weakened or run down they find another victim and another cold is started. It is important, therefore, to keep yourself built up by using Father John's Medicine which is a pure and wholesome body builder, and you will be able to ward off this danger because the cold germs cannot live in the nose or throat of a person in normal health. Remember, too, that Father John's Medicine treats colds and throat troubles without the use of alcohol or dangerous drugs; so it is a safe family medicine, fine for the children as well as older folks.—Adv.

THROUGH THE WICKET

Perseverance Lodge, K. of P., will meet this evening at the lodge rooms on West Front street.

Four applications for membership were received last night by the Plainfield Gesang and Turnverein. The society made further plans for the "shore festival," to be held on March 22d, in Saengerbund hall. Most of the business transacted was of routine nature.

About 100 members and friends of Franklin Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., turned out last night to the pinochle held by that organization. Suitable prizes were awarded and at the close coffee and cake were served by a committee headed by Cornelius Sheets. Franklin Council expects to move to the Club Headquarters the first of April.

At the class initiation of Mantonomo Tribe, I. O. R. M., the other evening, the members had the pleasure of greeting Past Sachem Andrew J. Stiglitz, who a quarter of a century ago was at the head of the local tribe. Mr. Stiglitz still takes a great interest in the order and can always be depended upon as a royal supporter of the local tribe.

'ITALY, THE LAND OF ENCHANTMENT"

An Interesting Lecture Given Last Night in the Washington School

"Italy, the Land of Enchantment," was pictured by Arthur K. Peck in an interesting illustrated lecture given at the Washington school last night, it being one of the series of entertainments under the auspices of the Board of Education. The lecturer, who showed a remarkable familiarity with his subject, exhibited one of the finest collection of views of Italy and its countless historic places, witnessed in this city, and they proved delightfully instructive to the large number of people present.

The views comprised some of the famous paintings and works of sculpture by Michael Angelo and Raphael, as well as many other famous artists, striking examples being located in churches, cathedrals and some of the public buildings in the principal cities. Mr. Peck explained that some of these choice works of art have been damaged to some extent by bombs from Austrian airships, but in many instances they had been removed to places of safety for protection.

The views of the Vatican, exterior and interior, were perhaps, the most interesting to many, and remarkable pictures of Pope Pius IX, and the throne room were greatly admired. Other slides included those of the Grand Canal in Venice, the Colliseum, together with rare specimens of mosaics, tapestries, group pictures and interesting paintings of the Madonna and patron saints and the Sistine Chapel. Mr. Peck's talk in explanation of his views was most pleasing to the audience.

THE PACIFISTS

Pacifists will not down, and still persist in contending against preparedness, in the face of the gravest dangers that ever beset this nation. They are probably honest, or most of them, in their hope for peace, yet no more so than those who advocate preparedness, but they probably do not realize that their attitude is really pro-German. They may claim that those who disagree with them are pro-Ally. This however, is not necessarily a fact. When a person or nation adopts measures of preparedness in a time when bristling bayonets and bursting bombs assail half the world, and threaten the ones who are anxious to maintain peace, it is but natural, reasonable, and an evidence of intelligence to prepare against such dangers. Oswald Garrison Villard, president of the New York Evening Post is making speeches, in which he is credited with saying that "America's proposed military system is worse than Germany's." Such a remark unchallenged, can have a very depressing, even demoralizing effect upon the public mind, which is too slow at best, to concentrate upon methods for proper defense. No one in business like would close his eyes to "breakers ahead," that threaten his business, but he prepares to weather the gale by throwing up any possible barriers against a flood of business disaster; in other words takes measures of preparedness that will protect his business. Some of the people, sad to say, who would take such precautions in their own business, and all those who have taken steps to thwart the President's efforts to safeguard the nation, show an amazing incongruity in their ideas of business sense, when they talk the heresy that would leave us at the absolute mercy of any other nation that might want to absorb us. It is not alone the present grim outlook that should inspire us to prepare, but the outlook for the more distant future, when this war shall have ended, and some one or another of the foreign nations may look upon us as an easy thing worth conquering. Which ever nation comes out victor in this war, will find something tempting in an unprotected country like ours, the richest in the world, the granary for all nations. In these days little scruple is held by any of them in the face of extremity. With this fact in mind, we may assure ourselves that we are not immune from the greed of any country which is powerful enough to be a menace. Therefore it behooves us, each individually and collectively, to show a proper patriotism by being ready. As to methods of preparedness, in adopting measures for military training, there may be some argument but that every citizen of this republic should be American to the core, and be willing to stand for his Americanism, should not be questioned. That sort of a spirit, crystallized at this time, will bear fruit, and will be the harbinger of the peace that everyone wants, but some do not know what our country should do to bring it about.

INEXCUSABLE CARELESSNESS

Though many people have had bad falls by stepping on orange or banana skins that have been carelessly dropped on the sidewalk, the inexcusable habit of throwing fruit skins on sidewalks does not abate. The present weather, with the slippery condition of the sidewalks, affords enough danger to the public without adding fruit skins, but yesterday, a man on Park avenue, had successfully negotiated his steps over the ice-covered walk, but just then stepped on an orange skin that had been carelessly thrown on the walk. Naturally he and everyone else would think his fall was the fault of the condition of the sidewalk, unless he happened to take notice of the orange skin. Property owners are the first to be blamed for accidental falls on the sidewalks, and it is often a question difficult to decide as to the real blame in such cases. It is very difficult to identify people who throw fruit skins on the walks and hold them to account, so the general public is menaced by a few careless ones.

WOULD ENCOURAGE SHIP YARDS

Representative George E. Foss, of Illinois, is a champion of the private ship yard as against the Government navy yard. He thinks it is a great mistake that the Navy Department does so little for the encouragement of private shipbuilding plants, and is so willing to reject their bids in favor of those from navy yards. According to Mr. Foss, the competition for Government work is keen, which assures nominal prices for the work. "In a time like this," says he, "I believe we should have these great ships built by the private shipbuilding concerns." The difference in the apparent cost of building ships in private and Government yards is due, in the opinion of Mr. Foss, to different methods of bookkeeping, the principal items at variance being in the overhead costs, which have to be distributed among the ships under construction in a private yard, but are largely thrown under other heads in a Government establishment.

HE GETS SOME "IRON CROSS"

Mississippians are surely "roasting" their once pride and joy, "Jim" Vardaman for his attitude toward the administration policy, in which he joined the filibusters in the Senate, in the closing hours of the sixty-fourth Congress, Sunday, and helped to defeat the armed neutrality bill. A Mississippi blacksmith has sent him at the behest of a one-time admirer of Vardaman, an "iron cross," weighing forty pounds, inscribed: "Lost the Kaiser forget." The man wanted to be sure it was big enough to be noticed, and sent it to remind the recipient of the way he double-crossed the President. It is little wonder that Mississippi took the action of its Senator with anything but a happy mood, for such pacificism was an unknown trait in the State which sent the famous Mississippi Rifles to the Civil War.

SAYS IT WAS TREASON

Berlin now says it was treason to permit the exposure of her intrigue against the United States, by letting the knowledge intended for the Mexican government urging an alliance between Mexico and Japan, against the United States, to fall into our hands. But it shows that we are somewhat alert to her secret missions in which we are concerned.

EDITORIAL NOTES

It is considered all right in Europe to drown women and children as they ought to be thankful not to be suffocated by asphyxiating gases.

Perhaps Uncle Sam might pass on to Congress that cage he was going to put Villa in, as a suitable place in which to incarcerate the stock market leaders after they are caught.

If a man is seen on the street in a battered condition, it is doubtful whether he has been attending a peace society meeting or a Republican-Progressive harmony dinner.

From the unmasculine way in which we have stood up for our rights in the recent crisis, perhaps Uncle Sam should be known as Aunt Sam.

Wall street might not feel so averse to war if they could have six hours' advance "leak" on the information.

The girl who buys all these extra brilliant-color spring styles will perhaps be the same one who knocks because those horrid men on the street corner twist their necks to look at her.

For real eloquence now don't look so much to Congress as to the demonstrators who are setting forth the advantages of a $595 automobile.

The spring styles for men show coats cut close to the body, but they are not yet provided with ruffles and ribbon trimmings.
